REMEMBER: The relief you seek from war worries will be found in Movie-Radio Guide!

A memorandum from Paul W. White, director of news broadcasts for CBS, has just reached this desk. Although it is a memo addressed to the members of the CBS news organization, many of its points clarify so well the problem of news broadcasting that MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE prints excerpts herewith. We quote:

"PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has said that America is the best-informed nation in the world. This is because we have a free radio and a free press. In war-time it becomes more important than ever that we should continue to be the best-informed people in the world. This is essential for two reasons: First, in order that military and civilian morale be kept at the highest possible level so that we may win the war and win it as quickly as possible. Second, in order that the nation may be kept keenly conscious of why we are fighting this war, to the end that we may also win the peace . . .

"In keeping America the best-informed nation in the world in war-time we obviously face new difficulties and certain limitations. We should do our utmost to surmount the difficulties and to circumscribe the limitations to absolutely essential areas and to apply them, even within those areas, with common sense and judgment. In other words, let us never adopt a negative attitude of fear and retreat so that we search out for ourselves self-imposed areas of intellectual blackout. Rather let us try to keep on illuminating every area of the national life, our own military effort and the manifold phases of the world struggle as far as we can possibly do so with assurance that we are doing good and not harm. Thus, we will be using all our skill and judgment in adopting our trained resources of manpower and our technical facilities to shedding light and not darkness. This, of course, we must do without running counter to the national objectives.

"American democracy has functioned always in a spirit of free speech, which has involved free and open criticism. This function must be preserved lest any serious mistakes go undetected and uncorrected, and lest the people lose confidence in their leaders because they feel that they are being told too little . . .

"Our news operation in war-time, therefore, is not essentially different from what it is in peace-time. We simply have to apply the same judgments and the same skills to new problems.

"In evaluating news we should, of course, look first of all to official and qualified sources, second to the press associations and our own world-wide news-gathering facilities, and third to rumor, voluntary informants, broadcasts by enemy nations, and so on. Extreme care and vigilance must be used in accepting material from any of the last-mentioned sources . . .

"From time to time, as different conditions develop that cannot now be foreseen, we intend to issue supplements to this memorandum. They will be sent to every CBS news editor, writer, reporter, announcer and analyst . . . The important thing to all of us is that we build—and keep on building—public confidence in our news. That confidence should prove a valuable machine tool in the production of victory."

These columns have already touched upon the grand job radio has done in gearing itself to an all-out war effort. The excerpts quoted above are further proof.

PHOTO-STORY

BOB HOPE'S

FUNNIEST PICTURE YET!

"LOUISIANA PURCHASE" has no connection with the deal whereby Tom Jefferson paid Napoleon Bonaparte $15,000,000 for the Louisiana Territory. As a Broadway stage hit, in which form it grossed $1,679,000 during a fifty-eight-week run, it was strictly modern musical comedy. It's still that in the Technicolor screen version by Paramount. What's more, it's Bob Hope in the most uproariously funny picture he has yet made! It also has six members of the original stage cast, including Victor Moore, Zorina and Irene Bordoni.

Paramount's stubby, moon-faced Buddy De Sylva is the gentleman responsible for this extravaganza. Writer of five hundred songs (fifty of them hits), old hand in the theatrical game, De Sylva became head of Paramount Studios about a year ago, prepared to give motion pictures the benefit of his magical hit-producing touch. At the time, he had three Broadway musical-comedy hits—"Panama Hattie" and "Du Barry Was a Lady," besides "Louisiana Purchase."

The story idea for "Louisiana Purchase" is De Sylva's own—a frivolous, gag-bedecked affair in which a bunch of political tricksters in the mythical town of New Orleans, Louisiana, get into trouble with a U. S. Senator, and in which color runs riot with spectacular scenes, ranging from the gorgeous Mardi Gras to the climaxing filibuster by Bob Hope. Portraying a state representative, Bob packs the filibuster with typical Hope humor, comes through with what is probably the funniest scene of his film career.

Music in the film is superb with eight Irving Berlin tunes. Girls are legion with front-line beauties picked from over eight hundred tests. Mardi Gras scenes set a record in Hollywood extravagance, with dream-like floats and bacchanalian frolics. But it is Bob Hope's performance that makes "Louisiana Purchase" unique, even compared with the stage version, even compared with previous Hope laugh riots.

It's Bob Hope's picture!

—E. P.

1. THIS IS BOB HOPE—twice removed! As state legislator in "Louisiana Purchase" he's fall guy for crooked politicians. On the spot when U. S. Senator Victor Moore comes to investigate, legislator Hope disguises himself as headwaiter Jacques

2. LEGISLATOR HOPE plans to sidetrack Senator Loganberry with the aid of refugee-dancer Marina (Zorina), who is engaged to frame the Senator at Mme. Bordelaise's Cafe. Above, Marina has the Senator on the way to political ruin, as "waiter" Hope gets incriminating photos

3. BUT NEXT DAY, during the Mardi Gras, Hope comes to grief when Marina, ashamed after the Senator offers to help get her mother out of Austria, spoils the framing plot by announcing she and Loganberry are engaged. Angered at Hope's failure, co-plotters strip him (l.)

4 and 5. THE MARDI GRAS revels continue (left), a riot of color and fun, with Hope as King of the Frolics and the Senator leading a snake-dance. But the harassed legislator is soon up to his ears in trouble. Frantically, he induces Mme. Bordelaise (Irene Bordoni) to frame the Senator in his hotel bedroom. She tries it, above

6. FOILED AGAIN when the Senator decides to marry Bordelaise, legislator Hope is supplied with a fantastic plan thought up by Marina, who is really in love with him, wants to help. Her idea begins to work out in the Senate chamber of the legislature

9. FOR THREE DAYS the filibuster continues. People in the gallery fall asleep. The Senator takes oxygen and a massage while Hope gets a rub-down from Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom and reads from an encyclopedia

10. VICTORY! The Senator can't stand it any longer when Hope starts on the cook-book. He gives in and Hope collapses as his colleagues burst into applause. And, of course, Hope wins the beautiful Marina, too!

7. "INTERESTED" LISTENERS are Marina (Zorina) and Mme. Bordelaise (Irene Bordoni). When the Senator protests that he can't get away with filibuster, Hope replies he has Frank Capra's consent!

8. IT'S A FILIBUSTER to end all filibusters! Bent on forestalling the Senator's speech exposing him, Hope talks and talks, even recites and illustrates "The Face on the Barroom Floor"

1. IN THE spectacular and gruesome "crocodile eats man" sequence in "The Jungle Book," the village pundit (Frank Puglia) attempts (left) to murder his partner, Buldeo (Joseph Calleia). Above, Buldeo sees the attacker's reflection in lagoon, tosses him into water

2. MUGGER, the huge crocodile, is on the alert and immediately recognizes a rare prey. As the pundit rises to the surface, gasping and thrashing frantically, the reptile (above) is upon him and the steel jaws close like a vise on the pundit's arm

Camera Trickery: Crocodile Eats Man!

Frank Puglia is prey for a reptile's jaws
and a camera's lens in "The Jungle Book"

NEITHER "Dog Bites Man" nor "Man Bites Dog" is a startling headline any more. But "Crocodile Eats Man"—that's news! And when such a saurian snack happens to be a photographic illusion, it's still an interesting item because of its goose-pimple realism. It just goes to show what magic the movie cameras can work these days. They can show a man in the water very obviously being devoured by a huge live crocodile—and the next day the man shows up with a sound body ready for more work of the same sort. You'll see this and many more wonders that are wrought by a Technicolor camera and the $1,000,000 Alexander Korda spent reproducing in authentic detail the tropical color of Rudyard Kipling's "The Jungle Book," to be seen very shortly on the country's screens after three years of preparation and production. —D. Funny-Bone Tickler:

COWBOYS RIDE AGAIN!

This is how Abbott and Costello do a western epic—it's "Ride 'Em Cowboy"

WHATEVER the props, it's always a pyramiding sequence of hysterio-comics when Abbott and Costello are let loose before the grinding cameras. This time, as a pair of drug-store cowboys from Brooklyn who get jobs as peanut-vendors at a Long Island rodeo, the boys suddenly find themselves shanghaied into a transcontinental trip where they play nurse maids to a herd of wild steers. With the Merry Macs of radio as music-makers, with Dick Foran and Anne Gwynne providing romance, Universal's "Ride 'Em Cowboy" may well be the greatest funny-bone tickler Abbott and Costello have yet made. It's burlesque on bucking broncos. It's slapstick in sagebrush! —J. C.

FOR LOU COSTELLO, being a cowboy in his new picture meant some quick-change artistry, coming as it did after his recent aviation epic. But he started with essentials, gun and holster (above), swiftly hit the pace with pardner Bud Abbott (pictured below). As cow-punchers these boys are punchy—as madly slapstick as they have ever been

HILARIOUS SEQUENCE in Universal film "Ride 'Em Cowboy" comes when cowboy Costello, seeing Indians in his sleep, flees the ranch bunkhouse (left), lands in a sanitarium, where he swears he sees General Custer shoot it out with Sitting Bull (above) right there in the room! Scene is done in Costello's best gibbering-idiot routine

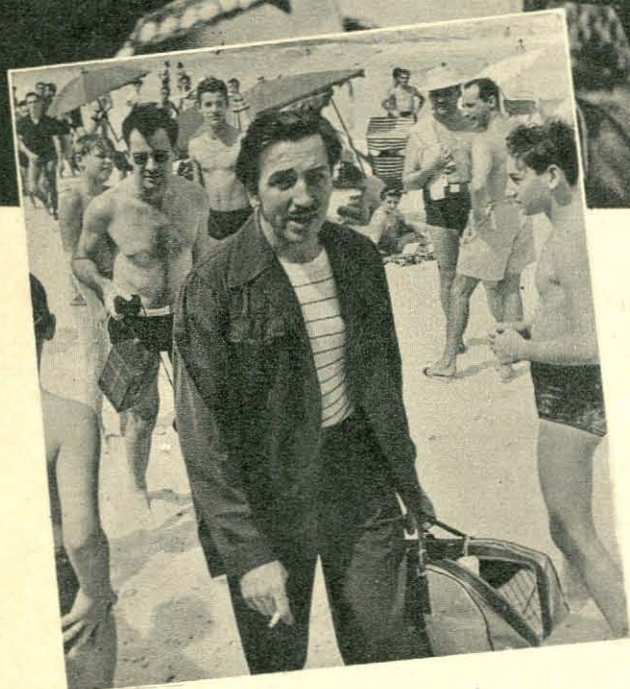

RIGHT: Sanitarium doctors go to work on the baffling fugitive from Lazy S Ranch. Movie-goers who are familiar with this mad-house comedy team won't have any trouble guessing the verdict

GOOD-WILL AMBASSADOR NO. 1

Walt Disney, illustrious daddy of Donald Duck, wins South American hearts

FETED WHEREVER he went as creator of Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck, Disney learned how popular his cartoons are. Above, on Rio beach, he attracts much attention

WALT DISNEY (center) joins a group of musicians in Santiago, Chile, on his South American tour. This doesn't look like work, but Walt went to South America to gather material for "good neighbor" cartoons. Mixing with Chileans, other Latins, he learned to know their music, their countries, them

WALT DISNEY'S never-never-land animals, Donald Duck, Mickey Mouse and all the others, have made friends for the U. S. in every corner of the world. Everywhere these lovable creatures are greeted with shrieks of delight. Everywhere they are ambassadors of good-will. Because of this, if for no other reason, Walt Disney may go down in history as one of the United States' ace diplomats of World War II.

In French Equatorial Africa, General DeGaulle's Free French planes are adorned by portraits of an aviator Donald Duck pulling a Hitler-faced worm out of the ground. In Washington, Madame Litvinov, wife of the Russian ambassador, declared that she just loved Donald Duck. On the high seas, the British aircraft carrier Illustrious has Donald on its deck—in an admiral's uniform.

Mr. Disney has had an inkling of his pen-children's popularity for some time, of course, but it really came home to him during his recent visit to South America. What he is probably too modest to report is that South America liked Walt Disney as wholeheartedly as they like Donald, Mickey and all the other Disney creatures.

Disney talked to schoolkids, artists, musicians, scissors-grinders and officials. He was lionized at parties and decorated by governments. Now he is back in the United States using Donald Duck to acquaint us with our friends south of the border. Give Donald Duck and Walt Disney a chance and the United States won't have to worry about allies!

—J. C.

STARS SERVE COFFEE-AND! Being a Yankee sailor in times like these is exciting in more ways than one. For example, when Myrna Loy, Kay Francis and other big-name stars serve coffee and doughnuts at San Diego naval base canteen. Working behind the counter above (from left to right) are waitresses Myrna Loy, Sylvia (Mrs. Harry) Brand, Kay Francis and Mrs. Brian Donlevy. Speaking to a pal not in the service but dwelling in Hollywood one of the gobs made this comment: "You're in the wrong racket, Bud. You ought to join the Navy and see the stars"

GENERAL

Mickey Becomes a Husband

By far and large the most important happening of the fortnight at the film capital was the marriage of Mickey Rooney, twenty-one, to Ava Gardner, nineteen, on January 10 at Bullard, Calif., about forty miles north of Santa Barbara. Nuptials, carefully planned in secret to avoid crowds, news cameras and newshawks, took place in the morning, and by noon "Andrew Hardy" Rooney and his pretty southern missus were speeding northward to the Del Monte Hotel at Del Monte, Calif., there to honeymoon a few days before Mickey had to leave for Boston, Mass., where he is scheduled to appear January 22 at a Red Cross fund rally—accompanied by his pretty brunette bride. Strangely enough, just prior to his wedding, Mickey had completed his latest Andy Hardy film, titled "Andy Hardy's Courtship." It may, therefore, be assumed that the screen-going public may next see "The Marriage of Andy Hardy."

War Ends Studio Tours

Unpopular yet necessary evil that Hollywood movie lots have endured these many years have been the studio tours whereby movie-goers, almost total strangers to the screen show industry, might see how pictures are made and clamor at the stars for autographs. Tours have been a pain in the neck to the producers. And now the pain is cured. As an emergency war measure, and to protect the lots against possible saboteurs, no one, not even a producer's cousin or maiden aunt, will be admitted to the lots unless they happen to be officially and fully accredited newspaper or magazine correspondents, or actually have work to do or business to accomplish with the lot's executives.

TODAY IN HOLLYWOOD

"Vaudeville for Victory"

Vaudeville came to life for a night in Hollywood January 24 when the stars staged "Vaudeville for Victory" at the Music Box Theater. Glamour boys were ushers, glamour girls dispensed programs, vaudeville-wise stars entertained—and every penny from the cash-box went to help buy a bomber for the American air force. In charge of Peter Godfrey and Howard Young, the show highlighted Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, amateur magician Chester Morris and Reginald Gardiner, famed for his imitations.

Sequel for "How Green"

Darryl Zanuck announces that 20th Century-Fox will make a sequel to "How Green Was My Valley," which already has been hailed as one of the great films of the last decade. Richard Llewellyn, author of the best-seller novel, will write the sequel, bringing the surviving characters through the pre-war years and up to the present, with Welsh miners back in the pits to give Britain the coal she needs in her war effort. Roddy McDowall, Walter Pidgeon and Maureen O'Hara, who appeared in "How Green Was My Valley," will star again.

Gorilla Priorities

Hollywood producers have been warned that their present stock of gorillas probably will have to last for the duration of the war. Max Factor, Jr., who makes the animals from leather and hair, mounts them on aluminum frames, said the industry has just four now. Since real gorillas aren't good actors on movie sets, the Factor creations are "musts" for many film thrillers.

THE WAR

Glamorize Victory Program

Movie-goers will get an insider's view of America's huge mass-production airplane factories in "The Shadow of Their Wings," which Warner Bros. will produce immediately, starring Ann Sheridan, Ronald Reagan, Dennis Morgan and George Tobias. This will be the first picture to dramatize the gigantic job of the American aviation industry if the sixty thousand war planes President Roosevelt has set as the nation's goal are to be delivered. Story concerns the adventures of four Midwest boys who go west for jobs in a plane factory.

LIFE STATISTICS

Deanna's Producer Weds

Joe Pasternak, forty, movie producer who has had charge of every picture Deanna Durbin has made to date and lately switched to the M-G-M lot from Universal, was married Friday, January 9, at Palm Springs, Calif., to starlet Dorothy Darrell, twenty-one, with agent Johnny Hyde as best man and Mozelle Cravens as bridesmaid. Witnesses included Jack Benny and Mary Livingstone, Charles Farrell, Virginia Valli, Mervyn LeRoy, Van Heflin, Joe Schenck and William Powell.

Bombs Won't Hit Griffith

Largest natural bomb cellar in Hollywood is director Edward H. Griffith's. Under his home at Three Arch Bay, Laguna Beach, is a sandstone cave sixty feet high at the apex and about a hundred feet long. Only drawback is that it's fifty miles from the set of Paramount's "Out of the Frying Pan" where he is working.

MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE CRITICS' REPORT

"LOUISIANA PURCHASE"

Cast: Bob Hope, Vera Zorina, Victor Moore, Irene Bordon, Dona Drake and Raymond Walburn. A Paramount Technicolor production; directed by Irving Cummings; screen play by Jerome Chodorov and Joseph Fields, based on the musical comedy by Morrie Ryskind from the story by B. G. De Sylva. Music and lyrics by Irving Berlin.

Type of Picture: This is strictly a musical comedy fantasy in color, with accent on the comedy (Bob Hope) and story, a thinly disguised variation of the maudlin political situation in Louisiana during the Huey Long regime.

This Is the Story: Bob Hope, a candidate for Congress, becomes elected Rex, King of the Mardi Gras, and with it he gets mixed up in a love affair with a countess. Between his political ambitions and the machinations and love affairs of his opposition Congressman, Victor Moore, Hope has his hands full, hires the countess (Zorina) to feed Mickey Finns to Moore to get him out of the way and more particularly to get away from him certain damaging evidence he carries with him in his briefcase. In a hilarious scene, Zorina does get Moore under the weather, and in his hangover scene, during which he takes grotesque Mardi Gras costumes and masks to be his own bad case of heebie jeebies, he compromises himself. One of the funniest scenes in the picture is Hope's filibuster in Congress—a take-off on Jimmy Stewart's in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," or the late Huey Long at his worst, perhaps.

Verdict: This is an exceedingly funny and beautifully colorful musical comedy, and one which the entire family will enjoy if one does not object too strenuously to drinking scenes.

CASTINGS

Laughton Plays Little Man

After finishing "The Turtles of Tahiti" and a vacation, Charles Laughton will make "The History of Mr. Polly," the H. G. Wells novel. Purchased by RKO's Sol Lesser especially for Laughton, "The History of Mr. Polly" chronicles the ups and downs—mostly downs—in the life of a pathetically ludicrous little man who finally comes into his own after years of bowing to fate, ill health, other vicissitudes.

De Havilland Role to Newcomer

Nancy Coleman, who made her screen debut in "Kings Row," will have the part in "The Gay Sisters" (Warner Bros.) originally assigned to Olivia de Havilland. Switch was made to give Miss De Havilland a badly needed rest after a too quick succession of starring roles.

Other Castings

Hedy Lamarr will be Mickey Rooney's leading lady in an M-G-M vehicle called "Her Highness and the Bell Boy" . . . John Boles will make a second picture for Monogram. It will be "Land of the Sky Blue Water" and Boles will sing the Charles Wakefield Cadman song from which title is taken . . . Clark Gable and Lana Turner will co-star again at M-G-M in "Somewhere I'll Find You," a war-correspondent story . . . Title role in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" goes to stand-out character actress Fay Bainter.

NEWS AND PROGRAM LISTINGS

Now Axis Propaganda Stoops to Stupidity

THE one thing one must remember in telling a false story is to be very careful in repeating it to recall exactly what you said the first time. Goebbels' bunch don't bother much about such minor details. They rely entirely upon the "first shock effect" of the original statement. For example, two or three weeks ago the Berlin Radio came out with a flash that a 23,000-ton British aircraft carrier had been sunk in the Atlantic. Later details named the class of the ship and gave an intimate account of its sinking, saying that it was hit first in the bow, then amidships, then aft. Next day's broadcast reversed these important details, stating that the ship was hit first aft, then amidships, lastly in the bow. Said the commander of the submarine which was supposed to have sunk the carrier, "I have never seen anything like it," and well you might, too, if you were shown a picture of a small British merchant vessel which you had sunk and then had the propaganda boys tell you that this was a 23,000-ton aircraft carrier. The actual purpose behind this tall yarn was to see if they could get the British to reveal the real location of the 23,000-ton aircraft carrier Audacious.

Japs Take the Cake

Japan really takes the cake for stupid lies, however. Claim: "The U. S. battleship Houston has fled from the Philippines to the Netherlands East Indies." Later they remembered to their chagrin that U. S. battleships never bear the names of cities, always states. You will all recall that during the original attack upon Hawaii the Japanese claimed to have sunk the aircraft carrier Langley. Almost a month later to the day came a flash over the Tokyo Radio: "The aircraft carrier Langley, 11,500 tons, has just been sunk off Johnson Island."

The Japanese really are very concerned over the location of the American Pacific fleet, are daring it to come out of hiding. The Japanese spokesman for the Japanese army challenged our officials to bring out the fleet and fight. Says he, "It would save a long and protracted battle for everyone." "We can't lose anyway," he continued, "for our navy has had years of experience and discipline for just this sort of thing. There are no so-called 'suicide units' in our military troops. For every soldier and sailor is out to fight to the bitter end. Every Japanese feels he cannot afford to die without first inflicting a mortal wound upon his opponent." Is it possible this spokesman has not heard of the epic of Wake Island; of the gallantry of a handful of American Marines who wouldn't say die? Is it possible the Japanese have forgotten already about Captain Colin Kelly, who dared to die that he might inflict a "mortal wound" upon the proud Haruna.

The Game of Name-Calling

For a long time now each Berlin propagandist has ended his spiel with this slogan: England has always stood for war, Germany's victory will end this once and for all. Now the Germans have conferred this one on us: Franklin Delano Roosevelt promised you peace but brought you war. Churchill is called "The Prince of Blunder"; Roosevelt "The Prince of Boast." Is it possible that Germany hasn't heard of the American sense of humor that they really think they can get our goat in this way?

Incidentally, the Soviet newspaper Red Star has recently changed its slogan from Proletariats of All Nations Unite, to Death to All German Invaders.

Is This Another Nazi Trick?

Every Friday recently from about 9:15 to 9:30 p.m. EST there has been something screwy going on over the Berlin Shortwave Station. It goes like this. At 9:15 the announcer will say, "We are now going to entertain you with a gramophone recording from the studio." An American jazz record of the most blatant sort is put on the turntable and it starts to blare away. Meanwhile someone starts talking in the background that sounds like another station butting in on the same frequency. The speaker, a woman with a slight German accent, starts making plugs for Kellogg's Corn Flakes or it may be Kellogg's Rice Krispies—but always a Kellogg's product. She then starts into a spiel about some German commentator. One night it was Freddy Kaltenbach and another night it was Jane Anderson. From time to time the "spook voice" breaks in with another Kellogg's commercial and then more intimate details about one of the Berlin personalities. At times the recording in the foreground will be so loud that it will drown out the speaker, again the voice comes out on top. At any rate it is the most hashed-up mixture of American jazz, Kellogg's Corn Flakes, Jane Anderson and Fred Kaltenbach all at the same time you have heard. Whether someone is actually breaking in on the German program or whether it is just another clever Goebbels trick to cause interest, you can figure out for yourself. Frankly, I don't know.

Soviet Broadcasts on Increase

For a time, seemingly coinciding with Russia's greatest reverses, it was difficult to tune in any short-wave broadcasts from that country. Now the situation is reversed and, according to air announcements, at least three great short-wave centers are now active in the U. S. S. R.

"Radio Kuibyshev," Kuibyshev, is being heard on a frequency of 10.04 megs daily from about 7:00 to 10:00 a.m. EST and at various other times throughout the day. The news in English, read by a woman announcer at 8:30 a.m. EST, is usually received with good strength and intelligibility. Radio Kuibyshev also operates daily from 6:40 to 7:55 p.m. EST on a frequency of 15.23 megs. This is the second half of the evening period in English from Russia.

"Radio Center Moscow," Moscow, is being heard at present from 9:20 to 9:50 a.m. EST, with a news period in English, which is broadcast on 9.73, 10.66 and 15.77 megs. The 10.66 megs frequency is usually best. Radio Center Moscow may also be heard each day from 6:00 to 6:37 p.m. EST on a frequency of 15.23 megs. This is the first half of the evening period in English from Russia.

Soviet Broadcasts to the U. S. on Increase

"Radio Sverdlovsk," located at Sverdlovsk, in the interior of Russia, is being heard from 6:30 to 8:00 a.m. EST on 12.06, 12.23, 14.91 and 15.08 megs. News in English is now given at 7:20 a.m. EST. The 12.06 megs frequency provides the best reception from Sverdlovsk. Radio Sverdlovsk is also operating on a frequency of 9.86 megs from approximately 12:00 noon to 1:30 p.m. EST, with the news in English at 12:20 p.m. EST.

Civilian Defense Advice from London

In pursuance of its policy of offering public service programs of interest to an America at war, Stanley Maxted, young Canadian radio man, is giving a series of five-minute talks on blackout precautions and the general technique of getting through an air raid. Stanley Maxted's "Civilian Defense Notes" may be heard daily at 7:25 p.m. EST over London stations GSC (9.58), GSL (6.11) and GRH (9.825).

Pacific War Zone Notes

The Australian Dept. of Information has been directing experimental broadcasts again to eastern North America from 4:15 to 4:45 p.m. on VLG7 (15.16), VLG6 (15.23) or VLG3 (11.71), and from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m. EST on VLG2 (9.54). Anyone hearing these tests is requested to send reports to David Bailey, Australian News and Information Bureau, 610 Fifth Ave., New York City . . . The English press bulletin for the A. I. F. is now broadcast over Melbourne station VLG7 (15.16) daily from 11:25 to 11:55 a.m. EST . . . India may break into the war news any day. Get the official slant of the India Government by tuning in the English news from Delhi daily at 7:30 a.m. EST over VUD3 (9.59) and VUD4 (11.83) . . . Exclusive information: "Radio Francaise Libre de Orient" is operated from the Free French Headquarters in Bombay, India. This Freedom station operates on 9.045 megs daily from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. EST.

News from the European War Theater

The opinion of neutral Ireland is important these days. The 2,000-watt station "Radio Eirrean," Moydrum, Athlone, Ireland, is still operating from 12:30 to 1:15 p.m. on 17.84; from 1:30 to 4:00 p.m. on 15.12, and from 4:10 to 5:00 p.m. EST on 9.595 megs . . . Reception from Lahti, Finland, is poor these days. OFE (11.785) can sometimes be heard from approximately 7:20 to 8:00 p.m. EST. A woman announcer reads the news in English at 7:20 p.m.

"Treasure Hour of Song" moves from Friday to Saturday over MBS.

SUNDAY, January 25: "Screen Guild Theater" (CBS) will present Rosalind Russell in "Philadelphia Story," which, with Katharine Hepburn starring, was a very popular story on both the stage and screen during the past year or so . . . "Helen Hayes Theater" will offer "Moss Rose" over CBS.

MONDAY, January 26: "Cavalcade of America" will present Madeleine Carroll in Philip Barry's "Tomorrow and Tomorrow" over NBC.

BLACKOUT STATIONS

As a special war precaution, radio stations in some cities are periodically silenced. At such times you will find it possible to tune in high-powered stations in other parts of the country that you ordinarily could not get. These stations will bring you newscasts and special announcements as well as many of the network broadcasts normally carried by stations in your own vicinity. Therefore, when the stations you usually listen to are off the air, try tuning to the nearest 50,000-watt station outside of the precaution zone. The following is a list of all the 50,000-watt stations in the United States and Canada:

Classical Music

Here is a guide to great music on the air, planned to increase your listening pleasure

MUSIC NOTES: One of the best-known operas will be presented by the Metropolitan Opera this Saturday and presented over the airwaves to radio listeners. It is Georges Bizet's "Carmen." The opera is in four parts, with words by Meilhac and Halévy, adapted from Prosper Merimee's romance of "Carmen," and was first produced at the Opera Comique, Paris, March 3, 1875, with Mme. Galli-Marie in the title role, and Mlle. Chapuy as Michaela. On this Saturday's presentation the parts will be taken by Lily Djanel, Licia Albanese, Charles Kullman, Leonard Warren, Norman Cordon, George Cehanovsky, Alessio De Paolis, with the orchestra under the direction of Sir Thomas Beecham. The opera takes place in Seville, about 1820, and the first act opens in the public square, filled with troops under the command of Don Jose. The soldiers are awaiting the approach of the pretty girls who work in the cigar factory near by, and especially the approach of the prettiest and most heartless of them all, Carmen. Michaela, a girl of the village, comes into the square with a message for Don Jose from his mother, but cannot find him, so she departs. The cigar girls come by on their way to work, and with them is the beautiful Carmen, who sees Don Jose sitting in an indifferent manner and throws him the rose she is wearing in her bosom. As the girls go to the factory, Michaela returns and sees Don Jose and delivers her message. The message he has just received and the sight of the pretty girl make Don Jose realize that he is falling in love with Carmen. However, he is about to throw away her rose when he hears a sudden disturbance in the factory. To his surprise it was caused by Carmen, who has quarreled with one of the girls and has wounded her. She is arrested, and to prevent further mischief her arms are bound. Carmen so bewitches Don Jose that he consents to help her escape, and succeeds in making it possible while she is being led away to prison by the soldiers. Carmen then returns to her wandering gypsy life, and is found with her companions in the cabaret of Lillas-Pastia, singing and dancing. One of the guests at the cabaret is Escamillo, a victorious bull-fighter of Grenada, with whom Carmen is at once fascinated. When the inn is closed Escamillo and the soldiers depart, but Carmen and the two gypsies, who are smugglers, wait for the arrival of Don Jose. They persuade her to induce him to join their band, and when Don Jose, wild with passion for her, enters she prevails upon him to remain in spite of the trumpet call which summons him to duty. When an officer appears Don orders him out and refuses to go back to the troops. When the officer uses force, Carmen summons the gypsies, who soon overpower him, and Don Jose is able to escape to the mountains. In the mountains the gypsy smugglers make their headquarters in a wild, rocky, cavernous place. Carmen is also in this hideout and is growing very indifferent to Don Jose. As the contrabandists finish their work and gradually leave the scene, Escamillo, who has been following Carmen, comes into the cave and makes Don Jose become very jealous of him. The two at once become enemies and rush for each other, but are separated by the smugglers. Escamillo bides his time and invites them all to the approaching bull-fight at Seville. While Don Jose is talking to Carmen the faithful Michaela, who has been guided to the spot, begs him to accompany her, as his mother is dying. He follows her as Escamillo's taunting song is heard dying away in the distance.

The last act opens in Seville the gala day of Escamillo's fight. Carmen is there with her friends, who have warned her that Don Jose is looking for her. Amid great excitement, Escamillo enters the arena, with Carmen following, when Don Jose appears and stops her. He appeals to her and tries to awaken the old love that was between them. She won't consider it, and in a fit of wild rage hurls the ring he had given her at his feet. The shouts of the people in the arena announce another victory for Escamillo, and Carmen is overjoyed. Don Jose springs at her like a wild animal and stabs her just as Escamillo emerges from the bull-fight. SATURDAY, JANUARY 24 METROPOLITAN OPERA, NBC "Carmen," by Georges Bizet. FLASH BULLETIN!

One of radio's biggest and most beneficial radio broadcasts, the March of Dimes program that each year highlights the drive for funds to fight infantile paralysis, goes on the air this Saturday, January 24, and the spectacular line-up of talent has just been announced. Arch Oboler will write and direct the variety-drama-and-talk show, which will be presented by the following stars, with possibly others to be added: Greta Garbo (her first radio appearance!), Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Claudette Colbert, Humphrey Bogart, Dennis Day, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Marlene Dietrich, Mary Martin, Tyrone Power, Spencer Tracy, Ronald Colman, Deanna Durbin, Fibber McGee and Molly, Don Ameche, William Powell, Jean Arthur, James Cagney, Thomas Mitchell, Janet Beecher, Walter Pidgeon, Warner Baxter, Olivia de Havilland, Walter Huston, Merry Macs, Gordon Jenkins directing fifty-piece orchestra and sixteen-voice chorus, Harlow Wilcox, announcer. The show will be heard on NBC-Red, the Blue network, MBS and probably CBS.

GENERAL

NBC Splits Networks

NEW YORK.—Listeners may have noticed recently that announcers say, "This is the Blue network," after programs where they used to say, "This is the National Broadcasting Company." The Radio Corporation of America, parent organization of NBC, has taken the first big step in disposing of its Blue network, as ordered by the Federal Communications Commission. With a transfer of stock and setting up of a separate personnel organization NBC has created the Blue Network Company, Inc., preliminary to selling this one of its two networks altogether. Meanwhile the Federal Government has brought formal suit in Chicago against both NBC and CBS as monopolies. And further complicating the current legal status of radio networks, the Mutual Broadcasting System has filed a $10,000,000 damage suit against NBC because of alleged restraint of competition.

Contest for Violinists

NEW YORK.—Because of a shortage of violin students, noted in a music-schools survey, a contest to select an outstanding young violinist for a year's scholarship at the Juilliard School of Music is being sponsored by the Juilliard School, the National Federation of Music Clubs and NBC. The contest is open to young men and women between the ages of sixteen and twenty-two. Preliminary auditions will be conducted by the National Federation of Music Clubs, and regional auditions will be held in March in New York City, Chicago and a western city. The final competition will be broadcast over NBC.

Tabu All-Net Shows

NEW YORK.—In view of the attitude of the Planning and Advisory Committee of the Red network of the National Broadcasting Company, there is little likelihood of radio listeners hearing those "blanket" programs in which all national networks carry one special program at the same time. The board, in a recent decision, explained that it believes this type of programming not only is difficult to arrange but has the tendency to "coerce" listeners to hear what the broadcasters want them to hear. Exceptions will be made for the Federal Government.

WAR SIDELIGHTS

Fighting Sons Sing

LOS ANGELES.—Just as Navy men in World War I sang "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," America's sea fighters during this war are singing a new song. It's "Fighting Sons of the Navy Blue," and it was written by one of Uncle Sam's new

Songs for Safety in War

NEW YORK.—The work that Irving Caesar, MBS artist, has been doing to stress the importance of safety by children during peace time has been expanded to encompass war time. Noted for his "Sing a Song of Safety" ditties, Caesar lately has been concentrating on songs with safety in war time as the theme. Example: "Listen, my children, and you shall know—What to do and where to go—When you hear the siren blow—Sounding the air alarm. If you should hear that siren snort—One long blast and one that's short—That means danger of a sort."

Anti-Axis Script

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Material used in the broadcasting of one of CBS' "Report to the Nation" programs has been found to be an informative and valuable source for combating Axis propaganda. At the request of the U. S. Army, CBS is now distributing transcriptions of the broadcast among chairmen of organizations concerned with war problems.

Then he stepped over to the clerk and said, "Make that sweater a brown one in the large size!"

FIRE-BOMBS . . .

How to Fight Them

TO BING CROSBY they're hot eggs. To the War Department they're incendiary bombs. To everybody they're ugly, dangerous weapons the enemy eventually will try to use right here in the U. S. A. Fire-bombs by the hundreds can be planted over a large area by a single plane within a very few seconds. If one should land on YOUR home you must know what to do.

Bing Crosby, despite his funnyman lingo, thought the fire-bomb a big enough threat to the lives and homes of U. S. citizens to invite Major John S. Winch, U. S. Marine Corps, to his "Kraft Music Hall" January 8 for the purpose of telling "what to do if you get a hot egg laid on your roof." And what Major Winch said that night is important to every American.

First thing to know about a fire-bomb, said Major Winch, is where it lands. If you don't know where it is, you can't get rid of it. You can't get rid of it unless you have many small fire-watching parties constantly on the alert, properly equipped to deal quickly, effectively with any bomb.

Even more important, though, is to know what a fire-bomb is, how it acts. A long, slender affair, the most common type of bomb (magnesium) contains two main parts. First, the core

Major John S. Winch, on "Kraft Music Hall," tells danger, how to meet it

(see diagram above), composed of a priming mixture which ignites upon impact with some solid object and generates heat to fire part number two—the magnesium body of the bomb—which will burn fiercely for ten to twenty minutes.

Fire-bombs, said the major, are not explosive. Their function is purely to start destructive fires. Only way a fire-bomb can be made to explode (causing burning metal to scatter and spread fire) is to pour a solid stream of water directly on it. Therefore: Never apply a solid stream of water directly on a bomb. A burning, glowing bomb can only be attacked with a fine spray of water. The water will not put it out. Quite the opposite, it hastens the burning, so that a bomb that might normally smolder at white heat for twenty minutes will burn only one or two minutes.

Biggest danger from fire-bombs comes when they hit roofs and attics. The typical bomb weighs about two pounds and dropped from the usual flying height will penetrate any ordinary roof, including tile, slate, corrugated iron and patented roofing materials.

A four-foot layer of sand spread over a roof might stop the bomb, but it would also cause the roof to collapse. More feasible idea is to keep buckets of sand near danger points.

BUT the bomb should not be approached until fifty or sixty seconds after it lands. Even then some protection is necessary—a table turned up, a door or a chair. Eyes, particularly, should be guarded. And these are the all-important preparations:

1. Have all equipment handy. Speed is the most important element in fighting fire-bombs.
2. Use a hose with adjustable nozzle that can be changed from spray (to put out bomb) to a steady stream (which will combat fire caused).
3. Have long-handled shovels, or scoops, with which to remove bombs to a place where they can do no harm.
4. Have several tin or galvanized-iron buckets, half full of sand, in which burning bombs may be controlled.

5. Have an auxiliary supply of water and stirrup pumps (in a big fire-raided normal water supply drops sharply).

A quite different type of fire-bomb mentioned by Major Winch is the paper bomb. The British call them "calling cards." They can be printed to look like leaves or even advertising throw-aways. Actually they are absorbent sheets of paper impregnated with a solution of phosphorus and dampened with water. Dropped when wet, the bomb bursts into flame as soon as the water evaporates. These bombs are effective against farmlands and forests, the major told listeners. There are other types, but the most destructive and the most difficult to combat are the magnesium incendiaries.

Even now Major Winch's words are of immediate personal interest to "Kraft Music Hall" folk and their West Coast brethren, threatened as they are by Jap invasion. Soon the major's advice may be of as immediate interest to all Americans. The fire-bomb will be used on U. S. soil and many a listener may find himself thanking Bing Crosby and Major Winch.

MARY MARTIN of "Kraft Music Hall" gingerly holds a magnesium incendiary bomb while Major John S. Winch (guest on broadcast) explains the deadly missile and Bing (with pipe) and John Scott Trotter look on with interest. Major Winch appeared to tell listeners how to combat fire-bombs which may be used against the United States, also to make Mary a sweetheart of the U. S. Marines

PRECAUTIONS

1. Never approach a burning magnesium bomb within fifty feet during the first sixty seconds after ignition.
2. Never apply a solid stream of water from a nozzle directly on the bomb. THIS WILL CAUSE AN EXPLOSION AND SCATTER BURNING METAL!
3. Never allow the fire to get out of control. It is sometimes advisable to neglect extinguishing the bomb to prevent the spread of fire throughout the premises.
4. Never expose yourself more than necessary while extinguishing the fire. Protect yourself by a partially opened door, an overturned table or similar device.
5. Always have an avenue of escape available.
6. REMEMBER THE SAVING OF YOUR PROPERTY IS NOT JUSTIFIED BY THE LOSS OF A LIFE!

From a Bulletin issued by the Los Angeles Fire Department

The Adventures of "Jack Armstrong"

THE MINIATURE mechanism Jack holds is a model bomb sight. He's practising lining up the sights in preparation for the time he might have to use the one on Uncle Jim's stratoship

THE GIRL, Betty Fairfield, is always in the thick of the excitement. Above, she gives her ideas on strategy as she and Jack study a map showing the details of secret-defense island

Join the All-American Boy and his buddies—and see the world

ANYONE who listens regularly to the story of "Jack Armstrong" (MBS, Monday through Friday) has a bit of a head start in visualizing the picture of what is going on today in the Philippines, for the serial had an extended sequence last year against an authentic background set in Manila and Luzon. In fact, Jack Armstrong and his companions have adventured all over the world—Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Arabia, Tibet, China, Alaska. During all this globe-gallivanting the adventurers have been diligent in keeping before them the principles of right living and justice. No matter in what spot of the earth they may be, you'll find Jack and his pals always militant in combating evil. Producers of the program feel that Jack is a true "All-American Boy," full of fun, fight and fair play. They feel strongly, too, that the tale, however exciting, should be educational and not harmful to young listeners. The current cast of the sketch includes Jack Armstrong (Charles Flynn), Uncle Jim (Jim Goss), Betty Fairfield (Loretta Poynton) and Billy Fairfield (John Gannon). Producer is Edwin Morse and announcer, Franklyn MacCormack. —D. M.

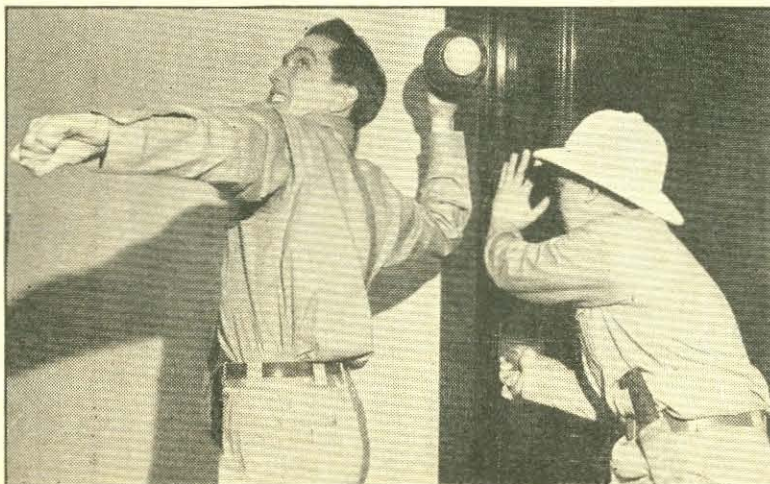

TROUBLE on the horizon. Jack points out to Billy and Betty the approach of a tramp steamer loaded with explosives to blast the island. Needless to say, the attempt is cleverly foiled

JACK draws a bead while Billy reloads. Constantly being exposed to danger and just as constantly getting out of danger, Jack and his pals have to be alert, ready for any emergency

A TENSE moment—something goes wrong with the plane (above) that Jack uses for hops between hot spots. At right, Billy crashes door as Jack hurls vase at lights in escape attempt

"JACK, look at that altimeter! We're falling!" yells Billy. But he's talking about the plane in the story, not about the nine-year-old serial's rating. It's more popular than ever

WORLD WAR I: This is Billy Mills in uniform in 1918 when he led Army's 31st Field Artillery Band. Henry Stimson was his boss

BACK IN THE GROOVE

Bandleader Billy Mills, musician in the first World War, carries on in World War II

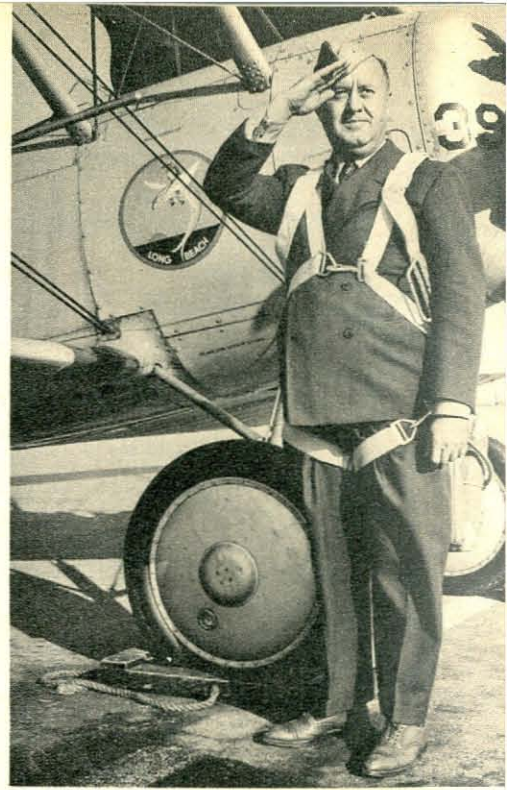

HEFTY, jovial Billy Mills, who waves the baton for "Fibber McGee and Molly" on Tuesdays and for "The Great Gildersleeve" on Sundays, is now an unofficial member of the Navy flying corps. In the first World War Billy led the Army's 31st Field Artillery Band under Col. Henry Stimson (now Secretary of War). In that unit he had some of the country's foremost musicians. When flight students at the Long Beach, Calif., Naval Reserve Aviation Base asked him to be leader of their base orchestra, Billy was happy to get back in the harness.

These flyers are real musicians, too. All of them are college boys. One, a trombonist, was world champion model-plane builder and flyer before joining the Naval air force. Another, who went to Pasadena Junior College, played in the Tournament of Roses band. They're assigned to patrol duty, bomber commands and fighter patrols, but for relaxation they choose music.

After their preliminary training at Long Beach, students up to now have been going to Pensacola or Corpus Christi to receive final diplomas. Soon, however, they will have new quarters at Long Beach and will receive all of their training there. Billy Mills, who has been making weekly visits to the training-base, will then devote his time to organizing a full-size naval band.

Billy is not only doing a valuable bit of work for the Navy; he is having himself one swell time!

WORLD WAR II: Billy, in student's cap, stands alongside a U. S. Navy training plane, salutes his flight-student bandmen

FLIGHT STUDENTS at U. S. Naval Reserve Aviation Base, Long Beach, Calif., receive instruments from maestro Billy Mills. Mills and his musicians on the Fibber McGee show provided them. Right now the boys are organized as a swing-playing group; later they plan to have a full naval band

IT'S JUST a "plane" old jam session for the boys here, with maestro Mills conducting from training-plane perch. Left to right are students Donald E. LaFon, Puente, Calif.; R. M. Soule, Phoenix, Ariz.; Robert S. Tyner, Pasadena, Calif.; Mills; Albert Bros, Cleveland, Ohio; George Boyle, Butte, Mont.

"THUMBS UP" is an old Navy greeting to flight students who have successfully passed their flying-test. Now a new ritual is added, as the band and Billy meet youngster, who has met flying requirements, at the plane as he lands, salute him with "Anchors Aweigh." Pilot is W. R. Marquette

ON HIS WAY back to Hollywood for broadcasts, Billy Mills is given musical send-off by the band. Both leader and men are looking forward to next month, when they will move into new quarters and Long Beach will become a full-size naval air base. Then they will get their full-scale band

Movie-Radio Guide Visits: "THE FAMILY HOUR"

IF YOU heard a wail during a recent broadcast of the "Family Hour" (Sunday, CBS), you might have thought it an air-raid warning or something equally ominous. But it was only a baby's disregard of studio rules against the presence of his kind. The mother of the tot later explained that she saw the sign "Family Hour" on the marquee of the theater and just walked in with the infant part of her family. Nobody stopped her, since it was a fire exit she used for an entrance. Even though children are barred from radio broadcasts, this program is a show for the whole family, from children to grandparents, to listen to. Since August 31, 1941, the singing of Gladys Swarthout, Ross Graham and a chorus, the playing of Al Goodman's orchestra and the sparkling musical commentaries of Deems Taylor have entertained listeners of all ages, for the music runs the gamut from swing to symphony. Recently the whimsical comedy of young screen actor Sterling Holloway has been added for more variety of appeal. "Family Hour" has no sideshow stunts, no sensational special features, no so-called novel ideas. It's just an excellent, well-rounded program of broad appeal. —A. M.

CBS Radio Theater No. 3 in New York houses "Family Hour" as well as Fred Allen, Major Bowes shows

STAR of the "Family Hour" broadcasts and one of the outstanding mezzo-sopranos of today is Missourian Gladys Swarthout, who is known scarcely less for her beauty than for her talent

BARITONE Ross Graham sings while music authority Deems Taylor looks and listens. Graham is a former gas-station attendant now heard on "Family Hour" and "Cities Service Concert"

AL GOODMAN (standing) is one of those "bouncy" conductors the audience likes to watch. During one broadcast he waved the baton so energetically it flew out of his grasp across stage

USUALLY anonymous stalwarts of many a radio musical show are the members of choral groups. This group furnishes background vocal music and feature numbers in support of the stars on the "Family Hour"

WITH OLD GLORY furnishing an inspiring backdrop, Miss Swarthout launches into a full-throated rendition of the national anthem, is joined by spectators at close of program. Announcer Frank Gallup is at her left

WINTER SPORTS for GOOD SPORTS

Some could skate and some could only try — but all enjoyed the skating party

JUST for fun MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE organized an informal party recently.

The setting was the Rockefeller Plaza ice-skating pond, across the street from the towering RCA building that houses NBC's New York studios. The participants were a group of the radio personalities who find this recreation spot ideal for snatches of exhilaration and exercise during their off-duty minutes and hours. In this spirited bunch were Dick Todd, baritone crooner of "Saturday Vaudeville"; Vaughn Monroe, bandleader of the new "How'm I Doin'?" show; Elizabeth Reller, Kitty of "Michael and Kitty" and Ann of "Young Dr. Malone"; comedy-emcee Ed East; Yvette, songstress of "Penthouse Party"; Johnny the Call Boy; Ann Thomas, Mabel of "Joe and Mabel" and Trudy of "Meet Mr. Meek"; announcer Bert Parks, and announcer Andre Baruch and his wife, songstress Bea Wain. Some could skate and some couldn't, but all had several hours of action-packed enjoyment. And dozens of spectators got a kick out of watching these radio stars at play. —A. M.

Photographs by Gus Gale

FORTY FEET below street level at Rockefeller Plaza, flanked by famous Fifth Avenue, is this ice-skating rink, where radio stars from near-by NBC studios in the RCA building relax and forget microphones and second hands

MAMMOTH Ed East took a tumble, and to his rescue came Johnny the Call Boy. Spectators got a laugh when Ed finally had to get up and carry Johnny to the rinkside

DESPITE his grimace, Bert Parks enjoyed taking lessons from Elizabeth Reller, an expert, she having lived in Switzerland during her school years

ONLY husband and wife present were Bea Wain and Andre Baruch, both good skaters and good sports. The two came late, stayed late

YVETTE got plenty of support from Vaughn Monroe (left) and Dick Todd. Dick played hockey for McGill University in Canada a few years ago

FEMININE FORUM

By ALBERTA NORTH

Fragrant Facts

THE first glamour girls got the idea of using perfume (which means "through smoke," suggesting incense, one of the first forms of perfume) from the ancient priests who used to burn fragrant mixtures of myrrh and saffron and the like to soften the hearts of the gods.

When Cleopatra discovered that it worked even better on the hearts of men (she got herself two mighty Roman conquerors, you know), the perfume industry really began to boom.
The intoxicating secrets of the East were carried to the West, and all the great ladies of Europe learned the subtle magic that was contained in perfume. But it hasn't been until this century that perfume has stepped down from her lofty luxury perch and made herself available to the great masses of women.

Now every toilet-counter in America has high-quality perfumes within your means. There are perfumes like Bour-jois' Evening in Paris, Coty's L'Origan, and Houbigant's Skylark, which give you glamour without sacrifice.

Perfume-users like yourself have a big advantage over Cleopatra in that you can get a perfume which suits your particular type. The choice of perfume is like the choice of make-up
—it should go with you, be your own, whatever type you are. For instance, an outdoor girl will want a clean and spicy kind of perfume; the frilly feminine something of hearts and flowers;
the career girl something bracing and gay; and so on.

The most effective way to use perfume is with an atomizer—spray it lightly on your underthings and your skin before you dress. The fine, light spray will distribute the perfume subtly and evenly, save you from becoming a walking perfumery, and if you use one of the handsome crystal De-Vilbiss atomizers equipped with a leak-proof closure you'll avoid the waste of spilling and evaporation.

There are a lot of little tricks to perfume—using that the wise woman uses—things like perfuming the inside of your gloves, putting a dash of it behind your ears, inside your elbows, at the back of your neck, and the hollow of your throat. Did you ever think of putting a bit on your hatband or on the trimming? Una Merkel does this.

Spray it lightly on your furs and faintly on your hair.

Although perfume thus applied will give you a subtle and fairly lasting fragrance, it's a good idea to carry a small dram bottle in your pocketbook in case of an extra-special emergency like an unexpected date. Or better yet, because there's no danger of its fragrance seeping out, carry the Charm Perfume Stick, which is reasonably priced and convenient to handle.

COLOGNE (made of alcohol and aromatic oils) or toilet-water (a diluted perfume) are essential parts of the dressing-table, but they don't take its place. They are lovely and cool and refreshing but they aren't designed for dash! They don't give you that final touch of umph! It's a good idea to keep your cologne or toilet-water in an atomizer too—it's so much easier to apply and so much more economical than the old-fashioned "daubing on."

Sachet belongs to the big perfume family, and most perfume manufacturers put up sachet-bags with their representative scents. The miniature four-poster in the picture above contains Lucien Lelong's dream sachet.
Hang one in your closet and put another in with your lingerie.

The modern woman doesn't have to envy Cleopatra or Madame Pompadour. She knows all their tricks and a few more besides.

R. S. V. P. is a charmingly packaged
Richard Hudnut perfume. Also R. S.
V. P. if you would like to know what kind of perfume would suit you best. Let me know what kind of person you are and I'll try to select the right perfume for you.

TO ALL who relinquish their dancing partners, Mel Marvin relinquishes his baton—and dances!

Bandstand Notes

By Maurice Granger

SEVERAL months ago bandleader Peter Van Steeden wrote a song called "V for Victory." Because this country had not yet made up its mind about the war, the song was considered propaganda and consequently barred from the networks. Today, however, Mr. Van Steeden is deriving considerable satisfaction from the granting of requests for the networks and individual radio stations to play the song. What was at one time propaganda is now considered an important aid to our country's fight for freedom!

Bandata

Tommy Dorsey's tour to the West Coast to appear in a motion picture was important in more ways than one.
Besides presenting his band to thousands of young Americans, he discovered that America is more music-conscious than ever before in its history. According to the bandleader, it's all due to the defense program. With thousands of young people employed, jive, jitterbug and swing have undergone an upward trend. Tommy estimates an audience increase of sixty-five percent over his last year's tour
... A musician's magazine has named Benny Carter as America's No. 1 hot soloist on the alto sax. Jimmy Dorsey, usually thought of as being tops with the sax, placed third. Second place went to Johnny Hodges of Duke El-lington's band.

No matter how experienced the performer or how famous the star, chances are that he will make an occasional slip or a statement with twisted meaning which is extremely funny. See how good your ears are. Try to catch broadcasters in some error—the funnier the better—and send your entry to MOVIE-RADIO GUIDE, 731 Plymouth Court, Chicago. The most humorous entries will be printed in this column. Watch for your contribution!

Voice of Night Shift

Dear Sirs:

I think I am speaking for many of us fellows who are doing our part as workers in factories engaged in defense work on a seven-day, twenty-four-hour schedule, especially those of us who work on the 11:00 p.m. to 7:00 a.m. or other night shifts.

We don't have much opportunity to enjoy the regular forms of entertainment, especially radio. We don't complain about our hours, and we're glad to do our part to defeat the dirty dictators. But when we've had a hard day and the necessary sleep and then during the daytime turn to our radios for some relaxation, what do we get? Very little but all this blah-blah that's supposed to interest women, but doesn't.

What we'd like is more variety, music and good funny stuff, and of course the news. And I think the boys in uniform, too—those who are off duty any time during the daytime—would second this suggestion.

E. A. Reko, Battle Creek, Mich.
