This and That

By Morris Hastings

AMONG the more gratifying indications that radio is growing up is the effort made to find announcers and guest speakers who in voice and manner best match the mood of various programs.

There was a time when the announcer who described baseball games or prize-fights also told the audience about the music on symphonic broadcasts, whether he knew anything about it or not.

Mr. HASTINGS

Not any more.

Nowadays the announcing staffs of both NBC and Columbia are ordered so that broadcasts of sporting events go automatically to TED HUSING or GRAHAM McNAMEE, of musical events to MILTON J. CROSS (himself a singer) or DAVIDSON TAYLOR or CHARLES O'CONNOR.

Should the occasion warrant it, regular announcers are supplemented by "guest speakers" who are authorities on their subject.

During the recent broadcast, for example, of the championship tennis matches, JOHN TUNIS, tennis authority, gave the play-by-play account. When Columbia broadcasts the New York Philharmonic concerts, so eminent a music critic as LAWRENCE GILMAN comments on the program at intermission time.

Such an arrangement is admirable. It is proof, whatever other

Government Declares War Against Trick Names In Radio Advertising

Secret Radio Agreements Probed

Ownership Of Stations Demanded

Tightening its grasp on the radio industry, the broadcast division of the Federal Communications Commission—FCC in the alphabetical soup—has ordered all station licenses to give detailed reports to the Commission on their ownership.

Names and addresses of all stockholders and the amount of stock held by each is called for in the questionnaire.

Detailed information on voting power, officers and directors is asked.

In addition, the FCC wants to know whether any of the broadcasters have secret agreements with each other as to the conduct or control of their respective stations.

The status as of July 15, 1934, was requested in the questionnaire. Any changes subsequent to that date must be reported immediately to the FCC under its order.

Vines Describes Tennis

ELLSWORTH VINES, former national singles champion, will give a play-by-play description of the final tennis matches at Forest Hills, L. I., at 2.45 P. M. over the NBC-WEAF network on Saturday, September 8.

Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Gifted Orator, Speaks Over Radio On Monday

Address to Feature Jewish New Year Services

A rare opportunity for the general public to hear a gifted orator is presented on Monday, September 10.

Just back from abroad, where he was elected president of the World Jewish Conference, Rabbi STEPHEN S. WISE speaks over the WABC-Columbia network from 11.15 to 11.45 A. M.

His address will be the feature of the Jewish New Year services at the Free Synagogue, Carnegie Hall, New York City. Dr. WISE's address will be preceded and followed by choir music.

Founder and rabbi of the Free Synagogue and honorary president of the American Jewish Congress, Dr. WISE was born in Budapest, Hungary, and educated at the College of the City of New York and Columbia, having honorary degrees as well from Temple and Syracuse Universities. A former commissioner of child labor for the State of Oregon, Rabbi WISE now is a trustee of the National Child Labor Commission.

In addition to his religious activities, he has a long record of public service and was founder of the Near East Relief, as well as founder of the Zionist Organization of America. His efforts have won many honors; among them he is Chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France.

Trademarks Menaced by Chiselers

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Warfare has been declared by the Government against trick names on radio receiving sets and equipment for radio devices.

The idea of trying to make the spurious or inferior imitation appear to be the genuine is as old as the sphinx—and equally as fascinating to a fringe of society.

Chiselers in the radio manufacturing business have become so prevalent that the Federal Trade Commission is beginning to police the industry and try to protect the seasoned companies with trademarks that are household words from fakers in the business.

Names that sound like standard brands but are not have begun to reach the trade.

The Federal Trade Commission has made public a complaint charging "unauthorized and wrongful appropriation of well-known trade names to radio sets manufactured or assembled and sold by companies not connected with the manufacturers suggested by the trade names."

The Crystalstone Radio Corporation of New York, is the respondent in this case—the fifth to come to the attention of the Federal Trade Commission.

Mme. Bori In Recital

LUCREZIA BORI, soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will be heard in a special song recital over the WABC-Columbia network on Wednesday, September 12, at 7.45 P. M.

Mme. BORI will present a program of popular and operatic selections, to demonstrate the quality of a new radio receiver. The broadcast will originate at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City.

In 14 other cities audiences gathered in studios or auditoriums will hear the broadcast over the new receivers.

Mme. BORI will be heard in the hour generally filled by BOAKE CARTER, the news commentator.

The broadcast at the Waldorf-Astoria will be preceded by a dinner arranged by a committee including Mrs. HENRY M. ALEXANDER, Mrs. CHRISTIAN R. HOLMES, Mrs. CHARLES S. GUGGENHEIMER, CLARENCE H. MACKAY and WALTER W. PRICE.

You See As You Phone

American telephone and radio officials are keenly interested in an announcement from Berlin that the "television-telephone" has been successfully tested between Berlin and Munich.

So favorable were the results of the trial that German authorities are planning to link the larger cities with the "television-telephone" and to extend the service as soon as the comparatively high present cost of the apparatus involved can be reduced.

Germany already is broadcasting sound films from what is called a "television car." With this car, which is equipped with developing and transmitting apparatus, scenes and sounds are ready for reproduction one minute and 15 seconds after the sound picture camera, mounted on the car's roof, has finished taking them.

Joe Cook, Inventor

THIS MACHINE WILL ACCURATELY COUNT THE MONEY AS FAST AS THE ADMINISTRATION SPENDS IT

MANY inventors and gadget-makers apparently do not think that some of the weird creations, which JOE COOK describes in his House Party program, are as goofy as they sound. Since he has been on the air, COOK has been approached by 20 inventors who claim they have made models which prove the inventions are practical.

Government Census Shows That Radio Business Is Picking Up

Gold Mine In Automobile Receivers

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent.

Radio business—the money end of it—is picking up, according to advices received by the Commerce Department.

In line with other industries in 1933, radio had rough sailing, compared with 1931 when the depression was just beginning to take a firm grip.

The census bureau reported the factory output of radio receiving and transmitting equipment and their accessories and of phonographs was valued at $112,279,565 in 1933, compared with $187,717,880 in 1931—a 40.2 per cent slump.

The number of wage earners in the radio manufacturing industry decreased 11.4 per cent or from 36,490 persons in 1931 to 32,339 in 1933.

In 1933 there were 145 factories producing radio apparatus against 217 in 1931.

Here are some statistics on 1933 output: Radio sets for the home, 2,788,467, valued at $53,837,362; combination radio and phonograph units 30,092, valued at $1,407,650; all-wave receiving sets, 108,452, valued at $4,746,775; receiving set tubes, 57,042,409, valued at $24,197,086.

The number of phonographs turned out was incomplete, but the total value was placed at $301,436, with $2,562,082 for records and blanks.

That the business for automobile radio receiving sets is proving a gold mine was evidenced by the bureau's report that in 1933 there were produced 662,645 auto radios valued at $12,979,194.

The factories put out 92,284 battery radio sets valued at $1,922,647 in 1933. These went chiefly to farmers.

Chicago Fire Play Will Be Broadcast

The great Chicago fire of October, 1871, will be dramatized over the CBS-WABC network on Monday, September 10, at 11 P. M.

The dramatization, which will originate in the studios of WBBM in Chicago, will present the tragic events beginning with the conflagration that started in a lumber yard on Chicago's West Side. Within 27 hours 250 people were killed and 100,000 were homeless.

With the exception of the San Francisco fire, this was the greatest holocaust in the national history.

East-West Polo Match Broadcast

East will meet West on the famous polo field at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, L. I., and the details will be broadcast over the NBC-WEAF network on Saturday and Wednesday, September 8 and 12, at 5.30 P. M.

CASWELL ADAMS, polo expert of the New York Herald-Tribune, and WILLIAM LUNDELL, NBC announcer, will give play-by-play descriptions of the two final chukkers of each game.

Deutsch's Gypsy Orchestra Arranges Music As It Plays

Members Of Band Play Without Scores

By HILDA COLE

A YOUNG MAN, well versed in the gay string music of Budapest and Vienna cabarets, came to radio in 1925, determined to "Gypsyfy" the airwaves. He predicted that Gypsy music would come into vogue in America, though the fox trots showed every indication of holding full sway.

EMERY DEUTSCH, after making his violin sing for some years in comparative obscurity, has now every reason to say "I told you so," because Gypsy music has taken hold on this Continent. Now Gypsy orchestras are adding "Old World" atmosphere to many an American metropolitan cafe and night club.

And EMERY'S CBS program, Romany Trail, is the last word in authentic Gypsy melodies blended with "Gypsyfied" popular tunes. He brought melodies of a Romany nature into Tin Pan Alley "best seller" class when he wrote "Play Fiddle Play" and "My Gypsy Rhapsody."

Bringing Gypsy music to the airwaves with spontaneity and also with polish is a problem that EMERY has solved. Maestro DEUTSCH explained:

"A real Gypsy orchestra plays by ear. It does its own harmonizing, its own arrangements as it goes along. That is traditional Gypsy style—but many of the best orchestras would sound terrible on the airwaves, because of a certain free-for-all quality of playing which sounds terrible unless you can actually see the orchestra, too."

EMERY'S radio orchestra of six strings has all the facility of a Gypsy band for following every whim of the first violin—but with rehearsing and proper "balance" the effect is spontaneous without being sloppy.

EMERY DEUTSCH, leader of the Gypsy Ensemble on the Romany Trail program, heard over the Columbia network.

Romany Trail is one of the few programs on the air which does not require assiduous timing and checking by the production man. Why?

"It's just the Gypsy in me," Deutsch answered, winking.

"In other words, the musician's facility for following the first violin comes in very handy. If we're running overtime, I can cut short with the knowledge that my men will follow me. Likewise, if we need to make up a little extra time, I can play any piece that pops into my mind and the musicians will hit the trail with me."

Another feature of Romany Trail is that the six strings usually play without music. Again EMERY was called upon to explain:

"Few of the old authentic Gypsy tunes were ever published. They have been handed down from one musical generation to the next. You'd be up against it if you tried to find them in any music library."

EMERY, who is an authority on old Viennese waltzes and Gypsy tunes, has the greatest mental music library in existence. He collected the Gypsy folk songs by roaming the Hungary states and searching out cabarets where such music was played. It cast an unforgettable spell over him.

He was entranced by the beauty and soul-stirring quality of these simple folk songs with their rhapsodic style. The musicians, he says, played from their hearts and not from printed scores.

Police Motorcycle Radio Successful

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Experiments with radio receiving sets for policemen's motorcycles have proven successful in the District of Columbia.

Some of the motorcycles used by cops are being equipped so that the blue coats may pick up police bulletins broadcast by headquarters.

Where motorcycle cops use side cars and batteries and other paraphernalia are kept in the side cars and receivers are placed on the handlebars.

Where no side cars are used the entire set is placed on the handle bars without interfering with vision or ability to drive.

While the motorcycle makes considerable noise, policemen pointed out that as soon as they hear the signals from the police broadcasting station they turn down their motors and have no difficulty in hearing while coasting along.

Greece Constructs A-Radio Station

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Greece and Albania are the only countries in Europe without radio stations and now Greece is planning to erect a 50,000-watt broadcasting station at Athens and a smaller one in Salonica, according to information received by the Department of Commerce.

Japs Battle China's Giant Voice On Air

By GEORGE LILLEY

Across the Pacific, short wave broadcasting has taken a hold in the radio set-up. Japan, already with a fine string of 10-kilowatt broadcast band stations and blue prints for a few additional 100-kilowatt disseminators to combat the activities of a giant air voice at Nanking, China, has decided it is nearly time to enter world-wide ether competition.

Since early Summer an Oriental wave, under the calls of JVM, has been making frequent appearances during the early morning on a wave of 27.93 metres (10.74 megs.). Reception as a whole here in the East could be very much better, but nevertheless, it is an improvement over former trans-Pacific radiations, and the schedule of broadcasts is fairly regular—generally each morning between 5.40 and 8.40 EDST.

The programs cast to the international lanes are invariably those of the Tokio National Chain, which carries the cream of Nippon air entertainment. Besides the strangeness of the Oriental musical fare, American short wave fans often are able to catch the Japanese news bulletins given in English on each day's transmission.

At present JVM, or its sister station, JVN, (the latter on 28.14 metres) are the only high frequency outlets radiating regular programs. Up until June 1st, program broadcasts from Japan were flashed via J1AA, the Kemi-kawa Sending Station at Kemi-kawa-cho, Chibaken. It was at this time that J1AA was replaced by the more powerful "JV" units, all of which are located at Nasaki, Ibarakiken.

Besides the short wave program stations, Japan has a number of commercial 'phone links working

Two-Voiced Singer

TELL ME THAT AGAIN IN A BARITONE VOICE... I LOVE BARITONES.

NEIL BUCKLEY, soloist with DON BESTOR'S Orchestra, has just signed a contract for another year. BUCKLEY is a baritone, but he used to be a tenor, not long ago. BESTOR prefers the baritone voice and insists that BUCKLEY remain in that range. If BUCKLEY switches back to tenor, the contract is void.

TIME MARCHES ON!...*

And we find that these Studios still offer the most outstanding opportunities for Radio and Stage Training in Dramatics, Singing and all branches of broadcasting and theatrical work, with an authentic curriculum presented by PROFESSIONAL stage and radio personages, at a low tuition. If you have talent, we can develop it for you, and can set you on the right road. If, after an audition at no cost or obligation to you, there seems little likelihood of your finding a place in radio broadcasting or on the stage, you will be notified. This policy has won for us a host of friends, and has resulted in more advance enrollments than anticipated. A new Semester starts September 18th. Visit us NOW for your audition!

Radio Lane

By Jimmy J. Leonard

COMEDIANS in radio nowadays seem to have eased themselves a little farther towards the stage while playing radio parts. They are encouraged to do so by the networks and the advertising agencies. It is getting to the point where a radio comedian is no longer funny if he cannot spill a studio audience out of their seats.

For example, take the case of JOE COOK, radio artist supreme. JOE stood on top of a large globe a week ago while he read his radio spiel. The globe, meanwhile, was perilously rolling about the stage while the studio audience held their sides with glee. Half way through his lines, JOE decided to give an added attraction, and swerved the ball suddenly to wards the edge of the stage. Somehow JOE had less on the ball than he thought he had. He almost lost his balance and was just able to stop it from plunging him over the stage. The audience was frightened, but JOE, well, JOE was petrified.

COLONEL STOOPNAGLE

When STOOPNAGLE and BUDD performed the desert scene on their opening night, they walked down the aisles from the back of the CBS Theatre dressed like the Arabian Knights, with long, flowing beards and bleached cassocks.

ED WYNN refuses even to practice lines unless he is dressed in comedian fashion. This is also true of MOLASSES 'n' JANUARY. But EDDIE CANTOR is the most theatrical. CANTOR changed costumes 14 times during one program. And on one occasion he was dressed as a baby and wheeled on the stage in a perambulator.

And so it came to pass—that this column predicted that BEATRICE LILLIE would be signed for a commercial after "guesting" it. She is to go on this Fall with the sponsors of a coffee hour but not the one heard on Sundays.

WOR will blossom forth in a new burst of power on or about Thanksgiving Day. It will take on 45,000 extra watts, bringing the total wattage up to 50,000. This station then will cover one-third of this nation. The new transmitting station will cost about $300,000. It will be located 12 miles from Newark, N. J. Special lights for guiding aviators with a huge arrow blinking towards the North will be erected. The new plant will cover 34 acres.

DEL CAMPO, the South American millionaire singer, will direct an orchestra at the Hotel ROOSEVELT in New York this Fall. He'll be given six golden CBS spots to make him popular with the listeners. DON BESTOR is auditioning for a big program with a concert orchestra. And who do you suppose we saw the other day, lounging about the CBS audition chamber? None other than CLIFF "Ukulele IKE" EDWARDS. Big things in the wind.

GRACE HAYES may sing songs for JACK DENNY. Do you know that GEORGE GIVOT called a meeting of all radio impersonators to formulate a code of ethics? Which must mean that he is about to spring something new and is afraid of copy-cats. BUDDY ROGERS is said to love the horse races.

What of Television?

FOR THOUSANDS of years the theatre, in one form or another, has held a prominent position in the life of people. The spectacular has, today, a thrill for the average man. Anything theatrical, depicting perhaps his own emotions in life, his trials and joys, a living picture of himself, has an appeal that is universal and eternal.

The stage has proved its importance and more recently the movies have assumed the same obligation. What of radio? Where are the possibilities in the unseen element of broadcasting? Can radio ever hope to equal this long-established custom of hearing and seeing the performer at the same time?

Yes, certainly. With the day of television at hand, it can.

But will it be in a position to enter the field of the theatre and acquit itself with honors? No. Not until the industry realizes that showmanship is the predominating feature of the stage. There are not more than a handful of real showmen in charge of radio programs today.

Even without television the possibilities of showmanship are tremendous, but what happens? What do the radio listeners get? Dull, uninteresting programs presented in a way to disgust the average person when with a little planning and the services of a capable person trained to appreciate the tastes of an audience all radio stations could raise their standard of broadcasts from the ridiculous to, if not the sublime, at least a point whereby they would not be comparing the intelligence of their average listener to that of a child of eight.

With television staring us in the face, let us hope that we will not be subjected to the horror of seeing as well as hearing bad programs.

Extensive Fall Productions Are In Order

By DICK TEMPLETON
New York Correspondent

A FLEETING glance at the Fall fare to be offered to the radio listener gives yet another piece of firm proof that FRANK BLACK, NBC's general musical director, is the most accurate of all the prophets in radio.

For in January it was BLACK who said:

"Extensive productions will be the order of the day of the new radio season which will start about the middle of September."

Recent announcement of a series of hour programs to be called "The Gibson Family" furnishes the most conclusive proof yet offered.

In addition to being an unusual feat along production lines, the new show will present the first original musical comedy series ever written for radio—and it will be the work of a famous author and two of the land's best known song writers.

Radio experts have known for a long time that such an undertaking, skillfully presented, would overshadow the best musical programs on the air today. A few composers were approached with the idea and most of them shied away from the task. Turning out four or five good songs each week seemed like asking too much.

Finally, CARLO DE ANGELO, director of the new program, determined that two men who could write songs to fit into successful Broadway revues on order and who could, when asked, provide Hollywood with a tune for this picture or that, should not have any hesitancy in approaching the microphone.

So he put it up to them—at the same time he entrusted COURTNEY RYLEY COOPER with the idea of developing a running story or "book" for the musical comedy. COOPER set out to write six installments.

As soon as a half dozen scripts were turned over, DE ANGELO put the scripts in the hands of the two song writers, ARTHUR SCHWARTZ and HOWARD DIETZ. The pair had written "The Bandwagon," "Three's A Crowd" and other musical comedy hits.

When they got the first six hour shows, they went into seclusion — and five weeks later popped out with completed tunes for four programs, two more outlined and five other songs that they felt sure would fit into future programs. All doubt that "it could be done" was erased and the show was put into rehearsal.

It will bow in on WEA's network Sept. 15 at 9.30 P. M. And while numerous other productions are being made ready for radio, notably the one featuring SIGMUND ROMBERG and the treat ROXY has in store, the eyes of radio experts throughout the land—as well as of fans—will be on "The Gibson Family."

Studiosity

By Les Troy

THE REVELERS, radio quartet, were rehearsing at the NBC studios in Radio City. Suddenly JOE COOK stuck his head in the door and asked:

"Will you boys be good enough to be quiet for the next few moments? We are buying an old gag in the adjoining studio and, if you keep on singing, it may come to life and get used on a dozen radio programs."

GRACIE ALLEN

ARTHUR SCHWARTZ, young American composer, who is writing the music for radio's first musical comedy, was being interviewed the other day.

"Writing songs for an hour program each week is certainly going to take a lot out of you," said the interviewer.

"But," replied the song writer, "It's going to take a lot out of Bach, Brahms and Beethoven, too."

Many interesting sidelights on the taste of radio fans are being found out by a bevy of investigators from Station WSM in Nashville, Tennessee. For instance, the town of Anniston, Alabama, prefers religious hymns as favorite radio fare. In Akron, Ohio, the heads of families prefer news broadcasts. In Atlanta, Georgia, the men prefer dance orchestras, while the ladies are more interested in talks on domestic science and cooking. The children there prefer hill billy music.

GEORGE BURNS and GRACIE ALLEN are back home after a seven weeks tour of Europe.

"Well, it certainly is nice to be back in Ireland," were GRACIE'S first words after she went through the pockets of the customs officials.

GEORGE revealed that upon their arrival at Southampton, a British warship fired a 21-gun salute for GRACIE. "But," he added disappointedly, "every shot missed her."

CARLYLE STEVENS, CBS announcer, is generally pretty cool-headed. But the other night, when he started announcing a broadcast, his hands were trembling violently and he kept biting his lips.

All the time he kept glancing at the control room seeking some sign of relief. Finally an engineer scribbled something on a piece of paper, after he had had a session with the telephone. He held the paper up so CARLYLE could see it.

Immediately the young man brightened and did a jig around the studio.

The sign read:
"IT'S A BOY."

Radio's 'Lady Next Door' Builds Programs Around Her Cast

Has Been On The Air For Seven Years

Here's the story of a girl who has taken the place of hundreds of thousands of fathers, mothers, uncles, aunts and other miscellaneous relatives throughout the length and breadth of the land.

How many thousands of times B. R. (Before Radio) have the above-mentioned fathers and mothers heard the plaint: "Tell us a story." And then came the figurative scratching of heads and finally nothing much more original than the tale of the Three Bears.

Not that story-telling by the elders of the household has disappeared, but their attempts are now augmented by the loud-speaker.

This, then, is the story of the girl back of the loudspeaker, known far and wide as "The Lady Next Door." And who doesn't know of a "lady next door," she of the convenient cookie jar and the entertaining stories?

Directs Children's Programs

Almost everyone as a child has known of such a real personage. Now radio has made her universal. Many of you may not even know her name, except by title. She's the individual who is in charge of children's programs for the National Broadcasting Company. And although she is quite young, she is a veteran in so far as broadcasting is concerned.

She is gracious MADGE TUCKER and the idol of children of the radio audience.

It wasn't so long ago that she was a child in Centralia, Illinois, where she was born and where her father owned the largest store in town. To school she went, first at Centralia and then later at St. Louis and Chicago. To round out her education she attended GEORGE WASHINGTON University at Washington, D. C.

Early she thought of herself in connection with the stage. And so she became a pupil at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York.

Despite the fact that the stage has beckoned several times, she has found something more interesting. It started when she got a place on a Washington radio station, telling children's stories, nearly seven years ago.

A Pioneer In the Field

Before she knew it the National Broadcasting Company had been organized and she was asked to come into the new network's program division to take charge of all juvenile programs. There she has been ever since. Twice the stage called and she resigned her position only to exercise her right of "mind changing" and recall the resignation.

In the early days she originated many popular features for juvenile entertainment and laid the groundwork for others.

It was a little more than three years ago that she originated her Lady Next Door series. Since then it has been presented as a daily feature over an NBC-WEAF network.

Her technique differs from that of many story tellers. She isn't content with merely telling the tales. Instead she gathers children around her, puts them in front of the microphone, and then they act the stories out.

The Children Help

This is done in such a way that the children at the other end of the "mike" imagine themselves participating in treasure hunts, airplane rides, hiking trips and a score of other activities. Let her explain:

"I want a program in which everyone takes part," she declares. "And when I say 'takes part,' I don't mean 'acts.' It is ridiculous to expect children, many of them only four or five years old, to act. They want to play and that's what I let them do."

Miss TUCKER takes simple, easily understood themes. She weaves her script around the children in the studios, about their lives, and includes many of their own ideas.

If the children in the studio were talking about treasure hunts, then the scripts soon would turn up with a treasure hunt. She makes up her cast first and then produces the program around that cast.

In rehearsal she lets them read their lines without any coaching or instruction. If a child has difficulty in interpreting a line, then that line is changed. The child is not corrected.

"We must be natural," she says.

One of her earliest tasks was the direction of "The Step on the Stair," radio's first original mystery drama.

A Modern Miss

Miss TUCKER is a modern miss, not at all the "auntie" type. The children never call her "Aunt Madge." She is always the "Lady Next Door" or Miss TUCKER.

Around Manhattan she drives a snappy automobile, which her followers have christened "The Cream Puff."

And her apartment is a duplex. Some time ago she decided to move to a less expensive apartment. And so she informed her landlord, who asked that she remain on her own terms. He explained that his children would never forgive him if he allowed her to move. They were among her most ardent "fans."

The Lady Next Door is only part of Miss TUCKER's work. She also supervises the Sunday Morning Children's Hour, heard over an NBC-WJZ network with MILTON J. CROSS as master of ceremonies.

Just at present she is conducting her listeners through the thrilling "Adventures of Mystery Island." The general programs under the head of "The Lady Next Door" are a series of short continued serials.

And so her audience is following JIMMY and JACK, who are in camp with a crowd of boys and girls on Mystery Island. They discover a pirate ship in the bay and board it, only to be captured. Later they discover the identity of the pirates and all's well that well.

This and That

evidence there may be to the contrary, that the networks do respect the intelligence of the radio audience, that they are aware that listeners do want to hear from people who know what they are talking about.

No program is better illustration of that than the previously mentioned New York Philharmonic broadcasts with GILMAN and TAYLOR as commentator and announcer. It had dignity and authority.

It is to be hoped that when the concerts are resumed next month both again will be at the same posts.

Crowley Address On Air

LEO T. CROWLEY, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, will outline the government's efforts to protect the savings of the average homeowner in a broadcast from Washington over the CBS-WABC network on Tuesday, September 11, at 6.45 P. M.

Japs Fight Chinese Radio

on the high frequency ether. These, too, are located at Kemi-kawa-cho and Nasaki—the former going under "JY" call letters and the latter known as "JV's."

The 'phone and telegraph transmitters are in daily contact with Europe and North America, and many of these offer listeners a chance to eavesdrop on the conversations. JYK (13.61 megs) and JYT (15.76 megs.) often are heard weekly between approximately 6 and 8 P. M., EST, contacting with 19-metre terminals at Dixon and Bolinas, California.

Japanese commercial stations call their contact point in English when first coming on the air and then generally switch over to inverted ("scrambled") speech after the hook-up is made. This, of course, ends the pleasure so far as we dial explorers are concerned.

Direct reception from the Pacific's Eastern Empire has in the past been best in the Fall. Under the circumstances, JVM soon should afford some interesting tuning.

Germans Pay Tax Or Go To Jail

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

HITLER is clamping prison sentences up to three weeks on persons who fail to pay the regular radio set tax, which the postman collects each month, the Federal Communications Commission has been advised officially from Germany.

The tax is two marks per month. Shut-ins and needy persons are exempted.

The Clank of Armor

DURING a recent movie preview on the "45 Minutes in Hollywood" program, sound engineers had to reproduce the clanking of medieval armor. They puzzled their heads for days and finally achieved the effect by bouncing a wooden neck-lace off a padded vibraphone.

Introducing

FARING forth from Simmons College not so long ago with a heartening background of the intricacies and lore of domestic science, the Miss Ruth Walker we herewith introduce perhaps then would have scoffed at the idea that the microphone was to welcome her and her suave, dignified voicings of material originated and culled by Ora Dodd, the Edison Company's "Friendly Kitchen Observer." On this interesting period heard at 1.10 P. M. over WEEI on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, Miss Walker shares the speaking assignment with Miss Helen Bates of whom an introduction will subsequently be presented.

One of the prime movers in the activities of the Edison domestic science coterie for the past few years, Miss Walker has had the opportunity to substantially and intermittently preface her radio work with lecture demonstrations. Thus was her eligibility established to tell to the radio public the sequence of amusing, historical and romantic stories, on a variety of subjects, which make the interlude with "The Friendly Kitchen Observer" so appealing.

By self admission she entertained a few suppressed qualms about her initial radio assignment. Today she stands an exponent of how habit forming a harmless little device such as a microphone can be. "Radio letter writers are very appreciative," she says, "and their acknowledgements, I believe, are still the most practical measure with which to keep alert to the public's wishes." Her subjects are widely variable and at the same time in decided contrast to the stereotyped run of broadcasts finding inspiration in the field of domestic science.

The author of Miss Walker's presentations, having a flair for the unusual, will one day hand her script on the story of John Hull, who gave his daughter a marriage dowry of her weight in pinetree shillings or about the cider made by a Rhode Island merchant from apples of a tree which came from the Garden of Eden. Other typical topics are "How Colonial housewives disliked pumpkin, and of the Indian vegetables they cooked in their forty-pound iron kettles"; "How John Eliot helped the Indians to found Nonantum and Natick"; "About tea bootleggers, and the lady who served her guests with tea which she had boiled, buttered and salted."

Of course at the close of each little story is a delicately done and brief commercial transition to correlate the theme of the broadcast with the work of the Edison Friendly Service Kitchen. That, Miss Walker would tell you, like the "Observer's" broadcasts, is a service to every home, and each a public utility. In other words, she's in love with her work and doesn't hesitate to say so to you, you and also you.

Big Freddy Miller Is A Keith Circuit Grad

Informality Gives Program Popular Appeal

To see him hiking Tremont street with a watch charm pekinese on his sleeve and a light tan fedora worn jauntily, one would be justified in a second peek; and not at the "peke," as Big Freddy Miller, the Proctor and Gamble man over WEEI, is more than something of a showman—on the street and behind the microphone.

A graduate of Columbia and NBC blue networks, as well as stations WXYZ—Detroit, WLW—Cincinnati and WCAU—Philadelphia, Big Freddy has all that it takes to sing his way into the homes of New England at 7.45 o'clock over WEEI on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The schedule is a forerunner of a coast-to-coast network presentation of the same program under the same sponsorship with the coming of the new year.

It's a liberal education in the show business to talk to the guy. You might remember him on Keith time which he worked for years, doing a single, as a member of "The Quixy Four," and sharing applause in the "Miller Abbott" combine. The then Governor Coolidge thanked Big Freddy at Tremont Temple where he entertained the home guards during the police strike on his last vaudeville appearance in Boston. He merely linked the episodes historically but we know his obliging, easy-going nature is hand and glove with civic, benefit and thank you assignments aside from his toil for daily bread.

That, by the way, had its first inspiration in the town of Zanesville, Ohio, which claims fame for having one of the world's two Y-shaped bridges and probably more potteries than any other domestic or foreign community. Being also the home of Harry, father of Ray Bolger, Billie Burke Ziegfeld and Chauncey Alcott, the lure of the stage was more or less a natural inclination for Mrs. Miller's boy.

Music called him and parental approbation was translated into a complete course of study at the Chicago Musical College of which Florenz Ziegfeld, father of the famous Follies' producer, was the dean.

Completing his studies, Miller organized an orchestra which had for a first fiddle player none other than the famous Rubinoff. It clicked from "proms" to concerts and was the forerunner of his theatrical career after three years of space selling for the Chicago Tribune. And the selling tendency lingers, he was frank enough to admit after a convincing though brief dissertation on the merits of Ivory Shaving Cream. On the program, the commercialism is very informally done with a sonorous, happy diction which not only listens well but is a happy contrast to many, more strenuous program product plugs. To quote Miller—"my reading an announcement would make me feel like reciting 'Mary Had A Little Lamb'."

By way of explanation about the toy pekinese, the spotlight is swung towards Mrs. Miller who, like her husband, likes Boston and shops the stores. Then the big man puts on the dog for an afternoon airing. Mrs. Miller, another featured artist on the Keith Circuit, was Pearl Du Val and heard Big Freddy vocalize for the first time at Toledo-Keiths back in 1922. They've been harmonizing ever since.

If it's something different you prefer, you'll prefer six-foot-one Mr. Miller. The time is a quarter before eight on Tuesdays and Thursdays—two bits of fine entertainment weekly. And he'll do his own accompaniment.

NEWS WEEI BRIEFS

Carleton Dickerman, just back from vacation, is caught by our artist in a strenuous mood after a session with the microphone on the merits of Ironized Yeast to which he credits the school boy complexion . . . Deane Moore, who announces, plays and sings his own arrangements of popular tunes of the past twenty years had made a grand entree at the 7.45 A. M. spot daily excepting Sundays over station WEEI. Originally graduating from WBT, Charlotte, North Carolina, Moore came to national prominence over the network, where for years his program was identified by the novelty theme "8 notes and a Pair of Pipes." He is settled in Boston now and brings to WEEI a style and talent which is bound to register again with the New England audience since his network fanmail consistently bulked from this section of the country. He's actually a one man trio with artistry and novelty aplenty . . . Rog Wheeler is doing the nifty dramatic briefs heard on Stardom Express . . . Among the best of hardy perennials—Wheatenaville featuring Raymond Knight . . . Gaspar Bacon makes his campaigned bow on WEEI at 7.45 the tenth . . . Don't miss the old WEEI favorites "Ronnie and Van" who will be featured with Tony Wons on Sunday afternoon under the program listing "The House by the Side of the Road" . . . Lucille Potter seen auditioning at the WEEI studios we wonder for what new program; she's one lass who, although successful and bringing in the gold in New York, has a deep-dyed yearning to be back in the Hub

. . . Here's what happens to a program director who develops an idea like "Stardom Express," the WEEI Monday afternoon half-hour featuring an entire retinue of established and embryo stars; puzzle—find Arthur Edes . . . The life of an announcer being usually fraught with hazard in the form of over alert folk seemingly eager to whisper of a detected diction slip or such, it is a pleasure to report the favorably commented form of the WEEI boys for the past several weeks—incidentally from several sources . . . Irene Hanify is back and robust at her evening hostessing after vacation . . . "Pick and Pat," as forecast, have IT . . . The Bye family says bye-bye on the 10th for a while at least after an interesting series . . . With audition requests running the way they are, it is more and more becoming apparent that the general public is finally realizing that novelty, showmanship and professionalism to some degree are necessary requisites even for sustaining programs; auditions now by appointment after preliminary judging from questionnaire . . . Joe Dunn, Alice Blue and Benny McLaughlin take a WEEI airing at seven o'clock on Saturday, the 8th . . . Helen Lee—commercial division—away out at the World's Fair vacationing . . . Walter Johnson,

"King of the Ivories," has been doing some nifty piano bits and can collect the studio staff at available points of vantage whenever he takes the grand piano for an airing . . . Fred Allen is giving some localite the rib weekly of late . . . Joe Cook is winning a host of new listeners weekly according to all reports . . . Cleercoal will shortly be back over WEEI with a fine offering.

A Murder Is Broadcast While Lombardos Play Soft, Mellow Music

An Incident In the Career Of The Band

The time was about 1927. The place was Chicago.

One day the owner of a not-too-well-known South Side night club went to the owner of a Chicago radio station.

"Look here," he said. "My business is dying on the vine. I'm darn near broke. I have a band down at my club and I think the boys would make a hit over the air. Furthermore, I believe in radio advertising. I believe it would put my business in the black. Can we get together?"

"What band have you got?" asked the station owner.

"Well, they're not very well known," the night club owner said apologetically. "They came to me from Cleveland. They call themselves The Royal Canadians. Fellow by the name of Lombardo conducts. Has three brothers in the band."

"Have you got any money?" asked the station man.

"Just a few hundred dollars," replied the other.

"All right, I'll take a chance," said the radio man.

"But I've got obligations, too, so you'll have to pay in advance for your time on the air. The line charge will be extra. Your band isn't known here and it may be terrible. If it is I can't afford to keep it on the station. We'll put it on but if it isn't any good the deal's off."

First Time On The Air

Several nights later along toward midnight, the station owner and some of his friends listened in. The Royal Canadians were on the air. The station owner was never known to overpraise anything. He listened for a time and then remarked:

"Not bad for an unknown outfit. And they've got a style that's different. I guess we'll stick with 'em and see what happens."

What happened was that the none-too-happened night club became a gold mine and the LOMBARDOS were catapulted into the limelight.

And that is the real story of the start of a musical organization that is one of the best known units on the air.

When the LOMBARDO tempo and the LOMBARDO slow rhythm and the LOMBARDO soft legato style of musical interpretation hit the air waves over that Chicago station, the band became an overnight sensation. LOMBARDO music became the mode. The young Canadian had established an individual style that has been copied many times but never successfully imitated.

You just couldn't keep a GUY like that off the networks. And soon the whole United States began to dial for those Royal Canadians.

"Hick" Band from Chicago

Broadway is convinced that anything that originates anywhere else is nothing but a flash in the pan.

"Some hick band from Chicago is coming to town," said Broadway. "Watch it

They Came To Fame From London-Ontario

CARMEN, LIEBERT, VICTOR and GUY, the LOMBARDO brothers, who are the nucleus of the Royal Canadians now playing at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. They are heard over the NBC-WEAF network every Wednesday at 10 P. M.

blow up." That was four or five years ago.

Today GUY LOMBARDO and his outfit have one of the choicest "spots" in New York, the Waldorf-Astoria. And in addition they are regularly heard each Wednesday at 10 P. M. over an NBC-WEAF network under commercial sponsorship.

Some "blow up"! And don't forget, Broadway, that it started out as a schoolboy band, way up in a place you never heard of, London, Ontario, which, Broadway, is in Canada.

There were a lot of young LOMBARDO boys—GUY and CARMEN, LIEBERT and VICTOR. GUY had learned to play the violin, LIEBERT liked to make noise so he was assigned the drum part, while CARMEN tooted the flute. Next door lived young FREDDY KRIETZER, who hammered away at the piano.

The Band Grows

Even then young GUY was trying to produce a different kind of dance music. He wanted a soft, melodious cadence. At first engagements were few and far between.

Then the band was augmented. Young GEORGE GOWANS took up the drums and LIEBERT attempted the trumpet. FRANCIS HENRY strummed a mean guitar and FRED HIGMAN muttered into a "sax."

They got a job at a dance pavilion. Later came an offer to make a small vaudeville tour. So they selected a swanky name for themselves. They called the band The Royal Canadians. Hot cha!

They got as far as Cleveland on the tour and much to their surprise received an offer from a country night club, otherwise known as a roadhouse, to play regularly. They abandoned vaudeville with celerity.

Still no one knew anything about them. Finally they decided to try Chicago. And that is where their story really starts.

One incident in their Chicago career stands out in their memory. One night they were playing for the dancers in the night club.

A Murder Is Broadcast

At the same time the microphone was open over a coast-to-coast network. Their father, the elder LOMBARDO, was in Chicago on his first visit to that metropolis. He was dancing to the music of his son's orchestra. Suddenly something happened. Several men had come into the place. For a moment no one paid any attention to them.

Then two of them drew guns and began banging away at a man sitting at one of the tables. He fell in a slump to the floor. It was another gangster killing. When the shooting started, the band stopped.

For a moment everyone forgot the open microphone. Then GUY stepped up and said, softly:

"Ladies and gentlemen, the noise you heard came from one of the drums."

But what really happened was that for the first time in the history of radio a real murder had been broadcast from coast-to-coast.

The sounds that people thought were from the drum were the shots that snuffed out the life of a Chicago mobster.

Now come the statistics: GUY, the eldest brother, is five feet seven inches tall; has brown hair and eyes, weighs 145 pounds, is married and plays the violin.

CARMEN also is five feet seven inches tall, has black hair and brown eyes, weighs 147 pounds, sings.

VICTOR is five feet six and one-half inches tall, weighs 135 pounds, has brown hair and eyes, is married and plays the saxophone.

LIEBERT is five feet, six and one-half inches tall, weighs 142 pounds, has black hair and grey eyes, is married and plays the trumpet and sings.

Popular Tunes On New NBC Program

Music from popular operettas, well-liked ballads and songs make up the program of the first of the Sunday Treasure Chest programs, featuring RALPH KIRBERRY, which will be broadcast over the NBC-WEAF chain Sunday, September 9, from 2 to 2.30 P.M.

KIRBERRY, known to the radio audience as the "Dream Singer," has selected "My Dream Girl" by VICTOR HERBERT, "Moonlight and Roses" and "My Heart Stood Still" as his solos.

The orchestra, under the direction of HAROLD LEVEY, will play melodies from "Sari," "Jealousy," the "Vilia" from "The Merry Widow" and "The Touch of Your Hand."

Reflections

By Diana Herbert

The MICROPHONE'S Fashion Observer

A FEW WEEKS ago we enumerated for you some of the signal successes, fashionably speaking, at our Eastern seaboard resorts. We intended to follow this by an account of what our overseas cousins were wearing for their seaside sojourns.

Unfortunately for our purpose the chic Frenchwoman does not go "en vacance" until August, and this year she has been especially late in leaving on account of the prolonged gaiety of the Paris season. What with night racing, private balls and outdoor fetes, Paris for the French has been exceedingly festive.

'August, then, finds our chic Parisienne at one of the beaches—Deauville, Dinard, Cabourg, St. Tropez—and September will find her at Biarritz or sunny San Sebastian, just across the Spanish border. On good days the beach dress, slim, décollete, and accompanied by shorts and a tailored jacket, is almost a uniform. This is worn with a large hat, preferably in natural-colored straw, and flat-heeled sandals also of natural straw, fastened to the feet by strips of bright Moroccan leather. The straight-line skirt is often slit at the side.

FLORENCE CASE, our own radio singer, has several of these dresses in linen, accompanied by checked, crinkled jackets in interesting color combinations, with linen revers to match the dress.

THE FRENCHWOMAN at a seaside resort dresses much more informally than our compatriots. As a rule her beach dress and jacket are adequate for any daytime occasion. If she should change for tea, she does not choose a garden-partyish flowered-chiffon, but instead, slips into a pale-colored silk sports frock, low-heeled shoes and a very large felt hat—pastel or white.

FOR EVENING she puts aside her sophisticated satins and metal-threaded chiffons in favor of linen or pique in a dark shade and cut on elongated sports lines, with the skirt slit on both sides and a jeweled clip as sole concession to "luxe"!

Synagogue Choir On From Poland

The choir of the Grande Synagogue in Warsaw, Poland, will broadcast an international program to American listeners at 6.45 P. M. on Saturday, September 8, over the NBC-WEAF network.

This ensemble, one of the best-known Jewish choirs in Europe, will give the first program by a synagogue choir ever broadcast to this country.

Hogs Aren't Radio-Minded

Recently during the National Farm and Home Hour over the NBC networks they put on a hog-calling contest. A. C. PHILLIPS, of Watertown, Tennessee, phoned Station WSM at Nashville, which carried the program, that his hogs were running all over the place as a result of the broadcast and he couldn't do a thing with them.

Surprised

VERA VAN, CBS songstress, achieves an unique expression as the camera catches her looking up from her music. VERA is heard occasionally with RICHARD HIMBER'S orchestra on Tuesdays at 9.30 P. M. and on her own program on Thursdays at 11.15 P. M.

Trick Names On Sets Are Under Attack

This company is alleged to have placed on its radio tubes and sets escutcheon plates bearing the names 'Edison,' 'Victor International' and 'Brunswick.'

No permission has been obtained by the company to use the names "Victor" or "Edison," according to the Government's complaint, which says:

"Such use tends to and does mislead and deceive the trade and purchasing public into the erroneous belief that its tubes and sets have been manufactured by Thomas A. Edison, Inc., and RCA Victor Co., respectively, while the said name 'Brunswick,' is so nearly like the name 'Brunswick' in appearance and sound that it is difficult to distinguish the difference."

The accused company was given until September 21 to answer the charges and show cause why an order should not be issued by the Commission requiring it to cease and desist from the practice.

Meanwhile, judgment in the case of the Crystallone Radio Corporation was withheld.

Sperber Joins Kasper-Gordon

NATHANIEL H. SPERBER, formerly advertising manager of the Franco-American Corporation, has recently joined the Kasper-Gordon Studios in Boston as assistant commercial director.

The studios are radio program producers.

SPERBER was at one time conductor of the Enna-Jettie Melody Orchestra, heard on the radio.

Radio Taxi Drivers

LET'S TAKE THE FAT ONE

BECAUSE the LANDT Trio and WHITE are sponsored by a taxi company on a WEAF program, the rumor has cropped up that they are former taxi drivers. They deny it but admit that DAN LANDT used to drive a truck. The persons who started the rumor probably were thinking of two other fellows—PAUL WHITEMAN and ABE LYMAN—who really were taxi drivers once.

Radio 'Brain Trusters' Sail For Portugal

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Radio experts representing the government and private interests sail September 12 from New York for Lisbon, Portugal, to join "brain trusters" on radio from other nations in preparing for the next international treaty-making conference in Cairo, Egypt, in 1937.

The Lisbon sessions will be the biennial meeting of the International Consulting Committee on Radio.

Consideration will be given to proposals to widen the broadcasting band to embrace more long and short waves for program services.

The American delegation was expected to oppose any additional frequencies for American broadcasting.

Consideration also will be given to synchronization, harmonic interference, standard measurements of frequencies and single side-band transmission.

Dr. J. H. DELLINGER, radio chief of the Bureau of Standards, will be chairman of the American delegation. Other delegates were expected to include Maj. ROBERT B. COLTON, Army Signal Corps; Capt. S. C. HOOPER, Director of Naval Communications; GERALD C. CROSS, Federal Communications Commission, and WILLIAM V. WHITTINGTON, of the State Department.

The National Association of Broadcasters was expected to send J. C. McNARY. Others likely to attend are R. A. HEISING, representing the Bell Laboratories and LLOYD BRIGGS, of the Radio Corporation of America.

Headline Hunter Returns To Air

FLOYD GIBBONS, known to the casual world as the "Headline Hunter," will come back to the air beginning Saturday, September 15, at 7.45 P. M., over the NBC-WEAF network.

He will be heard every Saturday at the same time. He resumes his rapid-fire comments on the latest developments in the Washington administration's battle with the forces of depression.

Professional Mimic

By Arlene Francis

A FEW WEEKS ago I was asked to give an impersonation of Connie Bennett, the movie actress, during one of the "Forty-five Minutes In Hollywood" programs. I was both thrilled and a bit frightened, for Connie Bennett is perhaps the most difficult person in movieland to impersonate. It is a fearful task in itself but thrilling when accomplished. It was some months ago that Marion Hopkinson and I—Marion first gained radio fame by vividly impersonating Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt—were assigned to study Miss Bennett's voice. We haunted movie houses, seeing every film in which Connie was playing, in Manhattan, Brooklyn and the Bronx, in suburban Long Island and New Jersey towns, in an effort to digest and then attempt to simulate her vocal qualities and each little nuance and inflection.

In that time Marion and I probably saw ten pictures in which Miss Bennett played, some of which we viewed three and four times, and then competed against each other in an audition for the honor of impersonating her. Marion won at that time and gave a creditable performance. The memory of that performance only added to my fear on learning later that I was to impersonate Miss Bennett.

Making a living by broadcasting impersonations of public personalities—in the case of "Forty-five Minutes In Hollywood," by impersonating movie stars—is a fascinating but precarious profession.

One must give an authentic impersonation of any given subject at any time, or hamper his or her career.

I now have been mimicking people since early childhood, nearly 20 years, but not until about a year ago did I start to capitalize on it professionally. Before that I acted straight roles on the stage, playing chiefly on the road but also appearing in a couple of Broadway productions.

Don Stauffer, director of "Forty-five Minutes In Hollywood," first employed me as an impersonator. He believes that a talent for mimicry is inborn, whereas I still am inclined to the belief that anyone of average ability can learn the art. Yet I know that it is a difficult art. Those who impersonate movieland's stars in the "Forty-five Minutes In Hollywood" programs sometimes almost live in movie houses. Each week we dramatize scenes from some new Hollywood production, through the co-operation of the producing company. This entitles us to see special previews of the picture in question, previews which usually are given in Broadway projection rooms of the producing companies. Sometimes the picture will be shown for us as often as six times, taking practically two days, while at other times we are able to impersonate the performances of stars after seeing the film only two or three times. After the previews we devote hours to rehearsals.

After spending so many hours a week learning to impersonate one person, the art of mimicry becomes an obsession. A stranger seeing me walking along a street, riding in a taxi or subway, or sitting in the lounge of a broadcasting studio, probably would think me mentally unbalanced. I am forever studying the voices of persons—eavesdropping on them, so to speak, and watching their every mannerism.

I become so engrossed in persons that often, much too often, I catch myself repeating their words half aloud and copying their gestures. You might think that a radio actor, while imitating a person's voice, is merely indulging in unnecessary color and showmanship by also imitating the person's physical mannerisms; but it is surprisingly true that one best imitates another's voice by also imitating his personal mannerisms.

A person's voice is indefinably linked with his actions; one complements the other.

Professional radio mimics are fortunate when they live in New York. That city probably provides as many types for study by impersonators as any city in the world.

Therefore, a professional mimic easily can study any type he may wish to impersonate. One must study a type before impersonating that type. Movie stars have many peculiarities in their speech difficult to mimic.

ARLENE FRANCIS, dressed in a costume characteristic of LUPE VELEZ, screen star, whom Miss FRANCIS has imitated over the radio. She is heard Thursday evenings at 10 on the CBS-WABC network, impersonating screen stars in radio previews of their pictures.
