MOVIE-
RADIO GUIDE
Congratulates:
BETTE DAVIS
and
BOB HOPE

RIGHT now this nation's business is war. Communiques, battle headlines and last-minute flashes of spectacular activity are the order of the day. That is as it should be. But there are other items, small heart-warming incidents which have been overlooked by most people, tucked away in the news. MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE takes such an item and headlines it here. What happened was this: In Hollywood, the Women's Press Club, which is an organization composed of women who write for news services, syndicates and magazines, recently elected and announced to the world their selection of the most cooperative stars in Hollywood. Among the women, Bette Davis won the honor hands down. The title of "most cooperative" among the men was tagged on Bob Hope. MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE believes the selections made by the Hollywood Women's Press Club were good ones, takes this opportunity of congratulating both Bette and Bob. This is an honor which should be treasured by its recipients because it reflects so clearly how gracious "big people" can, if they choose, help "littler people" do their jobs. There's a heart-warming humaneness in the making of such a gesture—and in the deserving of it—which all of us must appreciate in times like these.

The Editors' Note:

A LITTLE over three weeks ago a third-rate power with autocratic, imperialistic ambitions and no scruples, attacked the United States as was to be expected—by hitting below the belt. Since that time, much water has passed under the bridge and many lives have had to be sacrificed to the proposition that there must be honor and decency among men to make this world livable for our children.

It has been most beautiful to see Americans solidify overnight into a unity of purpose, a determination that nothing can impede. A Senator named Wheeler pulled down his political fences. A young chap named Lindbergh climbed on the bandwagon.

Everyone has been magnificent about volunteering to serve in the most adaptable capacity; America has awakened once more.

We liked particularly the closing of Hedda Hopper's editorial the day after the attack. Said sincere, flag-waving

Hedda: "Maybe we WERE taken by surprise. Maybe we DID trust people too much. But now we've rolled up our sleeves and put on our fighting-pants. And when Uncle Sam really pulls up his suspenders, the snap will be heard clear 'round the world!"

Two days later, Miss Hopper said something else we like. "The worst treachery to our flag," observed Hedda, "is hysteria and fear. Let's continue to play golf, go to the movies, go on with our music. In other words, let's have complete confidence that our country will come out victorious. In this way we'll keep up morale, and morale as well as preparedness will fight off the enemy. . . . For a nation that keeps on laughing is absolutely invincible—and that is Hollywood's job from now on."

There you are. Work hard, laugh hard, play hard and fight, fight, fight. Trust your leaders. Believe no second-hand rumors or "information." Get your news direct from OFFICIAL sources over the radio. Not from AUTHORITATIVE quarters but from OFFICIAL SOURCES.

Remember that. For the record: Last week this publication inaugurated its new, enlarged short-wave department for listeners. This week (page 10) brings Major Curtis Mitchell's informative story on radio blackouts and what they mean. Next week will appear the behind-the-scenes story of "A Special News Bulletin" which will show in pictures a typical radio news and special-events department in action. There'll be inspiration, too, in an unusual story, "How It Felt When I Died," by comedian Joe E. Brown. Further informative, provocative and serviceable features are in store. Movie-Radio Guide is keeping pace with the nation's war effort—and with your needs.

Remember that, too.—The Editors.

The greatest star of the screen!

Begins the nineteen hundred and forty-second Annum Domini and the third year of this column.

May our foes wither like the chilled leaves. May Decency find, with renewed vigor, the mislaid path plotted in the year one.

So wisheth the philosopher Leo, Coeur de Lion.

Each of us, in his own way, has his job to do. And ours is to entertain, to divert, to interest, to serve.

We offer the best that the screen can provide. With each year the movies come to fuller flower. In addition to technique they have mastered pace and the tempo of the times.

When you see—and you will see—Spencer Tracy and Katharine Hepburn in "Woman of the Year", note this blending of action, merriment and modernity.

It's the snappiest yarn that has come to the studio editor in many moons.

Spence plays a hail-fellow sports writer named Sam. Kate plays a highbrow political columnist named Tess.

Tess gets pretty stuffy about sports and one day Sam takes her to the ball game where she asks some pretty cute questions to the disgust of the press box.

It's either war or love twixt Sam and Tess. All's fair in both.

But, baby, what comedy comes out of the mixing of the two worlds—the people and the tall brows. That party where those who came over in the Mayflower rub elbows with the boys who are more on the cauliflower side.

"Woman of the Year" is the Picture of the Year.

HEDY LAMARR'S

Greatest Movie

—M-G-M Photo by Clarence S. Bull
THERE'S ROMANCE to stir the most sentimental movie-goer in "H. M. Pulham, Esq." Hedy Lamarr and Robert Young make the story vibrant with emotion. But in addition, both enchanting Hedy and handsome Bob take long steps up the dramatic ladder with their characterizations

HEDY LAMARR becomes a great actress in "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's filming of the best-selling novel of the same title by J. P. Marquand. That's what she wants to be, of course. It was lucky for Hedy and her American-screen future that she has a face so bewitching that it makes men grip the arms of the theater seat and lean forward, and even induces women to grudgingly admit her beauty. But, however gratifying such a reputation may be, Hedy doesn't want to be simply the romantic adventuress who excited Charles Boyer and the male movie-goers in "Algiers," or simply the glamorous comedienne who scrapped with another girl and with Clark Gable in "Comrade X," or simply the glorified Ziegfeld girl in "Ziegfeld Girl!"—any more than Dorothy Lamour wants to always sing in a sarong or Lana Turner wanted to perpetuate herself as a sweater model or Ann Sheridan is satisfied to be forever Annie the Oomph Girl.

In "H. M. Pulham, Esq." Hedy DOES take her longest step upward from the nautilus-shell of sheer feminine glamour. She loosens up more than ever before and turns in a grand performance. Naturally, it is primarily Robert Young's picture, since the main character is a man, and it marks an important milestone in Young's achievement. But Hedy, too, as the career girl of post-World War I years, does a convincing job that keeps pace with this great story. And the more credit to her that it's a wholly different type of role from anything she has done yet. Movie-goers may expect to be a little startled—but not at all disappointed—with the sight of beautiful Hedy wearing, but charmingly, the clothes and coiffures of twenty-five years ago. Her role may not win her an Oscar. But it will undoubtedly go a long way toward establishing her as the outstanding actress she yearns to be.

—D. M.

1. A VITAL and timely story of war and its psychological after-effects is M-G-M's "H. M. Pulham, Esq." The chronicle of the life of Harry Pulham (Robert Young) begins in the trenches of World War I. Pulham (forefront, with mustache) wins a medal for his brave action under fire in No Man's Land

2. PULHAM returns with a restless spirit that rebels against the stuffy atmosphere of his family's fashionable life in Boston. He gets an advertising job in New York, meets Marvin Myles (Hedy Lamarr), copy-writer

3. THE ELDER Pulham (played by Charles Coburn, right) knows the heartbreak of discovering that his son has outgrown his plans for the young man. The homecoming son declines the luxurious office that awaits him in Boston

4. FIRST LOVE it is, and a fervent love of the restless post-war times. Pulham becomes more than ever a rebel against his social background in the excitement of his romance with Marvin, who represents a bracket lower in the social scale than his own. But his family keeps begging him to come home

5. PROUDLY Pulham takes Marvin to his family's home for a visit, introduces her to his friends, Kay Mottford and Joe Bingham (Ruth Hussey and Phil Brown). Marvin is repelled by their smugness

6. PULHAM'S father dies and he has to return to Boston. Marvin refuses to marry him, accept that kind of life. Above, right, he marries Kay Mottford, the family's choice, settles into a routine life

7. TWENTY years later Harry and Marvin meet and the old love flares again, but both realize their separate destinies. Harry goes back to his quietly contented life with his wife Kay (right)

Expert Teaches LARAINE DAY

EACH Christmas some two million puppy dogs are given away to children and adults. But that is only the start of such a gift. To enjoy a dog companion it must be trained, and the owner must learn to be a good master.

Laraine Day, long famous on the screen as Dr. Kildare's nurse, Mary Lamont, and now making "China Caravan" for M-G-M, is a dog-lover, and as such she thought something should be done this holiday season to insure a good beginning for gift puppies and their owners. To no less an authority than Carl Spitz, noted Hollywood dog-trainer for eighteen years, she went and explained her idea. The accompanying pictures demonstrate what Mr. Spitz and his Hollywood Dog Training School accomplish with a dog enrolled for its "grammar" and "high school" courses. However, Spitz calls it his "companionship training-course."

Hollywood dog-owners, such as Norma Shearer, Shirley Temple, Jane Withers, Lana Turner, Greer

Garson, Freddie Bartholomew and Jack Oakie—just to name a few of the celebrated patrons—swear by Carl Spitz and his methods.

But back to your gift dog. If Spitz had his way, he'd have you and your living-quarters checked first to see if you should own a dog, and, if so, the best kind for your personality, quarters and needs. He goes into that subject thoroughly in his very complete book, "Training Your Dog" (Marshall Jones Co., Boston, 1938).

How to Train YOUR DOG

Trainer Spitz' suggestions for keeping and caring for the new dog are significant. Keeping a dog on a cement floor will give it rheumatism. He recommends a doghouse and kennel in a convenient dry and shady place. Small dogs should have a "run yard," six by ten feet, surrounded by a five- or six-foot fence, with a twelve-inch board sunken at the base. Larger dogs need a six-by-twenty-foot enclosure. The dog should be taken out daily for two short walks or one long one.

Spend a little time with your dog in its kennel the first few days to make it acquainted with its water-bowl and house. Be sure you have complete equipment, consisting of a water-pan, food-pan, collar and license, leather leash, chain leash with swivel, and comb or pet brush.

Spitz does not believe it possible to "train" a small puppy; the best you can do is "guide" it for the first eight months. He emphasizes children are not good teachers; that children should approach a sleeping dog cautiously lest the dog's instinct may be to snap on being suddenly awakened.

Always correct puppies gently; praise much whenever they do the right thing.

There you have a few valuable tips for your puppy's "kindergarten" course. When it grows to the ripe age of eight months, start its "grammar school" training. Spend a half-hour daily at training—and Spitz promises next Christmas will be even merrier!
—E. P.

THE FILM STAR teaches the dog to sit by commanding, "Sit!" holding leash short and pressing on base of dog's spine, where the pressure on nerves causes the animal to sit down involuntarily

TEACHING a dog to carry any object other than bone is one of the most difficult jobs of a trainer. While pretty Laraine Day assists, Hollywood dog-trainer Carl Spitz carefully opens Big Paw's mouth, places a rolled paper between his teeth and commands, "Hold it." If the dog drops the object, he is then ordered to "Get it" and is made to do so until he learns to hold it

MOST DOGS will instinctively "speak" with sharp barks for food, so food is first used in association with command "Speak!" The raised finger, demonstrated by dog-trainer Spitz, is the signal used to coax movie dogs to speak

AN ADVANCED STEP is teaching the dog to jump. Part of the process is illustrated above, with Spitz giving commands and Miss Day helping along by coaxing Big Paw with the leash. Careful, patient teaching is required, but ultimately the dog should learn to leap over obstacles unleashed simply upon the command "Over!"

HERE Miss Day, who herself makes an appealing picture of grace in action, helps with the jumping-lesson by persuading Big Paw to take a hurdle with her

WATCH DOGS and police dogs especially must be taught not to eat without command food they find. A small, food-baited mouse-trap is useful in putting this lesson across

BIG PAW finally gets his diploma from the hands of winsome Laraine Day. The course normally takes four weeks. Incidentally, Big Paw was so smart that trainer Carl Spitz just recently turned him over to Uncle Sam's Army for defense work

"HELLZAPOPPIN" STARS ALWAYS LIFE OF THE PARTY

THEY kept the "Hellzapoppin" set closed at Universal most all the time—especially when its stars, Olsen and Johnson, were there. They, meaning the studio executives, knew what they were doing. You see, there's never a dull moment when O. & J. go to "work." The first day on the lot Mischa Auer on a siren-equipped bicycle rolled onto their sound-stage and announced, "As mayor of Universal City, I want to welcome you and be the first to extend you the bird." He thrust at them a giant stuffed goose.

That, folks, was only the beginning. When asked how they intended to work the audience-participation phases of their hit Broadway show in the picture, O. & J. told a friend of the new O. & J. "secret invention." Directed to look through the gadget—which resembled a stereopticon—the friend came out of it richer by a shower bath and two grease-paint black eyes!

That's when Universal decided to lock O. & J. in their stage. The legal department thought it might be easier than settling suits. So then the cast and technical crew were all O. & J. had to work on. A tiny chorine one day suddenly discovered herself to be hurtling through space—and landing smack dab in a six-foot apple pie. The boys had decided to reverse the pie-throwing gag, throw the girl instead!

But everyone said it was swell working with Olsen and Johnson. Never a dull moment. Right after they left Hollywood to open their new Broadway show, "Sons o' Fun"—also a hit—a sudden increase in the reservations at the mental and rest-cure sanatoriums of California was reported to the Board of Health. Peculiar, yes?—E. P.

KICK IN THE PANTS. There's nothing quite so funny, say Olsen and Johnson, Broadway kings of burlesque musical comedy who have just made their hit show, "Hellzapoppin," into a movie at Universal. In the best tradition, above, Olsen delivers the kick, with Johnson, as ever, on the receiving end

BATHING-BEAUTY GAG. Chic and Ole have their hands full of "responsibility" here. The "burden" is one of the bathing-beauties in "Hellzapoppin" water ballet

PIE IN THE PUSS. Ole (Olsen), right, and Chic (Johnson) put this high on their list of old gags still going strong—and they ought to know after twenty-five years of wacky, crazy, crackpot success

TALE FROM A HORSE'S TAIL. It doesn't make sense and it has absolutely nothing to do with Universal's "Hellzapoppin" script, but it's screwy. That's enough for O. & J.

LOOK AT THIS PICTURE and you'll understand why Universal decided to lock up Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson when they "worked." Visitors often mistook the sound-stage for a lunatic asylum SKY'S THE LIMIT, anything for a gag—that's what makes "Hellzapoppin" a movie hit and that's what makes Olsen and Johnson the life of the party wherever they show up!

CRITICS' REPORT

COMING ATTRACTION: In Columbia's "The Lady Is Willing," Marlene Dietrich (above) plays the part of a glamorous Broadway actress who finds a baby on a doorstep and runs away with it. Then she refuses to give up the child, and complications begin. But all ends well

REVIEW

"H. M. Pulham, Esq."

Cast: Robert Young, Hedy Lamarr, Ruth Hussey, Charles Coburn, Van Heflin and Bonita Granville. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production; directed by King Vidor. Screen play by Elizabeth Hill and King Vidor from the novel by John P. Marquand.

Type of Picture: This is the story of Harry Pulham's life and tells how fate, first in the form of World War I and next through his father's death, changed and recovered his destiny.

This Is the Story: Harry Pulham (Robert Young), scion of ultra-conservative Back Bay Boston stock, is raised and educated clear through Harvard according to the rote. Then the World War jerks him out of the rut, plunges him into heroism and discharges him in New York City in a new kind of world—progressive, wild and merry. Harry becomes an advertising-copy writer through his friend Bill King (Van Heflin) and meets his first enamorata—Marvin Myles (Hedy Lamarr), also employed by the agency. She falls deeply in love with the unusual, cut-and-dried Pulham; he is just as deeply infatuated with the modern, free-thinking, business female Marvin, whose code is as far removed from his as the two poles. Marvin wants him to give up Boston, stay in New York with her; Harry's father wishes him to return to Boston and take over the business. When Pulham, Sr., dies, the die is cast. Harry stays in Boston; Marvin loses him to Kay Motford (Ruth Hussey). Years later, Marvin meets Harry once more. They try to blow fire into the deadened embers of their romance, but it is no go. And the unhappy Pulham finds new happiness in his wife. (For a photo-story on "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," see pages 2-3.)

Verdict: This is a "One Man's Family" of the screen. It is superbly enacted by all; it is told in an unusual and most fascinating flash-back style. Strictly speaking, its implications are adult, yet there is nothing to offend a youngster.

GENERAL

War Hits "Oscar" Hijinks

Hollywood's toniest social function, the formal banquet of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, is a war casualty this year. "Oscars" and awards will still be given, but in some more informal way, to be announced by the board of governors sometime before the original date (February 26) set for the affair.

Film to Glorify DeMille

Cecil B. DeMille, who put the capital C in Colossal a la Hollywood, who invented the glamour girl and glorified the great American bathtub, will himself be glorified in a two-reeler to be made for Paramount's thirtieth anniversary celebration. Following DeMille's career from the day in 1912 when he, with Jesse Lasky and Sam Goldwyn, organized Lasky Feature Play Company, the short will present a cavalcade of DeMille productions.

Pat Morison Shows $623,000 Pagoda

Between scenes of her currently making picture, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," Patricia Morison is arranging guest lists for a series of receptions at which Hollywood folk will view a solid silver scale-model Chinese pagoda smuggled out of China past Jap customs guards. Insured for $623,000, the gleaming pagoda was shipped in small crates, weighs 1,300 pounds when assembled and is fifteen feet high. The pagoda will be used for benefits throughout the U. S.

Bitsy Ends Career

The Bud Abbotts are mourning the loss of their fox terrier, Bitsy, a male canine that died of old age. Bitsy was a virtual barometer of the Abbott and Costello team's fortunes. The name was Mrs. Betty Abbott's concoction. In burlesque at the time, the boys seemed to be getting nothing but small roles and Mrs. Abbott, casting about for a theatrical name for the dog, thought up "Bitsy" in honor of Bud and Lou's steady diet of bit parts. Bitsy was buried last week at the Los Angeles Pet Cemetery—and Bud and Lou have gone from bits to stardom!

Kiss Lays Up Eddie

Jane Wyman kissed Eddie Robinson so violently in their first "Larceny, Inc." scene that "Little Caesar" came up with a chipped tooth, had to take time out for a session with the dentist. It wasn't supposed to be a hot kiss or a long one (Jane holds the long-kiss record, though), but it was supposed to be enthusiastic. Jane did her best.

THE WAR

Capra, Huston to Army

Two top-ranking Hollywood directors are leaving immediately for the U. S. Army. With "Arsenic and Old Lace" almost finished, Frank Capra of "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" fame will join the U. S. Army Signal Corps with a major's commission. John Huston, who received his military training as a captain of cavalry in the Mexican army, will also serve with the Signal Corps, ranking as captain. Huston is just now completing "In This Our Life" for Warners.

Edward Stevenson, head designer for RKO, has fashioned a tricky blackout costume for Ginny Simms. It is composed of a black wool dress, high-

MICKEY ROONEY'S VERSION OF LOU COSTELLO: Because Lou Costello's case of laryngitis didn't clear up in time for the Dec. 14 McCarthy show, Bud Abbott finds himself brow-beating Mickey Rooney instead of Lou. At noon broadcast day, Costello's physician vetoed his appearance. An hour before broadcast, Mickey, caught on golf course, accepted hurry-up call, rushed to studio

Plan Wake Island Epic

"Wake Island," heroic saga of the defense of America's tiny Pacific outpost by a microscopic force of Marines against Jap naval and air forces, will be filmed by Paramount. To make it, producer Buddy DeSylva is casting Fred MacMurray, William Holden, Brian Donlevy, Macdonald Carey, Robert Preston, Lynne Overman and James Brown.

Bing's Gift Gets Blitzkrieg

Recently Bing Crosby heard an amazing story of what happened to the phonograph and records he presented two years ago to officers and crew of the British warship Orion. Two members of the Orion's crew visited Bing on the set of "Holiday Inn," which he is making for Paramount, told him that his phonograph had been destroyed when the ship saw action in the battle of Crete. Before the Orion sails again from Mare Island, where she is currently being repaired, there'll be another phonograph and more Crosby records. The donor: Bing!

LIFE STATISTICS

Maureen O'Hara Engaged?

Reliable sources were making predictions that Maureen O'Hara and Will Price would announce their engagement while they visited Will's parents at Magnolia, Miss., during the holidays. Maureen's parents, living in Ireland, had previously given her permission to announce the engagement.

Stork News

The Robert Morleys—Morley is in London starring in "The Man Who Came to Dinner"—have just been visited by Sir Stork . . . Lynn Roberts, who was secretly married to Bill Engelbert last year, will have her baby in May.

CONTRACTS

Christmas Cheer

Christmas presents for Susan Hayward and Dona Drake were new Paramount contracts. Miss Hayward shared feminine acting honors with Paulette Goddard in "Reap the Wild Wind," currently is making "Out of the Frying Pan," from the Broadway comedy. Miss Drake, former girl bandleader, did the Carol Bruce singing stint in "Louisiana Purchase."

ASSIGNMENTS

Sturges Signs Mary Astor

Fresh from juicy roles in "The Maltese Falcon" and "The Great Lie," Mary Astor now has been cast as the princess in "The Palm Beach Story," Preston Sturges' new Paramount comedy. Miss Astor will turn blonde for the picture in order to contrast with Miss Colbert, who stars.

Zorina, Cooper for "FWBT"?

Up against deadline in selecting the cast for Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls," Sam Wood is reported to have decided—almost—on Zorina to play the heroine, Maria, and Gary Cooper to play Robert Jordan. Wood will direct the Lou Gehrig picture for Sam Goldwyn before starting on "For Whom the Bell Tolls" at Paramount, opening up the possibility that Gary Cooper will star in both pictures.

CUTTING-ROOM CLIPS

Columbia's Ed Buchanan bagged two geese during a publicity picture-taking jaunt, and was he surprised! . . . Cary Grant handed out gift certificates to the whole cast and crew of "Arsenic and Old Lace." Certificates were for a turkey apiece—a hundred in all for Christmas dinners.

RADIO BLACKOUT

WHAT IT MEANS

BY

MAJOR CURTIS MITCHELL
U. S. ARMY

America has experienced its first radio blackout. Hurriedly and frantically, many stations were shut down, and there was much excitement, some confusion on the part of many listeners. Again MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE steps to the fore and keeps pace with the times in bringing fact to its readers by publishing this amazing article by Major Curtis Mitchell, former MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE editor now serving with the U. S. Army. In this story, "Radio Blackout—What It Means," Major Mitchell gives listeners first-hand information on what to do and what to expect when a radio blackout comes.

—The Editors.

FINALLY, the blackout has come to American radio.

It came first at 6:13 p.m. on December 8, 1941, not long after Jap bombers had attacked Pearl Harbor and taught Americans that "it can happen here."

Today the radio blackout is a weapon of war. It is a weapon of deception. We must learn to use it quickly and expertly and the public must understand just what it means if the enemy is to be defeated. For these are days in which soldiers and civilians are both matched against the wits and striking power of an enemy. The fighting front reaches now from Manila to the chairside of every radio listener.

Why must radio stations stop broadcasting in times of danger? Any owner of a portable radio knows the answer. When a battery set with a self-contained aerial or wave magnet is playing, it may be turned about in the hand, north or south or east or west, in order to get the loudest possible signal. When the signal is loudest, the face or the back of the set is at right angles to the direction of the radio station. Thus, every portable radio set is a radio direction-finder. Airplanes, equipped with the most scientific military direction-finders, tune in a broadcasting station and ride the beam straight to the transmitter. Since all transmitters are located only a few miles from the cities they serve, the broadcast beam they put out paints a perfect highway across the heavens.

So stations must go off the air, and in the shortest time possible. Yet, so valuable is radio to civilian authorities, all needed broadcasting must be continued. News, instructions, even entertainment and music have a place in national defense.

A recent meeting in Washington between representatives of the War Department, the telephone services, the Air Force Interceptor Commands and the Federal Communications Commission resulted in a plan of action which has already been secretly transmitted to each station in the United States. Its details are military information and not publishable, but the experimental test on which the new plan was based is known.

That test was made during the military maneuvers on the eastern seacoast early in October. Then a huge net of air-raid watchers was flung along the Atlantic. Army bombers simulated a flight of attacking enemy planes. Watchers discovered them high in the sky approaching a military objective. That started the plan's operation.

First, a phone call went to what was called a filter center, which is simply a switchboard into which all news is brought and sorted. The filter center, having received information that planes are approaching, relayed the news to the military force which was charged with defense. In this case it was the Interceptor Command of the air forces of the United States Army.

At that moment Uncle Sam and his fighting men took charge. Three things happened immediately. First, radio stations were ordered off the air. Second, U. S. planes roared off runways and climbed to find and engage the enemy. Third, all the various forces of the Office of Civilian Defense—fire squads, nurses, demolition crews, blackout wardens—were called to their posts.

In October, with no enemies in the world, our defense maneuvers were sketchy and inconclusive. Since December 7 a lot of things are different, but it is likely that much the same plan is being used.

Of all that precedes a blackout, however, the listener need not be aware. He knows only that his radio no longer makes music or delivers the news.

What is he to do next?
Leave the radio on, and tuned to the same station. It may use up several hours of electricity but it is desirable that it be kept going, ready to receive signals when the raid is over.

WHEN the raid is over, don't expect news of what has happened or how much damage has been done. The enemy wants to know, too. How close did he come to his targets? Did he destroy his objectives? We must not tell him. Radio will not tell him!

Instead of news, information and instructions will probably be the main item of program content. The Office of Civilian Defense takes charge of a community, along with the local police officers and fire department, the moment the first bomb drops. Now fires started by incendiaries may be burning and additional squads of volunteer fire-fighters may be needed. The radio will summon them.

Those first radio blackouts on the West Coast were hurried and frantic affairs. A line north and south through a certain Idaho city had been designated as the blackout-zone limit. West of the line, all radio stations were ordered off the air. East of the line, radio stations were to broadcast their programs as usual.

One result was that a weak one-bulb station just inside the blackout zone went off dutifully and canceled all its programs. But it wasn't at all happy about it, because its rival, whose high-powered transmitter was just in the clear beyond the zone, continued to pump messages into the blue. Obviously, putting a weak station off the air and leaving a near-by powerful one in operation is a situation with which the Defense Communications Board will soon deal.

Another amusing episode occurred when a station manager in the northwest went off the air at the very first order. He remained quiet all that day and all the next. His listeners wondered at his caution, and he wondered at the Government's continued blackout. Finally the station manager became impatient and called headquarters to ask when it would be safe to go back on the air. The Government was forced to admit that he could have been broadcasting for the last forty-eight hours; they had simply forgotten all about him.

THIS blackout menace presents other problems. Suppose Hollywood and Los Angeles are ordered off the air while the Jack Benny program is being produced in Hollywood. Should the studio shut up and everyone run for shelters? The Benny program is sent along telephone wires to more than a hundred radio stations all over America. If the show goes on in Hollywood it will reach all that part of America that is not affected by the radio blackout. If it stops, many Americans will be alarmed and ugly rumors will spread. No one has settled yet just what should be done, but we may possibly borrow the technique of the British, in which musicians and actors play in the faint, blue glare of blackout torches and engineers monitor their instruments with tiny hand flashlights.

The radio blackout is old in Europe. England's families have learned to take it calmly. To us, as yet, the voice of warning is novel and almost unknown.

Its message, in cold type, is not frightening. Read it:

"At this time, ladies and gentlemen, radio station WWZZ is temporarily leaving the air in conformity with the National Defense Program. Keep your radio on so that upon resumption of our service we may bring you the latest information."

In sound, breaking into a symphony or a skit, it need not be much more alarming, for you may be certain that even as its sound dies in your loud-speaker another sound fills the sky in the distance. It will be the sound of our own Interceptor Command planes, manned by the best pilots in the world, roaring headlong into dark skies to find the enemy and defeat him.

NEWS AND PROGRAM LISTINGS

BBC's Air-Raid-Precaution Programs to U. S. Stations

AIR-RAID-PRECAUTION programs based on war-time experience in English communities, educational for any civilian population which may face danger from enemy bombing, are being made available to radio stations throughout America for rebroadcast purposes by the BBC in London.

Two broadcasts already made were titled "When Air Raids Came to London" and "Rules for the Blackout." Daily hints on air-raid behavior are being included in "Radio Newsreel," one of the featured half-hour programs broadcast from Britain every evening at 10:30 p.m. EST over GSC (9.58) and GSL (6.11), and listeners throughout America are being invited to send in their questions to BBC, 620 Fifth Ave., New York, or to CBC, Toronto, Canada, on the subject of shelters, first aid, warning systems and other civilian-defense matters. These answers will be broadcast each Sunday at 4:30 p.m. EST over London stations GSC (9.58) and GRH (9.83) in the BBC program, "Answering You."

Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., wife of the U. S. Ambassador to the exiled governments in London, is arranging to bring to the London microphone each week, beginning next Monday, January 5, at 10:45 a.m. EST over GSF (15.14) and GSV (17.81), speakers who will describe the part women are playing in civil defense, production and other branches of Britain's war effort. The programs are scheduled to reach American women at work in their homes.

All-Out War for U. S. Short Wave

United States International broadcasters are feeling acutely the effects of the war as they gear for all-out efforts in this crisis. Twenty-four-hour schedules are being maintained by most of the stations, with news bulletins in various foreign languages filling the hours between 1:00 and 6:00 a.m. EST.

Most of WRUL's news staff was taking a much-needed week-end rest and heard of the first Japanese attacks over their own home radios. Within an hour most of the news and announcing staff had gathered in the studio headquarters and was getting down to work on the most important job that radio has ever been called upon to do. Masses of news reports were streaming into the news room from the news services and more material was coming in from the office of the Coordinator of Information. For a while the staff was almost snowed under, but by careful sifting and editing, order was brought out of the first chaos. WRUL early in the war instituted a special transmission beamed to the Far East, with news, comment, background and music. WRUL has openly offered its services to the President and to the nation for any service that it can perform to aid in the victorious prosecution of the war.

Guard International Transmitters

Grim-looking guards patrol the areas surrounding international transmitters. Sabotage will not be easy. Over at CBS in New York the twenty-three-story building that houses its studios and offices are on a full war-time basis with air-raid wardens, with alternates and assistants appointed for each of the twenty-three floors. Each employe has been instructed in procedure during air-raid alarms.

KGEI Reports to Orient

KGEI, out in San Francisco, most vitally important of our international outlets at this time because of its transmissions to the Far East and Australasia, has added several news bulletins in additional oriental languages, including Mandarin and Cantonese; is serving as our first line of defense in keeping our citizens in Hawaii, the Philippines and Alaska, as well as in more remote points, informed as to latest developments in the Pacific war.

Reception Improving on 41-Meter Band

A couple of years ago a new band, the 41-meter band, including frequencies from 7.2 to 7.3 megs, was opened for international broadcast use. As these frequencies were also in use by phone and c.w. amateurs, satisfactory broadcast reception was out of the question. With the abrupt discontinuance of United States amateur activities as well as ham operations in other American countries, this band suddenly sprang into prominence.

RECOGNIZING the vastly increased importance of short wave to listeners now that the U. S. is fighting a total war, Movie-Radio Guide last week inaugurated a restyled, enlarged and improved short-wave department. Improvements to make short-wave listening easier, more profitable include:

1. Schedule of all war news broadcasts in English.
2. Guide to all transmissions beamed on North America.
3. More general short-wave program listings.
4. More tips for short-wave tuners-in.
5. More background color and comment.

Don't Waste Postage on Reports to Axis Stations!

With most of the interference now absent, reception ranging from fair to excellent is being afforded by the stations broadcasting on this band. DXJ (7.24), Berlin, for example, is being heard daily from 4:50 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. EST with louder signals than any of the seven other Berlin outlets for the North American service. Here are the outstanding stations in operation on the 41-meter band with the approximate hours of broadcasting for each (EST):

- GRJ (7.32) London, England—2:15 to 3:45 p.m. and near 11:00 p.m.
- DXM (7.27) Berlin, Germany—1:30 to 1:45 p.m., 2:30 to 2:45 a.m.
- VLQ9 (7.25) Sydney, Australia—3:25 to 4:25 a.m., 7:25 to 8:10 a.m. to eastern North America.
- JWV (7.257) Tokyo, Japan—4:00 to 5:30 p.m.
- ZHP3 (7.25) Singapore, Straits Settlements—6:00 to 10:15 a.m.
- DXJ (7.24) Berlin, Germany—11:30 to 11:45 a.m., 12:30 to 12:45 p.m., 1:30 to 1:45 p.m., 2:30 to 2:45 p.m., 4:50 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. to North America.
- GSW (7.23) London, England—6:00 to 10:30 a.m., 10:55 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., 10:55 p.m. to 3:30 a.m.
- 2RO11 (7.22) Rome, Italy—11:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. (approximately).
- YDX (7.22) Medan, Sumatra—6:00 to 11:30 a.m., 10:30 p.m. to 2:00 a.m.

London Adds New Frequencies

London radio, which already has more frequencies assigned to its use than any short-wave station in the world, has recently added ten additional. (Several of these have already been put into operation.) The list follows: GRD (15.45), GRE (15.375), GRF (12.095), GRG (11.68), GRH (9.825), GRI (9.415), GRJ (7.32), GRK (7.185), GRM (7.125), GRN (6.195), GRO (6.180), GSU (7.26).

For Your Notebook

On December 12 the Post Office Department suspended mail service from the United States to Germany, Italy and all lands under their control. So save your postage in sending radio reports to any countries in Europe with the exception of Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Turkey, and Russia . . . According to Stephen Mann of Dartmouth, a verification from PZX (11.516), 750 watts, Gouvernements Radio Dienst, Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana (site of new U. S. Army base), states that the station broadcasts Mondays and Thursdays from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and on Saturdays from 5:40 to 6:40 p.m. EST.

Pacific War Arena

According to August Balbi of Los Angeles, two new Tokyo frequencies are currently in use: 9.605 megs daily to 10:00 a.m., and 6.02 megs irregularly to 10:00 a.m. EST . . . KZRF (6.14), Manila, Philippines, is being heard with much stronger signals now on the West Coast daily to 10:30 a.m. EST.

Lionel Barrymore will star in Maxwell Anderson's "Valley Forge" on "Cavalcade of America" (NBC)... "Vic and Sade" is now to be heard on CBS Monday through Friday as well as in its customary NBC spot... "Right to Happiness" has moved from CBS to NBC.

TUESDAY: Xavier Cugat's program moves into the NBC spot previously occupied by "Treasury Hour," which leaves the air, temporarily at least... "What's My Name?" returns to the air (MBS).

MUSIC NOTES: This Saturday the Metropolitan Opera presents a romantic opera by Gaetano Donizetti called "L'Elisir d'Amore" or "The Love Spell" as it was called when it was first produced in Milan on May 12, 1832. In the year 1839 it was presented at Drury Lane.

The words were written by Romani and it is the story of a country girl, Adina, who is loved by two men, one a farmer, Nemorino, whose rich uncle is about to die, the other a sergeant, whose troops are stationed in a neighboring village. Adina won't confess to either of these suitors which will be the lucky fellow.

One day Doctor Dulcamara, a traveling quack, comes to the village with many elixirs of love for sale. The doctor claims these potions will do wonders for anyone who wants to succeed in romance. Of course these elixirs have no such powers. Nemorino hears about the doctor and buys one of the bottles, which is nothing more than some wine. To thoroughly test its power, Nemorino drinks the entire bottle and becomes tipsy, and accosts Adina in such a disrespectful manner that she becomes enraged and decides to give her hand to the sergeant.

Second act opens with assembling of the villagers to witness the signing of the marriage contract. While the sergeant, Adina and the notary are making ready to place their signatures on the paper, Nemorino enters in despair and once again comes in contact with Dulcamara and implores him to give him some charm that will make Adina love him at once. Having no money the quack doctor refuses to be of any help, plunging Nemorino into greater despair. The sergeant gets mean to Adina and she declines to sign the marriage contract until later that evening.

The sergeant discovers that Nemorino needs money and urges him to enlist with his troops, giving him a bonus of twenty crowns. With this money he gets the doctor to give him another bottle of the elixir of love which is more powerful than the first. The girls of the village hear of the death of Nemorino's uncle, although Nemorino himself has not heard of it, and they crowd about him trying to attract his attention with their charms. He attributes his sudden popularity to the effects of the love liquid. Dulcamara, the doctor, acquaints Adina with some of his elixir and during the interview informs her of Nemorino's great love for her. Struck by Nemorino's great devotion, Adina announces her change of mind and gives him her hand in marriage.

Norman Corwin

WE HOLD THESE TRUTHS: TO MANY Americans the big "Bill of Rights" program broadcast over the Nation's networks Monday, Dec. 15, was an utterly unforgettable event. To the many personalities who joined their talents to produce the program it was likewise a memorable privilege. Coming as it did at a time when it could not have meant more to the nation, the broadcast brought America figuratively to its feet.

TODAY IN RADIO

Tea scarcity cancels Helen Hayes show; Bill of Rights show has record audience

WAR SIDELIGHTS

Dramatic Casualty

NEW YORK.—"Helen Hayes Theater," one of radio's most popular dramatic programs, has been discontinued because of an expected shortage of tea, the sponsor's product.

Mr. Morgenthau Liked It

HOLLYWOOD.—Immediately after the President finished his war address to the public December 9, announcer Truman Bradley came on the air to introduce the Red Skelton show and delivered a warm appeal to the listening audience in the interests of the national cause. An official of the United States Treasury later called the sponsor to compliment the talk and to say that Secretary Morgenthau himself had been listening. The stirring appeal was written by Tom Wallace, who takes the part of Uncle Walter on the "Dog House" show, sponsored by the same firm that pays for the Skelton program.

The Japs Didn't Need It

NEW YORK.—Because of the war, radio station WHN decided to expand its news facilities. The Associated Press, however, informed the station that tickers were scarce and it might take some time to locate one. After several days the press service called to tell the station officials a ticker had been found. They had just removed it from the Japanese embassy!

Ace Bond Salesman

NEW YORK.—As the Voice of the Treasury, Larry Elliott delivers personal messages from Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau on the following programs: "Telephone Hour," "Hobby Lobby," "Metropolitan Auditions of the Air" and "Manhattan Merry-Go-Round." He is also announcer of the official Treasury Department programs, "America Preferred," "For America We Sing" and "Treasury Hour."

Blackout Rehearsals

HOLLYWOOD.—West Coast blackouts have upset radio rehearsal-schedules for Hollywood's radio shows. "Screen Guild Theater" and "Silver Theater" are examples. Most film stars work at film studios in the daytime and confine radio rehearsals to the evening hours. But not when blackouts threaten, for automobile traffic is at a standstill, and stars could be marooned at radio studios all night. Film studios are co-operating, however, and "Screen Guild Theater" and "Silver Theater" rehearsals are now held in the daytime, on Friday morning and Saturday afternoon.

Sailor Nagel

HOLLYWOOD.—Most listeners to the CBS "Silver Theater" program know director Conrad Nagel as a former matinee idol of the screen. But not many know he served as a "gob" in the first World War. He enlisted in the Navy after the United States entered that conflict and he saw active duty as a sailor on the U. S. S. Seattle. Later he was assigned to the admiral's staff. Nagel still has his leading-man figure, for he put on his old uniform for a special occasion recently and it fitted him perfectly.

To the Marines

HOLLYWOOD.—Those valiant Marines

who have been holding America's Wake Island against furious Japanese assaults have long been fans of Tom Hanlon's "Midnight Merry-Go-Round." Recently Hanlon received a letter, dated before the war began, requesting their favorite song. The song was featured on the broadcast three days after war was declared, with a special tribute to the gallant little garrison. The song was "Tell It to the Marines."

OFFSTAGE

Bud's Bad Bicycle

CHICAGO.—Young Bud Barton has all sorts of adventures with his automobile in the serial "The Bartons." But Dick Holland, who plays the title role in the sketch, had a recent traffic adventure of his own which didn't involve an automobile. He absently-mindedly ran a red light while riding home on his bicycle in Evanston, Ill., noted for its strict traffic regulations. Dick got a ticket and appeared in court, where he watched an instructive motion picture and got a mild lecture and a set of rules for bicyclists.

A Fight Announcer Works

NEW YORK.—When Joe Louis and Buddy Baer wind up their heavy-weight fight the night of January 9, they won't be the only exhausted persons in or around the ring. Take it from MBS fight announcer Don Dunphy, who has been describing main bouts for Coast-to-Coast listeners the past few months—the announcer takes some punishment, too. For a month before a fight event he is working. There are visits for background material to training-camps, offices of boxing-officials, the rendezvous of sports writers. There are late hours of absorbing background information. There are phone calls and interviews and technical arrangements, all done in addition to other regular broadcasts daily. Then there's the broadcast itself, which must be colorful, accurate and rapid-fire. Yes, indeed, the fight announcer works!

A Line for a Line

HOLLYWOOD.—When the first rehearsal of a recent Burns and Allen program was concluded, Gracie Allen said, "I'm going to make one addition to the script—and it's a 'must.' We mentioned our boy Ronnie in last week's show, and there's been no living with his sister, Sandra, since then. I'm going to write Sandra into the script right now." If you heard the broadcast, you may remember that the absent-minded neighbor, Ethel Wilcox, addressed Gracie as "Sandra." All is quiet in the Burns household.

Abbott-Costello Record

HOLLYWOOD.—Those who have heard the master record of Abbott and Costello's new recording, "Hey, Abbott! Hey, Costello!" are enthusiastic about the novel platter. It is a condensed collection of the team's argumentative routines delivered against the background of a catchy tune, with interpolation by a quartet urging listeners to "Laugh, laugh, laugh! There's lots to be thankful for."

PROGRAMS

Biggest Radio Show

NEW YORK.—The Bill of Rights program heard December 15 on all major networks—accounted for the largest listening audience ever to hear a program using the regular entertainment-technique of radio. According to survey, 63.3 percent of the radio-set owners were listening to the show.

Kate Turns to News

NEW YORK.—Kate Smith's daytime broadcasts are being reshaped to suit the war conditions. Hereafter most of the fifteen-minute period will be devoted to news delivered by Ted Collins, with Kate emphasizing morale-building items about Red Cross, home defense, and so on.

Welles to Repeat

HOLLYWOOD.—The tremendous response to Orson Welles' presentation of "Between Americans" on the CBS "Screen Guild Theater" December 7, the day of Japan's treacherous attack on Hawaii, has prompted the sponsor of the series to arrange a repeat performance for some Sunday this month.

Speaks Our Language!

HOLLYWOOD.—Victor Borge, Danish comedian who reportedly learned to speak American by sitting in double-feature movie houses by the hour, made his American radio debut with Bing Crosby recently and made such a hit that he has been signed as a regular feature of "Kraft Music Hall."

Grandpappy's Library

HOLLYWOOD.—"Lum and Abner" have a new running gag that seems to be on its way to widespread usage among listeners. Already schoolkids are tossing it at each other when they want to clinch an argument. The catch-phrase is "Accordin' to the Almanac," and all those items that Grandpappy Spears quotes are from a 1936 World Almanac.

Meet Your News Commentator: UPTON CLOSE

"THE break with Japan must and will come," said Upton Close, NBC's Far East consultant and commentator. And come it did. Several days before Pearl Harbor, Upton Close was preparing to Clipper to points east to be "up close" to the war he knew would break. ("Up close" is the code identification phrase from which his name derives, his birth name being Josef Washington Hill.) But now Upton Close is doing a job here at home. After twenty years of intimate contact with the Orient, he speaks authoritatively on a subject Americans suddenly have become vitally concerned about. The World War years found him in China serving as U. S. intelligence officer, later as expert observer for U. S. newspapers and magazines. He is a scholar, author of ten books, former professor of Asiatic culture at the University of Washington. In these pictures Upton Close is seen at his orientalish home in Valhalla, N. Y. Soon he may be in the middle of the Far East holocaust—and there he will serve America best.

—J. C.

COMFORTABLY CLUTTERED with books and curios of every description, Upton Close's study tells the story of his twenty years in the Orient. Typical Close gadget is the slot in desk for innumerable pipes

SAMPLING MOTHER-IN-LAW'S delicious preserves in the fruit-cellar is part of the fun of coming home after assignments abroad. Fun also for this commentator are sports like pitching horseshoes—at which he excels—salt-water swimming, golf

CLOSE CONFIDES in his wife (r.), who helps him with scripts whenever he is at home. Despite Close's love for oriental garb and the Chinese color about the house, they live simply, like average Americans

THIS IS FLOSSIE, the cow about which Close wrote so entertainingly in "Reader's Digest." "Milking," he announces, "is the most conducive to optimism in this disturbed world of any relaxation I know of." Not overoptimistic is Upton Close's interpretation of America's current position in the Far East

WITH SHAGGY, his half-huskie dog, Close cavorts on the grounds of his Valhalla, New York, home, wearing faded, work-worn overalls. Picturesque Valhalla is a place to come back to CLOSE IS an accomplished pianist, likes slow, pensive music in the Chinese style. Everywhere about the house there are reminders of this commentator's dominating goal in life—understanding the Orient

Photographs by Gus Gale

LUCKY Al Pearce is currently in his thirteenth year of broadcasting. A San Francisco boy who stepped from selling real estate to selling radio entertainment, without benefit of vaudeville or stage training, Pearce has kept Coast-to-Coast radio audiences agog for seven years. He runs a radio circus which has not been duplicated on any other show. He specializes in freak humor. The "Human Chatterbox" (Arlene Harris), the "Laughing Lady" (Kitty O'Neill), Tizzie Lish, Mr. Kitzel, Eb and Zeb are a few of the attractions he has exhibited with all the cunning of a crack circus impresario. To balance them, Pearce has always presented the best in middle-of-the-road music by top-notch orchestra-leaders, vocalists and musicians.

This year the "Gang" includes Margaret Lenhart, the "Cinderella Girl" vocalist, Artie "Kitzel" Auerbach, Andy "Gravel Voice" Devine, Sam "Schlepperman" Hearn, deadpan actor Ray Erlenborn, maestro Lou Bring and Mel Blanc, imitator of animals, stutterer and screamer extraordinary.

Although Pearce has introduced a memorable menagerie of zany characters on the air, the most famous certainly is the one he plays himself—Elmer Blurt. Elmer's "I hope, I hope, I hope" became a national fad several years ago. Now the calfish gag-line—together with salesman Elmer's hesitant knock and his peanut hat—is a radio trade-mark.

Pearce's own adventures as a milkman, and later as a salesman of insurance, roofing, diamonds and real estate, have furnished a wealth of ammunition for the Elmer Blurt character in the past. Not because he's running out of material but to give listeners a chance to be in on the fun, Al is offering a hundred dollars in cash this season to the person who contributes the best "Elmer Blurt" sales experience each week. The prize-winning entry is dramatized on the show.

If you're intending to catch "Al Pearce and His Gang" this week, look for them on a new network, at a new time on a new day, because this week Pearce goes on NBC Thursday night and the broadcast times are as follows: 7:30 p.m. EST, 9:00 p.m. CST, 8:00 p.m. MST, 7:00 p.m. PST. Meanwhile, look over Mr. Pearce's "Gang" on these pages.

—J. C.

36 "SPOSE YOU'RE ALL smoking Camel cigarettes, I hope, I hope, I hope"—here's low-pressure salesman Elmer Blurt, who at the same time actually is super-cigarette-salesman Al Pearce

Next Week:

"The Great Gildersleeve"

NEWEST MEMBER of the Pearce show is Margaret Lenhart, Seattle's "Cinderella Girl." She won Pearce audition last summer in Seattle, was so popular with listeners when she appeared for the first time October 17 that Pearce signed her

ANDY DEVINE'S whiskers could stand a trimming—or at least a combing—thinks Artie Auerbach, who is Al's famed "Mr. Kitzel." Making "North of the Klondike" at Universal Studios at the time, Andy was hardly to blame. He couldn't shave off the crop just for broadcasts, so he put in his appearance for a few weeks minus tonsorial treatment

ADDING TO THE VARIETY of talent on this most varied of variety shows is the unusual combine of pianist Hal Borne and harpist Gail Laughton, seen below. At left is announcer Wendell Niles—brother of announcer Ken Niles. "Well," says Wen, "the show's over, everybody's going home, so may as well throw away this week's script!"

Photographs by Gene Lester

LOVABLE AS PORKY PIG and the Wild Hare in Leon Schlessinger's movie cartoons, Mel Blanc is just as tricky on the Pearce program. Mel plays everything from birds to stuttering children, gives weird screams, imitates all manner of animals, does a variety of other characters as a member of the "Gang"

LOU BRING (right) is the peppy maestro of this show, stepped up from arranging and the piano bench to take over Carl Hoff's spot when the veteran Pearce bandman left to take over new work. The theme composition which is played at beginning of broadcast was composed by the bright young Mr. Bring

FEMININE FORUM
By ALBERTA NORTH
Beauty Marches On!

IT REALLY is amazing the way American cosmetics manufacturers go right on producing new products—no matter if their lipstick factories are converted into bullet-making plants, no matter what sacrifices are to be made. American women want their cosmetics even if they have to do without other things, and they will continue to get them.

There's something quietly satisfying in the regular appearance of new products on beauty counters. There's something almost defiant about the uninterrupted procession of delightful new perfumes and lotions—most of them exceptionally good and reasonably priced. One of the most exquisite of the new perfume lines is Dorothy Gray's "Lady in the Dark," which is said to have been aged for many months, the secret of successful French perfumes, before being bottled. Another fairly new line of distinctive perfumes is Ronni, available in ten different fragrances.

One of the really noteworthy items of the New Year and a product that is destined to go places is the cream polish remover "Mov," which comes in a tube, and you squeeze it on your nails like toothpaste. If you've been sometimes nauseated by the fumes of some liquid polish removers and postponed the removal of chipped polish from your nails for that reason plus the harsh effect of such removers on your cuticles, you will be delighted with Mov. It smells good, takes old polish off in a twinkling and softens your cuticles to boot.

Hand lotions have been having a field day. One of the finest is Bristol-Myers' Toushay lotion for general body use, as most of the new hand lotions are. Besides being soothing and making your skin feel luxurious, it has a delightful fragrance and peach color.

Hair is getting special attention these days, too. We haven't the time we used to have to fuss with things, even though we insist upon looking as well as we can. The new short hair-do's which are to be seen everywhere is the answer to the conflict. Many new hair rinses have also appeared. Interesting among these are the new Clairol rinses in varying topaz shades, which add highlights to your own hair coloring. Although Tress-Glo, that healthy herb hair rinse, is not exactly new, it merits attention here because it belongs in the new drive for naturalness.

Among the many deodorants which have made their debut recently, Fresh No. 1 stands out. It has a companion called Fresh No. 2 which is a cream non-perspirant. Both these products are easy to use, non-greasy and do their respective tasks.

Glama-Pak, which Miss Mason is applying in the picture, offers a fine beauty treatment for the woman who can't afford to go to a salon every time she has an important date and wants to look her very best. This pack contains egg, milk and oatmeal, time-tried ingredients which are in an easy-to-use form here. You simply mix a little warm water with your Glama-Pak, spread it evenly on your face, and in twelve minutes remove it with warm water—then splash on cold.

The little gadget that Miss Mason wears on the shoulder of her youthful and flattering Prima Donna Dress, manufactured by the Donovan Company of Dallas, Texas, is a little red felt dragon with big pop-eyes that looks as if it might have been originated in the Disney studios. It does come from Hollywood, being one of the many charming new creations, modeled from all sorts of materials—straw to nuts—of Jean Le Seyeux of Hollywood. Having found popularity among screen stars, the new novelty jewelry line is now on display in major department stores throughout the country.

DANCING PARTNERS: Helen Forrest, who sings for Harry James, and bandman Vaughn Monroe dance to James' music

BANDSTAND NOTES

By Maurice Granger

ONE of the things a country at war needs is a fierce fighting spirit. Without that will to win, the country cannot put forth its best. Consequently, you will see a great deal of emphasis put on war songs in the immediate future. In fact, the call for war songs has already gone forth. In a letter to all ASCAP composers, Gene Buck, the society's president, has urged that they make America's war effort their first concern. It was our fighting songs, incidentally, which played an important part in cementing national unity in 1917.

America's war songs of 1941 will not, of course, be the same as those of 1917. Regardless of how different they will be, one thing will be evident—the songs will express the thoughts of free men and free women.

Bandata

Benny Goodman will solo with the Pittsburgh Symphony on January 6 . . . Vaughn Monroe has been presented with an honorary degree by his alma mater, Carnegie Tech . . . Bea Wain also was the recipient of an honor recently. She was selected "Honorary Justice" by the students of Columbia Law School to reign at their annual ball, December 6 . . . Artie Shaw's blasts at the band business and fans alike about a year ago hasn't hurt him. His "take" since he re-entered the band business last summer is $75,000. That's Shaw's cut after bookers and boys in the band were paid off.

RECORD MENDED

DECCA: Johnny Long's "Time to Sing"; Judy Garland's "How About You?"; Ella Fitzgerald's "I'm Thrilled"; Jimmy Dorsey's "The Spirit's Got Me"; Guy Lombardo's "Memphis Blues." BLUEBIRD: Glenn Miller's "Humpty Dumpty Heart"; Dinah Shore's "As We Walk into the Sunset." COLUMBIA: Horace Heidt's "I'll Never Forget."

1. JOAN WAS engaged to Phil Stanley, a childhood sweetheart, when Harry Davis first came into her life. They met when he called on her dad. Phil (behind Joan) had no idea he was greeting the man who would soon wed Joan

2. JOAN BROKE her engagement to Phil and married Harry (above) despite objections of her mother to the match. Nothing could keep the young couple apart, and they vowed to make one another happy. Phil married shortly afterward

"WHEN A GIRL MARRIES" PART II

AT LAST Joan and Harry Davis are ensconced in their new home in Beechwood and are expecting an addition to their family. Now when contentment would be most welcome, they are disturbed by the actions of the local doctor, who seems quite irresponsible. But together the couple face this grave situation. Titterings that Phil Stanley, a very good friend of the Davises, has also taken up residence in Beechwood because he is trying to win Joan from Harry cause them no concern. They know for a certainty that Phil has no such intentions.

As Beechwood is about one hundred miles from their former residence, they are especially gratified when their mothers visit them shortly before the baby's expected arrival, and with them bring Dr. Wiggan. Dr. Wiggan is the family doctor who had told them several months ago that if they moved to Beechwood he wouldn't be able to attend when the baby was born.

Photographs published here show important events which the Davises in their struggle for happiness have experienced since their first meeting.

For the story of "When a Girl Marries" tune in Monday through Friday on an NBC network and keep these pictures before you. —A. M.
