Ada J. Reed, 3857 Wisconsin Street, Los Angeles 37, Calif.

Sirs: It gave me quite a thrill to see my little poem "What's Doin' Ladies?" in the June 3rd issue of Radio Life. It encouraged me to write another about Art Baker's "Never Too Old" program, which I am enclosing. Also one about Joan Davis. You may use these if you care to do so. Thanking you very much.

JOAN DAVIS

Joan Davis has a program which I think is just a corker.

And by the way, if you don't know what that word means, you "orter."

At any rate, I listen in each Friday night to Joanie,

And get the sparkling comedy; for this girl is sure no phony.

I've never seen her face to face, but I have read about her.

And if she hasn't what it takes, she couldn't stand the banter. After a day of work and toil this program is refreshing.

It takes us for a little while away from things depressing.

In times of war, life does seem grim, so why not this half hour,

Enjoy a little bit of fun, when it's within your power?

NEVER TOO OLD

"Never Too Old" is a program gay conducted by Art Baker.

For those who've reached three score and ten or ages even greater.

These Oldsters meet in jovial mood from Monday until Friday,

To live again the good old days when life was in its heyday.

A different state is chosen each day, to give a few

A chance to tell about the one where they were born and knew.

Art has the knack of bringing forth many a funny story,

Which these old persons love to tell, not one of them is gory.

They tell about the good things and seldom of the bad.

Old age has mellowed as it should, events that once seemed sad.

From state to state, and year to year, by train or covered wagon,

To California they've come, the best state they can brag on.

Ten shining silver dollars and a Gruen watch is given

Unto the three whose stories gained the judges' best decision.

And now the program's over, the Oldsters must depart

Adding another memory to the ones within their heart.

Dan Donovan Jr., 2546 Sale Place, Huntington Park, Calif.

Sirs: I have a title which would more accurately describe the contents of "Radio Life"—RADIO PERSONALITIES, Also An Inaccurate, Highly Condensed, Un-up-to-date Schedule For Programs This Week.

If you would only accentuate your main reason for existence and live up to this title: RADIO LIFE, Including An Absolutely Up-to-the-Minute Accurate Schedule for This Week's Programs; A Notation on All the Permanent and Temporary Changes with Many Sketches on Your Favorite Programs and Stars.

I am not by nature critical. It's just that when Mom brings home your magazine, I'd like to open it and find out if the Academy Awards will be broadcasted in place of Michael Shayne, Mayor Bowron will welcome Doolittle instead of Dr. Malone, Truman will welcome conference instead of the Lone Ranger or that Hobby Lobby will take over

For what purpose does your magazine exist? To bring us what we can get in our daily paper schedules.

I am always thankful for the Alphabetical Finder and Highlights of the daily programs and I, of course, enjoy the sketches.

Our assurances to reader Donovan, Jr., that we like and appreciate criticism. Our complaint dept. is always open to unsatisfied customers. But, we doubt that you'd like to change places with our log editor. Finding yourself behind her desk, you would have to 1) meet a weekly deadline; 2) consider as correct the listings received regularly from the networks and stations, but 3) double-check them anyway for additions and corrections, 4) knowing full well that by the time the magazine is in the readers' hands, there will be the inevitable incorrect listings.

If we ever re-name our magazine, we'll call it RADIO—UNPREDICTABLE.

Margaret Slater, Whittier, Calif.

Sirs: I echo the sentiments of those Radio Lifers who hope to have "Those We Love" back on the air. The lovely cultivated voices alone would be enjoyed even if the story itself weren't tops, which it is.

I also enjoy "One Foot in Heaven". Philip Merivale and Miss Kirkland are fine actors, and their voices also are very pleasing. Too bad it hasn't a time on the air not so crowded by other fine shows.

Pvt. William Pugsley, Camp Hood, Texas.

Sirs: During the training at Camp Hood, I have started reading Radio Life. There has been no doubt in my mind that the editor and staff know radio work and its talent.

Before joining the army, I was connected with an agency in Hollywood. I worked as a gag writer; they were supposed to be scarce . . . or so I was led to believe.

I would appreciate it if sometime you would print an article on gag writers in radio . . . how they get their start, make contacts, how they work, etc. Thank you.

Reader Pugsley must have missed our story by Vic McLeod.

IT'S PARTY TIME AT ELSA MAXWELL'S when this group gathers to present the famous lady's daily "Party Line" broadcasts. Here, Elsa chats merrily into the microphone, much to the amusement of her co-workers—engineer Johnny Peoples, producer Tony LaFrano, writer Virginia Cooke and announcer Marvin Best.

Chatter and Confusion Reign Supreme as Elsa Maxwell Delivers Her "Party Line" Broadcasts From Her Bel-Air Apartment

Monday thru Friday, 3:45 p.m.
Mutual-KHJ

OUR RADIO LIFE reporter hied herself out of bed at an early hour one day recently to be Bel-Air-bound by eight a.m., in time to arrive for Elsa Maxwell's gala MBS "Party Line" breakfast, heard locally at a later hour by transcription.

In her cozy Bel-Air Hotel apartment, we found the inimitable Miss Maxwell, in nightgown, robe and red fuzzy-wuzzy bedroom slippers, fresh from her bed and at the microphone chatting breezily, much to the amusement of the entourage which surrounded her — her announcer, Marvin Best; her writer, Virginia Cooke; her secretary, Florence Edwards; her program's engineer, John Peoples; and the show's coordinator, Tony LaFrano.

The topic of the day's broadcast was, as Elsa put it, "Men, from stem to stern, their effects—and defects."

Elsa was talking, and everybody was laughing.

The two-room apartment was crowded and cluttered. The bed was still unmade ("I'm going to have a nap before I take off on my day's journeys," our hostess declared firmly), coffee was being served to everyone present and cups and saucers were balanced precariously around the room; microphones, cables, the engineer's board, an electric timer, the telephone and its cord were all strewn in knotted confusion in the center of the apartment, coats and hats were deposited on every chair, cases of Coca-Cola and liqueurs were stacked in the corner.

Always A Party

One received the immediate impression that, with Elsa around, a party was always in progress. Everything about her was hearty—her handshake, her laugh, her talk. The broadcast completed, she chatted

ON THE HUGE "DETECT AND COLLECT" stage, quiz-masters, Fred Uttal and Wendy Barrie give the third degree to a beluddled, but happy contestant.

Something New Has Been Added

To the Quiz Show, "Detect and Collect" With Those Old Quiz-Masters, Barrie and Uttal in The Driver's Seat Each Week

Wednesday, 6:30 p.m.
CBS-KNX

WENDY BARRIE and Fred Uttal, the kids who "have been around" (geographically speaking), are weekly giving contestants the run-around on CBS' comedy-quiz show, "Detect and Collect."

Something new in a 'name it and claim it' show, "Detect and Collect" offers novelty gifts (bedroom suites and barber chairs) plus cash prizes to the sagacious contestant who detects before it's time to collect. Six clues as to the nature of the concealed gift are given to the contestant who endeavors to detect on his first try. If he succeeds, he is rewarded with a bonus of $25. But, if he requires two or more clues, his cash bonus is diminished by $5, each time leaving him, after his sixth try, only the prize.

Produced by Mildred Fenton, the show stars as co-emcees Wendy Barrie and Fred Uttal. Wendy, so named in honor her godfather, Sir James Barrie, came to America from Londort in 1934.

As a child she made some seven trips around the world, thereby spending considerable time in Tokyo, Singapore, Calcutta, Madras and Rangoon.

Spied By Korda

With no particular intention of becoming an actress, Wendy took a 'flier' with some of her London society friends in the stage production of "Wonderbar" and greatly enjoyed the experience. Her first film opportunity came in 1932 when producer Alexander Korda spied her lurching in the Savoy Grill and offered her a screen test.

In 1934 she grew restless and, without letter of introduction or any business contracts whatsoever, came to New York. Within ten days she signed a Hollywood moving picture contract.

Wendy is five foot, seven inches tall and weights 110 pounds. She has bluish-green eyes and her hair is a mixture of gold and light red. She's an ardent sportswoman, plays a fine game of tennis, and is an expert rider, cricketeer and badminton player.

She is a devotee of Noel Coward. She has never had to diet and can eat anything she wants without even gaining any weight. Recently she married David Meyer.

Known by Name

As for getting around, Fred Uttal has been no piker. Every city in the United States with a population of over 15,000 inhabitants has seen Fred on a number of occasions. On his last round, red caps were beginning to call him by his first name.

His first trip he devoted to convincing pugilists that a new punching bag would guarantee victory in the first round of their next fight. Following that, department store buyers listened to long orations on the desirability of enamel ware. Having put that over, Fred returned to further loving thoughts and good wishes throughout the nation via greeting card salesmanship.

But disaster threatened when he left that sort of selling to tell wives that dishwater ruined lily-white hands and that every husband owed it to the little woman to get her an electric dish-washer. The wives, of course, were delighted but when the husbands threatened to have him tarred and feathered, Fred called a halt on his career as a traveling ▲ LINDLEY ARMSTRONG JONES is Spike's real monicker. He first started drumming with chair rungs on a bread-board. Now, in addition to guiding the daffy doings of his "City Slickers," he is batoneer of a 28-piece legitimate orchestra on his new Sunday airshow which stars Frances Langford.

BEHIND SPIKE Jones' attractively-furnished home in Beverly Hills is a garage filled with just exactly what you would expect Spike Jones' garage to contain—drums, old auto horns, pieces of pipe, bottles, cowbells, costumes, souvenirs from his overseas tour, a little-used bag of golf clubs, etc. etc.

What is more, all of this paraphernalia was recently stacked in the dining room—"until the furniture arrived."

Still more of the assorted odds and ends of the equipment employed by NBC's "King of Corn" and his ten merry men travel permanently in Spike's station wagon, which he keeps cautiously locked.

On his new summer show with Frances Langford, batoneer Jones conducts a 28-piece legitimate orchestra as well as his smaller novelty group. He considers the former the easier to do. There is a great deal more work involved to think up in dealing out sock comedy arrangements for the "City Slickers."

He calls the big band "Lindley's aggregation." Lindley Armstrong Jones is his real name. Because his father was a station agent, Spike spent much of his youth at the railroad station and the railroad spikes suggested his nickname. He first started drumming on a bread-board with chair rungs.

Linda Is Musical

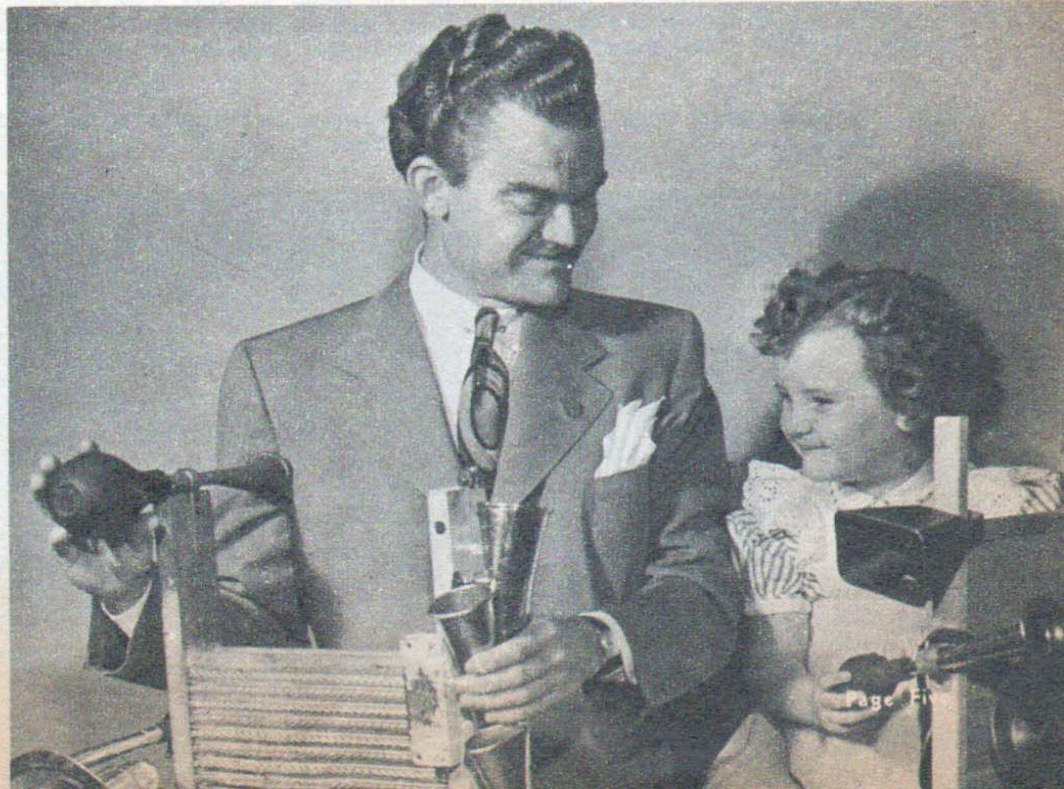

So far, Spike's daughter, 5½-year-old Linda Lee, hasn't started drumming on the bread-board, but she is musical and already a pianist. When on tour with the band, Spike is always shopping for Linda. He brings home pretty ruffled pinafores, preferably blue to match her eyes.

Linda sometimes becomes her father's secretary, answering the telephone with an efficient "Hello," taking the message and phone num-▼ LINDA LEE, Spike's five-year-old offspring, is musical, already sings and plays the piano, has her own musical washboard. When on tour with his band, "Daddy" Jones spends any idle moments shopping for pinafores for his little girl.

TINY, DYNAMIC WOMAN-PRODUCER, Mildred Fenton, is synonymous with "Musical Bouquet." Here, she and orchestra conductor, Earl Sheldon, confer on next week's script.

THE Feminine TOUCH

Is Behind the Lilted and Heart-Warming Harmonies of KECA's Romantic Hit, "Musical Bouquet"

Sunday, 12:00 noon.
ABC-KECA

WHEN THE AMERICAN Broadcasting Company launched "Musical Bouquet," a half-hour program of romantic music, it felt it needed the feminine touch. And so "head man" became lovely lady, Mildred Fenton, who assumed the duties of producer.

Boasting Miss Fenton's gentle hand, the scene is set for each week's musical numbers by the word pictures of Brett Morrison, who serves on the show as host and narrator. Lois Marlow and French-Canadian Paul Frenet, who made his American debut on "Musical Bouquet" are featured as soloists. Frenet is a prominent figure of the concert stage and networks in Canada and a highlight of each program is Frenet's offering of some popular or traditional love song, sung in his native French.

Music by the Earl Sheldon orchestra and soloists flows along in the lilted and heart-warming manner which suggests to all just what the program is designed to suggest—romance and spring—and the lily-of-the-valley perfume which the program advertises.

Ten Years' Experience

And why not? Mildred Fenton has proved herself quite proficient with ten years of radio experience under her professional belt.

After a New Jersey childhood highlighted by a friendship with Thomas A. Edison, Mildred whizzed through school . . . that friendship with the famous inventor of the electric light occurred twenty-eight years ago when Mildred was three-and-a-half and her parents' neighbor, Mr. Edison, used to bounce her on his knee. One time he said: "I see great things ahead for you, my child; keep your eye on radio." And that she did.

Mildred finished high school at sixteen and tried a year and a half of special business classes at the Packard Institute. Then the business career began. First as secretary for the RCA-Victor Company and then secretary to the president of RKO. Suddenly getting a yen for the theater, Mildred had Arch Selwyn and Harold Franklin, the producers, give her a job as general production assistant.

After that came London and an association with the illustrious Charles B. Cochran, the British Ziegfeld. Mildred spent a year working on Elizabeth Bergner's British films as maid-of-all work, doing research on picture material, script prepara-

Was There

Frank Bull, well-known Los Angeles sportscaster and advertising executive, was in the offices of the Smith, Bull and McCreery agency on the 73rd floor of the Empire State Building when the army bomber recently crashed at the 78th floor.

Within three hours after the disaster, Bob Reynolds of station KMPC talked to Bull over long distance phone. Bull gave a graphic eye witness word picture which was first heard on Frank Hemingway's Seaboard Finance News broadcast at noon.

Later, Dick Smith of Smith, Bull and McCreery here talked to Bull and got an account of his reactions. Bull's first-hand story was carried on all major newscasts Saturday.

With Bull in the office at the time were F. J. Smalley, resident manager and former manager of station KFVD, and Virginia Frazier White, secretary, also formerly of Los Angeles. Bull was preparing to leave New York Monday for the West Coast.

He reported that none of his staff was injured. When he engaged the suite of offices there two months ago, Bull quipped, "I'm going to take a parachute along every time I go up. We're issuing oxygen masks to all visiting clients. We've adopted the army air corps song as our theme song."

Bull might have done all right with a parachute that morning.

Fourth Year

On August 1 Bill Hay celebrated his fourth year of reading the Bible by re-reading the story of creation from the first chapter of Genesis, as he has done on each anniversary ever since the program started.

"The Bible is the most wonderful script material there is," Hay commented. "There's never any need for last-minute changes; never any taboos. It's all there, perfect, just as it's been for centuries, and it can be read over and over and over again."

That Hay has read much of it to his air listeners is proved by his own Bible, carefully marked in the margin with the date of reading of each passage. Some of the passages have been read more than a dozen times. Chapter 1 of the Gospel according to St. John, for instance, has been read 17 times; Chapter 14 has been read 16 times.

Hay claims to no one particular favorite passage, but one of his favorites, and a passage which is one of the least known, is Chapter 3 from the Epistle of St. James.

Post-War Jobs

Did you hear about the 19-year-old ex-G.I. who wanted to get married, wanted an apartment, and wanted a job as salesman — and loudly announced it over the radio?

Contradicting any theory that if it's a public service program, it is usually dull, KECA's "Jobs For G.I.'s," is proving just the opposite. Take last Wednesday night for instance. Everyone of the five interviewees was an interesting personality, and more important, they were people with real qualifications for the jobs they sought. Even the nineteen-year-old. Then there was a much-decorated captain from the Army Air Forces who also wanted a job as salesman, a WAC who has a son now serving in Munich and is the widow of a World War I veteran, a pretty young Wave, and a sailor 44 years old who produced musicals in New York before entering the service. All of these have had several offers of good jobs.

"Jobs for G.I.'s" is a half hour of lively listening, proving that good entertainment and public service do mix.

Swing It, Señor!

Somehow, before last week, we never realized there was such a thing as a South American hep-cat! How wrong we were was proved by Jose Ruzafa, of the Argentine Merchant Marine, who is not only a hepster, but is the only one we know who packs his collection around with him. While his ship was in port, Jose took his records to Dave Dexter and Gene Norman of KFVB's Eastside show, and requested that they be played on the program. These imported collector's items include the great foreign bands of Paris, London, Mexico City and Buenos Aires, unavailable anywhere else in America.

Next time he makes the round trip, Jose promises to bring more "underground" platters for Gene and Dave SOPRANO WANTED: Met Opera tenor Richard Tucker and his wife, who are spending the summer in Hollywood while he fills in for John Charles Thomas, hope the baby they're expecting come January is a girl. They already have two sons. I didn't know until the other day that Tucker's sister is Mrs. Jan Pearce.

LUCKY BRIDE: Buddy Rich, Tommy Dorsey's drummer, who recently wed a society girl, thinks his new wife is very lucky. Last week while the band was playing at Mission Beach, Mrs. Rich lost a watch which had been given her by Thomas E. Dewey for her work in his presidential campaign. A Marine lieutenant found and returned it. Oh, yes! When he was asked what the Richs could do to reward him, what do you think he wanted? An album of Dorsey recordings!

CROSBYANA: Every now and then we see or hear about something curt or apparently thoughtless that Bing Crosby has done. Don't suppose you can blame him, for it must get pretty tiresome living in the spotlight all these years and trying to be agreeable to all the demands Joe Public makes on a celebrity. But for everything

For five years it's been a favorite with listeners in other sections of the country, now Southern Californians have their first chance to hear "Famous Jury Trials" on KECA-American every Friday evening at six o'clock! The fictionalized versions of outstanding courtroom trials produce legal fireworks each week in American's New York studios. Every detail of the plays is checked for authenticity by Martin H. Young, attorney and law historian.

One outstanding fact about "Famous Jury Trials" is its record for having captured one of the largest professional and pre-legal audiences on record. Sixty percent of the fan mail comes from law students, clerks and attorneys! But whether you have a legal mind or not, we recommend you tune KECA on Friday at 6, for your share of terse dialogue, and swift-paced action!

TIE A STRING AROUND YOUR FINGER DEPARTMENT ... Arline Francis and her famous "wit and woo" session, "Blind Date," moves from their Monday night time to Friday night at 8, starting this week. This necessitates a "move up" to 8:30 for that popular crime drama series, "This Is Your F.B.I." ... "Meet Your Navy" takes over the Monday night spot left vacant at 9 o'clock, and you've probably already discovered that American's popular "One Foot in Heaven" series is now on Thursday nights at 7.

Those thrilling psychological dramas, "Dark Venture," masterminded by J. Donald Wilson, move to 9 on Tuesday night, which gives KECA's audience a full hour of mystery, the half-hour following (9:30) being occupied by "Murder Will Out" ... which now has William Gargan in the star spot.

If you've gotten the "Listening Post" habit, as so many of KECA's morning audiences have, you'll now find that dramatic fare at a later, more convenient hour ... 11:30 a. m. Pictured here is Ethel Owen, heard in the "Listening Post" stories. She's one of the busiest actresses in radio and on the New York stage.

... 790—It's the Spot ...

PERSONALS ... Alan Young, star of his own program (KECA, Tuesday nights at 8:30) has just been voted the favorite funny man of the Canadian fighting men overseas. Young, himself, is an honorable dischargee from the Canadian Navy ... Bess Johnson, one of New York's better known feminine emcees, is now handling the narration and announcing on KECA's Sunday noon "Musical Bouquet." That program also has a lovely new songstress, Jean Carlton ... Constance Bennett says fashion is a 24-hour word for any smart woman ... Constance is a daily KECA feature at 12:15 ... We're betting that Mary Small's Junior Miss Show will be even more popular than ever, now that the movie's being released! MSJMS is a regular on KECA, Sundays at 2.

... 790—It's the Spot ...

SUNDAY SPECIALS ... We beg to apologize ... the new Hires show on Sunday (KECA at 3:30) is called "Sunday Evening Party" ... its first title was cancelled after we went to press. Walter Winchell is taking a well-earned vacation during August ... his Sunday night spot on American (KECA at 6) will be covered by able reporters Ray Henle from Washington and Frank Kingdon from New York.

That popular American feature, "Washington Story," during which Mr. John Q. Public gets a chance to talk via the Bell system to his Congressman, is moving to Sunday nights at 7 ... by popular request. Too many people complained bitterly of missing the program when they attended church on Sundays.

Three popular Sunday night programs, namely the Quiz Kids at 8:30, Sam Hayes and his roundup of the news at 9, and Evelyn Bigsby and her popular guests and radio reviews at 9:15, are scheduled to go right on through the summer.

... 790—It's the Spot ...

Have you ever heard a show on which the commercials were highlighted? Well, on "County Fair" (KECA, Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m.) no less than six people take part. Leading character, of course, is Elsie, the cow, and her daughter, Betty. Then there's Elmer, Elsie's husband (impersonated by a trombonist), Larry Keating, the announcer, and two or more musicians! They're good, too!

Just Like It Says

Francis X. Bushman, once called "Charles Boyer of World War I," and romantic silent film star who is best remembered for his starring sensation in "Ben Hur," not only is portraying "Nero Wolfe" but from the look of things, is trying to be Nero Wolfe.

An amethyst collector in real life, Bushman appreciates the orchid collecting activities of his air personality. Playing the famed fiction detective, reputed to weigh four hundred pounds, Bushman finds his actual one-hundred and eighty-five must be augmented by the weight of his acting ability.

True to the script, which calls for Wolfe never to leave his chair, except for a visit to "The Orchid Room," housing his fabulous private collection of rare blossoms, Bushman takes the entire rehearsal and broadcast seated in a special overstuffed chair, comfortably propped up by added cushions.

Leave Us Rub Noses

A 96-year-old Indian woman who won the eldest guest award on "Breakfast in Hollywood" a year ago returned to the program recently and again won the honor. She twitted emcee Tom Breneman about kissing all the other women who have won the honor while failing to bestow the usual osculatory award on herself, in her last year's appearance.

"Well, it was like this," Breneman explained. "I just thought all Indians rubbed noses instead of kissing."

"Not in my tribe they don't," quickly responded the guest, a Piute.

P.S. She got her kiss this time.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

Helen Reed, dark-eyed young radio actress, is being considered for a part in "The Robe."

Radio Roundup from KFI

Tenor Richard Tucker now enjoys his first starring radio role as summer substitute for John Charles Thomas on the Westinghouse program heard Sundays at 11:30 over KFI. This dynamic singer made his Metropolitan debut last season in the role of Enzo in "La Gioconda" which, to put it mildly, was a sensation. Mr. Tucker married the sister of Jan Peerce in 1936 and both his wife and brother-in-law encouraged him in his vocal studies. In 1939 he made his debut in Town Hall as soloist with the Zilbert Choral Society, with which he remained for five years. Tucker is a tireless entertainer at service camps and hospitals, and his ambition is to see a municipal opera company in every American city. He and Mrs. Tucker have a seven-year-old son, Barry, who shouted, "That's my daddy!" from the front row when Tucker made his opera debut.

TUCKER

You might be interested to know that the Greeks have a word for Parkyakarkus and that word is SWELL. Harry Einstein, who plays the familiar character on "Meet Me at Parky's" (Sundays at 7:30) has never ridiculed the people he mimics and they love him for it. He has been honored by Greek societies, has received a sculptured figure of Aristophanes inscribed, "To Parkyakarkus, the Modern Aristophanes, from his Greek Friends in Boston," and has a standing invitation to make a trip to Greece as a guest of the Greek-American Line.

ART LINKLETTER, the master of informalities on the "People Are Funny" program (Fridays 6:30) is actually as fascinated by people as any human could be. Right after his graduation from high school, he stuck ten dollars in his pocket and went out to see the world. By hook or by crook he visited almost every state in the Union and held a variety of jobs ranging from a harvest hand in North Dakota to a coupon clerk on Wall Street during the historic days of the '29 crash. In 1942, Linkletter moved to Hollywood and here met John Guedel, who had an idea for a psychological program to be called "People Are Funny." Art had been nursing along some similar ideas so they got together and the result was this great half-hour show you hear each week. His favorite sport is handball, he's 6 foot, 1 inch in height and weighs an even 210. Mrs. Linkletter's name is Lois and they have three children.

Lifelines

adverse, there always seems to come along something nice to tell, like this: When The Groaner recently guested on the "Telephone Hour," tickets were in great demand. Just as the doors to the studio were closing, a sailor slipped through, only to find no place to sit. Noting the lad's dilemma, Bing unfolded an artist's chair on the stage and invited the fellow to view the performance from the wings.

ALONG RADIO ROW: Radio actress Kathleen Fitz is back in Hollywood after three years in the East. With her is a husky 18-months old son, but not present is her husband, Lieut. Comm. Christopher Hartsough, who's senior medical officer aboard the U.S.S. Rudyerd Bay. Kathleen, who used to portray dramatic roles on shows like Lux, wants to face the mike again... Maybe Singer Eugenie Baird won't be back with Bing this fall... Billie Burke is thinking of starting a syndicated column of her own, seeing as how Gracie Allen and Frances Langford and godness knows who else is doing it... Mutual singer Ken Carson, billed as "the man with a zing in his voice," is the father of

ON THE AIR

Members of the Radio Life family will be interested in the fact that Editor Evelyn may now be heard with an air edition of the magazine. She broadcasts every Sunday night at 9:15-9:30 over the American Network and is heard in the Los Angeles area over station KECA. Evelyn gives the latest radio news, a feature on a star or show, and interviews some well-known radio personality. Confined strictly to radio, her program like the magazine, stresses behind-scenes reporting, appealing to all kilocycle fans.

a brand new girl who, he says, "cries with a zing!"

HAPPINESS FOR GINNY: Tuesday, three days after her marriage, the new Mrs. Hyatt Dehn (Ginny Simms) was welcomed, when she appeared for her NBC rehearsal, by strains of Lohengrin played by "Cookie" Fairchild and his orchestra. Proudly wearing a slim, diamond-studded wedding band, Ginny told us that she was married in the dress she was wearing when Hyatt first met her six months ago... that he'd asked that she make it her wedding gown, too. It's a blue taffeta which Ginny herself designed. Her husband, said Ginny, wants her to go on with her career and long before they met, he was a collector of Simms records. The bridegroom, who showed up at Ginny's evening program, seemed a bit bewildered when the flash bulbs popped, but he was swell about posing and impressed every one as being everything Ginny glowingly said he was. (Good for Ginny! She refused to pose sitting atop the piano).

Maxwell's House

merrily on, making it emphatically known, at various points in the conversation, that she 1) doesn't like jewelry, 2) can't stomach home economists on the air, 3) thinks the bobby-soxers are wonderful. "It's their world; I'm all for them!" she proclaimed insistently.

Elsa, herself, has always abided by three rules taught to her by her father: 1) Never be afraid (particularly of "they," meaning "they may say this" or "they may say that"); 2) Never collect inanimate objects (because you can't collect them; they collect you); 3) Laugh at yourself before "they" do (then, if other people laugh at you, it won't hurt).

Living by these three by-laws, the merry Maxwell has bounded along life's road into fame's spotlight as writer, radio commentator, musician, composer, entertainer, party-giver, impresario, globe-trotter, and friend of kings, queens and paupers.

Miss Maxwell has had over eighty songs published ("Love Lasts But a Day" is one of her latest). Her books include "I Live By My Wits" and "The Life of Barbara Hutton." Among countless other activities, she has produced a number of stage revues, organized and built the Monte Carlo Beach Club, Casino Hotel and Piscine restaurants at Monaco, France, organized the golf course at the Lido in Venice Italy.

California Girlhood

Elsa's father was a San Francisco business man, and while he and her mother were traveling throughout the country, Elsa arrived—in Keokuk, Iowa, on May 24, 1883. ("I'm sixty-two years young," she states happily.) She spent her girlhood in San Francisco, attended Miss West's private school, the University of California at Berkeley, and studied further at the Sorbonne, Paris.

It was as a concert pianist that Elsa Maxwell first came to know intimately world-renowned celebrities. It was her love of music which also brought about her first meeting with George Bernard Shaw.

Some years ago, when she was in London "without a penny to my name," she found herself the recipient of a five thousand dollar gift certificate for some jewelry, a token of appreciation from a famous friend.

At the same time, she had been asked by the Rothschild family to negotiate with Fritz Kreisler to have the famed violinist play at one of the multi-millionaire's lavish parties. Elsa wired Kreisler, reported to the Rothschilds, "His price is five thousand dollars."

"The Rothschilds considered that outrageous," laughed Maxwell. "Five thousand dollars for a fiddler! Never! So I took my five thousand dollar check, sent it to Kreisler with my request that he entertain at a party of my own. I gave it, invited the Rothschilds and Kreisler played for them at my home. The newspapers made a big thing of it."

Later, when this ingenious party-giver was vacationing on the shores of the Mediterranean, a friend informed her that the great G.B.S. was also there incognito, and had declared that the one person he wanted to meet more than anybody else was Elsa Maxwell.

"I didn't believe it," said Maxwell. But a few days later, Elsa received an invitation to an intimate gathering of Shaw and such notables as Noel Coward and Lawrence of Arabia.

"There he was—with his beard—and we had a delightful talk. That is, after he found out that I wasn't the type to spout idle flattery. I told him I had read all of his books and hadn't liked any of them—with the exception of 'Love Among the Artists.'"

Later, she asked Shaw why he had wanted to meet her. Shaw, an ardent music-lover, explained that he just had to know the woman who had turned down jewelry to pay a price that multi-millionaires wouldn't pay for the music of Fritz Kreisler.

This anecdote at an end, someone introduced the topic of "charm" into the conversation. The incomparable Maxwell had much to say on the subject—chiefly, a) charm schools are a hoax, b) a large part of charm is vitality, and c) one can't acquire charm, one either has it or doesn't have it.

Elsa, renowned for knowing everybody, was immediately challenged to name those whom she considered to have charm.

It took much thought. Names were suggested and promptly rejected by la Maxwell with such discriminations as "Oh, she's an angel, but she doesn't have charm."

Eventually, with considered selection and rejection, Miss Maxwell's "charm" list contained such names as President Roosevelt ("He was tops in charm"); Bing Crosby; Gary Cooper; Katherine Hepburn ("Katie and I are great friends; yes, she has it, certainly!"); Rise Stevens; Rebecca West; Cole Porter; Jose Iturbi; General Marshall; Admiral Hart; Orson Welles ("Oh, what charm that man has!"); Shaw; Commander Stassen; Laurette Taylor; John Dall; Margaret O'Brien.

"Little Margaret," smiled Elsa, "is delightful. This little bracelet I have on, she gave me, and asked me never to take it off."

Eager to give Miss Maxwell a present, the child actress had purchased the bracelet—a tiny identification chain—with her own money which she had saved in her piggy bank. It was engraved "To Elsa Maxwell."

When her mother asked her why she had chosen that particular thing as the gift, Margaret earnestly explained, "Because it's like what the soldiers wear, so that people will know who they are and what to do when they get hurt. I think Miss Maxwell should have one too, because if anything should happen to her while she was walking down the street some day, nobody would know who she is."

"Imagine," commented Elsa, with a merry twinkle, "anybody finding my immense proportions in the middle of Fifth Avenue and not knowing!"

He's No "Saint"

By Lynn Roberts

Brian Aherne Is Like His Air Role in That He Is an Expert Flyer and Loves To Travel, But Given a Gun, When Not At a Microphone, He's at a Loss!

Wednesday, 9:00 p.m.
CBS-KNY

HERE'S A SORT of Superman," smiled Brian Aherne when we asked him what he thought of "The Saint," the adventurous role he has recently assumed as the star of CBS' new summer series scripted by Leslie Charteris.

"He is never at a loss in any situation, and can get himself out of any scrape—and always quite legitimately, leaving the listener reflecting that it could be done," summarized the actor neatly.

Aherne expressed his complete delight with the show, his first regular air series. Previously, his activity on the ether waves has been limited to guest appearances. These have been many, including some fifteen times on the "Lux Radio Theater" and nine times on the "Kraft Music Hall."

The actor has long been considering a steady spot at the microphone, but waited for the show which appeared right to him. "The Saint," he feels, is perfect radio material. "It has humor, a touch of romance, and lots of excitement."

Doesn't Get Nervous

Aherne is enthusiastic about radio, is not nervous at a microphone, and likes a studio audience although "The Saint" does not have one at present.

"A broadcast reminds me a bit of a little theater," Brian remarked then, "except that one doesn't have to wear makeup. I hate makeup!"

All in all, there is only one thing about radio which worries him. "All my life," he recounted, "I've been scared of being tied down. When I signed the contract for this show, that's what bothered me. My agent was annoyed. 'Come, come, old boy,' he said to me, 'that's not the spirit to have when you're starting a new radio show.'"

Brian laughed loudly at this, but his brow furrowed quickly when he once again contemplated the prospect of staying put for too long a time.

The actor just recently returned from a seven-months overseas tour of Italy, France and Holland, where he and Gertrude Lawrence presented "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" for G.I. audiences. Aherne's graphic account of what he saw of the Italian war was grimly comparable to the realistic cartoon drawings by Bill Mauldin.

Born in Kings Norton, Worcestershire, England, Brian Aherne has always nourished a wanderlust. In 1920, after having made his first professional appearance at London's Garrick Theater in "Where the Rainbow Ends," later abandoning the stage to study at Malvern College, THERE'S ONLY ONE THING that worries Brian Aherne. All his life, he has had a fear of being tied down—which probably accounts for his love of flying. He has made eight solo flights across the country in his own plane.

he went to work in a West African merchant's office in Liverpool with the intent of going to West Africa. But when he met the fellows who had come back from there, he took their advice to stay away.

What occurred after that, Brian
(Please Turn to Page 31)

"THE SAINT" is Aherne's first regular radio role, but he is a veteran of innumerable airplane guest appearances. He has waited for what he considered to be the right material before signing to a weekly series. He calls the "Saint" dramas perfect air fare, with their humor, excitement and romance (supplied by leading lady, Louise Arthur, below).

AS ANY MAN CAN PLAINLY SEE Niles and Prindle were born fifty years too soon! Look at those manly chests, those hard, rugged faces, those keen, discerning eyes, and those square-shootin' trigger fingers. Too bad those boys weren't livin' back in the days of the old West.

"Heldorado" meets Niles and Prindle

WELL, WHADDAYAKNOW? The same two desperadoes—this time in search of big game. When local Las Vegas folks saw the above pictures 'twas whispered Don and Wendell were dudes. But don't you believe it—it's only a fantastic rumor.

RESPLENDENT in store-bought cowboy suits complete with guns, lassoes and a book on how to ride a horse, Niles and Prindle took 'Heldorado' by force.

Unlike the days of yore when mysteriously masked bandits rode into the towns of the Old West and claimed them for their own is our present day 1945. That is until comedians Wendell Niles and Don Prindle landed on the peaceful, sunny hotel veranda of the "Last Frontier" in Las Vegas, Nevada, for the annual Heldorado celebration. Then, you might say, if they didn't resemble the dear, dead days—they, at least, made a lot of noise!

Accompanying the gagsters were lovely Diana Lewis, singers Dale Evans and Maxine Lewis, Dick Foran and Chet Lauck. Heading the festivities with a gala parade, Don and Wendell, Clara Bow, Governor Carville, Senator Pat McKaren led the population of Las Vegas to the big, all star rodeo. The four day celebration was climaxed by a huge dinner at the Last Frontier. 'Our boys' commenced and the story of how they literally brought the house down has amused Radio Row for weeks. While they were entertaining, the balcony collapsed, injuring no one but handing the wise-acres a big laugh.

The boys are proudest of the fact that they sold $78,000 worth of bonds—and were made deputy sheriffs by sheriff, Glen Jones.

▲ THE LUCKY GAGSTERS dropped in on friend Chet Lauck's ranch for a short visit. Anxious to repay his generous hospitality they volunteered to do a little milking. Well—you can guess the results because the boys never guessed it was a doggie.

▲ SURE, PRINDLE COULD ride like a demon. That is when it entailed climbing on saddled and rarin'-to-go Niles. (Now honestly, isn't this silly? But it keeps Don and Wendell happy.)

'Helldorado,' the Old West Where Men Are Men and Don and Wendell Are Don and Wendell — But They Sold Lots of Bonds; Became Sheriffs

▼ THIS, IF YOU HAVEN'T gathered, is N. and P. making like real, bonafide cowboys, complete with bowed legs, swaggers and scowls.

▼ AH! IT LOOKS AS IF all is going to end well after all. While Don blissfully reads an account of his stirring trip, Wendell, who's just a boy at heart, plays with an old gun of Kit Carson's. Close your eyes and hold your ears—it will all be over in a minute.

These are some of the guns that were used by Kit Carson's men while fighting savage Indians

It's Good To Be Back

By Ann Cory

Sunday, 3:00 p.m.
CBS-KNX

IT'S GREAT to be back home," said Conrad Nagel with obviously genuine delight. "It's wonderful to be able to wear old clothes again, and go for two or three days without even shaving."

Mr. Nagel, you suave, smooth-voiced host of CBS' "Silver Theater," newly-returned to Hollywood from three successful years on the New York stage, relaxed over an appetizing luncheon of tamale and watermelon, and talked of the things which give him the greatest pleasure—his daughter, his home at Malibu Beach, motoring, flying, New York and New England, radio.

His daughter, Ruth, is now a writer at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer — "and missing New York," smiled Mr. N. "She loves it as I do."

During his long stay in the East, he was fortunate to have found an ideal place to live in Manhattan. "It was on Sutton Place—right in the heart of New York, but just like the country. We were only a few blocks from the East River, and merely had to walk a short way from our house to sunbathe on the beach, play tennis, or enjoy a game of golf."

His liking for outdoor activity keeps Conrad in a state of perennial contentment now that he is once again ensconced in his comfortable home at Malibu Beach, where he may spend his days working in the garden, lolling on the sand, swimming, fishing and boating.

In Radio 25 Years

Tall, blue-eyed, blonde and baldish, Conrad Nagel is a veteran of radio broadcasting, having started his career at the microphone on local Los Angeles stations in 1920. "Those were the good old days," he reminisced with a smile. "We worked for nothing and thought it was fun. It was a big treat to be on the air, and we called up everybody and told them to listen."

Now one of etherdom's most popular emcees, originator of the "Silver Theater" series seven years ago and, until recently, director of the "Radio Reader's Digest," Nagel speaks with authority about radio. He favors more attention to the writing phase of radio production, declaring that more money and thought should be employed in the selection and building-up of capable scripters, upon whose abilities rests a major portion of the responsibility for the presentation of meritorious air entertainment.

Right Idea

"Why does all the money go toward getting big-name stars which are merely a fleeting shot-in-the-arm for a dying show?" asks Mr. Nagel. "Why not offer such financial inducement to persuade writers of real ability to turn their efforts to radio scripting."

Nagel recalled the early days of the "Screen Guild Players" airshow as an example. "The stars were big, but the material was bad," he pointed out. "Fortunately, the situation was soon remedied, or the program would have died an early death."

Born in Keokuck, Iowa, forty-eight years ago, Conrad Nagel seemed destined to a career in music. His father, Dr. Frank Nagel, was a famed pianist-composer; his mother was a concert singer, but Conrad enrolled at Highland Park College in Des Moines (where his father was professor of music) to study architecture.

Then, while in college, he made his debut as a singer in a school operetta, produced by his father, and therewith transferred his ambitions to the theater.

To Broadway

His debut on the airlines followed shortly afterward, supplemented by a season in stock, vaudeville tours throughout the country and an eventful bow on Broadway as the leading man in "The Natural Law."

In 1926 he decided to take a vacation trip to Hollywood—a trip that lasted for fifteen years and brought him fame and stardom in motion pictures.

Nagel continues to relish cross-country jaunts, particularly by automobile (by air, as second choice). He has motored across the United States fourteen times, especially likes driving through the New England states and on America's spacious modern super-speed highways.

He recalled for us one night when, in an unfamiliar section of the country, he stopped a police car to ask the patrolling officers for directions.

"It was so dark that I couldn't relates as follows: "I lost the job and went to London. When I was down to my last fifty cents, I went into a theatrical agent's office and asked for work. 'Can you act?' said the agent. 'Yes,' replied Aherne. 'Can you run?' said the agent. 'Fast,' said Aherne. 'Run like hell to the Savoy Theater,' said the agent."

Aherne ran like h——, got the job of understudy to Herbert Marshall in "Paddy the Next Best Thing."

With Miss Cornell

Success on the London stage came in 1924 when Aherne appeared as Langford in "White Cargo." He then went to Australia to tour as the leading man in a series of James Barrie plays, and returned to London to make films. In 1931, he was brought to New York by Katharine Cornell to play Robert Browning in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Other stage appearances brought Hollywood movie offers; his pictures have included "What Every Woman Knows" with Helen Hayes, "I Live My Life" with Joan Crawford, "Beloved Enemy" with Merle Oberon, "My Son, My Son" with Madeleine Carroll and "Smilin' Through" with Jeanette MacDonald.

In 1939, the actor wed movie heroine, Joan Fontaine. Their marriage ended in divorce last year.

Aherne now owns and operates a 160-acre ranch in the Coachella Valley near Indio, California. "Help is hard to get, of course. I have only four farm-hands now and should have at least seven," he pointed out, "so I'm doing quite a lot of the work myself."

The actor's yen for travel and his enthusiasm for flying (he has made eight solo flights across the country in his own plane) is in keeping with his adventure-loving role on the air, but his liking for country life, fishing and farming contradicts it.

As much of a superman as he is at the microphone, "actually, I don't even know enough about guns to go hunting," Mr. Aherne confessed. "I've taken pot-shots at rabbits on the ranch a couple of times. But I've never hit any."

Something New Has Been Added

salesman and settled down to a comparatively quiet life in New York.

The motion picture industry then claimed the following two years of Uttal's life. At first he acted in minor parts but soon he became interested in the directing end of the profession. While still engaged in direction, Fred wandered into the CBS studios one day and asked for an audition. One hour later he was bound for Jones' Beach on Long Island to broadcast his first program.

From that time on Fred has been announcing, narrating and acting in many radio programs. He appeared on "What's My Name?", with Arlene Francis. For five years he was on "Mr. District Attorney." He was straight man for Fred Allen, Bob Hope, Al Jolson, Jerry Lester and Walter O'Keefe.

Fred was born in New York in 1900. His father was manager of a large shoe company. He hates formalities and is fond of animals... with one exceptions, poodles.

When radio's oldtimer, Uttal and radio's newcomer, Barrie get together, you know something new has been added! They have more fun than the contestants — especially when they can reminisce about the old days when they really got around (geographically speaking, of course). Since they can't travel anymore they derive as much pleasure from giving contestants like you and me the run-around.

see anything but their badges," Nagel related, "and they didn't even get a glimpse of me. But before I had gone more than a few yards, they drove up beside me and shouted, 'Pardon us, but aren't you Conrad Nagel?'"

"We thought so," beamed the policemen when Conrad made his identity known. "We always listen to you on the radio so we knew your voice."

"I got a big bang out of that," smiled Mr. Nagel. "It certainly is proof of the magnitude of radio—and it made me feel good."

ber. Once, she got the number wrong but insisted, "That's the one he gave me, Daddy."

"It's a wonder she doesn't take it down in French. She knows that, too," Spike reports proudly.

The Spike Jones' home is decoratively furnished with many novel and attractive features designed and built by a friend of Spike, Doc Jones (no relation).

Den Inventory

Spike's favorite room is his den, which contains: A built-in radio and phonograph; shelves of record albums; a large lighted scenic painting that "makes you cool to look at it"; plates with painted caricatures of the "Slickers," done by a talented Spike Jones fan; a typewriter (Spike uses the two-finger method); and a glass-topped table made of an autographed drum, inscribed with the signatures of the famous ("There were eighty-seven names written on it up to Jane Russell," accounted Spike).

Pet of the Jones household is a nine-year-old cocker spaniel named "Judy." Very much missed are Spike's pet goldfish, the late lamented "Agatha" and "Errol Finn." "I'd gotten attached to those kids," Spike said sadly.

Taste for Plaids

The "City Slickers" impresario goes all-out for loud plaid shirts, the same in pajamas, and decorative hand-painted neckties. He is always eating late at night, usually poached eggs and shredded wheat biscuits. The war shortages he feels most are the scarcity of eggs and bacon.

Ever since his popular hilarious recording of "Chloe," his fans no longer hail him with a "Hiya, Spike"; now they shout at him a phrase from his riotous arrangement of the classic—"Hey, c'mere ya old bat!"

Spike's mother still calls him "Lindley"; music critics have tagged him "Spikowski."

Spike Jones' biggest ambition is some day to own a radio station. The activity he most enjoys are those impromptu jam sessions that always start when he and the boys gather at his house.

Once, not long ago, Spike decided he needed a rest and went away to spend a few weeks at Lake Arrowhead. He came back before two days were up. He couldn't stand the quiet!

tion, and even script-girling to Bergner.

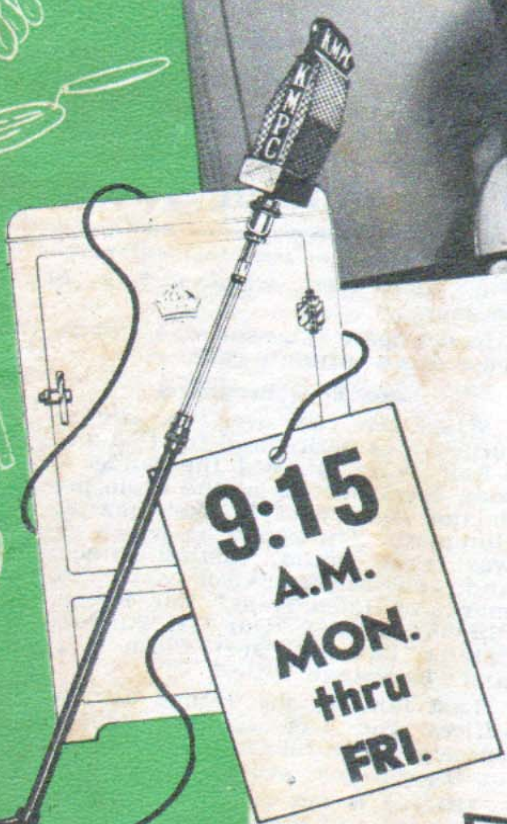

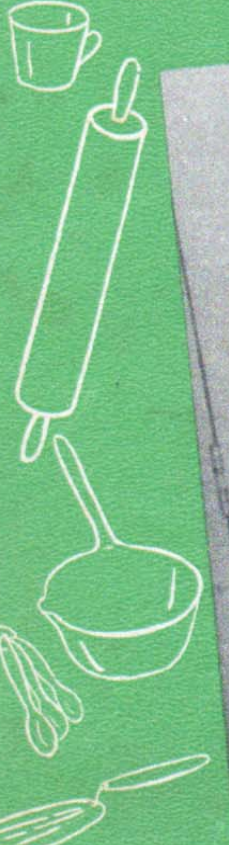

In her spare time she was a chanteuse at an intimate cafe.

Has Four Programs

When the year was up, she returned to America and for five-and-a-half years climbed the ladder of soap opera success at the radio production agency of Blackett-Sample-Hummert. The shows on which she was script editor, casting director and general supervisor were "Romance of Helen Trent," "Mr. Keene," "David Harum," "Our Gal Sunday," "Stella Dallas," "Just Plain Bill," and "Backstage Wife."

Last January she opened her own offices and has already achieved success, with four major programs on the national networks.

Mildred is not exactly a superstitious soul, but she favors number 13. She was born in 1913, has 13 letters in her name, was 13 when she saw her first radio program, landed her first job on the 13th of June, has 13 people to dinner if it's a large party, lives on the 13th floor of her apartment house, wears size 13 dress (though she has to squeeze to get in it), and on April 13th last she produced her 1300th radio show.
