HOW CHARLES BOYER MAKES LOVE

The Secret Side of Walter Winchell

First and Only CANDY Served the "Quints"!

UM-M-M! You'll agree with the "Quints" and millions of candy-wise Americans that Baby Ruth is candy at its finest! You'll love the luscious, velvety-smooth coating, the chewy caramel and tasty opera cream center, the abundance of golden, freshly roasted peanuts which make up this great candy bar. Baby Ruth is good food—good for you. Its ingredients are all pure, wholesome foods—nourishing and delicious. Enjoy a big bar of Baby Ruth today!

CURTISS CANDY COMPANY, CHICAGO, ILL.

RICH IN DEXTROSE Food-Energy Sugar

"Baby Ruth, being rich in Dextrose, vital food-energy sugar, and other palatable ingredients, makes a pleasant, wholesome candy for children."

Allan Roy Dafez, M.D.

The Editors' Note:

SPARKLING GINNY SIMMS, former feminine vocalist of Kay Kyser's band, now a permanent resident of Hollywood, where she will make movies under a new RKO-Radio contract in addition to presenting her own song program over CBS on Friday nights, is the lovely photogenic subject of this week's Movie-Radio Guide cover. Rumored married to or planning to wed bandman Kyser, Ginny, soon to appear in the film "Playmates" with Kay and John Barrymore, gives the answer to this question in a story on page 6. Natural-color portrait by Ted Allan.

WE WERE scolded last week by a lady from Washington, D. C., who liked the story about Buck Jones, the genuine cowpoke, but thought that we exaggerated a bit by making the lovable Mr. Jones somewhat ungrammatical. So she chastised us for quoting Buck as saying "I don't pull no rope . . . git . . . gotta" and other titbits delightful to the typewriter of an author. So we called Buck on the phone to ask him what he thought about his story entitled "Enough of These Drug Store Cowboys!" Said Mr. Jones, "The layout and the article have my highest approval, and I think that your tome was comprehensive and exceedingly well composed." We said thank you, and then wrote a letter to the lady from Washington explaining that she was right; we should have had Buck talking like a Harvard professor of English—or maybe Gene Tunney!

ALMOST a score of "FM" (frequency modulation) broadcasting stations have been licensed and sprung up from Coast to Coast, and listeners who have been privileged to hear good music, instrumental or voice, or other difficult tests of broadcasting and reception over one of the new FM stations on an FM receiver are quick to observe and fast to comment on the excellence, the great improvement which this new method of radio communication has effected. At the moment, the majority of the FM stations are located on the North Atlantic seaboard, although there are now two in Chicago, several others in the Midwest and one operating already in Los Angeles. In some way, Movie-Radio Guide must be of service to FM receiver owners, but just how that is to be worked out is yet in editorial conference. To date, the FM set owners are a small minority, but the editors of this weekly would like to hear suggestions from those owners. Movie-Radio Guide, with the slogan, "Doubles Your Radio Enjoyment," always aims to serve.

THIS WEEK marks the end of Ed Hartrich's series of inside-the-war stories and maps. This well-qualified radio commentator, former co-worker with William Shirer at CBS' Berlin office, goes on to less peaceful fields, perhaps the Far East. And now we will see how accurate Mr. Hartrich's predictions have been.

NEXT WEEK the Burns and Allen show in action will be portrayed with two pages of exclusive new photographs, the inside story of Red Skelton will be told, and the real truth about Ann Sothern's trial separation is to be revealed. "Maisie" Ann's picture, in natural color, will grace the cover and, in addition, there will be features on Abbott and Costello and Don Ameche. Plus the usual program listings. See you next week.

—The Editors.

This Is Charles Boyer's LOVE-MAKING TECHNIQUE

CHARLES BOYER is back on the screen with Margaret Sullavan in another light romantic comedy, Universal's "Appointment for Love," a great Bruce Manning picture with much of the excellent flavor of Boyer's "Love Affair," and American men are asking once again—

"What has Boyer got that I haven't?"

Their wives and sweethearts are wondering too, for in the deep-set eyes, strong face, soothing voice and polished manners of Boyer the women find something that most men lack. He radiates love. He attracts the opposite sex like a magnet pulls iron. He has it, and it is so powerful that today he is just about the world's champion screen lover, no holds barred.

But Boyer winces over the declaration that he is a ladies' man. He replied to your reporter:

"If I am to infer from the term that I am a sort of matinee idol, I suppose I should be happy over having a following. That is my business, you know, and if I please the feminine audience, I am both flattered and happy. If I can please the men too, I am doubly happy. But if, for any reason, the men resent me, I can only say that what I am on the screen is simply because I am an employe of the film industry. Personally I have no wish to be a 'great lover.'"

Perhaps the secret of Boyer's screen appeal is to be found in his attitude toward women. It is naturally foreign, French in fact. He really can't understand the American woman, although he's strong for the type, even fell in love at first sight and married English-bred Pat Paterson in two months. Because of this lack of understanding, Boyer's approach in any love-scene is gentle, cautious and delicate, a smooth performance with the utmost finesse.

But ambitious lovers will get a kick out of Boyer's own system of preparing to play a heavy romantic scene. Boyer EATS—and heavily—beforehand!

No mood music, no exotic perfumes build up the Boyer mood. No vitamin B, no romantic novels are required to prepare Boyer to kiss Sullavan, or Dunne, or Colbert. No . . . The answer is simple. Boyer eats a well-laden platter of beefsteak and French fried potatoes before his big love-scenes!

Boyer greatly likes the role which "Appointment for Love" afforded him. In it, instead of being the heavy, vagabond lover of "Hold Back the Dawn" or "Algiers," he portrays the beaten-down husband of a career girl, a doctor who holds the romantic four aces through most of its unreeling.

Shortly he will go to work again on Paramount's lot with Veronica Lake in "Hong Kong," another production by Arthur Hornblow, who directed Boyer in "Hold Back the Dawn." The play probably will afford both stars a chance of putting their teeth into love with a capital "L."

So, friends, please broil me a two-inch planked steak, medium rare!
—E. P.

TYPICAL CHARLES BOYER love-making is expressed in the (above) soul-touching scene with Hedy Lamarr in "Algiers." Boyer radiates the warmth, love, tenderness that make him idol of feminine fans

SUAVE AND FASCINATING, Charles Boyer's impressive, tender love-scenes with Olivia de Havilland (above) in "Hold Back the Dawn" prove again that he is the screen's foremost romantic lover. His soft caresses, international gallantry, polished manners are Boyer's greatest allure to feminine hearts, make him a man of many loves

THIS IS REAL LOVE! Charles Boyer (Andre Cassil) lovingly embraces his wife, Margaret Sullavan (Dr. Jane Alexander), with whom he is head over heels in love in "Appointment for Love." Note his tenderness, gallantry

PLAYWRIGHT Cassil (Boyer) falls in love with, marries Dr. Alexander (Miss Sullavan), who fell asleep during the premiere performance of his play

HARDLY SETTLED at Andre Cassil's lodge, the honeymooners in "Appointment for Love" are interrupted by Nancy (Rita Johnson), actress, bent upon breaking the union. Andre shunts her off

IN NEW YORK, Jane tells Andre theirs is a loveless marriage—that they'll live in separate apartments on different floors. Elevator boy Gus Schilling is kept busy, dizzy by ensuing quarrels

ATTEMPTING to coordinate his life with Jane's, Andre rises early to breakfast with his doctor wife, but food at that hour nauseates him. Frankly, his wife mystifies him

THIS IS MAKE-BELIEVE! As playwright Andre Cassil, Boyer in "Appointment for Love" tries to make his wife, Margaret Sullivan, jealous by making love to Nancy (Rita Johnson), Broadway actress. Here he exaggerates the very qualities which make his love-making effective—in an attempt to impress his wife

FRANTICALLY trying to establish a semblance of marital life, Andre appeals to his producer (Eugene Palette) for aid. He suggests that Andre arouse Jane's jealousy

ANDRE FAILS to arouse Jane's jealousy, is further troubled by attention his wife receives from her pet patient, Dailey (Reginald Denny), explorer. Unlike Jane, Andre burns with jealousy

JANE, ANDRE, each unknown to the other, decide to spend their first night together. Each steals into the other's apartment, both awoken the next morning alone, angry. Scene is set for divorce

JANE LEARNS truth about what was to have been their nuptial night, finds Andre with Nancy at a party. Explanations ensue—all ends happily 3

THE AMERICAN who hasn't heard of Walter Winchell, read his column or heard his broadcast is rare or non-existent. But just as rare are the few who know Walter Winchell intimately.

WHAT you think of Walter Winchell depends entirely on where you sit. America Firsters, from their isolationist cheering-section, see Winchell as a double-dyed war-monger hell-bent for intervention. Supporters of the Government's foreign policy see a stout-hearted patriot defending democracy against defeatist attacks. To skulking fifth-columnists, Winchell is a killjoy and a spoilsport, a meddler who interferes with Adolf Hitler's plans for lebensraum in the western hemisphere. To the intelligentsia, looking down from their ivory towers, he is a disgustingly successful exponent of jingoistic tabloid journalism. To Mr. Average American, Walter Winchell is a legend—a newsman who knows all, sees all, tells all—and shoots square.

None of these pat pigeon-holings get at the man himself. Indeed, few people know the real Walter Winchell. Winchell has a brusque single-mindedness when on the job which doesn't encourage close friendships.

There is one signal, rule-proving exception—Winchell's genuine friendship with G-man chief J. Edgar Hoover. It began when their paths crossed during the Lindbergh kidnaping case. The New York and New Jersey police were working with Hoover's F. B. I. When Winchell got a tip that the local police had made an arrest, he wrote to Hoover to make sure he knew. Hoover did know but asked Winchell to hold the story. Winchell held the story, and a warm feeling of mutual admiration and respect between the two men grew into real friendship. Later Hoover wrote Winchell the following letter—published here for the first time:

Dear Walter:

Yesterday I had the occasion of speaking before the newspaper editors of America, who are in convention here in Washington, at which time I pointed out some of the things that the newspapers help us in and some of the things in which they hurt us. I pointed out without, of course, mentioning names specifically, how a well-known columnist had refrained from printing a truly national and international scoop on the Lindbergh case for twenty-four hours in order not to harm the investigation which was being conducted in that case. Of course you know who that person is. I thought the editors should know that there was at least one columnist who put patriotism and the safety of society above any mercenary attitude in his profession.

With best regards, I am
Sincerely,

John.

Actually Winchell's human relationships add up to thousands of acquaintances, many admirers and few friends.

Most of these know the lone-wolf columnist who has developed a new literature of gossip-column colloquialisms. Only a handful know Winchell the man of affairs, the family man, or, least of all, Winchell the patriot.

Winchell the man of affairs is Winchell at the Stork Club. Almost any night you can find him there, amount of inside information on a dozen different subjects at his fingertips, he never lacks an audience. He knows everybody and is proud of it.

From the Stork to a Central Park West apartment is only a few New York blocks, but to Winchell it's the distance between two separate worlds. Central Park West is home. Winchell has made a business of invading the privacy of others; his own privacy at Central Park West is a jealously guarded prize. He has a happy home. Married to June Magee before W. W. became famous initials, he has two children—Walda, a daughter, and Walter, his pride and joy. He writes his column in his bedroom, and getting to him there by telephone is a near impossibility. His home is his castle. *

NO SECRET but vastly misunderstood and misjudged is Winchell's newer role as a patriot. His metamorphosis from a Broadway-gossip columnist to an evangelist for Americanism and democracy, most people believe, began during the Lindbergh kidnaping case. Then, suddenly, he found himself in the middle of a crusade against the man who murdered Charles Lindbergh's baby—a crusade of the same passionate sincerity which now is turned on Lindbergh himself.

Having made monkeys of the opposition reporters with his scoops, Winchell came away from the Hauptmann case with a new sensitivity to the world outside New York night-clubs. He dived into serious news stories. Ferreting out the information that American sailors had difficulty competing with low-wage foreign sailors for jobs in the Merchant Marine, he issued a clarion call for a fair deal for Yankee sailors. The citizens wired their Congressmen and their wires prompted an investigation. Winchell had discovered the power of a "wire your Congressman" campaign.

More and more he turned his crackling epithets against public enemies at home — kidnapers, political fakers, Nazis and Communists. Looking overseas, he took Hitler's persecution of minorities and the Nazi war of extermination against the democracies as a personal challenge, plunged into the crusade for tolerance, democracy and Americanism which rings through his broadcasts ever more persuasively.

"Americanism," says Winchell, "is democracy, and the first important thing about it is that you can make your own definition; the Government doesn't do it for you!" "Americanism," says Winchell, "is not playing the Star-Spangled Banner to drown out the voice of reason . . . Americanism is not talking of justice when your fellow American needs mercy."

IF ANYONE has enjoyed the benefits of democracy—and made the most of them—it is Walter Winchell. This nervous, prematurely gray New Yorker, whose newspaper column goes to millions of readers, whose radio broadcast is heard by additional millions, is the boy who started out in the Bronx in a singing-usher act with two other boys—Eddie Cantor and George Jessel. Winchell got his share of fifteen dollars a week for the act; today his weekly earnings mount to almost $7,000. Walter Winchell thinks he knows what real democracy means, and he's willing to fight for it not only with words but in his capacity as lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve. Meanwhile, millions are listening to his defense of America on the air. Next week MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE takes you behind the microphone as Walter Winchell speaks, tells how his broadcast is staged, presents exclusive pictures of Winchell at work.—J. C.

The Secret Side of WALTER WINCHELL

Everyone knows Winchell the columnist.

How many know Winchell the man?

COVERING the real Walter Winchell with a glamorous aura is the goldfish-bowl atmosphere of the Stork Club, owned by good friend Sherman Billingsley, right. Celebrities flock to the Stork, many to be seen with or by Winchell

NO PUBLICITY GAG was Winchell's vacation from radio-writing recently to serve as lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve. Winchell saw service in World War I aboard S. S. Isis, is seen with newsman on transport West Point

MODEL FOR ALL latter-day gossip columnists, Winchell knows, hobnobs with rivals such as Leonard Lyons. Actually, he's risen above banal Broadway gossip to help shape U. S. destiny, arouse Americans to the cause of democracy

HOLLYWOOD BIGGIES who come east are as interested in meeting Winchell as he is in talking to them. Here he chats with Darryl Zanuck (left) and Tyrone Power at the Waldorf-Astoria. Mrs. Zanuck is seated. Winchell knows everybody, from movie stars to racketeers. Point is that few of the people he knows know more than one compartment of Winchell's life

"NO MAN in my LIFE," SAYS GINNY SIMMS

"HAVE you ever been in love?" I asked pretty Ginny Simms, star vocalist for five and a half years with Kay Kyser's band, at a quiet luncheon at the Tail o' the Cock in Beverly Hills. I was trying to settle a well-known question, one that has been conjectured about for the past several years with greater and greater frequency, and one that now—with Ginny leaving Kyser's band to stay in Hollywood with her own CBS singing show and RKO-Radio movie contract—has been re-amplified by fans everywhere. But it was difficult to get to the point.

Frankly, the questions to be answered—the questions you would like to have answered—were: (1) Is she Mrs. Kay Kyser? (2) If not, is she in love with Kay? (3) If she is in love with Kay, when will they be married?

Well, you just don't point personal questions like that at a regular girl, an honest and frank young lady like trim Miss Simms. Anyway, I can't and won't. But Ginny, I have a notion, knew what was on my mind. She opened up and made the interview my easiest ever.

"Why, sure," she replied, "I've been in love, or what I thought was love, half a dozen times; and each time I was surer it was the real thing, but I guess it never was. My radio, band and record-making work has kept me so busy during the past five years that I haven't had much time to think a lot about love, really. I guess I'm a career girl—but no, I really don't mean that.

"Any girl wants to fall in love, truly in love, get married and have a family. And certainly I'm no exception. But I'm going to have to find time for that program somewhere. And now there are movies to make—three a year for RKO. I thought I was busy before, but I've already learned it was only the beginning!"

It didn't seem then as if Ginny was going to make such an important statement as she finally did. First we talked over her career. Ginny had majored in music two years in Fresno (Calif.) Teachers College with the intention of becoming a schoolmarm, but had been discovered to have a pleasing voice by bandleader Tom Gerun. It was in 1936 that Kay Kyser further sidetracked her school-teaching career by signing her for his band and starting her climbing to national fame along with himself, Ish Kabibble, Sully Mason and the rest of the Kyser group.

During the next five years almost everyone in the band—except Kay and Ginny—got married. During those five years Kay paid close court to his songstress, and she was not known to have dates with any other man. The deduction was natural: Kay and Ginny would wed or were wed. For no one ever has spoken about a Mrs. Kay Kyser, and if there was a Mrs. Kay Kyser before Ginny joined the band, no one has ever mentioned her.

In her Hollywood Kay and Ginny were hosts to the Hollywood press for the purpose of stating that they were parting friends; that Kay was going on the road to play eastern dates, and that Ginny would remain in Hollywood to take up a solo screen career.

There seems to be little doubt that a big torch burns in the Kyser heart. But whether its light is reflected in Ginny's heart is a question. I know one thing for certain; as we left our delightful luncheon, Ginny said:

"I don't think I've been much help to you. About all I can really say is that I'm not married!" —E. P.

THOUGH STILL FRIENDS, Ginny and Kay have now gone separate ways professionally. Ginny has left the Kyser band to make movies under a new RKO contract and sing on her own five-minute song program over CBS, immediately following the "First Nighter" program Friday nights. Recording, too, will help keep her busy

—Gene Lester

TOO BUSY FOR LOVE—Ginny found that broadcasting, dance engagements, recording work and theater appearances have kept her too busy to think very definitely of romance. Here is the flashingly pretty songstress backstage during a theater appearance while with Kyser's orchestra, trying to get her nose powdered in time for curtain call

IN "PLAYMATES" Ginny romances in song with Harry Babbitt, Kyser's male vocalist. This couple's love-duets have been altogether musical make-believe, for Harry is married

IT'S SYMBOLICAL, of course—this picture of Ginny getting up at 6:00 a.m. But Ginny is something of a farmerette. The songstress' chief hobby is a twenty-acre farm near Fresno, California—a rich fruit-growing center in the Sacramento Valley—which her father operates and on which they raise prize shorthorn cattle

A MODERN Maud Muller prepares to rake the alfalfa, and she looks as if she enjoys it. Naturally Ginny doesn't work the farm like a peasant woman, but she does like to take an active part as a farm-hand and she does enjoy it, finding relaxation in the sharp contrast between the outdoor work and her professional chores. Farm headaches are left to her father

KAY, in the same picture, plays a comical Romeo to Ginny's Juliet. In the plot she first thinks he is not the romantic type, in spite of his bold tactics, illustrated above!

EARLY THIS YEAR Ginny and Kay appeared thus in a cut-up rendition of "Alexander the Swoose" in a "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood" short film for Paramount. It was Ginny's loosening up and improved acting in this film that won her the RKO-Radio contract which has now separated the singer and her bandleading benefactor

—Alex Kahle

AT FAREWELL PARTY at the Town House in October before they went their separate ways the question-mark couple were supposed to say "Good-by now" for the press. They tried to pass it off lightly with a bit of clowning—like this. Whether Kay was playing Pagliacci or not, only Kay knows for sure. Ginny makes one thing sure: "I am not married"

PERSEVERANCE wins, and Romeo Kyser reaches the balcony and Juliet Simms' heart. But, of course, that's just in the plot of the picture—and perhaps it's whimsical irony

—John Michle

FOR THOUGH Kay gets Ginny in the finale (above), in real life such an outcome between the beloved maestro-clown and the songstress is still a question mark to the public—perhaps also to Ginny and Kay

LOVELY Joan Fontaine casts loving eyes at hubby Brian Aherne. The couple—home-lovers—were snapped here at Ciro's

JOAN FONTAINE (Olivia de Havilland's sis) and Cary Grant set a new high for romance as stars of "Suspicion," directed by Alfred Hitchcock

JOAN FONTAINE is the young wife of swashbuckling Cary Grant. Her interpretation of a difficult role tops even her performance in "Rebecca"

DIRECTOR Alfred Hitchcock brought out Joan Fontaine's dramatic abilities in "Rebecca," again guides her in "Suspicion"

INTELLIGENCE and beauty characterize this study of Joan Fontaine (below), brightest new star in Hollywood this year. Her performance in RKO's "Suspicion" will win her new fans, new opportunities

HAY FEVER, OLIVIA, "REBECCA" and AHERNE

JOAN FONTAINE comes close to her famous one-picture-to-stardom "Rebecca" role in her currently releasing "Suspicion," with Cary Grant. And so, the great question of whether Miss Fontaine—or Mrs. Brian Aherne, if you prefer—was a flash in the pan is definitely settled. She's not.

She is an actress of the first water, crystal-clear, no flaws, and far outshading the sister who long cast a shadow over her, Olivia de Havilland. A moving, intensely human story lies behind this fait accompli.

A blonde, Joan has more than her share of good looks, and a bright and charming spirit that has made her a favorite with all Hollywood. However, as a child in Tokyo, Joan was ill a great deal of the time. She was a lonely little girl because she did not have the strength to play when her necessary schoolwork was done. After her family had moved to San Francisco, Joan regained her health in the dry, sunlit air of Saratoga.

Today five feet three inches tall, Joan weighs 108 pounds, favors outdoor sports for exercise, specifically swimming and tennis at which she is adept. Her favorite hobbies are reading history and indulging her life-long weakness for Japanese art.

It probably was Olivia herself who first challenged Joan to be something besides Olivia's sister. Five years ago Joan was just a stock player, a girl for whom the screen producers held little promise. Olivia had arrived and great things were in store for her. She got many of them—except the part of Rebecca which little sister Joan swiped right from under her nose. Joan also won or was won by the talented English actor Brian Aherne, and between them, their mutual romance worked wonders in giving Joan new self-assurance. So inspired, Joan delivered to director Alfred Hitchcock an amazing Rebecca, dissolved the shadow of Olivia, and all the time was having gruesome bouts with hay fever (which she still has in its meanest form every year).

"Suspicion," a picturization of "Before the Fact," with Alfred Hitchcock again wielding the megaphone, is the story, most difficult to convey, of what goes on in the mind of a young wife infatuated with her swashbuckling, loving husband, who in all respects but his marital fidelity is a no-good loafer with what apparently is a tendency toward homicide for funds. It is a thrilling, chilling and superbly acted drama by Grant and particularly Miss Fontaine . . . despite her hay fever . . . and Olivia. —E. P.

Gene Autry's Home Burns

MOST EXCITING week-end of his life for Gene Autry was the week-end of November 8, when the town of Berwyn, Oklahoma, was renamed Autry in his honor—and his palatial Studio City home burned to the ground at the same time. The fire occurred while Gene and his wife, Ina, were attending the renaming ceremonies at Autry. The blaze started when the rugs in the living-room of the house were being cleaned. Flames spread so rapidly that before aid could be summoned to bring the fire under control, the room exploded. Left: Gene and his wife strolling down the sloping steps of the luxuriously rambling house to Autry's office building and bath-house at the foot of the hill, both of which escaped the fire. Below: A fireman inspects the ruins. Below, left: Remains of Gene's bedroom. Gene's wardrobe was destroyed, as the maid managed to save only a few odds and ends. Autry has another ranch home in San Fernando Valley, but this was his "town house." Amount of damage had not been revealed at press time

Wanted: A Terrible Play

If you are willing to admit you've written the world's worst play, and Warner Bros. think it is the world's worst play, they'll buy it from you for five dollars. Lines of an extremely bad play are needed in the film adaptation of "Arsenic and Old Lace," Frank Capra's new picture on that lot. And in Hollywood no one will admit authorship of a bad play!

Benny Loosens Up

Thanksgiving dinner for Hollywood newsboys should be the best yet if Jack Benny's plans go right. Benny recently phoned the newsboys' spokesman and told him to shoot the works on the banquet, and added he'd pay the bill from some of the profits he's making in his new Carole Lombard picture.

One-Eyed Veronica

Paramount Studios have announced that Veronica Lake is going to unveil her right eye in their new picture, "This Gun for Hire." But Paramount is kidding us just a little bit, because in Veronica's last picture, "Sullivan's Travels," she goes through most of the story without her hair still over that eye. In fact, in "Sullivan's Travels" blond Miss Lake proves that she has a great deal more on the ball than just glamour, is an exceedingly good actress.

Nice for a Fullback

Cecil Kelloway, Australian actor now making a picture in Hollywood, was amused recently to have a small boy at a football game rush up to him with a soft cushion and yell "Bundles for Sittin'."

Ice Cream Turns to Cash

Two years ago a group of four Hollywood people, including Susan Hayward, invested in an old-fashioned ice cream parlor. Business has been so good since that the plant will expand to a second location soon. Susan also goes to work soon as the feminine lead in "Out of the Frying Pan."

Screw Introduction

Macdonald Carey, Hollywood's newest importation from the Broadway stage, last week met a girl from his home town, Sioux City, Iowa, on a ledge forty feet above the ground on a Paramount sound-stage! The reason this all happened is that they were making a picture and Carey hadn't met his leading lady until the day they started to shoot. When she turned out to be Jean Phillips from his own home town, production was stopped while they talked old times.

NO DOUBT YOU think Tom Turkey is a lucky bird (left) because he is getting the undivided attention of glamour girls Marion Martin, Frances Neal and Renee Haal (l. to r.), and because lovely Miss Neal takes him for a stroll (center) on a silk leash. But the starlets only dressed Tom "fit to kill." Carole Landis (right), donning a chef's cap and a bathing-suit, demonstrates the art of carving for Thanksgiving a la Hollywood!

Bergen. Jack Albin, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE photographer, spotted them and asked Miss Goddard if he might have a picture of her. She said, "Yes, as long as you spell my name right." When he was asked for a picture, Chaplin answered, "Yes, just as long as you give me a plug and credit line for my picture, 'The Gold Rush.'" The picture hasn't been shown for a decade!

Maybe Santa Claus?

Where Orson Welles is concerned, Hollywood refuses to be surprised. But a recent occurrence out at the Culver City set where he is shooting "The Magnificent Ambersons" had shock-toughened associates gaping. Stage eleven was the setting. It was decorated for a Christmas celebration with a huge tree draped with strings of popcorn and old-fashioned trimmings. It lacked nothing to make a perfect holiday scene. Yet, as the night watchman made his rounds one night, flashed his light about the set, he found one addition. Perched on his hunkers beneath the tree was a skunk—calmly munching the popcorn off the tree!

Wanted: Bad Weather

Director Sam Wood recently found himself in the unusual predicament of waiting for bad weather. Filming "For Whom the Bell Tolls," he had to take two hundred actors and technicians up to a 9,000-foot mountain peak in the Sierra Nevadas to film long shots and backgrounds, but the script calls for mountains to be covered with snow. At the moment there was no snow, only the promise of freezing temperatures and plenty of the white stuff. Meanwhile players and technicians were examined by Paramount medics before being sent up into the Sierra Nevadas, which will pinch-hit for Spain's Sierra de Guadarrama mountains in Ernest Hemingway's sensational war story.

Hubby's Place Is in the Home

Joan Blondell received the most touching tribute to her acting ability from an unexpected source recently on the Republic "Lady for a Night" set. In a tensely dramatic scene Joan scornfully rose, faced the court and delivered a scorching indictment of the society which had found her guilty mainly because she didn't have "influence." All was quiet as Joan finished. You could have heard a pin drop. Then, suddenly, a snuffle rent the silence. Everybody looked around. It was Dick Powell, Joan's husband! He had come to visit, remained to be overcome by Joan's performance.

FREDRIC MARCH and Martha Scott in scene from inspirational "One Foot in Heaven"

Review of the Week — "ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN"

Cast: Fredric March, Martha Scott, Beulah Bondi, Gene Lockhart, Elisabeth Fraser, Harry Davenport, Laura Hope Crews, Grant Mitchell, et al. A Warner Bros. picture; directed by Irving Rapper; produced by Hal B. Wallis. Screen play by Casey Robinson. From the book by Hartzell Spence.

Type of Picture: "One Foot in Heaven" is one of those peculiarly significant and spiritual Hollywood film offerings which come along once in a decade.

This Is the Story: Religious subjects have always been pretty much tabu for movies, but despite this, "One Foot in Heaven" tells of the trials and tribulations of a minister with an utter frankness that is charming and at the same time an indictment of people who have no religion or are used to taking their religion in half-way doses.

Fredric March plays the role of an unusual young man who, on the eve of his wedding, gives up a lucrative medical profession to become a preacher. Standing beside him is his lovely wife, and together they weather years of hardship seldom so vividly portrayed on the screen.

There is inspiration in every scene and every word of dialog in this remarkable picture.

Verdict: "One Foot in Heaven" does not strictly follow the book, but it is an amazing duplicate of that fine work in its feeling and in the lesson it teaches. Whether you are deeply religious, an agnostic or downright heathen you should see this movie and take your whole family. —C. S.

GUNMAN FROM BODIE: Buck Jones, Tim McCoy and Ray Hatton thrill in this second of their "Rough Rider" series. (Family.)

KEY TO WAR MAP

- 1—The winter's snow and ice virtually have ended the Nazi blitz in northern Russia.
- 2—Hitler promised to stay with his soldier boys until they "annihilated" the Red armies. He also promised the folks back home that the war was already in the bag. He is going to have to spend the winter in his special train "somewhere in Russia." Destroyed cities and towns are the fruits of the "victory."
- 3—This line marks the approximate winter front. The Nazis will not advance much farther, may retreat in spots.
- 4—The Volga boatman is busy these days, hauling American and British armaments to the Russian armies.
- 5—This line marks the goal of Nazi penetration into Russia.
- 6—The war correspondents have been sent to Kuibyshev, 400 miles east of the fighting zone.
- 7—The Russian bear is not hibernating this winter; he is busy training for the spring offensive and also rebuilding depleted Soviet armaments.

Russia's Defeat of Hitler

By EDWIN HARTRICH

As his concluding article in his series for MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, Mr. Hartrich was going to write about "Russia's Secondary War Machine." But Mr. Hartrich, the only American radio reporter who has covered the war from both the Allied and German sides as well as the Russo-Finnish war, has changed his mind. Here he tells why.—The Editors.

THERE comes a time in the life of every news analyst when he gets off a limb. Throwing my "ifs" and "buts" and "whereases" to the winds, I will risk my reputation with a flat prediction:

Adolf Hitler has lost his war with Josef Stalin.

I was going to write a piece about "Russia's Secondary War Machine" for this week's issue of MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE. I was, that is, until I looked at my calendar. My, how time has flown and carried away with it Hitler's last chance for victory! Five months ago, on June 22, the Nazi armies invaded Russia. In five months the Germans have acquired a great deal of burned-over Russian real estate, gutted cities and industrial plants, and some sixty million Russian inhabitants. But victory has eluded Hitler's grasp.

I have been so busy trying to follow the ins and outs of this gigantic struggle that I almost missed the big story that was taking shape with every passing day. So there isn't much sense in writing about the "Secondary War Machine" when the important story is—Hitler has lost his war with Russia.

Conversely, this does not mean Stalin has won his war with Hitler, but he will eventually. For the Soviet dictator is prepared to fight on for several years, while the Germans can't last that long.

I base my predictions on my knowledge of war-time Germany, and my knowledge of the Russian armies, gained in covering the Russo-Finnish war in the winter of 1939-40. I have seen both armies in action and also know what a Russian winter can be as a handicap to "blitz" warfare.

When we study the last five months of war in Russia, the most interesting thing is—every time the Germans stopped to catch their breath, Hitler announced he had defeated the retreating Russians. A few weeks ago he jumped off his limb to state flatly that Soviet Russia was completely defeated; all the Nazis had to do was pick up the pieces. But if we remember a sentence in "Mein Kampf" we have the key to the puzzle. It reads: "Never bother to tell a small lie; the greater the lie, the more likely it is to be believed by the masses." Hitler has been trying to fake a victory. His main purpose was to discourage the British and the Americans from sending aid to Soviet Russia. For with those guns, planes and tanks from America, Hitler's armies will be eventually driven back from Russian soil in utter defeat.

Life is grim and earnest for Adolf these days. He is "exiled" in the frozen wastes of Russia by his own hand. Hitler always stays in the field with his troops until they have won victory. He did that in Poland and in France. Hitler has promised the Germans at home that victory was won. The next time he comes home, he has to bring some tangible proof of his statements or public faith in him will decline farther. The Germans are an intelligent race of people. They can see through the broad line of fakery; if there is no victory, they will know that too. So Adolf will spend the winter at his headquarters, in his comfortable, special train.

WHAT'S going to happen in the spring?

The German and Russian armies will resume heavy fighting. The Nazis may penetrate deeper into Russia, though the chances are against that. But the Russians will have reorganized their armies, drilled many new divisions and equipped them all with guns and tanks.

I believe that Hitler is defeated. However, that does not mean the immediate collapse of his armies. The Germans will be able to wage war against the Allies for another year or two. The important thing for all of us—he can't win his war with the world because he has lost his war with Russia.

More than a year ago I was in Berlin and watched Adolf Hitler ride up the Wilhelmstrasse in triumph. The conqueror was returning home after an eight-week campaign in France and the Low Countries. His car drove down the street, inch-deep with rose petals. Thousands of madly cheering Winant, wife of the American ambassador to Great Britain, Mrs. Kermit Roosevelt, founder and national chairman of the "Young America" organization. (This broadcast will not be heard in the Midwest and West.) . . . A ten-round non-title bout between Tony Zale, N. B. A. middleweight titleholder, and Georgie Abrams, of the U. S. Navy, will be broadcast this Friday over MBS. The bout was postponed from September 12 because of a serious skin ailment which Zale developed . . . This Friday's broadcast of CBS' "First Nighter" marks the beginning of the twelfth year on the air for the venerable dramatic show.

Nazis hoarsely shouted "Sieg Heil! SIEG HEIL! HEIL!" ("Victory Hail! Victory Hail! Hail!")

Hitler was grinning, his arm outstretched in the Nazi salute. The world was his oyster, to be eaten at his own time and pleasure. I almost was willing to accept the unpleasant conclusion that Hitler was going to win his war with the world. Then a veteran correspondent sagely remarked, "Boys, you are seeing the first and last victory parade that Adolf Hitler will ever enjoy. Mark you well, this is a historic occasion."

I think that fellow was very prescient. I'll go a step further. I say the next victory parade down the Unter den Linden will be staged by the Allied troops.

FOR ARTHUR PETERSON (Dr. Ruthledge in "Guiding Light") and his wife (heard in radio as Norma Ransom) this Thanksgiving will be a special one—the first for little Paul. The Petersons live in their own six-room house in Edgebrook, Chicago suburb

TODAY IN RADIO

Edgar Bergen makes dream
come true for a girl fan;
Betty Hutton joins Hope

Small World

NEW YORK.—Following a dramatization of Robert St. John's escape from Crete and Jugoslavia on NBC's "Behind the Mike" recently, the news commentator received a cable worded thus: "Touring 'Snoektown' African theaters. Yesternight greatly excited my colleague Van Alphen listening Schenectady (Schenectady's short-wave station). Amazing luck—heard your broadcast. Congratulations. Good luck and continued success."

The cable was from Cecil Wightman, who was the first man to ever short-wave a broadcast from South Africa. St. John met him while on a trip through the country. St. John's comment when handed the cable was, "Well, well, it's certainly a small world!"

Powell, Loy Pack Them in

HOLLYWOOD.—Feverish crowds, CBS ushers tearing their hair, hordes of autograph hunters and traffic tied up on Vine Street—these were adjuncts of the appearance of William Powell and Myrna Loy in "Hired Wife" on "Lux Radio Theater" recently. The ushers said it was the biggest crush at the broadcasts within their memory. Autograph hunters lingered an hour after the show. Many personal friends of the acting team attended the broadcast.

Prof. Quiz Must Pay

BOSTON.—Professor Quiz, who is also known as Dr. Craig Earl, and lately revealed to be Arthur E. Baird, has been ordered by the Middlesex Probate Court to pay $25,000 in back alimony to Mrs. Grace L. Baird, his former wife. The professor will likewise have to pay his ex-wife $100 a week alimony. Appeals are being taken by the defendant. It is alleged the professor has an income of over $100,000 a year.

Fourth Estate Whitewashed

NEW YORK.—It isn't a hard and fast rule in NBC's censorship department, but the fact remains that the network is of the opinion that newspapermen should not be made villains. As a case in point, NBC ordered the writers of a "Mr. District Attorney" script to rewrite a sequence which presented the case of a newspaperman committing a wrong.

SIDELIGHTS

Hunch Goes Haywire

NEW YORK.—John Charles Daly more than ever believes that a fellow should listen to his hunches. When the CBS commentator was working in Washington, where he has acted as presidential announcer for the past four years, he had a hunch that some day he might be called to New York to take over an important announcing post. Consequently he refused to buy a house and settle down there, despite repeated urgings by his wife. Two months ago Daly capitulated to his wife and bought a beautiful home in a Washington suburb. Three weeks after the final papers had been signed he was notified that he could have the job of conducting the "News of the World" program. The Dalys now have a home they can't live in, since they are in New York.

Man of the Hour

CHICAGO.—Charlie Lyon is the latest to win "Man of the Hour" plaudits around Chicago studios. Announcing the new serial, "Secret City," during a recent broadcast, Charlie, among others, noted that one of the actors was absent (stranded in a Loop traffic jam) when his cue came early in the script. Charlie stepped coolly from the announcer's control-board to the mike, grabbing a script on the way, and played the part without benefit of rehearsal or study.

Native Son in Disfavor

NEW YORK.—Reports from Oklahoma are that the citizens of the "Sooner" state are considerably riled over Cal Tinney, their favorite son, having acted as the "Voice of Texas" on a recent "March of Time" program. "Let Texas use their own adenoids," say the irate Oklahomans.

McCarthy Told the Boss

HOLLYWOOD.—Fourteen months ago an eighteen-year-old North Dakota girl who lives with her widowed mother took a calf to raise to a heifer. Last month the calf died. The girl had hoped to sell it as a heifer and so provide funds for her nurse's-training course. In a fan letter to Charlie McCarthy the girl told her story of hope evaporated. Last week the Edgar Bergen Foundation wrote her and told her that her nurse's-training course had been paid for, plus her living expenses while in training. The girl was overjoyed—and the story, which ventriloquist Bergen would never sanction giving out, thus came to the attention of MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE!

For the Book

CHICAGO.—When Don McNeill and "Breakfast Club" colleagues started that giant scrapbook to celebrate tenor Jack Baker's tenth anniversary in radio, they started something it will apparently take more than Jack's apartment and office and the studio to finish. Autographs have been coming in by the tens of thousands. Contributions from listeners for the huge book include all kinds of pictures, witty verses, frilly greeting cards and babies' curls.

Relief at Hand

CHICAGO.—Relief measures are at hand—or, should we say, on foot?—for Whitey Ford, Duke of Paducah, who ends his comedy skit on "Plantation Party" with "I'm goin' to the wagon—these shoes are killin' me!" Three manufacturers and eight shoe stores have offered to supply him with shoes that fit as an advertising stunt.

Free Ride with Free Show

NEW YORK.—When the "Meet Mr. Meek" program, which has been originating in the CBS Playhouse on East 52nd Street in New York, moved to a theater on West 45th Street, the sponsor discovered that tickets for several shows had already been distributed with the former address printed on them. Until these tickets are used up, the sponsor has arranged with a cab company to carry guests coming to the wrong theater over to the new place.

What Price Fame

HOLLYWOOD.—Hanley Stafford, the Daddy Higgins of "Coffee Time" program fame, in other words Baby Snooks' old man, has been proudly showing about the studios a copy of a Winnipeg newspaper. He has a grown son who recently went to Canada to serve England—and the front-page banner headline of the newspaper reads: BABY SNOOKS' BROTHER JOINS R. A. F.

ACTIVITIES

MacCormack-King Record

CHICAGO.—Fans of Wayne King's music and Franklyn MacCormack's poetry readings have a chance to get a two-in-one treat on a platter now. Scheduled for release by December 1 is a unique RCA recording presenting MacCormack reading the poems "I Miss You, My Darling" and "Why I Love You" to the musical background of King's interpretations of "None But the Lonely Heart" and "Melody of Love."

Villain Reads Poetry

HOLLYWOOD.—Basil Rathbone, who portrays the famous sleuth, "Sherlock Holmes," on NBC Sunday nights, is making an album of records to teach high-school and college students how to read poetry. The film and radio star recently received the 1941 "Best Male Voice" award from the National Council of Voice Teachers. The recordings are being prepared under the auspices and in conjunction with the National Council of Teachers of English.

Bailey Hollywood-Bound

CHICAGO.—Bob Bailey, actor on "That Brewster Boy" and numerous

"Knickerbocker Playhouse" dramas, is another of the Chicago radio personalities spotted by Hollywood. RKO is about to sign him up. If Bob goes to Hollywood, he will follow in the footsteps of Don Ameche, Gale Page, Lillian Cornell, Red Skelton and numerous others who stepped from Chicago broadcasting studios to the screen.

Welles and Magic

HOLLYWOOD.—Orson Welles and Richard Himber, in addition to being an actor and a bandleader respectively, are both expert amateur magicians. They have invented a magic pitcher which is becoming a best seller at stores that sell such equipment. The idea of the trick is that the pitcher is filled with milk, the milk poured into a paper cone, which is then broken over the head of a spectator. The cone turns out to be empty.

HONOR

"Dr. Christian" Honored

HOLLYWOOD.—In honor of the fifth anniversary of the "Dr. Christian" program on CBS, Donald W. Thornburgh, CBS official, presented Jean Hersholt, who plays the title role, with a handsome Saseini briar pipe at the close of a recent broadcast. Made in England, the pipe bears a large Roman "V" upon it. Hersholt, by the way, will go east to do five broadcasts from New York, beginning Christmas Eve.

PROGRAMS

"Jimmies" Off and On

HOLLYWOOD.—This is the story of two Jimmies, one off and one on. Jimmie Fidler is off the air, canceled by his sponsor on account of wartime difficulty in getting lipstick cases and other cosmetic containers. The other Jimmie has just come on the air as a new member of the "Amos 'n' Andy" cast. In real life Jimmie is eighteen-year-old Lawrence Harris, with no previous radio experience.

Hutton with Hope

HOLLYWOOD.—Betty Hutton, blond jitterbug singing star, made a guest appearance on the Hope show November 4, two days later found herself in possession of a contract to appear on the program during the remainder of the season. She will act as stooge and do some singing. Frances Langford remains as the starring vocalist.

SHORTS

Corporal Jimmy Stewart, on leave from Army camp during a recent week-end, spent most of his Sunday liberty at radio studios watching rehearsals and the broadcast of Jack Benny's show . . . Bob Hope is going to record a series of disks for Victor. Two of the tunes will be from a forthcoming picture . . . Curtis Roberts, Dr. Stevens in "Ma Perkins," is the father of a new son, John Whitlow Stevens . . . Margaret Speaks, "Voice of Firestone" soprano star, who is a well-known benefactor of animals, has been presented the James Cruikshank Honor Medal by New York's Greenwich Village Humane League . . . Pat Murphy, of "Flying Patrol" and "Hot Copy," recently became an uncle for the first time. He'll remember the occasion because of the novelty of a boy named Martin Dennis Murphy being born on Yom Kippur! . . . Arthur Peterson (Dr. Ruthledge in "Guiding Light") has just had a book of his poems published . . . Jim Ameche, brother of Don, is the new announcer on CBS' "Big Sister."

Next Week's Cover

Ann Sothern, who has taken off her "Maise" fuss and feathers temporarily to assume a starring role in M-G-M's screen version of "Panama Hattie," also forsakes the characterization on MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE's cover next week, is photographed in charming portrait style. Also: The inside photo-story of Ann's trial separation from Roger Pryor. New, exclusive pictures of Red Skelton, a picture-story of the Burns and Allen show. Other stars featured: Abbott and Costello, "That Brewster Boy." Get your copy today.

Hitler's Worthless Promises Bared on U.S. Short Waves

R. A. F. Gets Girl Friend

HAT4 (9.125) has been providing an interesting program service to North America for several years. Two factors have kept this program from being as valuable as it otherwise might have been. It came on at too early an hour and the English features—including English news bulletins—weren't scheduled at any regular set times. Over a year ago I mentioned these two facts to one of the Hungarian consular officials in this country. Starting November 1, these two faults of the Budapest programs were remedied. On that date the timing for the transmissions was changed and regular set program features were inaugurated. Under HAT4's (9.125) new streamline policy the transmissions for North America are broadcast nightly from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. CST.

FIRST IN SERIES NBC is short-waving to outlying U. S. bases was a salute to U. S. Army Base at Trinidad, starring Glenn Miller (left) with band and vocalist Marion Hutton (center), Allen Prescott (right) as emcee

Hitler and Norway, Hitler and representative government, etc.

American FM Network Planned

Few readers will realize that FM radio, which a couple of years ago was totally unknown, has already progressed to the point where plans are being pushed for a Coast-to-Coast web which will have outlets in more than forty principal cities, with approximately seventy-five percent of the national population living within the proposed service areas.

The American network, FM's first chain organization, has filed its application for a key outlet in New York City. The new station, if approved by the FCC, will be located in the Lincoln Building, with transmitter and radiating antenna at the same site.

Already operating are two of the network's stations in New England—W43B and W39B—which have a combined coverage capable of reaching ninety-three percent of the population in those six states. W53PH, Philadelphia, another outlet of the American network, will soon make its debut.

Other stations of the chain already on the air with daily schedules but not as yet linked up for program exchange, are W47V, Nashville; W55M, Milwaukee; W45D, Detroit; W51R, Rochester, and W45CM, Columbus. In addition, W41MM, on the summit of Clingman's Peak in western North Carolina, will be operating shortly.

Program Particulars

I suggest you listen to: "Over to You," designed for men of the Royal Air Force in Canada, heard Fridays at 4:15 p.m. CST over London stations GSC (9.58), GSD (11.75). By the way, "Over to You" includes a "Radio Girl Friend." This is Miss Jane Welsh, a pretty blonde who wears her honey-colored hair in a page-boy bob and whose disposition is as charming as it looks. According to London Calling, she won't merely talk to the R. A. F. boys; she's prepared to answer any number of letters and she will visit the boys' parents in their homes so as to give them the personal news they are longing for.

Meet Robert Harris, Announcer

How many of you when listening to the news bulletins from London have recognized the voice of one of the announcers? You are right, it is none other than Robert Harris, the man who played opposite Jane Cowl in New York in Noel Coward's "Easy Virtue," opposite Peggy O'Neil in Barrie's "Little Minister" and as Oberon in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Robert Harris is slight, quiet, has aquiline good looks. Born in Somerset in 1900, he went to Sherborne and Oxford, where he took English literature. He did some bits in the Oxford Dramatic Society productions, liked it, went on to the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, got his first important part in one of the early Clemence Dane plays.

Too young for the last war—too old for this one, Harris wanted to do his share, joined up with the BBC as a news reader in 1940. Harris has been in America several times; has played in Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago, Boston and New York.

General Notes

DXY (9.525), Warsaw, Poland, the latest outlet to be added to the German short-wave network, seems to be on the air intermittently from 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. CST . . . DJB (15.20), Berlin, has been dropped from the North American service for the winter. DXP (6.03), replacing DJB, carries the North American program from 3:50 p.m. to 12:00 mid. CST . . . Frequency changes in Australia's transmissions to North America: 6:20 to 7:05 a.m. CST, to eastern United States, over VLG2 (9.54) and VLQ7 (11.88); 11:55 p.m. to 12:40 a.m. CST, to western United States, over VLG2 (9.54) and VLQ2 (11.87).

"Hitler Betrayed by Himself"

"Hitler Betrayed by Himself" is the title of a new series of very interesting programs offered by NBC Sundays at 11:30 a.m. over WNBI (15.15) and WRCA (17.78) and at 9:30 p.m. CST over WRCA (9.67).

The program is based on Hitler's own writings and speeches since the publication of his "Mein Kampf," written by Count Roussy de Sales, outstanding American journalist, and Fernand Auberjonois. One voice presents Hitler's promises and the other voice recalls his performances, so that listeners throughout the world may evaluate for themselves Hitler's propaganda strategy in relationship to his actions.

Such subjects as the following are dealt with: Hitler and Stalin, Hitler and Chamberlain, promises to France,

1. AT THE sanitarium, where his sister Margot (shielding her scarred face) is confined, Paul learns that his estranged wife, Joyce, is soon to have a baby. Quickly he decides to go back to her

2. THIS IS A MEMORY of the days before their marriage, but Joyce refuses to let it turn her from her determination not to take Paul back if it is only because he knows about the baby and feels duty-bound. She cannot believe he really cares for her as before

3. WRITING-SESSIONS with Sheila are irritating to Paul now and he flares up at her when she mentions Joyce—he thinks in a slurring way. But Sheila is wily, senses that she may be losing her slight hold on him. In the future, she decides, she will be more careful of what she says about Joyce

4. DR. MOLLY (above, left) secretly admires Joyce's courage and spirit but she continues in her attempts to bring the two together. She has discussed things with Paul, here tries to reason with Joyce. Aggravating the problem is Joyce's medical career

5. SUMMONED TO the office of the local airport, Joyce meets Jim Forrester, a test pilot who pleads with her for a hypodermic to calm his frayed nerves. Tune in "Joyce Jordan, Girl Interne" for her answer, for the continuing story of her romance

"JOYCE JORDAN, Girl Interne"

PART II

AT LAST news comes to Paul Sherwood that his estranged wife, Joyce, is to have a baby. Informant is his sister, Margot, who is now back in a sanitarium, repentant for her part in the Sherwoods' marital troubles. Surprised and shocked, Paul returns to his wife, tries to make amends for his coldness during recent months. But Joyce, strong-willed and independent, refuses to accept him when she thinks he is being dutiful. When Paul shows his disappointment, Dr. Molly, Joyce's confidant, rebukes him for not foreseeing Joyce's attitude.

Parting, both Paul and Joyce remember the happy days before their marriage and wonder why they have not been able to find happiness. Paul returns to Joyce, again tries to show that he loves her. She remains aloof.

Meanwhile, Paul is embarrassed as he collaborates on a book with Sheila Brand, the divorcee who has designs on him. Cunningly, she tries to make him forget Joyce, plays her cards carefully and affects not to notice he is upset.

In the midst of Joyce's cares, a telephone call summons her to the local airport, where as an interne she once again thrusts aside her personal problems to undertake a professional job which will occupy her in weeks to come. Tune in CBS Monday through Friday and hear the action depicted on this page.

People Have MORE FUN Than Anybody

WHEN "Camel Caravan" rolled into California to begin the West Coast leg of its tour of the Army camps, a special preview performance and party was arranged at Venice Fun House, Ocean Park, Calif. To preview the show and share in the fun came forty-two draftees, a flock of movie starlets, dozens of radio and film stars.

The soldiers, selected by their local U. S. O. as representative "critics," liked the show immensely and the starlets even better. Whizzing down huge slides, scurrying over air jets, rolling through barrels, guests found the ice broken, inhibitions down almost before the party began. On the refreshment table reposed a sign, "Make your own Dagwood sandwiches," and two thousand sandwiches, hundreds of bottles of soda pop disappeared like magic. "A socko evening" was the verdict of all, which included guests Louella Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Al Pearce, Penny Singleton, Ann Rutherford, Bill Goodwin, many others.

NOW AL PEARCE sees himself as perhaps his wife sees him. She says he should diet, and soldier guests at the "Caravan" party could vouch for the fact that no Army medical officer would pass him

CHOOSING AN AMUSEMENT PARK as the spot to preview "Camel Caravan" when it turned up on the West Coast was a capital idea, according to the soldiers and stars who were guests at the affair. Big-hearted sponsors of the "Caravan," which travels from one service camp to another entertaining Uncle Sam's Army and Navy, did themselves proud, took over Fun House at California's Ocean Park for 200 guests, let them play and eat far into the night

MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE VISITS:

THE MUSICAL TREAT

"CHICAGO THEATER of the AIR"

A FEW years ago Col. Robert McCormick, who calls his Chicago Tribune the "World's Greatest Newspaper," set out to make his station WGN the "World's Greatest Radio Station." There are those who will contest the Colonel's claims, but few will deny that Chicagoans—and through MBS, other U. S. listeners—are getting a new, exciting buzz on broadcasting through the Colonel's ambitious policies.

Prize feather in the Colonel's cap is the "Chicago Theater of the Air." Now in its second season, this seventy-five-minute Saturday night WGN-Mutual broadcast is a star hit. Chicagoans flock to the broadcasts at WGN's monumental Gothic palace on Michigan Boulevard, already have scooped up all tickets available this year.

"Theater of the Air" presents streamlined versions of great operas and operettas, using a brand-new technique. For every performance there is a double cast: An operatic troupe, starring prima donna Marion Claire, a dramatic troupe starring radio actresses such as Betty Winkler. Each important character in the operetta is a composite of two people. For instance, Betty Winkler picks up her first word in Miss Claire's voice register, then gradually grades it down to her normal speaking tone. The dramatic cast carries the thread of the story through high-spot arias and passages sung by Miss Claire, her guest leading man and the chorus.

Large share of credit for the elaborate operatic dramas goes to Bill Bacher, ace radio producer who has joined WGN as chief of programs. Bacher originated the double-cast technique, other innovations. Typical Bacher trick is to build a realistic atmosphere for the operetta by taking the entire crew—singers, actors, chorus, soundmen—out to dinner before the broadcast. If the operetta locale is French, they go to a French restaurant; if it is English, he takes them to St. Hubert's.

Another generous slice of credit falls to Henry Weber, operatic conductor of world fame who directs all music for WGN, including "Theater of the Air."

So that listeners may get some idea of the festive mood of a "Chicago Theater of the Air" performance, MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE presents this visit to the October 4 broadcast—premiere for the season—when Allan Jones and Marion Claire starred in "The Merry Widow." —J. C.

BROADCAST from the most luxurious studio theater in the U. S., "Chicago Theater of the Air" presents a colorful picture to six hundred guests, who see a stage crowded with musicians, singers and actors. The whole company is under supervision of Bill Bacher (right), who is probably radio's greatest producing genius. Bacher originated double-cast plan, using both actors, singers for important roles

This Week's Operetta: "Carmen"

Georges Bizet's famous opera, story of Don Jose, the country bumpkin corporal who falls in love with Carmen, the beautiful gypsy, deserts the army to follow her, finally loses her to Escamillo, a toreador. Time: About 1820. Setting: Spain.

NEXT WEEK: The Burns and Allen Program

ATTILIO BAGGIORE, veteran opera tenor, appears on almost all performances, stars on many. American-born, he won fame in Europe

AUTOGRAPH-HUNTERS, old and young, pursue Miss Claire after the broadcast. Usually she autographs printed program for the evening which "Chicago Theater of the Air" distributes to all of its guests—a rare, useful frill unknown to most radio broadcasts with studio audiences

HENRY WEBER has been conducting operatic orchestras since he was 21. Among them: Chicago Civic; Opera House, Florence, Italy

SMALLER THAN full-dress opera chorus but highly effective for streamlined radio productions is the WGN Chorus, which supports arias of Marion Claire and guest soloists. "Theater of the Air" is strictly formal, with all actors, actresses, soloists in dress clothes, members of the orchestra in white dinner jackets

Miss Claire and Mr. Jones sang together for the first time since they made their light opera debuts together in St. Louis, 1933

BOB BURNS

THE MODERN ARKANSAS TRAVELER

THE old Civil War rifleman who rode horseback through the backwoods of Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana, telling stories, helping folks in trouble, playing his fiddle, would be mightily surprised if he could walk up to a loudspeaker today and hear the voice of a new "Arkansas Traveler." Probably he'd be pleased, too. The yarns of his latter-day disciple, Bob Burns—another Arkansan—have the same leisurely, pleasant, homey flavor. The motive—to do a good deed and wander on—is still warming hearts on Bob's Tuesday night show. In place of the fiddle, though, Bob uses his bazooka, fashioned from the gas pipes he ran across back in a Van Buren, Ark., plumbing shop where he once practised with the Queen City Silver Tone Cornet Band. But Bob Burns has more in common with Arkansas' legendary hero than meets the ear. He rated as best rifle marksman in the A. E. F., probably could show even the "Traveler" some fine points on drawing a bead. Until his Hollywood days with Bing Crosby, he had a real case of wanderlust, drifting in and out of show business as opportunity waxed and waned. He is today a down-to-earth dirt farmer. Yes, even in Hollywood.—J. C.

THE SAGE OF VAN BUREN has prized etchings of the original "Arkansas Traveler" in place of honor above great hearth of his Canoga Park farmhouse near Hollywood. Situated on four hundred acres of farm land, the rambling place houses Bob, his wife and four children: Robin, Jr., 19; Stephen Foster, 13 months; Barbara Ann, 3, and Billy, 2. Robin, Jr., has one wing of the house to himself, comes and goes as he pleases. On the farm Bob raises sugar beets, lima beans and alfalfa, has flock of miscellaneous fancy fowls

OUT OF BOB'S workshop come gimmicks called "Windies"—parts move when wind blows—for kids in the neighborhood. Man on bicycle is for his own Barbara Ann (above)

BOB BESTOWS much loving attention on Flip, his multicolored tropical bird, has taught it to whistle the tune "Arkansas Traveler." Flip has his cage in Bob's bedroom

"I LIKE FARMING," draws farmer Burns, who works his farm lands personally, likes nothing better than to chum around with animals

BOB HAS MANY PETS among his fancy bantam chicks, parrakeets, pheasants, allows them the run of the farm. One of his chicks he calls Silver Polish. Two incubators are kept in bathroom. Bob's home life is as easy-going and down-to-earth as his broadcasts

BANDSTAND NOTES

By Maurice Granger

APPARENTLY one of the reasons why Kay Kyser will appear in "My Favorite Spy" when he returns to Hollywood late in December is that he bears a close resemblance to Harold Lloyd, who is scheduled to direct it. As a matter of fact, Lloyd was expected to return to the screen in the film. Why he suddenly decided to forego his return is not known, at least to us.

Kay says that he positively will not doff his rimless specs and wear tortoise ones in imitation of Lloyd. The "Ol' Professor" says he will never be another Harold Lloyd. What he meant, I'm sure, is that there will never be another comedian like Harold Lloyd.

Speaking of Kay's pictures, you should be seeing "Playmates," his third one, soon. With Kay are two grand performers, John Barrymore and Lupe Velez. The combination of Kyser, Barrymore and Velez ought to put plenty of laughs into the film.

Bandata

Glenn Miller's "Sunset Serenade" programs, which are musical salutes to the U. S. Army camps, are now open to the public. Miller and the boys are now at the Hotel Pennsylvania's Cafe Rouge. The program, heard on Saturdays at 5:00 p.m. EST, starts an hour earlier, with twenty-five cents charge for admission. The money thus derived is turned over to the USO, in cooperation with whom the series was arranged. Dancing is permitted throughout the two-hour performance. . . . Sammy Kaye, who introduced "Daddy" to the public, has added Bob Troup, the composer, to his staff. Troup will compose and arrange. . . . Lou Levy, the manager of the Andrews Sisters, will make about fifty thousand dollars on the song hit "Jim," which was popularized by songstress Dinah Shore! . . . Bandleader Dick Jurgens will move east with his band sometime in December. It'll be the first time the band has played in that section of the country.

Vocalists

Jean Gordon is Al Donahue's new vocal lovely. . . . Claude Thornhill's latest singer is Lillian Lane. . . . Raymond Scott has replaced Clyde Burke with singer Billy Leach. . . . Paula Kelly, recently with Glenn Miller's band, has joined Artie Shaw. . . . Mel Marvin's newest vocalist is Billy Lowe. . . . The McFarland Twins have added Don Cornell to their vocalist staff. . . . Clyde Lucas has taken on Eve Knight, who will share the singing honors with Lyn, Clyde's brother. . . . Johnny Messner's vocalist addition is Jack Ryan, tenor. . . . Dorothy Cordray, a former Jan Garber vocal lovely, is singing solo at the Town House in Wilshire Center, Los Angeles.

Purely Personal

Eddy Duchin and his singer, June Robbins, are reported to be singing romantic ballads to each other. . . . Bandleader Blue Barron is in a dither over Hope Galloway, the daughter of a wealthy New Yorker. . . . Lebert Lombardo is the proud father of a boy. . . . Helen O'Connell, Jimmy Dorsey's vocal lovely, is expected to wed a Mr. Clifford Smith from Boston. Apparently her romance of long standing with Jimmy Blumenstock, the Fordham football player, is all over.

"My husband's kisses were cold as ice"

HOW A WIFE OVERCAME
THE "ONE NEGLECT"
THAT THREATENED HER MARRIAGE

1. I never dreamed I would ever play the rôle of a neglected wife. We were so madly in love, at first—then, little by little, Jack's ardor waned until it seemed as though he actually disliked to be near me. I was utterly miserable.

2. I hid my unhappiness from everyone. Until one day at luncheon with Jane, my closest chum—I broke down and told her everything. She said, "Darling, don't be offended, but perhaps it's your fault. There's nothing that chills a husband's love more than carelessness about feminine hygiene."

3. "Early in my marriage," she said, "a woman doctor set me straight forever about this one neglect. I've followed her advice ever since and used Lysol disinfectant for intimate personal care. Because Lysol cleanses, deodorizes. . . and a single douche kills millions of germs, without harm to sensitive tissues."

4. I went immediately to the nearest drug store, bought a bottle of Lysol, and followed the simple feminine hygiene directions on the label. I've used it ever since, with 100% effective results. My marriage, I might add, has become a happy honeymoon once more!

Check this with your Doctor

Lysol is NON-CAUSTIC—gentle and efficient in proper dilution. Contains no free alkali. It is not carbolic acid. EFFECTIVE—a powerful germicide, active in presence of organic matter (such as mucus, serum, etc.). SPREADING—Lysol solutions spread and virtually search out germs in deep crevices. ECONOMICAL—small bottle makes almost 4 gallons of solution for feminine hygiene. CLEANLY ODOR—disappears after use. LASTING—Lysol disinfectant keeps full strength indefinitely, no matter how often it is uncorked.

FEMININE FORUM

By ALBERTA NORTH

Be fair though a cold wind's blowing!

BRRRRR—that's a cold wind blowing! And is milady's nose all red? Her skin roughened? Her lips cracked? They shouldn't be, you know! The moment winter sets in the smart young woman takes stock of her beauty routine to determine whether she is taking enough precaution against the ravages of winter's blasts outdoors, and dry, heated atmosphere indoors. Long exposure outdoors and sudden changes from warmth to cold can have serious drying and roughening effects on your skin. Your first line of defense is to insure your skin with lots of lubrication. You must devote yourself religiously to the use of creams which will keep your skin oily and soft when the natural oils just aren't enough.

A night cream is an excellent solution to the problem of drying skin. To meet this need, Pond's has that new addition to its famous line called Dry Skin Cream, notable because it is homogenized cream containing Lanolin. A quick facial after you've been outdoors for a day, or even an afternoon, is one sure way of perking up your skin to look warm and glowing in the evening, sans stinging or dryness from wind and weather. First give your face a thorough cleansing with cold cream and remove the dust and grime with tissues. Now dip generously into your jar of Pond's vanishing cream and mask your face and neck with it. Leave this mask on for one full minute, while you relax. Then tissue off the vanishing cream as you did your cold cream.

For soft, smooth hands you must also strive. The same cold weather that brings a fine pink color into your cheeks will add a not-so-pretty red glow to your hands. What's even worse is the chapped, scaly skin which makes your hands look wrinkled and drawn. That's why preparations such as Tussy's Wind and Weather Lotion and Hind's Honey and Almond Cream are blessings. Use them on your arms, legs and neck after your bath and before exposure to the outdoors, for their lubricating action will keep your skin soft and supple.

Be very sure to include your neck in these routines, for not only do high collars and furs bring dust that must be carefully removed but they may rub and irritate the sensitive skin. You'll be wise to get in the habit of wearing a scarf with your coats not only for warmth but to keep your skin soft. If you happen to own one of those smart new turbans with scarf attached, you're all set.

THE skin all over your body, although it is never exposed to weather, does suffer by changes from heat to cold. This you can care for in your daily bath by using a bath oil. Princess Pat's Bath Fragrance is one that lends a lovely scent to the water and also will help to keep your skin smooth. Linit, too, in your bath will do wonders as a body-skin protector. It leaves a smooth film on your skin to keep it soft and safe from chafing.

In winter you'll notice that nails become brittle and break off at the slightest provocation. This you can also prevent by keeping the nails soft with a nail oil. Cutex has one that is swell. Rub a few drops of the oil on your nails and cuticles at night before retiring.

Letters FROM THE AUDIENCE

Express your opinions. Address, Letters From the Audience, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill.

Dear Sirs:

Our club would like to know what happened to "Lights Out." We would all like to see it resume its fascinating series. Please tell us if there is anything we can do to get it back on the air.

L. A. L. Club, Chicago, Ill.

● "Lights Out" went out when Arch Oboler, who used to write the NBC dramatic monstrosities, went on with a different series of his own a couple of seasons ago. It has stayed out ever since. Many listeners express the wish for something of that sort on the air in the late hours. And many in the radio trade feel that there should be a place for some kind of "workshop" dramatic series from Chicago, where the old "Lights Out" program originated.—The Editors.

Captain or Sergeant?

Dear Sirs:

Just wondering why you have "Captain Flagg" Victor McLaglen dressed in a technical sergeant's uniform, rather than a captain's, on the cover of MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE for October 18-24.

Even if "Captain Flagg" is supposed to be in "Sergeant Quirt's" uniform, should not the chevrons be those of a first (top) sergeant?

Ernest E. Akins, Kosciusko, Miss.

● McLaglen is pictured on our cover wearing the uniform of his role in the motion picture "Call Out the Marines," which is mentioned in the cover caption. In this film he is a sergeant, though in the radio program, "Capt. Flagg and Sergt. Quirt," he plays Capt. Flagg.—The Editors.

Bulls & Boners

Bulls and boners are a part of broadcasting. No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. See how good your ears are. Try to catch broadcasters in some error—the funnier the better—and send your entry to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago. The most humorous entries will be printed in this column. Watch for your contribution!
