This and That

By Morris Hastings

ON A NUMBER of recent occasions radio programs have been particularly gratifying to those who are clamorous for rare and fine music on the air.

A few Sundays ago, BRUNO WALTER, the New York Philharmonic and distinguished soloists presented a concert vision of GLUCK's opera "ORFEO and EURIDICE," which was, as usual, broadcast by Columbia.

MORRIS HASTINGS

In his December 11th program, LAWRENCE TIBBETT sang notable arias from MOUSSORGSKY's memorable opera "BORIS GOUDONOV"; and the following Friday a concert by the Philadelphia Orchestra, with STOKOWSKI directing the BACH B Minor Mass, was broadcast by CBS.

As it sounds carping to remark that only one of these programs—the TIBBETT—was designed especially for the radio audience, let it pass.

The most unusual of these items was, of course, the GLUCK opera, hitherto known to most of us in this country only by one mezzo-soprano aria and by the ballet music.

A quite surprising fact when one remembers that the opera is almost 200 years old and that it is a work of great beauty, nobility and, at times, of surprising modernity.

Tibbett's Ideal Radio Christmas Would Be Bare Of Advertising

Christmas Spirit To Fill the Air Opera Star

Calls That A Real Gift

By G. CARLETON PEARL

What would you do if you had the entire facilities of the National Broadcasting Company at your disposal for one day in the year and that day was Christmas?

What songs would you like to hear? What programs would you enjoy? And what music would you like played?

LAWRENCE TIBBETT, baritone of the Metropolitan Opera Company, one of the world's outstanding radio figures, was asked these questions in an exclusive interview by The MICROPHONE.

Mr. TIBBETT smiled, and then began talking in the somewhat hurried manner he adopts when he feels that perhaps he is talking about himself or giving too much free advice.

"I'm afraid I'll have to make this personal and tell you what I like to do myself," he said. "For this, in some part, is what I would like to hear. It'll be a bit difficult for me to visualize an ideal Christmas Day on the radio, or a New Year's Day, for that matter, because I have to work both days."

"I am not having a vacation either of those days," he continued, "and maybe that is

King George Will Speak To Nations

With nearly every program adopting a Christmas atmosphere and scores of special broadcasts, the holiday season will be observed by radio in an ambitious way.

International broadcasts on Sunday, December 23, include a program of Christmas music by the Benedictine Monks from Montserrat, Spain, at 12.45 P.M. over the WABC-Columbia network; the Schwartzheimer Children's Choir will be heard over the NBC-WJZ network at 8.45 A. M. from Berlin, Germany, and a Norwegian Christmas Party will follow on the NBC-WEAF network at 9.30 A. M.

Monday morning, December 24, will bring over the NBC-WJZ chain, carols from Cambridge University, England; at 1 P. M. the National Press Club Christmas Party, including songs by the National Capitol Choir, will be broadcast over the NBC-WJZ network and the WABC network at 1 P. M.; at 5 P. M. both NBC and Columbia will broadcast the ceremonies attending the lighting of the Nation's Christmas Tree in Washington, when President ROOSEVELT will speak.

'Stage Needs Aid Against Air,' Baker

Although radio is developing a trend towards the theatre, PHIL BAKER, stage and radio comedian, believes people of the stage should unite to keep the two amusement fields separate.

"The radio-stage actor's latest worry is the astounding tactics of GUY LOMBARDO's sponsors in launching an advertising campaign," said Mr. BAKER in an exclusive interview with The MICROPHONE.

"This new advertising stunt of sending a band on a sponsored free tour has climaxed a fear dormant for years in every stage-radio performer's heart—the fear that the stage would eventually suffer through radio's generosity to the public.

"No matter who the radio performer may be, if he has served his time on the stage he will favor the stage over the radio.

TIBBETT, CANTOR, BENNY, BURNS and ALLEN, LOMBARDO, WHITEMAN and dozens of others were made by the stage. No matter what field they may use as an outlet for their talents, they always will be stage people first and last.

"They never forget the old smell of grease paint and powder, or the back stage shop-talk, or the suspense of the opening curtain.

"The money that goes with speaking into the little black box hardly compensates for even the slightest injury to 'their stage.'"

"It is only natural that the radio people who have been

America Is Broadcast

A program called "American Scene," designed to give a panoramic picture of American life, will be broadcast over the CBS-WABC network on Saturday, December 22, beginning at 11.30 P. M.

The first part of the program will be broadcast from the Columbia studios in New York City.

Other portions of the hour program will come from Boston, Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, Detroit, St. Louis, Detroit, Kansas, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Hollywood.

Among the incidents included in the program are a scene from a New York restaurant, a visit to the United States mint, a bit of an ice-skating carnival, a portion of a hockey match, a bridge game, a conversation in a mission house, and the actual "shooting" of a movie on a motion picture lot.

This program has been arranged for by PAUL W. WHITE, head of the CBS Public Events and Special Features Department.

Miss Lillie On the NBC

BEATRICE LILLIE, deft English comedienne, will give the first in a series of weekly programs on January 4, at 9 P. M., over the NBC-WJZ network.

While Miss LILLIE, who is a member of the British peerage, has been featured a number of times in the RUDY VALLEE programs, this coming series marks her first extended radio engagement.

The date of Miss LILLIE's first program coincides almost to a day to the eleventh anniversary of her American debut.

This debut was in the first edition of "CHARLOT'S REVUE."

She has since been seen here in the "Second CHARLOT'S REVUE," "Oh, Please," "This Year of Grace," by NOEL COWARD, "The Third Little Show," and "Walk a Little Faster."

BEATRICE LILLIE made one notable venture into a straight dramatic play. That was in GEORGE BERNARD SHAW'S "Too True to Be Good," produced by the Theatre Guild.

Himber's Fattening Diet

RICHARD HIMBER, NBC orchestra leader, has been doing a bit of dieting lately. A month ago a fan wrote in and asked him for the secret. So Dick sent her a copy of the diet directions. Last week came word from the fan that the diet was great, only she had gained 12 pounds by sticking to it.

New Year Promises Better Times For American Radio Industry

All Business Is Reported On Upgrade

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Better times face the radio industry as 1934 passes into history and the New Year dawns.

Optimism over the future is being exuded by leaders in virile infant art.

Reports to government bureaus indicate the doldrums have been passed; that business is on the upgrade in radio.

President ROOSEVELT will give a Christmas greeting to the Nation over the radio when at 4.30 o'clock on Christmas eve he lights the National Community Christmas tree in Lafayette Square across the street North of the White House.

Secretary of Commerce ROPER will participate in the ceremonies, which the two major broadcasting companies broadcast over a coast-to-coast network.

Created in this ageing year was the Federal Communications Commission, with its Broadcast Division. It has just begun to function. Groundwork has been laid for far-reaching decisions in the immediate future.

Soon a report will be filed with Congress giving recommendations on that bitter issue of whether non-profit organizations—educational, religious and fraternal groups—shall be allotted a specific proportion of the broadcasting channels.

Observers predicted the Commission would not recommend a radical change in the present set-up, but instead offer a compromise course in which greater attention will be given to the requirements of educational forces.

Regardless of the Commission's recommendations the fight will be renewed by the educators for legislation by Congress.

In the Senate they will lay their case before Senator BURTON K. WHEELER (D) of Montana, for he is to be chairman of the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over radio legislation.

WHEELER will succeed Senator CLARENCE C. DILL (D) of Washington, as chairman. DILL was not a candidate for re-election.

Shortly after the New Year dawns there probably will be a new member of the Broadcast Division of the FCC. Rep. ANNING S. PRALL (D) of New York, is slated to succeed HAMPSON GARY.

A high spot in the 1934 record of radio was the steady drum-fire of Senator SCHALL (D) of Minnesota, against claimed efforts of "New Dealers" to establish a governmental radio system similar to the government-controlled stations in Germany, Soviet Russia and Italy.

Repeated assertions by President ROOSEVELT and other high administration officials that nothing of the kind was contemplated failed to still the barrage from SCHALL and other champions of free speech over the radio.

The Federal Trade Commission injected itself into the radio situation several times during 1934, when it conducted drives against fraudulent advertising over the ether. The result of the drives was that radio advertisers were found to be as truthful as any other advertisers.

Queer Instruments Are Used In Modern Jazz Orchestras

One Band Leader Grows His Own Instruments

NOVELTY orchestral arrangements are the rage these days, and as a consequence musicians have been busy inventing instruments to give an extra flare to comic or exotic numbers.

It seems that GRACIE ALLEN isn't quite so dizzy as she sounded on a recent broadcast when she said:

"My brother invented a violin, but you blow it like a saxophone and it has a keyboard like a piano, but what really makes it play it when you squeeze it like an accordion, and pull it in and out like a trombone."

"Doesn't it have strings like a banjo?" demanded her partner, GEORGE.

"No, my brother didn't want to complicate it," retorted GRACIE.

Instruments are being invented every day which are just as complicated as her brother's new violin.

Young JOE HAYMES invented an instrument that inspired WAYNE KING's novelty number, "Goofus." And this contraption, which has an accordion-like quality in its twangy trumpeting, is known as the goofus horn.

The instrument looks as goofy as it sounds. The mouthpiece is attached to two feet of rubber tubing which in turn is attached to a two-foot cylindrical brass horn with 22 stops. It took JOE's first trumpet some three months of patient practice to learn to keep the strange blasts of the goofus horn under control.

Nowadays, no first-class flutist goes to rehearsal without a "sweet potato" in his pocket. The "sweet potato" or ocarina is made of clay. It sounds rather like a flute, but has a more warm or exotic quality.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ, on his program Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9 P.M., over CBS, writes in ocarina solos for special effects. So does MARK WARNOW, on his "Forty-Five Minutes in Hollywood" scores.

There is an epidemic among musicians to raid the five and ten cent store and buy up toy instruments, trumpets, pianos and ukes, for novelty effects.

HOWARD NELSON HALL (better known as "JOE HORSE") in the Casa Loma band, created a sensation on a special arrangement for the "Caravan" by playing a toy piano. He tuned up its tinkling so that it would synchronize with the band, and it has become a permanent part of their bandstand equipment.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ has discovered that a newspaper laid across a piano's insides gives the effect of a harpsichord, which husky vibrating comes in handy when playing an old-fashioned piece like "Crinoline Days."

LEON BELASCO's drummer planted some maracca seeds in a flower pot and now boasts of growing his own instruments. The maracca is the large seed pod of a Cuban plant, and when it is dried the seeds rattle when it is shaken to punctuate a rhumba. Gourds also are used in tango and rhumba, gourds which are scraped or beaten rhythmically by claves, small sticks.

JOHNNY GREEN invented one of the most convincing of musical sound effects. It is his tuned champagne popper which makes bass, alto and soprano-like pops. He invented it to make succulent explosions during the "Corks and Bottles" theme of his "Night Club Suite," and the implement has since been borrowed by other conductors to liven up such numbers as "Pop Goes My Heart."

JOHNNY also has in his possession two voodoo drums. They were brought to JOHNNY by a friend who returned from a visit to Haiti, and who also recorded the ceremonial drum beats and chants. JOHNNY plans to write an elaborate symphony around voodoo ceremonials.

Musical engineers of the instrument companies are constantly developing and putting on the market instruments with new tone quality. There is the octarimba, which is a combination marimba-xylophone-piano and which, when played by one person, sounds as if it were being played by two.

There is a new accordion which is played entirely like a piano, and has a new range. The recently developed clar-o-sax looks like a toy clarinet and has a soprano saxophone tone quality. The tiple looks like a ukulele but has eight strings.

Broadcasts from South Are Clear

By GEORGE LILLEY

During the past few weeks, while evening trans-Atlantic reception on the short wave bands has been limited to the 49-meter German, English and Italian outlets, the waves from Central and South American regions have stepped up with supplementing programs.

HJ1ABB, Barranquilla, Colombia; YV3RC, Caracas, Venezuela, and PRF5, Rio de Janeiro, remain the outstanding and most reliable emanations from the southern countries, but quite a few other signals now are building up in volume and quality until they may soon at least rival the three favorites.

TIEP, "La Voz del Tropico," at San Jose, Costa Rica (6.71 megs.) is one of the new stations gaining much popularity among American ether explorers.

Fascinating native music from the local cafes and not so fascinating American dance music from the same cafes make up TIEP's usual transmissions. The volume is generally very good and the programs are clear.

The Costa Rican doesn't announce any too much in English, but now and then, as a rule on the hour, drifts up the call:

"This is TIEP, La Voz del Tropico, the long and short wave station at San Jose, Costa Rica, Central America."

And from not so many miles away comes another wave—this a new one that flashes out from the city of Panama.

The frequency is 49.84 meters, 6.03 megacycles, and the broadcasting hours have been approximately 8 to 10.30 P. M.

The Panama broadcaster carries both a Spanish and English announcer, who "sing" the location "Panama, Republic of Panama" after each selection. Although on the air an hour later, Panama has

CBS Issues A Yearly Manual for Teachers

The Columbia Broadcasting System, on behalf of the American School of the Air, has just published the 1934-1935 edition of its Teachers Manual and Classroom Guide as an aid in augmenting broadcast instruction.

The manual, issued for the sixth successive year, directs reference work and active participation in the subjects treated during the School of the Air programs on the nationwide CBS network.

The Teachers Manual is compiled by HELEN JACOBSON, broadcasting director of the American School of the Air.

The contents include synopses of each day's radio projection, footnoted with music references and visual aids, such as lantern slides, paintings and illustrated books; helpful publications, news bulletins, motion pictures and vocational guidance bibliography.

Consulting the daily schedule of the American School of the Air, teachers may turn to the manual for choice of broadcasts heard over the WABS-Columbia network from 2.30 to 3 P. M., EST, including Monday, History; Tuesday, Literature; Wednesday, Geography; Thursday, Music, and Friday, Vocational Guidance and current international events.

Each year, Columbia receives requests for approximately 50,000 copies of its Teachers Manual and Guide, which lists the year's programs in advance, gives suggestions for their use in the school room, and is distributed free to all educators requesting it.

The manuals, which often consist of more than a hundred pages, are intended primarily for free distribution to teachers only.

A Fitting Song

FRANK PARKER always sings when he is getting fitted for a suit of clothes in order to kill the monotony. He is getting suspicious that his tailor likes music, however. Because he had to have four fittings for the last suit he had made.

Radio Lane

By Jimmy J. Leonard

AMERICA is a nation of "clubby" people. Radio has contributed to these clubs. Hero worshippers have chosen sides, united, and set up their banner for good old BING CROSBY, or KATE SMITH, or SHIRLEY HOWARD.

These club members meet through radio columns, through correspondence, or through the stars themselves.

The radio stars help their clubs in their own individual manner.

They recognize the value of publicity, and club members receive autographs, pictures and general data about the stars' welfare, as regularly as weather reports.

The club members are loyal to their chosen star. If a scathing line is written by some columnist, he is taken into camp by the club members.

As was the case once with your naughty scribe. He wrote a sarcastic line about the late RUSS COLUMBO.

In the next mail you may be sure I was soundly trounced.

The next week the COLUMBO delegate in this section of the country informed me the club was meeting in New York, and had planned to march in a body to view COLUMBO's first movie. And would I please print the details?

The battle of 830 (kilocycles) involving WHDH, WNAC (Boston), KOA (Denver), WEEU (Reading, Pa.) and WOL (Washington), has been postponed until February 11, because of the illness of LEROY MARKS, of WOL.

HARRY (NICK PARKYAKAKAS) ENSTEIN will go to Hollywood with EDDIE CANTOR sometime in February. CANTOR will conduct his new broadcast from there, while he and NICK make pictures.

ENSTEIN receives $1000 for every broadcast, and the best of CANTOR's gags. Incidentally, FRIEDMAN, who writes most of CANTOR's stuff, has gone to Hollywood to aid other comedians in flickers.

RUSS COLUMBO's mother still is very ill. They have not told her that her son is dead.

Cheers to CAROLE LOMBARD who is reputed to have kept up a daily correspondence with the aged woman, under the nom de plume of "RUSS COLUMBO."

RAY NOBLE must appear before the American Federation of Musicians soon.

FRED WARING is being sued for $5000 by a ballroom lord for refusing to use the lord's amplifying unit. He claims WARING's amplifying system was muffled and noisy, and he lost many patrons for that reason.

GLEN GRAY is no more. Musicians have termed him "SPIKE" GRAY.

WBT is fast erecting its new 50,000 watt station at the cost of $25,000. WBT will be an outlet for the proposed WOR chain which now is sending programs through WTG.

These three stations will bow to the armchairs sometime in January with the expectation of covering three-quarters of the nation's population.

MITZI GREEN has been in New York quite a while. It's whispered she's circling sponsors.

JIMMY CAGNEY, too, was on the point of quitting movies for—all things—the radio sound department. It entranced him so he devised a new method of creating a wind sound which may be accepted by CBS.

MICROPHONE

VOLUME III Saturday, December 22, 1934 NUMBER 51

Publisher, JOHN K. GOWEN, Jr. Business Manager, PHILIP N. HOBSON Editor, G. CARLETON PEARL Managing Editor, MORRIS HASTINGS

A weekly newspaper, The MICROPHONE is published every Saturday at Boston, Massachusetts, by The MICROPHONE, Inc.

Entered as second class matter August 11, 1933, at the post office at Boston, Massachusetts, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

The MICROPHONE will not be responsible for unsolicited manuscripts unless they are accompanied by return postage.

Subscription for six months, $1; for one year, $1.50, postpaid. Single copies, five cents each.

Advertising rates on application to the Business Manager.

Offices, No. 34 Court Square, Boston, Massachusetts.

Telephones (connecting all departments) LAfayette 2860 and 2861.

A Christmas Gift

THIS IS the season of the year when almost everyone gives and receives. Shop windows, newspaper and magazine advertisements are rich with suggestions as to how one may spend one's funds to bring pleasure to others—and, quite incidentally, profit to merchants.

The MICROPHONE has its own suggestion to offer: To all except those hopelessly deaf, radio is the greatest gift, because the pleasure it gives and the usefulness it affords are not confined to one day in the year, or to special occasions. Every waking hour the radio means something to everyone and it is a particular boon to the blind, to invalids, to shut-ins, to elderly persons.

The MICROPHONE holds no brief for any radio set. Some sets are better than other sets, and an all-wave set will afford more variety to the listener than a long-wave set or a short-wave set. The tone of some sets will be better than the tone of other sets. You pay your money and you take your choice. But any radio set is better than no radio set.

Radio can be a source of entertainment and of education.

Let us assume that you have a radio set—any radio set. Perhaps you received it as a Christmas gift. Perhaps it is a tried and true household favorite.

How are you going to use it intelligently, so that from it you may derive the maximum benefit?

If you turn the dial aimlessly, you will be in the position of a person who enters a library, takes the first book at hand, and goes out. He may like that book—and probably he will wish that he had looked further.

The MICROPHONE suggests The MICROPHONE. Here is the ideal Christmas gift to complement a radio set, either to receive or to get for yourself with part of the money you received for Christmas.

There are 52 weeks in the year 1935 and every subscriber to The MICROPHONE will receive 52 issues, giving carefully selected radio programs, a page to a day, a week in advance. In addition, every subscriber will get the news of radio, radio features and pictures of radio personalities.

And if he uses his copy of The MICROPHONE intelligently, he will gain from his radio, in 1935, the greatest possible satisfaction.

This Is The Month of Jitters to Sponsors

By DICK TEMPLETON
New York Correspondent

RADIO IS having the jitters. To tune in, you might not think so, but we are now at the period where sponsors begin to worry about what they will do in the New Year.

Never before in the history of radio has there been so much discontent on the part of sponsors, so much actual uncertainty.

Scarcely a program but what comes under the critical eye of the lads who hold the purse strings that eventually provide your entertainment. They wonder if this comedian is still funny, if that one is funnier, or if this one is through. They wonder if this singer has the marvelous appeal to listeners they thought he had when they signed him to a contract some months ago.

One sponsor has been using a dramatic show, and he has seen HENRY FORD turn to a classical program with opera stars featured. He probably doesn't know that FORD is dropping his classical series and is boosting the popular FRED WARING program to an hour over 94 stations.

Another has had a news commentator, and he's wondering if people still like to have their current events analyzed for them.

There is in the radio industry a new disease. The lads who think up words like halitosis and so on might well define it in lengthy scientific terms, but, to an onlooker fairly close to the actual scene, it can be termed over-familiarity.

A sponsor buys a program and every time it goes on the he hears it. Today he may listen to another sponsor's program but tomorrow night he is going out to play bridge so he misses the third sponsor's program. But his own—never.

Studiosity

By Les Troy

NEXT FRIDAY is notable for two reasons. The first that comes to one's mind is, naturally, that it is the Friday before Christmas. And I must say that I can't blame any one for that.

Friday is also the birthday of "Studiosity," LES TROY and his co-partner, ALOYSIUS GLUFFY. Through the combined efforts of the latter two, the former would reach, in book form, the stupendous total of 64,400 words. Please do not ask how I arrive at such an exact figure. Someone else always keeps what little score I make at bridge.

Last year I strenuously steered away from things Yuletide. (Yes, I looked it up in the files.) And this year I suppose that I must make amends. So, Merry Christmas, everyone! There. Now until five minutes of nine on Christmas Eve when I dash in and buy a few handkerchiefs, socks, ties and doodads, this too, too commercial land of ours can go hang its Christmas advertisements on a hickory limb for all of me.

Christmas is not what is used to be. And I'm not being patriarchal when I say that either. It wasn't so long ago when I wanted SANTA (now it's SANTASON, I believe) to bring me an electric train. I still do, but that desire has been inhibited along with sticking pins in doorbells and such like.

For instance, in the old days, you used to go out and buy a small fir tree, nail a couple of boards on the bottom and set it in the living room. Thereafter you would stand off and throw tinsel at it until it achieved a carelessly brilliant look that was satisfying and Christmasy.

Now the same thing is true except that you've got to make it look like the front of the ROXY Theatre on the night of a premiere. And the two candles in the front windows are replaced with everything from a subtly lit Nativity scene to a miniature reproduction of the New York sky-line at night.

Excuse me if I interrupt for just a minute. I have to mention someone by name so that I can have a picture in this column. Let's see. And while I'm thinking, let me tell you that I had promised myself to make you a present by not saying anything about radio this week.

FRITZ KREISLER is the one I choose for a picture. Because this most eminent and greatest of all violinists has never been on the radio, nor will he play before a microphone. And this leads me to believe there is something wrong with radio.

So, having made my small moan in behalf, or is it against Christmas.

And now I'll to my favorite shop. By the way, have you seen the doll that says "mama" goes to sleep, and drinks out of a bottle. And (oh this age of realism) twenty minutes after feeding her, you have to change her miniature diapers.

George And Gracie Settle Down With An Adopted Daughter

Gracie and Child Cry All Night

Little SANDRA BURNS, not many months old, lay tucked under soft pink blankets and gurgled knowingly at her mother.

And her adopted mother, GRACIE ALLEN, gurgled knowingly back.

"Papa" GEORGE BURNS stood proudly beside the carriage.

"GRACIE is the only one who understands the baby," he said.

"She catches on right away."

GRACIE was prodding one of the baby's mittened fists.

"Yes, my doll," she said, "I know you hate those mittens, but if you will suck your thumbs—"

Little SANDRA'S whimpering stopped and she gazed at GRACIE wonderingly, apparently reconciled to her mittens.

The BURNS' new baby looks like a magazine cover child, dressed up in the cutest bonnets and embroidered baby dresses that GRACIE could ferret out of New York stores.

GEORGE says that he and GRACIE plan to adopt another one, a boy, as soon as SANDRA is able to walk.

Sandra's Levee

Each morning at 9 o'clock, GEORGE is up to watch GRACIE and the nurse give the infant a bath.

Each afternoon GRACIE wheels the carriage out in Central Park.

Each evening at 5 o'clock, GEORGE, as a special treat, invites his cronies to the apartment to see SANDRA emerge rosy and gurgling and dressed in a fresh pink sweater.

GEORGE and GRACIE are due in Hollywood soon to star in two forthcoming pictures.

Little SANDRA and her nurse will go along.

Her parents believe she will thrive in the famous California climate.

During their absence, a newly leased apartment is being furnished with a special nursery, so that they can settle down in it after their return to New York.

They Settle Down

The acquisition of SANDRA is a culmination of many years dreams.

The two BURNS are naturally a home-loving couple, but their work as troupers playing vaudeville all over the country kept them from settling down.

They spent their days catching trains, putting on and removing make-up for four shows a day, living on quick meals and hustling in and out of hotel rooms.

Radio, and their network broadcasts over Columbia, gave their voices an opportunity to travel all over the country, though they remained in one place.

And GEORGE and GRACIE gradually got their roots in New York.

This Summer they took a vacation from the airwaves to travel to Europe for several personal appearances and a rest.

Before they left, they put in an application at an adoption agency in Chicago, and upon their return they found a message awaiting them.

The adoption agency had two babies waiting, and would GRACIE come to Chicago immediately to make her selection as there was a long line of would-be-parents in waiting?

In A Dither

The message put GEORGE and GRACIE in a dither.

GEORGE decided to remain in New York and hire a nurse through a baby specialist while GRACIE rushed to Chicago.

At the baby home, they were

Burns and Allen Now 'At Home'

surprised to find GRACIE so small.

They said they believed that the two babies, five months old, who were available, were too big for GRACIE, but there was a new young baby, five weeks old, who was "just the type" for her.

GRACIE took a look at the youngster, and fell in love with it.

She called GEORGE on the telephone and told him to meet her at the train — she had just the baby.

He was a little alarmed over the child's extreme youth, but encouraged GRACIE to sign the final papers.

She bought a few blankets, baby clothes, and milk containers, and carried little SANDRA into a compartment on the Twentieth Century.

There GRACIE stayed, hardly daring to take her eyes off her young daughter.

If SANDRA sighed or gurgled, GRACIE jumped.

In the middle of the night the baby sneezed and began to whimper.

That broke GRACIE up.

She began to cry, too, and was sure she would be responsible for the baby's illness.

Expectant Father

Thing looked brighter the next morning, however, when the train pulled into Grand Central station and she found GEORGE anxiously waiting for her with nurse for the baby.

Little SANDRA was on perfect behavior — never a whimper or a sneeze.

GEORGE and GRACIE bought a large black perambulator, and became reconciled to the fact that their apartment ice box was so full of milk bottles that they frequently had to have their meals out.

Proud parents they are.

Tibbett Depicts Radio Christmas Without Advertising

why I should like to see everyone else have a vacation then. So my first idea would be a Christmas present that radio could give everyone. And it would be a Christmas present that only radio could give. And a personal gift like that is always the best.

"Suppose all radio advertisers got together and said: 'These people have been kind enough to listen to our advertising for a whole year. Why not give them one day with no advertising at all? Give them programs, the best programs, but have it all a jolly party between artists and listeners. For, after all, Christmas is a day of good will.'"

When LAWRENCE TIBBETT uses the word "vacation," he means it. He has a yacht on which he spends as many days as he can in Summer. It is to this, and tuna fishing, that he turns after a long season with the Metropolitan, where he is called upon to work perhaps harder than any other artist.

For instance, last year during the opera's season in Boston, he sang in "I Pagliacci" and "Emperor Jones" in one evening, a notable task for any singer. Now he is on a concert tour and shortly will resume his place with the Metropolitan.

Speaking of the double performance in Boston, he said:

"I shall not do that again. It was really too hard work."

"But to get back to my Christmas program," he continued. "First, we'll abolish advertising. Next in order, I think, would be to avoid repeating the fine old Christmas music, that everyone knows and loves."

"It seems to me that if you hear "Stille Nacht" sung or played six or seven times during Christmas Eve, it takes something away from the music. Whereas, if you hear it once or, at most, twice, you still retain your love for that hymn.

"But there is no need for such repetition. There is enough good Christmas music to last a whole day. Some of it may not be so familiar to many persons, but it could become familiar if radio would use more of it.

"I have songs in mind that are not necessarily hymns. But jolly, robust songs, Songs of hearty good cheer. I like to sing this type myself. Perhaps that is why I suggest them for this program."

Mr. TIBBETT paused and contemplated for a moment the lights of the city outside. He went on:

"Christmas is different from any other day in the year for people. It is a day that seems just a bit better than the rest of the year. Radio could help make it seem more so, help people to increase their sense that Christmas was not just a day when the afternoon sunshine looked a bit different.

"And that brings me to my third idea. Let's have nothing but the very best on the air for that one day, so that all listeners, no matter where they tune in, can get a program of more than usual value.

"I guess that's a pretty ideal radio Christmas," concluded LAWRENCE TIBBETT, "but it is not impossible. It would be a fine radio Christmas for me, and, I am sure, for the other millions of radio listeners."

In Memoriam

THERE was a touching example of thoughtfulness the other day at the CBS studios. An orchestra leader received a large box of lilies after his broadcast. An accompanying card bore the message. "These are for your saxophonist, whom I know you will slay because of the way he played that last number."

Radio Stars Write Their Christmas Requests To Santa Claus

Yearn For Sail Boats And Houses

Even radio stars write to SANTA CLAUS and ask for things for Christmas. Some of their demands are large and some small, but almost all of them have some idea of what they want.

NINO MARTINI, the opera tenor who sings every week on the radio, wants a great deal. He wants a wife.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ wants to get a card from some friend he has not seen for years and DELL SHARBUTT, the announcer, wants money enough to get home and see his family, who live in Texas. He hasn't been home for four years.

CURTIS ARNALL (BUCK ROGERS) wants a sail boat big enough to get himself into and an ocean big enough to sail the boat in.

DONALD NOVIS, the singer, who comes from California, wants a ticket to Miami, Florida, so he can compare the weather there with that in his home state.

Another announcer, BERT PARKS, has a yen to fly over the Taj Mahal in India, in an airplane.

EMERY DEUTSCH, the orchestra leader, has asked SANTA for a lodge in the Adirondack Mountains in New York, so he can have some place to ski this Winter.

HOWARD BARLOW, who directs the "March of Time" program on the air, wants nothing but an orange shortcake. He hasn't had one for a long time.

BUDD, of STOOPNAGLE and BUDD, doesn't ask for much. He simply wants a stocking to match the one he hung up last year so he'll have a pair to wear around this Winter.

Krisuel Q. Kringleagle Is Making Gifts In Greenland

Christmas Comes But Once Yearly For Him

IF YOU were to go to the little town of Stoopon, way up in the northern part of Greenland, you would not find, as you might suppose, a barren waste of wind-swept snow. Instead you probably would meet two radio characters working their fingers to the bone manufacturing unusual Christmas presents.

Dressed as you see them in the picture, with the exception of the scythe, that is used by the smaller of the two for making cutting remarks, there they'd be, KRISUEL Q. KRINGLEAGLE and his henchman, BUDD.

Many are the useful gifts that these two manufacture in the land of snow and ice.

And when these two emulators of SANTA CLAUS get together to make Christmas gifts they are sure to turn out something unusual.

This year they have created a new and different kind of food. It is spaghetti with holes in it for people who really prefer macaroni.

And then, to help father or the hired man wash windows in the basement of the house, SANTAQUEL Q. CLAUSNAGLE has invented a ladder without rungs in it. The added advantage to this, of course, is that one can't slip and fall.

For that book that you are going to get for Christmas they have made a bookcase. It is a large one and big enough for lots of books. But the advantage of it is that it has no shelves. So you won't have to put your book away. You simply leave it on the table.

Another startling present that is in the making is a continuously tipping ash-tray. This is made for people who are not at home unless there are ashes on the floor.

They also have a new radio, one that gets nothing but static, so that people who don't like radio can have something to kick about.

Children's Party to be Broadcast

The Christmas party for 4,000 children which is being given by Mayor FIORELLO H. LAGUARDIA of New York will be heard over the ABS-WMCA network on Sunday, December 23, at 12.30 P.M.

At the festivities, which will be held in the College of the City of New York, the children will be entertained by bands, singers and comics.

The scene of the broadcast will be a party where cookies and ice cream will be served with the entertainment.

Among the entertainers to be heard during the broadcast of the party are:

A band of 55 musicians directed by GIUSEPPE CREATORE; the Chelsea Singers, a group of 25 voices which will sing Christmas carols; RUDY and his accordion in popular music; LALI TURKISHER, seven-year-old 'cello prodigy.

HARRY HERSHFELD, newspaper comic artist, will be master-of-ceremonies.

Broadcast by the Montserrat Monks

For the first time a service by the famed Benedictine Monks of Montserrat in Spain will be relayed from their monastery by short wave over the CBS-WABC network on Sunday, December 23, from 12.45 to 1 P. M.

The monastery was built in 976 A. D.

Legend has it that the Holy Grail was deposited in Montserrat.

Henry Harmony Flirts With Florence Baker and Little Sugar Cane

FLORENCE BAKER is a curly-headed 16-year old radio actress. Florence took the part of "Marjorie Jones" in the radio dramatizations of Booth Tarkington's story, "Penrod." Florence began her career at the age of eight. Her greatest thrill is taking parts like that in "Penrod," where she is fought over by half a dozen boys.

FLORENCE also takes part in impromptu children's shows on NBC. Midge Tucker, the NBC director of children's programs, sometimes has the children put on their own shows, just as if they were playing in a barn in the neighborhood and charging a penny for admission to the show.

SUGAR CANE, an 11 year old girl from New Orleans, who is fast becoming one of radio's outstanding child actors and singers, has a program of songs over WJZ every Sunday at 12.15 P. M. Sugar Cane has appeared in public since she was four years old. She now brings to reality the expression, "baby wants a new pair of shoes."

SUGAR CANE, like little Mary Small, is noted for her grownup voice. Many people who hear her are convinced that she is at least 25 years old. This comes from the way in which she sings "hot-cha" blues songs. Sugar has a pianist and an arranger, all her own. He is Herb Steiner, who accompanies Sugar in most of her radio songs.

A Stocking Full of Suppressed Xmas Desires Among Radio Folk

Some Modest Others Tax Santa Claus

They're all human—enjoy the things other folks enjoy—have the same impulses and emotions and probably just as many troubles. With the holiday season came the thought that they all might not have the opportunity to write a note to Santa Claus who listens the year round to the WEEI round of radio entertainment. Well, after a merry-go-round of queries, you get the results—a rare grist.

Station manager C. W. Burton pondered a split second to crave a bank balance, ever so small, the day after Christmas.

Lewis S. Whitcomb, assistant-manager, leaned into the first pitch with an open expose of his annual hankering for establishing the daily breakfast-in-bed habit.

And a Christmas never goes by without a suppressed yearning in the heart of Willie Morris for a doll—small, large, rag or china. She hasn't emptied one out of her stocking for fifteen years.

Ray Girardin still craves an electric train with signal towers, switches and a little steam whistle.

Bob Burlen will be everlastingly thankful when Santa dumps a machine at his door which will grind out plots for radio dramas at every turn of the handle.

Vic Whitman recalls the government money spent on good farmers who didn't raise pigs and will be glad to accept similar financial remuneration for associate, Ruth Walker, prefers a dog—a "Scottie." And speaking of dogs—Dorothy Drake would like fifty—also some horses.

Phil Baldwin who is in the throes of a dental session will not even suspend his sock if his dentist will only get a painless drill.

Del Castillo would derive a seasonal sufficiency of comfort from a mustache cup.

Caroline Cabot is convinced that a children's program under her direction is her heart's desire.

Frank Gallop, the ex-broker, would be content with something trivial—a mere box of bond-bonds.

Harold Fellows waives his personal desires in favor of a certain railroad which he hopes will be remembered by Santa with a new "Zephyr" train for the Marblehead run.

Ruth Chilton intimates there may be something about a soldier but she prefers gobs—of chocolates.

Ed Gisburne wants only good weather and green pastures on New Year's Day to start the year right with a game of golf.

So goes the trend of the incidental Xmas hopes among people whose names are familiar to readers of The Microphone. And come wind or high water the radio show will go on, Christmas Day as every day for you and you. May it help to make your Christmas more complete.

keeping the "Evening Tattler" off the air.

Russell Dorr reminds Santa not to "Give A Man A Horse He Can Ride" but a horse a man can put a bit of a wager on. Check.

Frances MacLaughlin, the station's world traveler, would be happy to accept a courtesy pass on all European bound ships.

Arthur Edes leans towards the practical with the hope that some day and age there will be time to hear all the embryo artists who would like and deserve an audition.

Roger Wheeler threatens to purchase a New Year's present for himself in the form of a box of candied orange peel if his mental telepathy to the North Pole doesn't click this time.

Sybil Morse has a pet yen to have a miniature Wurlitzer console in her home some Xmas morning. She's always playing.

The two Freds with widely divergent thoughts; Miller would appreciate ten million dollars; Hawkins would be satisfied to keep the budget in balance.

Sylvia Winters would be sincerely charmed with a pretty card sentiment—a box of brilliantly colored ribbon candy or if Santa must, an orchid. Santa probably will.

Jack Beauvais and Ed Lord harbor a desire to smoke an awfully good pipe which idea is also O.K. with Frank Gallop.

Ora Dodd thinks Santa may be the one to provide a Lenci doll, a special copy of Henri Murger's "The Latin Quarter" and a red camilla. Emma Maurice Tighe from the same circle is looking for the Christmas that will send her on a trip around the world.

Helen Bates doesn't see why Santa has never brought her a mink coat while her microphone

NEWS WEEI BRIEFS

One of the better holiday offerings comes from o'er the seas to the WEEI audience via NBC for the A. M. period 8:45 to 10:10. Called "British Empire Christmas Day" it develops as a sequence of pickups from the far flung corners of the world with descriptive material disclosing the interesting and varied observances of Christmas under the Union Jack... It is rumored that Sybil J. Morse and Wm. Kahakalau, Jr., are rehearsing a novelty program offering which combines a hot guitar with an equally hot piano under the eventual listing "Stringing Along"... Walter Damrosch and the Music Appreciation Hour will be absent from the airwaves on Friday due to the school vacation period... NBC-WEEI offers such timely seasonal bits as "The First Christmas" on Saturday at three o'clock and on Tuesday at two P. M. the oratorio Maunders "Bethlehem"... Also of seasonal interest the "Community Sing" from New York at 12:30 on the day before Christmas... Every member of the WEEI operating staff, with the exception of one, now has the emblem denoting five years in the Edison Company employ... Incidentally one of the gang who has the early morning watch and has to take a hurried first meal has an odd way of putting it—"one on the city" and "a team of grays" is his description which means a glass of water and two crullers... WEEI program arrangers are doing preliminary work with M and P theatres and World Broadcasting on a possible new program series for the exploitation of new films, which program, if, as and when, would be known as "Hollywood Movie Parade"... Del Castillo, sadly lacking in Xmas spirit, spent three three-hour periods being jostled around by department store shoppers and is now the ranking Yuletide booster... About Monday the usual joke Xmas tree will blossom forth on the 14th floor at WEEI and many and subtle will be the trinkets anonymously exchanged... Ethel Grenier is clicking nicely on the After Dinner Revue... WEEI sportsmen are back at their ice-fishing habits... The B. U. Business Administration School class on Radio sat in on "Studio Chorus" last Monday evening... Jack Benny hits the nail on the head with the quip, "According to my notion radio comedy isn't any good unless it is spontaneous and natural"... "Mr. Lamb Chop" is the title of the "First Nighter" drama on the 28th... E. B. Rideout sees a white Christmas in his magic crystal... Russell Dorr, popular WEEI baritone of Jenney Concert fame, due for a sustaining series on the NBC-Blue Net... Bill Adams, one of radio's most famous character players is doing the role

"Pa Robinson" on "The American Family Robinson" series; Eunice Howard plays "Betty," Etie Padmer—"Ma Robinson" and "Dick Collins" is Frank Butler in real life: It's an all-star cast and real human interest stuff... When you read this Jack Beauvais will be about the offices with an ever ready sprig of mistletoe.

Bing Crosby and Boswell Sisters Form Mutual Admiration Society

Singer Was Editor and An Athlete

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN

They travelled parallel roads for three years, and cast admiring glances at each other, until one sponsor decided to put them on the same program.

It seemed as if BING and the BOSWELLS were destined always just to miss each other.

The "California Melodies" program from KHJ in Los Angeles was the original stepping-off point for these stars.

Here it was that the BOSWELLS, a trio from Louisiana, made their network debut.

And over this same station, and on this same program at another date, BING CROSBY also made his network debut.

The BOSWELLS had concluded a vaudeville tour and settled down in California for radio and movie work.

BING was one-third of the Rhythm Boys, the male trio that was packing them in at the Coconut Grove, patronized by the screen luminaries.

Here the BOSWELLS would sit at a ringside table and enthusiastically applaud CROSBY's solo numbers.

Their guest appearance on "California Melodies" was the turning point in the careers of the BOSWELLS and BING CROSBY.

Both were rewarded with "big time" offers, and the program which had cradled many a star radio performer, sent East the future exponents of distinctive rhythms.

Bing Comes East

During the three-year interlude, from the time of their debuts to their joint appearance, they came close to working together several times.

While CONNIE, VET and MARTHA were making a name for themselves with their distinctive BOSWELL rhythms on the air, BING CROSBY had decided to take an important step.

Having received many offers to go to New York, BING finally left California and came East to join the Columbia staff of air personalities.

Slated for a build-up, he sat all one afternoon in the publicity offices of the Columbia Broadcasting System while the publicity men shot questions at him.

To the queries of what color he liked best, what his favorite dessert might be, and what he

Reunion In A Broadcasting Studio

BING (Boo-boo-boo-boom) CROSBY and the BOSWELL Sisters, CONNIE, MARTHA and VET foregather in a CBS studio for one of their first broadcasts. They now are heard each Tuesday at 9 P. M. considered the best radio act on the air, he answered: Blue, lobster diavolo, and the BOSWELL Sisters.

Although the young crooner was engaged to appear on the same series as the BOSWELLS later on, he still couldn't count the BOSWELLS among his studio companions, for they had left the program to embark on a European tour.

The Meeting

The first vehicle that brought them together was the film, "The Big Broadcast," featuring the principal stars of the airwaves.

Although BING had appeared in films on the Coast, it was this picture that definitely revealed not only his ability as a singer, but a rare sense of humor and ease before the camera.

From the night of the film's premiere, CROSBY was slated for big things.

For the past two years he has been living on the Coast, turning out pictures that have stamped him one of the biggest box-office attractions in the industry.

Even when he had been off the air for the better part of a year, BING was chosen in a nationwide radio contest as the most popular male singer.

When the BOSWELLS returned this year to the scene of their first triumphs, and assumed a prominent position in the film capital, the sponsors who presented CROSBY in his series last year saw an opportunity of snaring the reigning rhythm potentates for their Tuesday series of programs over the Columbia network.

Mutual Admiration

The hot harmonies of the sister trio are a contrast to the lilting melodies of BING's "boo boo boom."

The mutual admiration society of BING and the BOSWELLS is supported by GEORGIE STOLL and his orchestra, another product of the West Coast, and the maestro of CROSBY's present phonographic recordings.

BING and the BOSWELLS have something else in common besides the same sponsor.

They had parents who encouraged them in their chosen careers from the start.

BING always wanted to be an actor. His nickname, in fact, came from the violent "bing, bang, booms" with which he imitated a blunderbuss in boyhood performances of "CUSTER'S Last Stand," in the park.

For he was born HARRY LILLIS CROSBY, Jr., in Tacoma, Washington.

At college he went in for athletics and edited the college paper. But those activities didn't make him neglect the dramatic and glee clubs, nor the debating society.

He knew what he wanted then, and he still does.

Hot Rhythms

CONNIE, VET and MARTHA studied violin, 'cello and piano

Connie Does Writing for Her Pleasure

for 12 years before they decided to learn to play the sax and the banjo.

MARTHA kept her place at the piano but all three discarded classical music for the hottest rhythms.

It wasn't long after this that they began to sing—and discovered themselves to be specialists in vocal harmonies.

While the BOSWELL String Trio, of whose fame Mr. and Mrs. BOSWELL had dreamed, never came into being, the girls could not be said to be a disappointment to their parents.

They are, in fact, carrying on the musical endeavors of their father, mother, aunt and uncle who were known as the BOSWELL Quartet, and whose combined voices attracted attention at amateur musicales in New Orleans.

The younger BOSWELLS are just a year apart in age.

MARTHA is the eldest, CONNIE next, and then VET.

When they are not singing and playing, each one likes to pursue her favorite hobby.

CONNIE writes—plays, poems and short stories, but only for her own amusement.

She never has submitted any for publication, and refuses to show them.

VET spends her spare time painting, while MARTHA's fun is really work. She develops their musical arrangements.

Clear Programs Come from South America

been closing at the same time as TIEP.

Another of the new Spanish signals reaches us on 6.39 megs. (47 meters) and emanates out of the Venezuelan city, Caracas. This mountain city already can boast of two well-established short wave broadcasters in 2RC and 3RC.

Although the call letters of the newcomer are hard to catch, they seem to be YV4RC, a transmitter that previously worked on the 51-meter spectrum with not-too-much success.

Reception from Caracas is all right now on 6.39 megs., but it varies in signal strength considerably. At times it has tremendous volume, only to fade off a few minutes later.

The Mexican XEBT on 6.01 megacycles also is drifting up to local areas well the past few weeks. It is on practically the same spot as the Cuban COC. The latter signs off at 6 P. M.

XEBT then comes on and remains with enjoyable programs until 11 P. M. or midnight—sometimes even later. It is easily found just off the low frequency side of DJC, Zeesen, Germany.

Even during the mornings, probably for the first time, we are receiving Spanish programs.

The station responsible is COH, Havana, Cuba.

It has been on between 10 and 11 A. M. and hitting here in splendid fashion. The broadcasts are sponsored by the lottery firms and other local organizations. Tune them in on 31.91 meters or 9.42 megs.

COH also operates in the evenings, coming on at 5 o'clock. However, it does the most good during the morning, when the globe-trotting fans sometimes globe-trot. When German DJB cut its morning broadcasts to America, something was needed to take its place.

Ambitious Boys Who Need Money:

SET UP your own business in your own neighborhood by acting as direct sales representative for the MICROPHONE, Original United States Radio Newspaper and the fastest growing publication in this country.

I do NOT offer you a chance to win an air rifle, a football, a pair of skates, a bicycle or any other article you may have or would prefer to select for yourself and buy yourself with money you earned yourself by your own efforts. I give no prizes.

I DO offer you a legitimate chance to earn a steady, assured income, without interference with your school work or after-school fun. At the same time you will render a real service to your neighbors and learn something worth while.

IF YOU are genuinely interested, write for my plan. But please don't waste your time or my time if you are looking for something for nothing; I am older than you are and I never yet found it.

JOSEPH H. GOODMAN,
The MICROPHONE,
No. 34 Court Square,
Boston, Massachusetts.

Reflections

By Diana Herbert

The MICROPHONE'S Fashion Observer

THE WRAPPING of Christmas presents is more important than many of us realize. Attractive wrapping undoubtedly enhances one's gift—no matter what it is!

The exterior of a parcel may, and, in our mind should, express something of the donor's personality. If it is stereotyped and uninteresting, it shows either a lack of imagination or a feeling that it was not worth bothering about—certainly an unfortunate sentiment to convey with a gift. Conversely, a package wrapped with taste and individuality implies that you have taken particular pains to please a certain person, and hence adds immeasurably to your gift.

WITH the large variety of inexpensive colored cellophane ribbons and papers, there is no excuse for those of us who still stick to red or white tissue paper and gold string. There are lovely heavy papers in gold or silver foil, in a shiny black or red finish like oilcloth, and in numberless gay and seasonable patterns. Seals come in solid colors and decorative shapes, also in progressive sizes. On a red ground paste a frieze of silver animals, each one larger than the last. Another attractive idea is cut-out letters in gold or silver which you can assemble to form a monogram.

A SPRIG of mistletoe; a tiny bunch of holly or spruce; miniature pine cones, some "au nature," others gilded; flowers, artificial or real; bits of pine dipped in silver;—all these make nice "finishing touches" to tuck in the bow of your package.

Get AS many different kinds of paper, ribbon, seals, et cetera as you can, then spread them out on the floor and start ensembling them into unusual and charming combinations. (This is how we found FRANCES LANGFORD preparing for Christmas in her penthouse apartment the other day, and it's really an excellent system.)

Christmas Spirit Prevails On Air

Late Christmas Eve the chimes of Old Trinity in New York will sound, following Christmas services from Poland and community singing from San Francisco. These broadcasts will be heard from 11.30 P. M. on, over NBC networks.

The outstanding program on Christmas Day will be heard over both the NBC-WEAF network and will begin at 8.55 A. M. During the broadcast King GEORGE V of England will send greetings to the world and many countries will join in international broadcasts of good will.

The chimes of the Church of the Nativity at Bethlehem, bells in Bombay, India, and the ringing of Big Ben atop the House of Parliament, England, will form a prologue to the program. King GEORGE is expected to speak about 10.08 A. M.

Christmas afternoon will bring two notable programs. On the NBC - WEAF - WJZ networks, "HANSEL and GRETEL," the Christmas opera by HUMPERDINGCK, will be broadcast, beginning at 2.45 P. M.

Fifteen minutes before, a radio Christmas Party, to last three hours, will be broadcast over the WABC-Columbia network.

Nocturnal

HELEN WARD is one of the liveliest vocalists in the NBC-WEAF three hour "Let's Dance" programs on Saturdays, beginning at 10.30 P. M.

Sarnoff Sees Radio 'Phone In Use Soon

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Radio telephones in general use and a universal service for transmitting photographs of messages by radio were forecast as not in the far distant future by DAVID SARNOFF, president of the Radio Corporation of America, before the Federal Communications Commission.

Instead of sending messages a word at a time, the entire message will be photographed and transmitted by radio, SARNOFF said.

A radio telephone will be virtually an indispensable part of every household and office some day, he believes.

All one will have to do is dial some distant or nearby number and by radio the connection will be made, SARNOFF'S vision presents.

His forecast approaches predictions of others that some day automobiles will be fueled by radio.

This and That

To hear TIBBETT sing portions from "BORIS," which for many years has seemed to belong to the great CHALIAPIN, was an interesting experience.

Brief as the excerpts were, the drama and lyricism of TIBBETT'S performance were convincing testimony that the Metropolitan should revive the opera with America's First Singing Actor in the title role.

Stage Must Organize Against Air-Baker

on the stage should resent the idea of extending free invitations to the public for the purpose of selling some manufacturer's product through their ability," continued PHIL BAKER.

"If the sponsor makes it so easy for the people to see a featured actor perform, the public will refuse to pay to see the same person when he makes personal appearances at theatres.

"Not only will this hurt the actor, but think of the tremendous harm it will do to the theatres.

"I believe the actors should organize!" BAKER said, as he slapped his first against his open palm. "They should organize to safeguard their box-office rights."

"Every time there is a free performance given, it means so many less tickets sold at the theatre. If the sponsor's new scheme of exhibition performances becomes popular, Heaven alone knows where the theatres and their people will wind up."

Twenty years ago, PHIL BAKER competed for a prize in an amateur show at the old Bowdoin Square Theatre. He won the prize—50 cents.

The prize bought him a meal. A few weeks ago he returned to Boston and looked upon the scene of his struggle for a meal. He chuckled the chuckle of one of the highest paid comedians in the country.

There was a little matter which PHIL BAKER thought he would like to put right. It was the subject of "stooges."

To BAKER a "stooge is not a "stooge" at all. The general meaning of "stooge" is defined as "a man who is a foil for gags."

BAKER believes that if this were the case, he himself would be the "stooge," and his BEETLE and BOTTLE would be the comedians, which, he insists, they are.

He favors throwing out the word entirely and keeping the not-so-modern word "comedian." He and his helpers are comedians, or hope they are.

PHIL BAKER is another comedian who believes the life of a radio comedian is based on his independence of jokes. He believes a radio actor insures his contract much easier if he allows others to figure in his success.

That's why he retains BEETLE and BOTTLE, and BENNY retains MARY LIVINGSTONE, and CANTOR keeps "The Greek" and many other performers use similar tactics.

On the stage it is different, because you also see the man, but when you are able only to hear him, you tire of the one voice.

Two Days' March

ONE of the blackest moments in his childhood, Announcer DAVID ROSS confides, is the time when he was roundly spanked for running away from home. But he still insists that he didn't run away. All he did was march at the end of a parade that he wanted to follow for a while, and was lost for two days.

La Guardia Is Keeping 810 For WNYC

By The MICROPHONE'S Special Washington Correspondent

Decision of Mayor LAGUARDIA of New York to continue WNYC, municipal station there, has frustrated, temporarily at least, plans by other stations.

WVL of New Orleans, operated by Loyola University, and WLWL of New York, operated by the Paulist Fathers, were reported negotiating to obtain 810 kilocycles, which are now used by WNYC.

They wanted to share time on that wave band, but LAGUARDIA seems to like WNYC.

WVL now operates on 850 kilocycles, while WLWL broadcasts on 1100 kilocycles.

Negotiations had been on for several months for WCCO at Minneapolis to switch from 810 to 850 as a part of the move to have Loyola University and the Paulist Fathers take over 810.

No. 2. (1 minute) And here's a little warming up exercise for you—some more bundles to unwrap. How many different sorts of packages, bundles, boxes, and so on, can you name in one minute? Any sort of a container will count.

No. 3. (5 minutes) A chance to take sides in welcoming Old St. NICK. SANTA and CLAUS are each five-letter words. If you'd like to stage a race, have one group list as many five-letter words as possible, each of which starts with the letter S and ends with the letter A, as SANTA, SIGMA, etc. The other group should tackle five-letter words starting with C, and ending with S, as CLAUS, CLASS, etc.

No. 4. (3 minutes) And just to carry out the spirit of Christmas, try naming as many Christmas carols as possible in just three minutes. No need to sing them—just name them.

No. 5. (3 minutes) And last, but not least, a word hunt. How many different words can you form from the letters in "MERRY CHRISTMAS," in three minutes? Stick to words of four or more letters. Two or three-letter words not counted.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ is the "Little Man, What Now?" of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

By Hilda Cole

His orchestral presentations and accompaniment arrangements for stars Rosa Ponselle, Nino Martini and Grete Stueckgold have an original and distinguished flavor.

"In radio, particularly, you must keep a jump ahead of any musical trend," says Maestro Kostelanetz.

"You must never stay the same. I am satisfied in my efforts if I discover that people are wondering 'what is he going to do next?'" And what is Andre doing this season?

He is abandoning the more complicated and intricate of orchestral arrangements and specializing in tone quality.

He has spent hours in the control room during rehearsal getting the finest band balance out of his 40 musicians.

Andre discovered, for instance, that having his brass section "play into the floor" gave a quality on the air of being almost in another plane.

He spent long hours in the early morning, the very early morning after midnight, in smoky Harlem dance halls, learning some of the secrets of muting brasses and trick effects which colored bands have a genius for discovering.

Andre spent three months this Summer in Europe, accumulating a portfolio and a mind full of interesting ideas for the American airwaves after musical research in London and Paris, and travels in Scotland, Belgium, Switzerland and Italy.

Now his watchword, during rehearsals of his programs is simply a constant query:

"Is it pleasant to the ear—is it charming?"

A simple, poignant arrangement of a tune is his favorite presentation. But he likes arresting touches in his melody, he seeks for the unexpected—a tinkle of the celeste and a mournful twang from the bass fiddle—all in the same measure.

Andre is thinking of instruments as possessing definite characteristics, comic or exotic. He likes to cast his specialty tunes as one would cast a play, with contrasting emotions and impressions expressed by his instruments.

He encourages each of his 40 musicians to make suggestions for arrangements, or to submit orchestrations themselves. Each man is given an opportunity and due credit. Andre was born in Petrograd, of a wealthy and distinguished Russian family. When he was four years old, he was practicing scales on the piano. He progressed rapidly, and soon was able to play four-handed symphonies with his teacher.

When Andre was five and a half, he and his teacher gave a concert before the Czar. Today, he can hardly remember the occasion, but he remembers delivering a formal bow, and also a tremendous gilt-framed portrait of the Czar in full regalia which stared down upon the piano as he played.

The Kostelanetz children all were educated by tutors and though Andre's forte was music, he was not allowed to escape from the long hours of study from 9 in the morning until 9 at night.

He was taught to speak German, French, English, Italian, Polish, Spanish and Finnish.

The Kostelanetz family spent each Summer in Finland. Andre recalls the "white nights" and the quiet lakes where they went boating.

Occasionally, too, they visited Germany.

Andre remembers being impressed by the tooting of a German band which played in a park in Berlin.

He hung wistfully around the bandstand, and one day the conductor handed Andre the baton and allowed him to conduct a number.

It was a great occasion.

The year 1918 found the young Andre in his first important musical position as conductor of a St. Petersburg opera house. Came the year 1922, and Andre became assistant conductor of the Petrograd Grand Opera. It was a famous old institution, but in those days of poverty and struggle, the managers were unable to collect enough money to pay for fuel to warm its magnificent gilt interior.

In 1929 he joined the staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System and spent several years in comparative obscurity during which he studied the radio business.

He blossomed out as a showman and radio conductor with his first big program "Andre Kostelanetz Presents," during which he started a new trend of blending vocal choruses with special orchestral presentations.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ, who directs the orchestra in the PONSSELLE, MARTINI and STUECKGOLD concerts, broadcast over the CBS-WABC network on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays from 9 to 9.30 P. M.
