ANN TOOK A CHANCE ON A BATH ALONE

Ann stepped from the tub fragrant and fresh—but even the most perfect bath can't give underarms the extra care they need. Careless Ann—to fail to take precautions—to let embarrassing odor spoil her good times.

JOAN PLAYED SAFE WITH A BATH PLUS MUM

Underarms need special care that a bath alone can't give!

CLEVER JOAN. Popular Joan! No matter how warm the evening—or how late the dance, Joan always has partners galore. Joan dances every dance.

For she never takes chances with underarm odor—the one fault above all others men can't stand. She realizes that a bath takes care only of past perspiration—that it can't prevent odor to come. So Joan never trusts her bath alone.

She follows her bath with Mum—to be sure she's safe from underarm odor. Mum makes the freshness of your bath last all evening long. Don't risk the loss of daintiness, don't spoil your charm for others. Always use Mum, every single day and after every bath!

MUM IS QUICK! Just one-half minute is all Mum takes to apply.

MUM IS SAFE! Even the most delicate skin finds Mum soothing. And Mum is harmless to fabrics.

MUM IS SURE! Without stopping perspiration, Mum banishes every trace of odor for a full day or evening.

ANOTHER USE FOR MUM—Use Mum for Sanitary Napkins, as thousands of women do. Then you're always safe, free from worry.

So easy to use Mum! As simple as applying a touch of face cream. And—proof of Mum's gentleness—more nurses use Mum than any other deodorant. They know underarms need special care!

MUM

takes the odor out of perspiration

THE FIRST THOUGHT IN...

Unguentine is the first thought in first aid ...it doesn't hurt a hurt, but soothes it and relieves the pain. There's no hurt either, when the Unguentine bandage comes off, for it doesn't dry and stick to the wound.

Yet Unguentine is positively and effectively antiseptic. Rub it into the skin to relieve the itching and burning of eczema; spread it thickly on a bandage for burns and injuries. The standard tube is only 50¢; the economical family size jar, $1.00.

Just put on some Unguentine

LIGHT-PROOF FACE POWDER!

The greatest make-up improvement in years

THIS is what happens when your make-up reflects every ray of light.

SEE the difference with light-proof powder that modifies the light rays.

Luxor powder is light-proof. If you use it, your face will not shine. Trial box sent postpaid for a dime!

● At parties, do you instinctively avoid certain lights that you can just feel are playing havoc with your complexion? All that trouble with fickle make-up will be overcome when you finish with powder whose particles do not glisten in every strong light.

Many women think they have a shiny skin, when the shine is due entirely to their powder!

With a finishing touch of light-proof powder, your complexion will not constantly be light-struck. In any light. Day or night. Nor will you have to worry over shine.

Seeing is believing

You have doubtless bought expensive boxes of powder on claims and promises, only to find that you wasted the money. You don't run much risk with Luxor, because your first box will cost you only ten cents!

Test it in all lights, day and night—under all conditions. See for yourself the lovely softness and absence of shine when you use light-proof powder. See how it subdues those highlights of cheek-bones and chin, and nose.

LUXOR, Ltd., Chicago MM-6-38
Send me a trial box of Luxor light-proof powder, postpaid. I enclose 10c (silver dime).

PLATTER PATTER

BY JERRY MASON

BEST news of the recording month is Morton Downey's return to the black platters. Decca signed him and he's turned out two records in the style that made him the air's Number One Tenor. The first is When Day Is Done and End Of A Perfect Day. The other, Love's Old Sweet Song and Home Sweet Home (Decca). You'll like them.

SWING YOUR PARTNER

Jimmy Dorsey's is the outfit that takes first place in the jitter-bug division. Best of his new ones are Doctor Rhythm and On the Sentimental Side (Decca). Smoke From A Chimney backed by My First Impression of You are very rhythmic jobs . . . Thomas Dorsey offers Shine On Harvest Moon and Oh Promise Me (Victor). Shining, too, in his Annie Laurie and More Than Ever, with Jack Leonard. My, my—what a musical family these Dorseys are . . .

Unique and very authentic is the work of Bert Shefter and his Rhythm Octet in two originals, Tamin' The Devil and The Aeroplane and the Bee (Brunswick) . . . Still leader in his class is Bob Crosby. Particularly when he produces something like Just Strolling (Decca). On the back is Kay Weber's It's Wonderful . . . An exhibition of what that Dixieland rhythm sounded like originally is to be had in Please Be Kind and oooOH! BOOM! (Bluebird). The music is by the Original Dixieland Band.

An elegant performance is Cootie Williams' Echoes of Harlem and Have a Heart (Vocalion) . . . Chick Webb is glorified on a 12-inch Decca of Hallelujah and I Want To Be Happy. He and Ella Fitzgerald glorify those two reliables . . . A band that has been a little neglected is the Hudson-DeLange outfit. They shouldn't be, if you can judge from their Definition of Swing and Off Again, On Again (Brunswick) . . . B. Goodman turns in a very nice job on One O'Clock Jump and Don't Be That Way (Victor) . . . And a Quintet that is just as interesting as Benny's Chamber Music Department is Adrian Rollini's. They're exhibited in I've Hitched My Wagon to a Star and True Confession (Decca) . . . The instrumentalists get a break in Bunny Berigan's Piano Tuner Man (Victor) and Louis Armstrong's Trumpet Player's Lament (Decca). Both are swell. Bunny plays Heigh-Ho on the other side and Louis does Sweet As A Song . . . Discounting the fact that Connie Boswell started it, Larry Clinton's Martha is still interesting. So is his I Dreamt I Dwelt In Marble Halls (Victor) . . . If you want to hear what a composer does to his own tune, get Mike Riley's oooOH! BOOM! Still under the 'round and 'round influence, he couples it with You're Giving Me The Run-A-Round (Decca).

CHANGE YOUR MOOD

It's easy with Guy Lombardo's Ti-Pi-Tin and Let's Sail To Dreamland (Victor). Just as danceable are his The Old Apple

Tree and In The Neighborhood Of Heaven . . . The smooth Casa Loma rhythm-salesmen show to advantage in This Is My Night To Dream, sung lovingly by Kenny Sargent, and My Heart Is Taking Lessons, taught by Pee Wee Hunt (Decca).

It's time somebody did something about the musical tricksters who spoil melodies with instrumental gymnastics. Probably the worst offender is Horace Heidt. Any of his records are good—or bad—examples. Blue Barron is another of these lads. He imitates every style from Lombardo to Dorsey. Hear At A Perfume Counter and Did An Angel Kiss You? (Bluebird), and you'll see what I mean . . . Then Heidt and Richard Himber attempt to give their impressions of favorite bands. Heidt in Guess Right (Brunswick) and Himber in Parade of Bands (Victor). As far as I can discover, both records are merely parades of bad music.

VOCALS

His new Dr. Rhythm cinema gives Bing Crosby the chance to chant My Heart Is Taking Lessons and On The Sentimental Side (Decca). And Bing chants charmingly . . . Novel are the tunes (most of which are banned from the air) from Pins and Needles, the Manhattan musical success. Nita Carol and Alan Holt, of the cast, sing One Big Union For Two, Sunday In The Park, Sing Me A Song With Social Significance and Chain Store Daisy (Bluebird).

The best feminine work of the month is Mildred Bailey's. With Husband Red Norvo's band in the background, she presents It's Wonderful and Always and Always (Brunswick). She also does plenty all right by I Was Doing All Right and Love Is Here To Stay . . . Good swing is to be had with Delores Jackson and the Three Rhythm Maniacs on Honeysuckle Rose and Swing, Cats, Swing (Decca) . . . Raising feminine standards, too, is Midge Williams. Hear for yourself with The Greatest Of My Life and Good Night Angel (Vocalion).

FOR you serious collectors, Toscanini's (The sensational NBC maestro) offering of Beethoven's Sixth Symphony is recommended. Victor Album M-417, the orchestra is the British Broadcasting Company's . . . Sir Thomas Beecham conducts the London Philharmonic in Mozart's 40th Symphony (Columbia 316). It's a fine performance . . . Reginald Foresythe, composer of the far-famed Serenade To A Wealthy Widow, has recorded Two Hymns To Darkness (Columbia), his own work . . . A great violinist offers two favorites: Fritz Kreisler with Tambourine Chinois and Caprice Viennois (Victor) . . . A record you should own is Paderewski's interpretation of Haydn's Theme and Variation in F Minor (Victor) . . . Waltz Of The Kiss and Waltz Of The Flowers, two more favorites, are played by the Milan Symphony (Columbia) . . . A beautiful recording is the Columbia Album X-90 of the Bach Concerto in D Minor for two violins and orchestra.

Life as a model taught me...

"Once I was a lady of leisure—with nothing to do but go to parties if I felt like it . . . take it easy if I didn't. But those days are gone forever! It was in the cards, I guess. You know the saying—'Friday's child is loving and giving . . . Saturday's child works hard for a living.' That's me!"

"Now I model clothes—at a shop where I used to buy them! And whew!—the weary miles we models trudge! Up and down . . . back and forth . . . shoulders back, 'tummy' in, head high!"

"Naturally 'certain days' are worse than others. But I soon learned from the other models how to make those days a lot easier! They introduced me to Modess—and, believe me, when you're on your feet all day, a napkin that doesn't chafe makes a world of difference!"

"If you'd like to know why Modess is more comfortable . . . just cut a pad in two. Feel that filler! It's like the down on a duck! So soft and fluffy—entirely different from napkins made of crêpey, close-packed layers."

"And—how much safer! Prove it for yourself. Take the moisture-proof backing from inside a Modess pad and drop water on it! That will show you why you need never worry again about ruining a dress . . . or being embarrassed."

"Then—if you're earning your own living and have to count the pennies, as I do . . . here's some more good news. Modess is easy on the pay envelope! Honestly—for all its greater comfort and security—Modess costs no more than any other nationally known napkin! So—take a tip from me and buy yourself a box of Modess today."

Get in the habit of saying "Modess!"

IF YOU PREFER A SMALLER, SLIGHTLY NARROWER PAD, SAY "JUNIOR MODESS".

THE MODERN METHOD
Norforms are ready for use. There's nothing to mix, nothing to measure. You don't have to worry about an "overdose" or "burn." No apparatus is needed to apply Norforms. They are the modern way to feminine hygiene.

NORFORMS have revolutionized feminine hygiene—made it simple, convenient and easy. These antiseptic suppositories are very easy to use...much more convenient and satisfactory than the old methods of achieving inner cleanliness. They leave no embarrassing antiseptic odor around the room or about your person.

Norforms melt at internal body temperature, releasing a concentrated yet non-irritating antiseptic film that remains in prolonged and effective contact. This antiseptic—anhydro-para-hydroxy-mercuri-metacresol—called Parahydrecin for short—is available in no other product for feminine hygiene. Norforms are positively antiseptic and non-irritating.

MILLIONS USED EVERY YEAR

Send for the new Norforms booklet, "Feminine Hygiene Made Easy." Or, buy a box of Norforms at your druggist's today. 12 in a package, complete with leaflet of instructions. The Norwich Pharmacal Company, Norwich, New York; Toronto, Canada; makers of Ungentine.

NORFORMS

1. Dick Powell refused a "double" for his steer-throwing sequence in Cowboy From Brooklyn. First he jams the steer's head against his thigh.

3. (Above) He keeps twisting and pulling down the steer's head.
4. (Below) Finally the animal is downed. It takes a lot of strength.

2. Next he takes the steer by the horns, pulling one in toward his body, pushing the other away.

When it comes to taking the bull by the horns, Dick Powell is right there

5. Nor does Dick need help with his singing. There's no finer voice heard in radio or on the screen.

THE RADIO HOSTESS

BY NANCY WOOD

Tips and recipes by Dale Carnegie on how to please male guests

You can win any male guest with an old fashioned chocolate cake like this. Men like the simpler dishes.

"IT has been said that eating is one of the most enduring satisfactions of life! And I'm inclined to agree. Furthermore, I've found it to be a fact that everyone's food tastes, throughout his entire life, reflect the things he most enjoyed eating as a child."

The helpfully informative person whom I was just quoting is Dale Carnegie, author of that edifying best-seller, How to Win Friends and Influence People. The self-same Dale Carnegie, of course, whose broadcasts for Colgate over the NBC Red-Network every Tuesday evening at 10:45 EDST have been followed with such keen interest by ambitious men everywhere.

This time, however, Mr. Carnegie was not counseling the men folk, to whom his success talks are generally addressed. Instead, at my urgent request, he had stepped out of his usual rôle in order to give some constructive advice to the ladies. Advice which, as it happily turned out, concerned itself mostly with hospitality; that is, with the right and wrong way to entertain. And since I realized that, through the very nature of his work at the Institute he heads, Mr. Carnegie knows a great deal about men's tastes, preferences and dislikes, during our interview at his house I concentrated upon questions designed to show how we gals in our rôle of hostess-in-the-home can "impress" our masculine guests. Whether they are our husband's friends, our friends' husbands or our own husband-to-be!

So here we have it—a man's eye view of the things the lady of the house should and should not do when there are guests for dinner or the evening. The opinions, moreover of, one who, starting out as a farm boy in Missouri, has carved for himself an important career just through studying people's reactions to one another and to their environment; and in advising them how to make the most of their opportunities.

Do you, when you entertain, make the most of your opportunities? Do your guests acclaim the naturalness, the charm and the tact you show as a hostess? Can you win friends and influence people through your gracious hospitality?

It isn't nearly the difficult task that so many women seem to make it out to be, either, according to Dale Carnegie. Don't get me wrong, though; he neither minimizes the importance of entertaining nor the amount of effort entailed. It is simply that he feels we don't have the picture quite clearly focused in our minds, judging by the way we go at it.

But let's see just what Mr. Carnegie has to offer in the line of constructive suggestions. Suggestions given "across the table" in the dining-room of his unpretentious suburban home and made with a delightful ease, and a notable memory for incidents, facts and quotations, as well as with the ingratiating smile which you see pictured here. Incidentally, as a host he practices what he preaches—which I've found is not always the case with people who specialize in advising others!

"Hospitality," according to our guide and mentor, "should not be thought of as depending entirely upon the quality of the food that is served!"

I'll interrupt here, however, to say that Mr. Carnegie had some excellent ideas along the food line, too, and that his housekeeper, Hilda, was most generous about giving me recipes for his favorite dishes, which you'll find printed here on page 52. All of which things we'll come to in good time, in their rightful place and given their proper emphasis. But for the present we will concern ourselves with the question of making our guests feel so completely "at home" that the mere question of eating is a lesser consideration.

"Remember that your duties as a hostess," continued Mr. Carnegie, "begin at the very front door where your greeting should convey how much you appreciate anyone's leaving

Two Little Play Suits Climbed the Hill...

Two little play suits climbed the hill—
One on Jack, and one on Jill.
Look at Jill's—so bright and gay!
But Jack's is full of tattle-tale gray.

For Jill's mom knows what Jack's does not—
That lazy soap just hasn't got
The pep to wash clothes really clean.
And that's why Jack's things look so mean.

If Jack's mom were as wise as Jill's,
She'd quickly cure her washday ills.
She'd get the golden bar today
That chases pesky tattle-tale gray.

Fels-Naptha Soap is what she'd buy—
So full of naptha, dirt must fly!
Then white as Jill's, Jack's clothes would be,
And as for mom, she'd shout with glee.

PORE-POCKED NOSE!

Watch the Pores on Your Nose! Largest Pores on Your Body—A Stern Test of Your Cleansing Methods

Gorgeous figure—lovely face—but the whole effect ruined by Pore-Pocked Nose! All because she carelessly permitted those large nose pores to fill up with dirt and waste matter and become coarse and unsightly!

You must keep these pores C-L-E-A-N! Not merely surface clean. You need that deep under-layer cleansing that penetrates the mouths of your pores and lifts out hidden dirt that may have accumulated for months. It is this dirt that causes trouble. It becomes embedded and grimy—may breed tiny skin infections or result in blackheads, bumps and coarse, rough skin!

Lady Esther Face Cream penetrates this under-layer dirt. It breaks up the embedded packs in the mouths of your pores and makes them easily removable. Just look at your cloth when you wipe Lady Esther Cream away. You'll be astounded at the amount of dirt that was hidden away! In just a short time your skin is glowingly clean and smooth—alive with vibrant freshness and beauty.

IT'S MY HUMBLE

A recent visitor's view of Hollywood and barn-

Before returning to New York, Rudy dined with Jack L. Warner, of Warner Brothers, and girl friend Judy Stewart.

TO understand Hollywood one should understand what it is saying. To the average person this may be a bit of a problem, inasmuch as the speech of the film capital is further complicated by studio jargon, which is as simple as Greek to the uninitiated.

I have been around the studios a great length of time in a visiting and working capacity, and yet it was only the other day that I discovered the meaning of a word peculiar to Hollywood—a word that would be peculiar anywhere—

His leading lady in Goldiggers in Paris, now finished, is Gloria Dickson who is the fiancée of Perc Westmore.

storming tours, as seen

BY RUDY VALLEE

"whodunit."

And, curiously enough, I didn't stumble onto its meaning in a chat with studio "grips" or "props," but rather in a movie I saw. It means a mystery motion picture and is based on a rather simple question phrased in rather bad grammar. In other words, "Who did the killing?" "Who did it?" Which, naturally, in certain hands, would be phrased as, "Who done it?" But three words are two too many for busy picture people, so it finally becomes "whodunit" and stands for movie mystery.

THERE are three other words used a lot in Hollywood that I'd like to explain to you, because their vast difference in meaning isn't generally appreciated.

They are Preview—Opening—Première.

Specifically, a Preview is an unannounced (the picture's title does not appear on the marquee outside of the theatre) peek by an audience at a brand new picture that's about to be released—but which has not been. In the main, it affords the picture's producers an opportunity to see what an average audience thinks of their effort. Usually these previews occur some time during the evening after the main scheduled feature has been projected. (Continued on page 68)

Rudy, studying a song, went "slightly Hollywood" in dress while out there.

FAY WRAY'S Beauty Method can bring you, too, a Glorious "Camera Skin"

The beauty cream of young Hollywood Stars is Germ-Free—helps keep skin clear of blemishes

LIKE many glamorous film stars, Fay Wray has a simple beauty program to thank for her radiant "Camera Skin". First, nourishing foods and plenty of rest. Second, daily use of Woodbury's Cold Cream.

Her beauty cream retains its germ-free purity as long as it lasts. On the skin, itself, Woodbury's inhibits germ-life, thus lessens the risk of blemishes and faults.

The soothing oils in Woodbury's Cold Cream help give the skin the softness of velvet. And skin-stimulating Vitamin D enlivens the skin, speeds up its breathing.

Why not put Fay Wray's beauty program to work for your complexion? Woodbury's Cold Cream only $1.00, 50¢, 25¢, 10¢.

DUNKING DOUGHNUTS

George Burns told wife Gracie Allen to "Go dunk a doughnut," so she invented a "stringing along with you" technique to pep up the great indoor sport.

George is disgusted about this. But Gracie says: "Didn't you once tell me to use a monkey wrench on a greasy nut, and isn't this doughnut greasy?"

Because her brother told her the doughnuts were tough, Gracie brought out her boxing gloves. George, looking strained, shows how a gentleman does it.

Neglect of intimate cleanliness may rob the loveliest woman of her charm . . . Use "Lysol" for feminine hygiene septic douche. Directions for use are on each bottle.

ONE lesson life teaches a woman is the need for complete intimate daintiness.

Six reasons for using "Lysol" for feminine hygiene—

A man wants to think of the woman whose love and companionship he seeks as his dream of feminine loveliness . . . fresh and exquisite at all times. But, without realizing it, there are times when even perfumes, baths and beauty aids may fail to make you attractive—if you neglect the practice of feminine hygiene. Many experienced family doctors know that this neglect has wrecked the happiness of countless marriages.

1—Non-Caustic . . . "Lysol", in the proper dilution, is gentle and efficient, contains no harmful free caustic alkali.

2—Effectiveness . . . "Lysol" is a powerful germicide, active under practical conditions, effective in the presence of organic matter (such as dirt, mucus, serum, etc.).

3—Spreading . . . "Lysol" solutions spread because of low surface tension, and thus virtually search out germs.

4—Economy . . . "Lysol" is concentrated, costs only about one cent an application in the proper dilution for feminine hygiene.

5—Odor . . . The cleanly odor of "Lysol" disappears after use.

6—Stability . . . "Lysol" keeps its full strength no matter how long it is kept, how often it is uncorked.

Don't risk offending in this most personal way. Be sure of complete exquisiteness. Follow the "Lysol" method of efficient feminine hygiene.

Ask your own doctor about "Lysol" disinfectant. He will tell you "Lysol" has been used in many hospitals and clinics for years as an effective anti-

They give you FRESH Faces

They Keep Stars Fresh!

Who keeps your favorite moviestar looking so FRESH? Why, it's those geniuses of make-up! They give you FRESH FACES on the screen, as Old Gold gives you FRESHNESS in cigarettes.

Old Gold gives you FRESH CIGARETTES

HOURS waiting "on the lot". Dust and dirt. The heat of Kleig lights. Yet a screen star . . . to retain her charm and appeal . . . must be utterly fresh the instant she steps before the camera.

Cigarettes face that freshness problem, too. They travel far to reach you; and along the way they're beset by dryness, dampness, dust. Yet a cigarette . . . to retain its charm and appeal . . . must be utterly fresh the instant you put a match to it.

Hollywood spends a fortune to guard the freshness of its stars. We spend a fortune to guard the freshness of our star . . . Double-Mellow Old Gold.

We put an extra jacket of costly moisture-proof Cellophane around every Old Gold package. Thus, double-wrapped and double-sealed, Old Gold's mellow prize crop tobaccos are protected from staleness. Every Old Gold reaches you exactly as we make it . . . and that's as fine as a cigarette can be made.

The accordion which Phil uses was especially manufactured for him in Italy. Strangely enough, it works "backwards."

Phil Baker is heard every Sunday evening at 7:30 EDST over the Columbia Broadcasting System. He started his radio career on St. Patrick's Day in 1933 and was a hit.

Bottle is actually Harry McNaughton, an Englishman who was a favorite in England before coming to America. He's been with Phil since his air debut.

Ever since March, 1933, when he made his first appearance before a microphone, Phil Baker, thanks to his personality, originality and material, has been one of radio's few outstanding comedians. He originated and popularized the heckling "stooge" type of comedy on the air, just as he did in the theatre. In fact, his characters of Beetle and Bottle are almost as well known as himself. And simply because of Phil's unselfishness in giving sure-fire laugh lines to others.

He started his stage career as a musician. He played the accordion, although he never took a lesson in his life. Good fortune first smiled on Phil when he teamed with Ben Bernie in vaudeville. Their act was tremendously successful. But it was not until he left Ben and did a "single" that his great gift of humor really became famous.

Phil, decidedly a family man, is the father of three children. Mrs. Baker is the former stage star, Peggy Cartwright.

Phil's humor is never offensive. He knows how to get laughs without resorting to off-color material. Radio listeners depend on him to cheer them up. And he never lets them down. His purpose in life is to make people happy and he has succeeded brilliantly.

To Phil Baker, of the Good Gulf Program, Radio Stars Magazine presents its award for Distinguished Service To Radio.

FROM London comes something foreign to U. S. radio sets—dirty jokes.

Via WOR, the London Palace Of Varieties presented a number of inferior vaudeville artists of the type who contributed to the demise of that institution in this country. In this company was comedian George Robey, whose stature abroad is equivalent to W. C. Fields' here.

Robey went in for double entendre so much that finally he found it necessary to complain that people always took his jokes the wrong way. To prove it, he told the one about the couple who registered at a hotel as man and wife. The man asked his alleged wife a question as he was signing the register and she answered: "Yes, sir." But, Robey explained, they really were married. However the explanation came after the audience had snickered, enjoyed the salacious hint. That particular gag was dirty enough to be used in an Earl Carroll blackout years ago.

Then he told the one about the old maid who arrived at a neighbor's house just as they were giving the baby a bath. Said the old maid: "If my memory serves me right that's a boy ..."

Wherein salaams and slams are justly accorded the good and bad in air entertainment. There's no chip on our commentator's shoulder. He states only facts

Fannie's childhood desire to play Topsy in Uncle Tom's Cabin inspired her to create Baby Snooks for the stage 17 years ago.

BY GLADYS
HALL

FANNIE BRICE'S SECRET OF HOW TO KEEP SMILING

Her air version of Baby Snooks makes America laugh even when Fannie doesn't feel mirthful herself. Keeping her grin is an art Eleanor Holm, swimming champion, radio singer and Tarzan's latest film mate, announced her engagement to Billy Rose while still Mrs. Art Jarrett. But Fannie hasn't yet divorced Billy.

Show producer Billy Rose married Fannie about eight years ago. Previously she was wed to a barber named White, whom she divorced in 1912, and to Nicky Arnstein, from 1919 until 1927.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Marital upheavals are enough to get any woman down, but not Fannie. Three times she's tried and three times she's failed, yet the Brice smile has not been dimmed.

Not many people know that she was once married to a barber named White, and that the union terminated in 1912.

Her next venture was more difficult to laugh off. In 1919 she married notorious Nicky Arnstein, loved him blindly though he was unworthy of such love. Came screaming headlines of a five million dollar bond robbery, and Nicky disappeared. For two years Fannie believed him innocent, though she did not know where he was. She was in the Ziegfeld Follies at the time, and Fannie's smile, like the show, had to go on. Not until she sang My Man from the stage did her public realize what kept her fortified against despair. After two years, Nicky returned to New York and voluntarily surrendered to the police. In October, 1925, he was condemned to Leavenworth, where he remained for two more years. Fannie waited for his release, tried to resume life with Nicky, but things were not the same. In 1927 she sued for a divorce, charging cruelty.

Around 1930 Fannie became the wife of Billy Rose, producer of spectacular shows. They were seemingly happy until recently, when a strange announcement appeared in the papers. It was that Eleanor Holm, swimming champion, intended to marry Billy.

Fannie was taken completely unaware. So was Eleanor's husband, Art Jarrett, who immediately sued for divorce.

If this state of affairs disturbed Fannie, it was not at all evident. She continued with her screen and radio work and the smile was no less bright. Though they are separated, neither Fannie nor Billy has started divorce proceedings as we go to press. Rumor has it, however, that Fannie may surrender the title of Mrs. Billy Rose in the near future. Still, the smile carries on. Herewith, in an exclusive interview with Gladys Hall, Fannie explains why:

"I KEEP SMILING," said Fannie almost sharply, "because I can't bear anyone to feel sorry for me. And this is a secret, or has been up to now. It's the secret of why I keep smiling. How I keep smiling is another story, we'll come to that later . . . No one has ever seen me cry. No one ever will. I'd kill anyone who put their arms about me and gave me a 'Gee, I'm sorry for you, kid.' Just let anyone try to pity me! I'm even embarrassed when other people cry. I never know where to look or what to do or what to say.

Fred Allen's ad-libbing is a menace to cast and guests, for it frequently leaves them speechless. His face isn't any help!

WHEN you hear of all that money coming in, you wonder what the radio and movie stars do with it. Here's a sample—a little exceptional, to be sure, but it's an idea: Jon Hall was paid $2,000 recently for one appearance on Kate Smith's program in New York during an interval between pictures in Hollywood. He has two agents, one for business and one for legal affairs, each of whom gets ten percent of his earnings. There went $400. Under his movie contract, he had to surrender half of his outside salaries. Deductions, so far, total $1,400.

He had to travel from Hollywood to New York and in the de luxe style that movie stars use. The cost would be around $300, round trip, with extra fares, meals on the train, etc. He couldn't go to just any hotel in New York. Appearances must be kept up, so the few days spent in rehearsal and broadcast were another $100. That left Mr. Hall $200 profit for his appearance on the Kate Smith show, which made him one of the lowest-profit actors of the whole cast that week, in spite of all his movie reputation.

Imagine what he said when the income tax (California, New York and federal) men came around to levy on that $200. (He had to pay rent in Hollywood, too.)

HERE'S another reason why radio programs can't get anyone they want for a certain week. An NBC Sunday afternoon program titled Radio Newsreel came across a Philadelphia schoolboy named Donald Duck. The kids in school all teased the boy and he seemed material for an amusing radio interview. NBC has a rule that all interview prospects must be approved in advance.

This case seemed simple, so the young man from Radio Newsreel came blithely up to NBC with the clipping about the little boy named Donald Duck.

"Well," was the cautious reply, "Walt Disney has been very cagey about allowing use of the Mickey Mouse name. Maybe you better get his approval."

Mickey Mouse is in the New York phone book so the young man telephoned the number.

"Mickey Mouse, good morning," said a young lady. It was a little confusing but the young man asked questions and finally was connected with an executive on another floor. There was some hemming and hawing about whether a Philadelphia schoolboy named Donald Duck was entitled to the name, even if it was his own. Finally decision came that the Mickey Mouse office would not object if Mickey Mouse's sponsors on the radio, the Pepsodent Company, didn't mind.

The sponsors were telephoned in their New York office and the young man was referred to the Chicago office. He knew an answer to that one. His company had a Chicago office, too. He dumped the whole thing in its expansive Middle-Western lap. The Chicago office started phoning and found the whole difficulty vanishing like nothing. Of course, the Pepsodent Company didn't mind! The Philadelphia boy's name was Donald Duck, wasn't it?

The young man in New York took all the chapters of his story back to NBC. They agreed he had lived up to all conditions and granted him permission to go ahead and arrange an interview with the little boy, aged seven, named Donald (Continued on page 70)

THE BANDWAGON

THE band business is a highly competitive one, but there is a certain leader who is the favorite of the majority of the boys. Strictly, he isn't a dance maestro, yet his dance arrangements are the best you'll hear. He also knows how to swing out on a chorus of Beethoven. Andre Kostelanetz is the name, and he will go to any length to get the perfect musical effect. That's one of the reasons for his success.

On a recent broadcast, for example, he played an arrangement called "Movie Music." Unusual effects were needed and Kostelanetz worked a week to devise them.

One he used was a small, red rubber hose. He had a saxophonist pinch the end of the hose, blow into the other end and play the tune of Popeye, The Sailorman. He created another effect with six medicine bottles filled to varying heights with water. The three saxophonists abandoned their orthodox instruments, blew into the bottles and out came another tune. The shopping for those effects was done at the corner drug-store.

One sound he uses, though, hurts the sensitive Kostelanetz ear. It is produced by an obsolete instrument called the "rothophone," a cross between an anaemic saxophone and a flute. He says it should be called a "rotten-phone"—but its wheezy tone is a good one.

Andre thinks the best effects are usually the easiest ones. He ends his orchestration of Good Night, Ladies, for example, with the slam of a door—a real one. One of his most famous tags goes with Church Mouse on a Spree. He went around to a 53rd Street hardware store, bought two mouse-traps—one for a spare—and had Violinist Ocko snap the steel catch into a microphone to end the number.

He polished off his arrangement of Raymond Scott's Powerhouse by sounding a whistle. It was a whistle he bought in a ten cent store, but he had to buy five of them before he got the one that hit B above high C.

Sometimes he needs the sound of a boat whistle. Every radio sound effect department has an instrument that sounds exactly like a boat whistle. But Kostelanetz went down to the waterfront, stopped at a marine supply store and bought the one he wanted.

BY JERRY MASON

Entertaining notes on American music-makers, with special emphasis this month on Andre Kostelanetz and how he obtains his unique sound effects

One Kostelanetz musician makes a living by the skin of his teeth. He is Bernie Ladd, who plays the "dental blocks" for certain arrangements. The dental blocks are nothing more than Ladd's molars and bicuspids tapped in front of the microphone with his fingernails or a pencil. By changing the shape of his mouth, he changes the pitch and can even play a recognizable tune.

One of the more famous Kostelanetz arrangements is that of Casey Jones. Andre paints a musical picture of the sad and sudden departure from life of Engineer Casey. After the big kettle drums indicate the fatal crash of engines there is silence. A silence which is broken by a typical Kostelanetz touch—the "tweet" of birds, produced by courtesy of the sound effects department. The idea, of course, is that Casey is on his way to heaven.

At the moment, Andre is very proud of another invention of his. He's discovered a new way to use his brass section and a piano. Looking like a Rube Goldberg drawing, the invention works like this: The cover is lifted off one of the baby grands. Six long, hollow cylinders are placed on top of the strings. Six members of the brass section line up (see picture), each to a tube, and play their instruments directly (Continued on page 72)

Andre is proud of this piano-brass section invention. The piano cover is removed, cylinders inserted under a heavy cloth, and six men play into the openings of the cylinders.

COAST-TO-COAST PROGRAM GUIDE

THE regular programs on the four coast-to-coast networks are here listed in a day-by-day time schedule. The National Broadcasting Company Red Network is indicated by NBC-Red; the National Broadcasting Company Blue Network is indicated by NBC-Blue; the Columbia Broadcasting System by CBS and the Mutual Broadcasting System by MBS.

All stations included in the above networks are listed below. Find your local station on the list and tune in on the network specified.

ALL TIME RECORDED IS EASTERN DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME. This means that for Eastern Standard and Central Daylight Time, you must subtract one hour. For Mountain Daylight and Central Standard Time, subtract two hours. For Pacific Daylight and Mountain Standard Time, subtract three hours. And for Pacific Standard Time, subtract four hours. For example: 11:00 A. M. EDT becomes 10:00 A. M. EST and CDST; 9:00 A. M. MDST and CST; 8:00 A. M. PDST and MST; 7:00 A. M. PST.

If, at a particular time, no network program is listed, that is because there is no regular program for that time, or because the preceding program continues into that period.

MRS. VICTOR DU PONT, III

It helps their Skin more directly!
THE NEW CREAM WITH
"Skin-Vitamin"

FREDERICA VANDERBILT WEBB
now MRS. DAVID S. GAMBLE, Jr.

MRS. HENRY LATROBE ROOSEVELT, JR.

"A great advance . . .

"Pond's new Cold Cream is a really scientific beauty care. I'll never be afraid of sports or travel drying my skin, with this new cream to put the 'skin-vitamin' back into it."

MRS. HENRY LATROBE ROOSEVELT, JR.

"Helps skin more . . .

"I've always been devoted to Pond's. Now with the 'skin-vitamin,' it helps my skin more than ever. Keeps it bright and fresh looking all through the gayest season."

FREDERICA VANDERBILT WEBB
now MRS. DAVID S. GAMBLE, JR.

"Gets skin really clean . . .

"Pond's Cold Cream gets my skin really clean. Now it nourishes, too, and keeps my skin so much softer."

MRS. VICTOR DU PONT, III

A NEW CREAM that puts the necessary "skin-vitamin" right into skin!—The vitamin which especially helps to build new skin tissue—which aids in keeping skin beautiful!

Since Pond's new "skin-vitamin" Cold Cream was announced, hundreds of women have tried it!

In this advertisement we are repeating the words of some of the first to try it—"A great advance"—"Keeps my skin better than ever"—"Gives better color"—"Keeps my skin finer and softer in spite of all my sports."

Exposure dries the "skin-vitamin" out of skin . . .

Exposure is constantly drying this "skin-vitamin" out of the skin. When there is not enough of this "skin-vitamin" in the diet, the skin may suffer—become under-nourished, rough and subject to infections.

Suppose you see what putting the "skin-vitamin" directly into your skin will do for it? In animal tests, skin that had been rough and dry because of "skin-vitamin" deficiency in the diet became smooth and supple again—in only 3 weeks.

Use the new Pond's Cold Cream in your regular way for cleansing and before make-up. Pat it in. Leave some on overnight and whenever you have a chance. Do this faithfully for 2 or 3 weeks. Some women reported enthusiastically within that time!

Same jars, same labels, same price

Now every jar of Pond's Cold Cream you buy contains this new cream with "skin-vitamin" in it. You will find it in the same jars, with the same labels, at the same price.

SEND FOR THE NEW CREAM!

TEST IT IN 9 TREATMENTS

Pond's, Dept. 9RS-CT, Clinton, Conn. Rush special tube of Pond's "skin-vitamin" Cold Cream, enough for 9 treatments, with samples of 2 other Pond's "skin-vitamin" Creams and 5 different shades of Pond's Face Powder. I enclose 10¢ to cover postage and packing.

DANDRUFF?

4 Minute Treatment Stops Dandruff Itch And Kills Nasty Scalp Odor

Dandruff is the sign of a diseased, unclean scalp. Through neglect, the tiny sebaceous glands (oil glands) fail to work as they should and become clogged with scales and dirt. The scalp becomes infected by germs and fungi, and the condition spreads.

Skin specialists generally agree that effective treatment for dandruff must include (1) regular cleansing of scalp; (2) killing the germs that spread infection; (3) stimulating circulation of the scalp; (4) lubrication of scalp to prevent dryness.

The Zonite Antiseptic Scalp Treatment Does These 4 Things

WHAT TO DO: Massage head for 3 minutes with this Zonite solution — 2 tablespoons Zonite to 1 quart of water. Use this same solution for shampoo with any good soap. Rinse very thoroughly. If scalp is dry, massage in any preferred scalp oil. (For complete details of treatment, read folder in Zonite package.)

It is vitally important to use this treatment regularly (twice every week at first) to keep dandruff under control and keep germs from spreading. Because reinfection constantly takes place from hats, bed-pillows, combs and brushes.

If you're faithful, you'll be delighted with the way this treatment leaves your scalp clean and healthy—free from itch and nasty scalp odor.

At all U. S. and Canadian drug stores.

TRIAL OFFER—For a real trial bottle of Zonite, mailed to you postpaid, send 10¢ to Zonite 612 New Brunswick, New Jersey U. S. A.

DALE CARNEGIE'S RECIPES

JIFFY WAFFLES

- | | |
|---------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2 cups sifted cake flour | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 4 teaspoons baking powder | 1 1/2 cups milk, approximately |
| 1 teaspoon sugar | 1/3 cup butter, melted and cooled |
| | 2 eggs |

Sift together cake flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. (Meanwhile have butter melting.) Add one cup of milk and beat until smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, to the melted and cooled butter. Beat together thoroughly, then add to flour mixture. Beat well. Gradually add remaining 1/2 cup milk. Cook in preheated hot waffle iron. This waffle batter should be quite thin, so, if necessary, add a little more milk than suggested.

FRIED CHICKEN, HILDA

Have tender frying chicken separated into pieces. Clean, singe and wash. Dry well, sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Sprinkle with a little flour. Melt 4 tablespoons fat in deep iron frying pan or skillet. (Half butter, half vegetable shortening is an excellent combination.) When fat is very hot, add chicken pieces and brown well on all sides. Reduce heat, cover pan and cook until chicken is tender—approximately 1 hour. Remove chicken to heated platter. Pour off excess fat in pan, leaving about 2 tablespoons. Add 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, brown slightly. Slowly add 1 cup milk. Heat and stir until smooth and thickened. Add seasonings to taste. Pour gravy over chicken or serve in separate bowl. This chicken is delicious served with the waffles given above.

HASHED BROWNEED POTATOES

Peel 4 medium sized potatoes. Using a coarse shredder, shred potatoes into cold water. (They may be diced or chopped fine, instead of shredded, but since they must be very fine, a shredder is the quickest method.) After 10 minutes drain potatoes and wipe dry between folds of clean towel. Meanwhile, brown a medium sized onion, minced fine, in 3 tablespoons butter. Add potatoes. Sprinkle with salt and a little pepper. Cook until potatoes are tender (about 20 minutes) stirring frequently. Then cook 5 minutes longer, without stirring, to form a brown under-crust. Fold like an omelet and serve.

OLD FASHIONED CHOCOLATE CAKE

- | | |
|---|-------------------------------|
| 2 1/2 cups sifted flour | 1 1/4 cups sugar |
| 2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder | 3 egg yolks, beaten |
| 1/2 teaspoon soda | 1 cup buttermilk or sour milk |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | 1 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1/2 cup butter or other shortening | 3 egg whites, stiffly beaten |

Sift flour, measure. Add baking powder, soda and salt. Sift together three times. Cream butter (or other shortening) thoroughly. Add sugar gradually, creaming together until light and fluffy. Add well beaten egg yolks; beat thoroughly. Add flour mixture alternately with the buttermilk or sour milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Add vanilla. Fold in egg whites lightly but thoroughly. Bake in two greased and lightly floured 9-inch layer cake pans in moderate oven (375° F.) 25-30 minutes or until a cake tester inserted in cake comes out clean. Cool. Cover with the following frosting:

SOFT CHOCOLATE FROSTING

- | | |
|---|----------------------|
| 4 squares unsweetened cooking chocolate | 4 tablespoons flour |
| 1 1/4 cups milk | a pinch of salt |
| 1 cup sugar | 2 tablespoons butter |
| | 1 teaspoon vanilla |

Place chocolate and milk in top of double boiler. Cook over boiling water until chocolate has melted. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Combine sugar, flour and salt. Add a little of hot chocolate mixture, mix to a smooth paste. Gradually combine with remaining chocolate mixture in top of double boiler. Continue cooking over boiling water until smooth and thickened, stirring constantly. Continue cooking 5 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Add butter, cool. Add vanilla and spread between layers and on top and sides of cake.

RICH CUSTARD PIE

- | | |
|------------------------------|-----------------------------|
| rich pastry for 1-crust pie | 2/3 cup sugar |
| 1 egg white, slightly beaten | 1/2 teaspoon vanilla |
| 1 cup thin cream | 1/4 teaspoon almond extract |
| 3 eggs, slightly beaten | nutmeg |

Line a small pie plate with rich pastry, fitted loosely into plate. Cut an extra long thin strip of pastry, place around rim of pie. Make a deep fluting around rim with floured fingers. Prick pastry several places with tines of fork. Bake 5 minutes in hot oven (450° F.). Remove from oven, cool. Brush entire shell with slightly beaten egg white, before adding filling.

FILLING: Bring cream to a boil. Beat eggs slightly, mix with sugar, vanilla and salt. Slowly add the cream. Blend thoroughly and pour into pie shell, prepared as directed above. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) until knife inserted in custard filling will come out clean (about 30 minutes). Chill thoroughly before serving.

“Look at those snapshots . . .
then decide,” says DOROTHY DIX, famous adviser on life and marriage

I BELIEVE that practically every girl or man has a chance, sometime during romance days, to make a happy marriage. Unhappy marriages simply show how many let the right chance slip . . .

“Try this plan: When you meet someone you like, see that you get plenty of snapshots. This is a natural and easy thing to do—romance and snapshots go together like music and moonlight . . .

“And be sure to save your snapshots. Then, when you think your big moment has arrived, get out the snapshots of all the others. See what they say to you. See if the faces and scenes don't awaken memories that make you pause. Perhaps you'll recognize the right chance that has gone by temporarily, but can be regained.”

RADIO STARS

"SWING IT, sister! Truck on down!" cried your boyfriend all last winter, as you whirled gaily through an astounding series of intricate steps to the mad, spirited rhythm of swing. You shagged and big-appled, trucked and Suzy-Q'd with the best of them. And you loved it! 'Cause it has been fun!

But, while swing and the shag are entirely too fascinating to be put aside completely, aren't you just a little tired of them now? Don't you feel romantic these lovely spring days, these balmy spring evenings? Don't you yearn for a little more sentiment, a little less clarinet? Wouldn't you—instead of having your partner swing

Soft spring music and waltzes call for demureness and charm. This gown of Helen Claire's is a full-skirted white printed organdy with balloon sleeves. Helen's on Dreams of Long Ago.

WALTZING INTO FASHION BY WENDY LEE

Irene Wicker, The Singing Lady, looks picturesque in a white Swiss organdy. The bodice is edged with Irish lace and shoulder straps are of narrow black velvet ribbon.

Jean Yewell, NBC vocalist, favors the romantic peasant-type dress. Festive colored dots fleck the sheer fabric and grosgrain ribbon outlines the demure neckline, sleeves and three flounces.

The high hair-do of crinoline days is a charming complement to the new waltz mood. Jean Dickenson, of The American Album, holds her upswept curls with a rose.

you roughly away and scream hoarsely: "Swing it!"—rather have him hold you lightly, lead you through graceful steps to music less primitive, more polished, and whisper tender sentiments into your ear? Give him a chance to notice and remark upon the color of your eyes, your flawless complexion, your lovely soft gown. Waltz your way to romance!

For the waltz is here again! More than a hundred years old, and still going strong, the favorite dance music of our great-great grandmothers still persists in popularity. The most beautiful romantic music has been written in waltz-time. The most famous operettas have been built around the waltz. The love songs that have lasted through the years, the old favorites that everyone knows, are soft and sweet, too beautiful ever to die.

I don't want to embarrass other people that way. I don't want to embarrass myself. So, the only time I ever cry is when I'm behind closed, locked doors.

"I get the blues," said Fannie, "sure I do. And when I feel them coming on I always hope it will rain so I can get 'em good. I have a good cry all by myself and then I go into my bathroom and slap cold water on my eyes and take a good look at myself and I gotta laugh. I can't take myself seriously any more. I know now that nothing lasts for long, not even the blues.

"This business of how to keep smiling," smiled Fannie, as we faced one another, "well, here's my Number 1 Formula: Keep working and you'll keep smiling. That's the best advice I can give anyone, including myself. I've been giving it to myself ever since I was a kid and gave my impromptu entertainments on the sidewalks of New York. I'm still taking daily doses. Know the times I find it hardest to keep smiling? The days when I haven't accomplished anything, even if it's only a little something like going down town and finding a new hat that's becoming to me. That's something accomplished, something done. And I'm telling you that I do 'whistle while I work.' Most of us do.

"Of course," grinned Fannie gaminishly, "we can't all have the Brice breaks and take our pennies out of producers' mouths by earning our daily bread alongside of Clark Gable or Bob Taylor or Allan Jones in the movies. But that isn't necessary. Necessary? It's a luxury!

"I mean it when I say that if I've got any 'secret' of how to keep smiling it's to keep busy, keep working. You may think as you read: 'Oh, it's easy for her to preach, in moom pitchers and all. Who wouldn't keep smiling with a job like that!' Now lemme tell you something. I could get just as bored running around a set in a studio or control-room in a broadcasting station as you do running around after a vacuum cleaner. You do anything long enough and it'll get monotonous if you give it a chance. So what I mean is, keep working at whatever job is your job. This may not be the answer you'd like me to give, but it's the true one. If you're a housewife and feel the blues coming on, get going and clean out the ice-box or get at the mending or get out the winter clothes and go moth-hunting or go down town and buy a new hat. Whatever your job is, do it—and you'll keep smiling.

"And don't do things that wipe the smiles off. Don't go around trouble-shooting, looking for smile-erasers. I don't.

"I don't say that we're put here with ready-made laughter in our hearts, the most of us. I think we gotta make our own laughter as we go along. It's like training any set of muscles, if you keep at it long enough you'll develop 'em."

(And by the way, don't let Fannie's "ain'ts" and "gottas" deceive you. She just drops into her professional vernacular intentionally.)

"Of course," Fannie was saying, "a sense of humor is the real answer. I guess you're born with it or you're not. And it's something no one except yourself can give you, not even the medical profession can give you a shot of humor in the arm or monkey-shine glands or those things. I got it, and no credit to me because I was born with it, not being able to help myself, one way or the other. And a sense of humor means courage, though it may not seem modest for me to say this just after admitting I got it. But it does. It means you've got the guts to laugh the tough job of living right in its teeth, and sometimes its teeth are fangs."

Born laughing, she's had to learn to keep laughing, has Fannie, even as you and I. Or haven't we? Well, if we haven't, here's a chance to learn how from one of the greatest funsters of our time. No "clown with a breaking heart" is Fannie, but remember, Fannie sings My Man. And she isn't laughing then, either in her heart or on her lips, I'd lay a bet on that. And remember, Fannie is Snooks, who makes you laugh every Thursday night over NBC when she appears on the Good News of 1938 radio program. And somewhere in between the Fannie who sings My Man and the Fannie who is Snooks is the Fannie who laughs while she lives . . .

"It's great," Fannie was saying, then, shuffling cards just because her restless hands must be doing something, "it's great while you're climbing to the top. It's easy to laugh then. Because you're young then and you don't have to teach youth the secret of how to keep smiling. They know it. Laughing is easy on young mouths. And even if your heart gets busted when you're young, well, sure it hurts, but it mends easier, too. It's when you get to the top that it's tough. That fame you've been reaching for, it don't mean so much when you get it, because you keep forgetting you got it. You get used to anything, like I said, working with a vacuum cleaner or working with movie stars. It's all one.

"And here's another thought: Don't get blue, don't quit smiling if you don't get to the top. Don't go around thinking you're an 'undiscovered genius.' Because there's no such a thing as an undiscovered genius. If you got it, you give it and you're discovered. And if you haven't got it you stay put and no use getting mopey about it. If you haven't got one thing, you got another. Find out what it is and keep smiling . . .

"I keep out of a rut. That's another priceless secret. You can't keep smiling when you're in a rut. What's there to smile about? Who's there to smile with? I don't stay too long in any one place. You may say: 'But I can't move, it takes too much dough!' All right, you can take a walk, can't you? You can probably go to a movie. You can read a book about some other place. I keep changing my routine, too; at home, in my work, like giving birth to Snooks. I keep making new friends, spending time with my old friends like Ann Pennington and Bea Lillie. I go trout fishing. I keep reading new books, hearing new music, seeing new movies, learning to play new

MAKING A PLAY FOR

Helen Lynd, CBS songstress, selects swimming as her favorite recreation-exercise. Time spent in the fresh air and sunlight is healthful in itself, besides the body benefits derived from the great variety of strokes.

BY MARY BIDDLE

THESE four beauties from radio-land informed me that Mr. Longfellow might well have foreseen the life of a feminine radio star when he wrote: "Art is long, and time is fleeting!" Life is one bustle, they affirm, from rehearsals to practice or study, fittings and interviews and a million and one other duties. Finding time for satisfactory beauty routines and a full personal life takes much careful budgeting and skilful juggling of minutes.

"We solved our problem," they confided, "by playing for beauty. Active sports keep our figures in trim and they are real fun and recreation." You may be quite sure that I listened eagerly from this point on. For, though I am not a radio star, and you are not radio stars, we all are intrigued by ways and means of solving the curve and poundage problem pleasantly. Finding the time for exercise sometimes seems as hard to us as it does to the stars. After working at a desk, or around a house all day, we want recreation, not routine. It takes real moral stamina to do the one-two-three at such times. So, let's change our mental attitude toward the exercise hour, and make it a time for beneficial pleasure instead of dull routine.

Rig yourself up a ping-pong table. It doesn't have to be a sumptuous one and the set may even come from the syndicate store. You will enjoy it just the same. Ping-pong is great fun and gives you real exercise from head to toe, as you will find out after a very few minutes of play. Leg, thigh, waist, arm, and wrist muscles are among those called into play by this game. Bending and stooping, reaching and stretching, the lazy muscles are toned and pepped up and grace and suppleness brought to the body.

Marlyn Stuart takes her ping-pong seriously and plays with verve. When she can't find a partner, she exercises to make her body more agile for the game. Knowing these exercises are going to help make her proficient at a favorite sport as well as help her figure, she puts real interest in their execution (Continued on page 86) games. I go shopping for antiques (my hobby) and for paintings. I almost bought a Gauguin today, may tomorrow. I've tried to know something about a lot of things: antiques, music, painting, books, people, so I'll have some thoughts to keep me company if I'm ever alone, which I never have been, yet.

"I keep myself surrounded by laugh-makers. I have people who make me laugh around me all the time.

"Also make other folks laugh and you'll laugh yourself. It's sure-fire. You know that if you tell someone a funny story and he splits his sides laughing, you don't stand there looking like a pall-bearer. You join in and split your sides, too. Laughter is a retroactive thing. It takes two to make a quarrel. Well, it takes two to make a laugh."

Fannie keeps herself "surrounded," I'll vouch for that. For all the while we were talking, phones kept ringing, people came in and out, familiarly, well accustomed, I could tell, to coming and going in Fannie's house . . . someone called "Doc" was lounging in the doorway; Fannie's very pretty daughter came in from U. C. L. A., where she is taking some special courses, to show her mother some snapshots . . .

Phil Rapf, who writes Snooks scripts and looks young enough to play with Snooks, came in and then and there he and Fannie rehearsed the next Snooks broadcast for us, Mr. Rapf taking the part of "Daddy"—and maybe you think the room didn't ring then . . . that "why, Daddy" of Snooks seeming almost too much to bear, watching Fannie twist her mouth into those brattish "whys." And someone said that Snooks (Fannie pronounces it "Schnooks") is universal because both parents and children howl with laughter, the children knowing very well that they say "why?" and say it just like that; and the parents knowing only too well that they are asked "why?" five hundred times a day and answer the "whys?" just like that . . . and someone else said that Snooks can go on forever because there is no phase of everyday life which Snooks can not enter, children being the little boll-weevils they are, bless 'em, boring and prying into everything and Snooks being Everychild.

. . . and after a time I went on talking with Fannie right over, under and around the phone calls and the ever-increasing circle of friends because I perceived that, though Fannie was indeed "surrounded," Fannie was but swimming in her natural element, which is crowded and noisy and warm, and that Fannie could talk just as well, better, in a crowded subway at the rush hour than she could seated à deux in a veddy private limousine . . . and this, I am sure, is one of the main answers to the question of how Fannie keeps smiling, this warm living in the warm thick of many hearts and many interests of many friends . . .

"Snooks," Fannie was saying to me, "is not exactly new. Snooks has been a long time a-borning. Snooks is a composite of all the kids I've watched in my life. And I always watch kids, stand on street corners and watch 'em, get a big kick out of 'em. That's another recipe for perpetual smiling, watching kids. When they eat ice-

And then, too, when I was a kid I had one pet ambition and it was to play Topsy. Snooks is a white Topsy, see what I mean?

"I laugh with my kids, too," said Fannie, "and that's a secret a lot of women never learn, I'm afraid. There is something strained and false in the relationship between a good many mothers and children.

"I made up my mind when my girl and boy were born" (Fannie's daughter is eighteen, her tall, dark son, sixteen) "that I wasn't going to be the mothery mother type. I haven't been. I always told them funny stories, even when they were kids, and I'd warn them not tell their governess on me. See, I wanted them to be on my side. I didn't want them to talk to others about things they felt they couldn't talk about to me. I wanted them to talk to me about things they felt they couldn't talk about to other people. If you want to keep smiling, smile with your own kids, I'm meaning it.

"I'm really miserable," laughed Fannie, "when I'm perfectly happy. It's dull to be perfectly happy. There's nothing to want, nothing to get excited about. I'm always one of two things, though, gloriously miserable or miserably happy, no in-betweens. When you're in love is one of the times you're gloriously miserable. But it's worth it.

"So there it is. Just keep working and you'll keep smiling. Don't get into a rut. Have a lot of interests like your Aunt Fannie . . . I cook and sew and go to the movies . . . I like Spencer Tracy and Bette Davis and Paul Muni . . . I like anyone I feel is being themselves . . . Watch kids, they'll keep you smiling. Watch the human race, all sizes, ages, colors and types. It's sort of amusing, the human race.

"Yeah, I've kept smiling and I've tried to tell you why and also how. And I'm gointer keep on smiling because no one can ever hurt me any more. I can still get plenty good and hot and sore but never hurt again because I'll never let myself go again . . . never . . ."

CHARACTERISTICS OF A CHARACTER ACTRESS

Paula Winslow, veteran Coast dramatic actress, has decided characteristics. For example, eccentric hats are a great weakness.

(Left) Although a familiar figure on the golf links and tennis courts, Paula has a particular passion for table tennis, plays often.

(Right) Paula isn't what one would call a "fussy eater," but she hates rhubarb and always makes a face when eating it.

Feminine Hygiene

can be so dainty, easy and Greaseless

BUT IT IS TRUE. Zonitors, snow-white, anti-septic, greaseless, are not only easy to use but are completely removable with water. For that reason alone thousands of women now prefer them to messy, greasy suppositories. Entirely ready for use, requiring no mixing or clumsy apparatus. Odorless—and ideal for deodorizing. You'll find them superior for this purpose, too!

• More and more women are ending the nuisance of greasy suppositories, thanks to the exclusive new greaseless Zonitors, for modern feminine hygiene.

There is nothing like Zonitors for daintiness, easy application and easy removal. They contain no harmful drugs—no greasy base to melt or run. Zonitors make use of the world-famous Zonite antiseptic principle favored because of its antiseptic power combined with its freedom from "burn" danger to delicate tissues.

Full instructions in package. $1 for box of 12—at all U. S. and Canadian druggists. Free booklet in plain envelope on request. Write Zonitors, 3611, Chrysler Bldg., New York City.

After this preview the picture will not be shown again for some time, since it is usually altered after the audience's reaction has been obtained.

An Opening is the first night or the first showing of a film at a motion picture theatre when it begins its steady run there. That is to say, when it is booked for six days or more, following its first-night showing.

A Première is a phenomenon that originated in Hollywood and is typical of the movie capital. It is comparable to an opening, only on a very much more grandiose scale, with an attendant orgy of show-offs and showing off. It's a carnival of minks, sables, ermines, jewels, exotic and exotically expensive perfumes, flowers—all that lovely ladies' frail bodies can carry at one time. It is, to be more exact, an opportunity for the élite of filmdom to meet and collectively pan or praise the completed artistic effort of a great many artisans over a period of many weeks. It is, furthermore, a Roman Holiday for the townspeople, who stand or sit for hours on sidewalks outside the entrance of the theatre just to get a fleeting glimpse of their favorites in the film world.

To me, the building of bleachers and tiers of seats (not at all unlike those of a circus) outside the theatre's entrance is the height of nothing at all. It is this act on the part of the movie moguls which shows that they enjoy the adulation and cheers of massed humanity.

Were these audiences quiet and respectful and perhaps the least bit awed, the occasion might be a dignified and laudatory one. But as it is, with increasing years of viewing their favorites closer than people of any other town in the land, these crowds have come to be almost offensive. They make wisecracks and jibes and keep up a running fire of commentary about those who are entering or leaving.

But the most sickening of the entire proceedings are the stupid microphonic mouthings and dolorous dribble that emanate from the mouths of the glamorous film stars themselves. One would think that some of the film tycoons, especially, would have been smart enough to memorize a sharp, effective speech which could easily have been written for them by any one of their publicity men.

After listening in for a half hour to one première, I found myself so nauseated by the repetitious speeches that I was forced to dial out. It is amazing that the studios' publicity departments would permit their stars to show so plainly the inability of some of them to speak intelligently, over a coast-to-coast network, to millions of people who have come to believe, unconsciously, that they are the originators of the smart, intelligent things they say in their pictures. However, the successful quality of their films redeems them, I believe, and the hysterical fans listening in on such an evening can forgive even such rot, nauseating as it is.

A bouquet should be tossed to Norma Shearer, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and members of their party, who, when asked to speak into the microphone, were smart enough to decline graciously that dubious honor.

AND while we're still on the subject of Hollywood, let me tell you about a new invention that will probably have a far-reaching effect on the public, Hollywood and life in general.

It is called the "Cinematone" (Model Number One), and I witnessed the first demonstration of it at my favorite eating place. It is an apparatus about seven feet high, built in tiers of boxes. It features a slot into which one inserts a dime, whereupon he may see and hear several moments of motion pictures.

The company expects to put out several thousand of these machines in a few months. Which prompts me to ask: Just how will this affect the movie theatre whose audience is already dwindling?

THE world's worst song title—Two Dreams Got Together.

ARE you the type of person who, as he sits at home listening to a radio, thinks: "Gosh, I'd like to be in this business! What a soft life! What fun!"? Because if you are, give heed to what I have to say about only one angle of a performer's routine.

Unfortunate, indeed, is the performer who must rehearse and broadcast on the same day. Obviously, if one is required to rehearse for an hour—or perhaps two or three—to secure the proper balance between the singer and the orchestra itself, it is unfair to the singer.

The voice, after all, is an extremely delicate pair of vocal chords and is only too ready to show signs of wear and tear and the resultant fatigue. Therefore, is it any small wonder that such an individual finds himself or herself in bad voice during the broadcast itself?

Of course, the world demands results, not alibis, but it is unfortunate that all too often the audience fails to know some of the story behind a poor performance. I'll amend that to "apparently poor" performance since it is in no wise the fault of the artist himself.

This is a problem in the elementals of showmanship. It is a difficult problem for which there is, probably, no solution.

After a bad night on the train—due perhaps to a bad road-bed, an incompetent engineer or unusual weather conditions—a performer alights at, say, six or seven a.m. at the station of the town where he is to appear that evening. He is met by a brass band; the management for whom he is to perform; the management's press agent, just bursting with weird ideas that will involve the performer; and, most likely, members of the press, half-asleep and touchy. Anywhere from fifteen minutes to an hour may be consumed at the station, quite possibly in the bitter cold of morning. And in this quite probable bitter cold, the performer may be called on to participate in:

One. Any amount of crazy publicity stunts resulting from the weird ideas the aforementioned press agent was bursting with.

Two. Photos snapped in various poses calling for a big smile on the face of the performer—a smile a trifle forced when he thinks of the ham and eggs he isn't eating.

All of which so that there may be pictures and stories in the evening papers—free publicity for the management who is too apt to forget that he owes it to the performer.

Then come the interviews themselves, either at the station or at the subject's hotel. Each paper seeks to secure its own especial type of yarn. This demonstrates the fact that there will be as many interviews as there are papers. Interviews may consume anywhere from five minutes to an hour, or even longer, with more pictures in various domestic acts, such as shaving, dressing, eating.

Then, if there is no rehearsal in the afternoon, the management is apt to have other ideas to make the town aware of the performer and his engagement at the Bijou Theatre. These ideas may take the form of a visit to a luncheon given by the Rotarians, Kiwanis, Lions or others. Or an appearance at a local department store where, for an hour or two, the performer is permitted to autograph his records or books. Then, quite likely, a tour of the town, a trip to a hospital, a college, or some other outstanding institution of which the town is proud.

While these things are perhaps conducive to a big gross at the box-office, the management has never thought of their effect on the performer! As a result he may step out onto the stage wearing a drawn, haggard face. His voice may be so tired, from the incessant activities forced on him, that it is all he can do to give a decent performance.

The many adoring young ladies who may have kept the hapless artist at the station, the store, the luncheon or the hospital for hundreds of autographs are the first to express keen disappointment when the evening's performance is below par in quality and brilliance.

Too often, indeed, do we kill the goose that lays the golden egg!

FOR the past several issues I have promised to tell you about our tour through the Hebrides of Northern California. I herewith keep that promise. A while back I recounted some of the hazards that face a traveling dance band, such as weather conditions, competition, and playing in localities where one's radio program cannot be picked up. Now let's see a little of the actual operation of a six-day tour we had booked following our three weeks at the Coconut Grove.

For this tour of the strategic cities of the West Coast we found it necessary to use two trucks to carry our instruments and sound equipment, and a big, submarine-like bus with sleeping quarters, a small kitchen, lavatories and an unbelievable amount of room and comfort. These three, together with my own personal car and another for my two secretaries, began the trip North.

At Fresno, California, I ran across a gourmet's delight, the Omar Khayyam Restaurant, whose proprietor, George Mardikian, is a true artist, a genial host and a fine friend. He is a man who would rather cook for people than eat. He is the winner of more medals for unusual dishes than any other cook in the world, at least it would seem that way. Both Ripley and the late O. O. McIntyre have made pilgrimages to his shrine of gastronomic delights. It really was difficult to leave this lovely little town, nestling in the mountains where the summers are blistering, but the winters very delightful.

Perhaps the strangest sight encountered after Fresno was that California phenomenon I discussed at the beginning of this article, the arc-light premiere. But this time, instead of being the customary motion picture, show premiere or grocery-store opening, it was two rival gas stations. Situated on opposite corners, they displayed not only the usual assortment of arc lights, big stationary lights playing into the sky, but also huge bouquets of flowers. It was a most unusual sight—with the gasoline pumps taking the bows!

The most significant thing, to me, about

Duck. This was four days after our story started.

The little boy had been engaged for an appearance on another program, We, the People, just the day before.

The young man felt so bad, it's a pleasure to report, he finally was able to persuade little Donald Duck's parents to bring the boy to New York for Radio Newsreel and snub We, the People. It seemed a great triumph to the young man. But little Donald was frightened in the studio and made more trouble for the announcers than his interview was worth. The young man who had hunted little Donald down was warned to be more careful about the type of children he chose in the future.

DURING the new Monday evening Lou Holtz program with Richard Himber's orchestra, Lou stands watchfully to keep applause from breaking out in the middle of the band numbers. Dick Himber always was on the violent side in his conducting, but lately he has taken to dancing to the tunes as he leads his musicians.

In spite of being on the portly side, Dick's dances get into such frenzied steps, the studio audience admires and starts applauding. Lou or an announcer shushes that because it's bewildering to an audience at home to have applause break out in the middle of any band number except one of Benny Goodman's.

TELEVISION still is around more corners than seven cross-eyed men in a row could navigate, but its second cousin, "Facsimile," has suddenly leaped into prominence. Some of the regular broadcasting stations have been experimenting with it after their program hours.

In case you have not been paying enough attention to catch the difference between television and facsimile, here it is:

Television is reproduced on a set which shows motion pictures on the end of a small tube or on a screen in the living-room. The facsimile set prints, one letter or corner at a time, a news story or picture on a roll. It's something like ticker tape. The idea is to turn on your set when you go to bed and have a newspaper printed by the time you get up.

Like television, its drawback is financial. Aside from the original cost of the set, the addition to the electric bill would be nearly enough to finance messenger boys bringing several copies of the morning paper to the door.

Men may be around selling stock. Be careful about that.

AL PEARCE'S chin, at first glance, seems to be the smallest in radio. It isn't. He has the queerest shaped face I, for one, ever saw—large, genial cheeks that suddenly end and turn at right angles into a chin dwarfed by comparison. He is an expansive smiler. The cheeks spread out much broader than usual and the chin shrinks into almost nothing.

Al himself is amused by the idea of anyone having such a queer physiognomy. The face is not unattractive—very likable, on the contrary. He hooted away that idea one night when I suggested it and has been hooting ever since.

IF it's not too late when you run across these lines, switch your radio some Thursday at 9:30 p.m. (EDST) to the Blue network of the National Broadcasting Company. (The Blue is the one without Vallee and Crosby). The program is America's Town Meeting of the Air, which has made a wild, uproarious session out of a debate every week.

The secret is in the last fifteen minutes, when the audience asks questions and heckles the speakers. The debate is held in a large hall, but a question from way back in the balcony can be picked up. The microphone has a large reflector behind it. The reflector is focused or aimed at the man in the back seat and the effect is similar to speaking into the mike at close range.

The topics of these debates are usually political and economic, but always highly controversial. So are the speakers. The audience in that last quarter hour is the real show, though. No matter what your views, you will either get into a lather of anger or feel your heart warming at the idea of such topics being yelled over the radio. You'll probably alternate for weeks in lather and warmth.

ABOUT the time Lent ended, I caught that good Catholic, Fred Allen, leaning back after a meal with all restrictions off.

"It must be a pleasure," he sighed, "to be a tape worm on a night like this."

TALKING pictures, as you may remember, were a sort of by-product of radio, coming when electrical engineers had really gotten down to monkeying with loud speakers. The great radio market was yapping for them a decade ago when talking pictures were just getting under way.

There's another by-product now, which, as a new father, I am investigating. One company has a microphone to be set up alongside the baby's bed. If the baby cries, you hear it over a loud speaker in the living-room.

I haven't gone into this part of it thoroughly—but an engineer friend tells me you might just as well hook it right into your regular radio set. That way, you wouldn't forget to turn on the loud speaker.

After baby grows up, the mike could still be handy in an unobtrusive corner of the bedroom where the girls go into to pretty up just before dinner. That is, of course, if your wife doesn't catch you.

The last part of this idea is something Nelson Eddy once tried. Eddy just bought the whole thing for that, though—no baby alarms involved.

JUST a year ago, Fredda Gibson was out on tour singing her hot and catchy rhythms in small towns. She had made a couple of recordings and that was her closest approach to big-time showing. The recordings went so-so generally, except for one night when a man from a music publishing house brought them around to convince Dick Himber this new song was a good one for the Himber orchestra.

Dick doesn't remember whether he used the song or not, but he remembers how he yelled: "Who's that singer?"

He had a program she just fitted into, once he had signed her to a contract. She is heard with a lot of orchestras on large networks now, mainly with George Olsen's on an NBC network Friday nights.

The funny part of it is, Himber still raves about that Gibson girl, but on his own program this spring the sponsor booked another girl, Kay Thompson.

MANY of the singers radio has contributed to movies have turned out to be very bad actors and were responsible for some bad pictures. By way of reversing the joke, perhaps, the movies have taken some other singers, already rejected by radio, and dumped them right back into radio's lap as high salaried stars. Two examples this season are Nelson Eddy and Dorothy Lamour.

Eddy had not been rejected altogether by radio before his trip to Hollywood three years ago, but he was working as one of radio's minor singers. His baritone voice was called "promising" now and then and that was about the size of his standing. Operetta movies suddenly whisked him into prominence as an agreeably handsome singer of light melodies. Back to radio he came to consider large offers from gentlemen who might scarcely have admitted him to the office to discuss a job just a year before. The crowning paradox of Eddy's story is that now he dislikes the type of admirer who regards him as a romantic figure. He is a singer, he insists, and demands recognition for the voice that radio once refused to take very seriously.

Dorothy Lamour was on the verge of being stamped a radio failure when movies came along. NBC had conducted a publicity campaign and kept her on the air in a program of her own for several months. No sponsor was interested. Then, after her movie success, she joined the Charlie McCarthy Sunday evening program at a salary much larger than NBC had asked, even when they were most optimistic about her prospects.

EDDIE CANTOR is the only comedian who still indulges in violent antics for the studio audience. As fashions changed, he has moderated his manner and no longer wears costumes, but he still rolls his pop eyes and occasionally jumps right off the floor into the arms of announcer or stooge. Parkyakarkus still takes an occasional punch at Al Jolson and Jolson punches back as they exchange their jokes.

All the other comedians who used to leap around microphones during broadcasts have either disappeared from radio or decided to conduct themselves quietly in the studio. Ed Wynn, who used to stamp around the studio, has gone back to the stage. Milton Berle found no radio program this year and went into pictures. Ken Murray was a much quieter young man after he arrived on Hollywood Hotel.

Most of the comedians nowadays play primarily to the microphone and leave applause signals to an announcer or program director.

BENNY GOODMAN is beset with the troubles that go with making important personalities out of individual members of his band. The members of his swing quartet and swing trio are being approached by Broadway promoters with advice to "Quit Goodman and get out into the big money with a band of your own." Gene Krupa, the drummer, was first to go. A contract bound him to Goodman for another year, but Benny waived that and set Krupa free. Starting a new band is always a hazardous undertaking, involving heavy preliminary expense and possibility of operating at a loss for a few months while the band is in its experimental stages. And there is no assurance that the band will become popular, even though a popular and competent figure such as Krupa presides.

Nevertheless, the possibility of huge profits makes musicians restless. Goodman is worried about holding his band together.

GEORGE JESSEL'S nasal singing never did sound well on radio, but this year, apparently unaware of his defects, he has chosen to set it off in its worst light. In his Sunday afternoon Mutual network program, he sings with a group of typically slick-throated radio singers. He usually goes a little flat about half way through a chorus. The effect often becomes grotesque.

ALWAYS GRAND
FOR Flaky SKIN

Now—with the active "Skin-Vitamin" it NOURISHES Skin, too

GLORIOUS days in the out-of-doors!—Are you wondering what you can do for that flaky skin?

This year you are doubly fortunate! Pond's Vanishing Cream, always so grand for flaky skin, is now a nourishing cream, too. It contains the active "skin-vitamin" which aids in keeping skin beautiful.

This new Pond's "skin-vitamin" Vanishing Cream is never drying! . . . It simply does not come out on your skin in a "goo"! It's a triumph of modern science—a true nourishing cream—yet nothing greasy or heavy about it. Pond's Vanishing Cream is light and delicate in texture!

Put it on always before you powder. Again after coming in from outdoors. And of course for overnight after cleansing.

Same jars, same labels, same price

Now every jar of Pond's Vanishing Cream you buy contains this new cream with "skin-vitamin" in it. You will find it in the same jars, with the same labels, at the same price.

Miss Camilla Morgan

"Pond's 'skin-vitamin' Vanishing Cream is good news. A powder base that actually nourishes skin is almost too good to be true."

into the opening of the cylinders. A microphone is inserted beneath the heavy cloth which covers the tubes and the strings, and picks up the sound as it bounces off the piano sound-board. The results are eerie, unique sounds the like of which have ne'er been heard before.

That's one of the chief Kostelanetz assets: He knows more about taking advantage of the tricks of radio than any other conductor.

Andre gets a great kick out of his realistic and unusual musical effects. But he enjoys himself even more when he describes his $155,000 string section with its Maginni, Stradivarius, four Gaglianos and a Guadagnini, and boasts that one of the best effects he ever had was that of the ten cent store whistle which sounded a perfect B above high C.

ANDRE KOSTELANETZ' FIVE FAVORITE BANDS

1. Guy Lombardo
2. Paul Whiteman
3. Hal Kemp
4. Raymond Paige
5. Benny Goodman

NO RUNS, NO ERRORS—ONE HIT

One thing that helped Larry Clinton get the public recognition he deserves was his nutty swing composition, Dipsy Doodle. With the smell of baseball in the air, the story of how he came to write that tune deserves telling:

Last fall, Larry, a rabid baseball fan, journeyed out to the New York Polo Grounds to watch his favorite ball club, the Giants, and his favorite pitcher, Carl Hubbell, fight it out in a World Series game with the Yankees. Carl was in great form until the third inning, when the Yankees proceeded to knock him out of the box. Maestro Clinton was very upset about the boos and cat-calls that greeted Hubbell's withdrawal from the pitching mound. He wanted to express his own admiration for Hubbell and decided to write a tune about it.

He thought and thought and thought—and finally got an idea. Hubbell is famous for throwing a ball which, when it breaks at the home plate, does exactly the reverse of what the batter expects it to do. The baseball trade called this Carl Hubbell's "Dipsy Doodle Ball."

So Larry Clinton wrote a tune called the Dipsy Doodle. As a concession to Tin Pan Alley, he changed the mood from baseball to love. But he retained the idea of everything coming out in reverse—which helped make it a hit. And that's a story true—me help so.

DON'T GET ME WRONG—I LOVE RADIO

Lewis "Red" Evans is famous among musicians as the best swing ocarina player in New York. He's been heard on the Saturday Night Swing Session and on a few guest appearances. Everyone agrees that some program should snap him up. Most think he would be a "natural" for Benny Goodman's Tuesday Swing School. But none of these Evans enthusiasts know that Red has been on the Goodman show almost a dozen times. No, you didn't hear him play the ocarina. It seems that Red is from the South, and he is the voice of the Southern planter you hear during the commercials!

Who said Hollywood is screwy?

PERSONAL: BOB CROSBY

Dear Bob:

Just a few minutes ago I heard your big brother sing In the Shade of the New Apple Tree. By luck, I have a copy of your recording of the same number. Just for fun, as soon as Bing finished, I listened to your version.

Please don't think I'm taking too great a liberty, but I hate to see you not taking full advantage of your voice. Bing is tops as a pop singer. But you could run him a darned close race—and there is plenty of room for another Bing. As it is now, you're using your voice just as any average band vocalist might. Your vocal equipment is swell. But in comparing the two Crosby renditions, I don't think you are giving yourself the breaks. I know how carefully you are steering away from any charge of imitating Bing, but there's nobody to blame but Mr. and Mrs. Crosby, Senior. And if all the stories I hear about Bing are true, he'll be in there rooting for you all the way.

Again, pardon my presumption—and good luck.

Sincerely,

FOLLOW-UP TO FATE

A couple of months ago the Bandwagon tried to show you what an odd thing fate was when it told about the coincidence that found Rudy Vallee and Barry Wood sitting side by side as they played sax for the Yale University Band.

But, apparently, the all-seeing Bandwagon knew only half of it. For, also playing the saxophones in that same group, were Peter Arno, the now famous cartoonist, and Art Shaw, one of the best saxophone-clarinet men in the profession.

'TAIN'T FAIR

You'll remember when The Music Goes 'Round was the scourge of the nation. After it faded into the beyond, Farley and Riley, its composers, dissolved their partnership and Mike Riley formed his own band. Recently he wrote another tune called oooOH! BOOM! and hoped to rival the 'round and 'round success.

He took the song to a publisher, who grabbed it eagerly and accepted the one condition that Riley imposed: It would not be given to another band to play for a month. Mike was convinced that he had a smash hit and he hoped to achieve a national name for his orchestra by becoming associated with it. But he had to wait a month to get a network line for his band. He knew if a name radio orchestra began playing it during that time, he'd lose his chance.

So Mike sat tight and waited. Meanwhile, though, Benny Goodman heard about the tune. He learned the name of the publisher and requested the song. Despite the agreement with Riley, who is the publisher, who can refuse King Goodman? So Benny got oooOH! BOOM!, put it on the air and is credited by most listeners with introducing it. And now, Mike Riley is afraid to play his own song on the air because he knows nine people out of ten will say: "He's just like all the rest of the Goodman imitators."

NAME IT AND YOU CAN HAVE IT

Those geni who name Pullman cars and shades of feminine hosiery have new rivals—the bandleaders. Feeling that they must give the listener something to remember them by, the maestri have gone to a lot of trouble thinking up titles.

One of the first was Shep Fields and his Rippling Rhythm. Now you have such melodious phrases as: Jerry Blaine's Streamlined Rhythm; Bert Block's Bell Music; Blue Barron's Music of Yesterday and Today; George Olsen's Music of Tomorrow; and Frank Dailey's Stop and Go Music.

But leave it to Horace Heidt to add the final touch. It was originally H. Heidt's Sweet Swing. He thought too many other bands were swinging sweetly. So his new slogan is Sweeter Swing.

Gilding the lily or something?

HISTORY MAKING

Newest girl singer to undergo a network build-up is Doris Rhodes, CBS' latest singing "find." Up to this point, Doris has never exhibited symptoms of mike-fright, but the studio moguls are keeping a weather eye on her, for Miss Rhodes has a record.

A few years ago, she was singing at Hollywood's ultra Colony Club. Mervyn LeRoy, noted Warner Brothers producer, heard and signed her for the feminine lead in Goldiggers of 1937. On the appointed day, Doris appeared, made-up, stepped out on the set, took one look at the cameras—and fled. History has it that she's the first girl to run away from the Klieg lights.

FOREIGN DEPT.

Most Americans yen to visit the isle of Bermuda. Once you get there, the Belmont-Manor Hotel is one of the best dance spots. But recently, the hotel band's first saxophonist broke his leg. An important affair was scheduled for that evening and a substitute could not be found.

All looked black until the crack Bermuda Clipper flew into town from the U. S. A. Jimmy Walker, co-pilot of the plane, stopped by at the hotel, heard about the disaster and promised to take care of it.

For the next two nights, until the Clipper flew back, the Belmont-Manor had a very fine substitute tooting the gobble-pipe. Seems that Pilot Walker is an ex-saxophonist of renown.

ON THE TOP

On May 5th, Emil Coleman, familiarly known as Society's Bandleader, begins an engagement at Manhattan's swanky Hotel Pierre. Coleman is to play on the roof—New York's tallest roof-garden. Most of the musicians, who are thinking of the hot New York summers and are envious of Coleman's good fortune, don't know one thing. Emil is cursed by a very annoying phobia: He cannot, under any conditions, look out of tall buildings.

CLAIM TO FAME

Leith Stevens is now one of Columbia's better known conductors because he's the lad who holds the baton over the Saturday Night Swing Session. But Leith, truth to tell, was originally hired because he was a fine classical musician.

Here is the background which prepared him for his present Saturday evening chores: Piano scholarship at the Horner Institute of Music; piano recitals to pay expenses; accompanist for the late Madame Schumann-Heink; winner of a fellowship at the famed Juilliard School of Music; and conductor of the Chicago Grand Opera Company. (Note to jitter-bugs: Keep your eye on this Toscanini cat.)

THE FEMININE TOUCH

Although it's been Phil Spitalny who has glorified the all-American girl musician, several other leaders include a little feminine influence of their own. Meredith Willson, for example, has forgotten the rule-book and has Margit Hegidus as his concert-mistress. He also has a woman violinist and cellist.

his own. He can be comic (Jolson appearance—Hollywood Hotel appearance), entertaining (an Arch Oboler skit Lo, The Poor Indian!) and heavily dramatic (the NBC Shakespearean series). What more could anyone ask for? . . . Ben Grauer would be in the movies now if he were taller. As a boy he lived near Paramount's Astoria, N. Y., studios and worked there often. Older, he found he wasn't quite tall enough. Radio's gain. . . Jean Ellington, NBC singer, always takes her shoes off when she broadcasts, regardless of whether there are two or two hundred in the studio. She's superstitious.

THIS department, a while back, reported that on the Energine Newsreel show, announcer Jack Costello, Parks Johnson and Wally Butterworth mentioned the word Energine thirty-two times and spelled it twice. A check-up on a later show notes mention of the product name exactly forty-one times in thirty minutes!

THE Magic Key program is proof of NBC's showmanship, as, week in and week out, it holds up nicely.

It's also smart enough to anticipate entertainment trends for the reported 24,500,000 receiving sets in this country. It wisely took on, for example, Linton Wells, able newspaper writer and author of Blood On The Moon, as a roving reporter, thus creating something new under the sun and over the air. Wells, who is a crack interviewer, sounds, incidentally, exactly like Charlie Butterworth.

Frank Black handles his symphony orchestra as it should be handled, with equal emphasis on jazz and the classics. Ben Grauer and Milton J. Cross (he has a good singing voice) are more than adequate at their announcing jobs, and the RCA plugs aren't too awful.

But all is not perfection even here, in what is a network's own idea of a radio show—for instance, Charles Kullmann, engaged to sing on it recently. Regardless of his well-known operatic ability, Kullmann can't sing a light number as a light number, but must strain and bellow as he attacks the notes—"attacks" literally. Isn't it possible for these opera people to sing easily? They make it all sound so difficult.

Then, too, the skit department isn't always as successful as it was in the case of a fluffy sketch written by Patricia Collinge for Margalo Gillmore and Richard Whorf. This particular effort was a happy compromise between no less than William Shakespeare and Noel Coward, and the treatment accorded it by the Coward-ish, "r"-rolling actors was delicately satirical.

Rather less worth-while efforts were two Irish playlets performed on two occasions by the comic-singing Miss Sara Allgood and Whitford Kane. In them both Miss Allgood seemed to be meeting her lines for the first time and the pieces didn't hang together at all well. Her previous radio appearance on another show in a well-seasoned, stage-learned Abbey playlet, was a contrast by its smooth performance.

EDGAR BERGEN, the live one of the pair, looks like a dummy because his face is, by training, blank and expressionless. But Charlie—they say "B.McC." now (Before McCarthy)—has an animated turnip of a face that suggests a very-much-alive brat!

SOMETIMES it would seem as though the networks' Special Events departments go slightly wacky in their efforts to find something new. Their routine coverage of floods and presidential doings is both competent and interesting, so it follows that their personnel must be composed of men with grown-up minds. But when NBC's Abe Schecter dishes up something like singing mice! . . .

Then there's his recent Egyptian effort. Mr. Schecter took conveyance to Egypt, where a duly-impressed government provided him with a car in which to meet the Sphinx and to cast an eye over the Pyramids. Schecter may have done a lot of brooding over the past, but the resultant show, the first broadcast from the interior of a Pyramid, was remarkably flat and commonplace.

We were allowed to hear Egyptians singing at their work, but what the singing meant wasn't explained. A young scientist, with a painfully Harvard accent, said things of no interest. And at no time did a workman turn up a find as he plied shovel and pick. This could have been pre-arranged with little injury to truth and considerable bolstering to dramatic values. The broadcast itself, from the Pyramid's interior, did prove one tremendously important thing: Now we know that there's an echo inside the Pyramid!

THE WOMEN OF THE MONTH IN RADIO

The following were exceptionally:

GOOD. Radie Harris—A newspaper girl who knows Hollywood and how to make it talk—as witness her recent interview with character actress Elizabeth Patterson. WOR could do something about the muffled fanfare which introduced the program. It was almost comic, and Miss Harris deserves better than that.

BAD. Ida Bailey Allen—and she could be so good! Instead, she ties her stuff up with so much continuous advertising that a nice, homey quality about her comes over as an over-commercialized commercial.

GOOD. Lisa Sergio—NBC woman announcer with a pleasing voice and, therefore, an exception.

GOOD-BAD. Martha Raye—good when she sings, bad when she wisecracks with professor Jolson.

THERE'S an old adage to the effect that if you want to find out what's really what, you'll not only ask the general, but also the high private in the rear ranks. This applies to questions about radio music: Don't ask a Toscanini, ask a "house man."

A house man is a musician who is assigned to certain sustaining and commercial shows as a regular daily job, but who must also stand ready to play anything from Brahms to Stuff Smith on putting-out-cigarette notice—and to play it well. They know what's going on, too.

NBC house men are as apt as not to tell you that: "CBS does it better than we do. Over there they rehearse a half-hour sustaining show for two hours. Here at NBC we rehearse the same length show for fifteen minutes and talk over the numbers we don't have time to run through. Main trouble with NBC is that it's too big, it's top-heavy."

Or again they're apt to be worrying about NBC: "They don't pay our vice-presidents enough. They get an average of $10,000 a year, and that isn't a great inducement to college-trained, theatre-and-music experienced men."

They have opinions too—sometimes expressed in a breezy musician's jargon ("corny" or "from Dixie" for "old-fashioned" and "E Flat" for "bad")—such as: "Bob Crosby has the best band on the air. Mark Warnow (CBS) is 'good-aroo.' Al Goodman gets a lot of work because he works cheaply. Toscanini is a great conductor but it's going some when he walks out of rehearsal because a man knocked a stand over accidentally." These are quotes—not my opinions.

They're so bound up in their work that their wives complain that their table talk is confined to music and radio. And after dinner, instead of playing cribbage, they sit around listening in. They have been able to make some $150 a week up, but a new union ruling, likely to go into effect, will cut that down to a maximum $100 a week—and that a five-day one. They won't starve.

THE Columbia Workshop, a pioneering group which specializes in good air plays, surpassed itself when it put on a piece called Night Patrol, by Stuart Hawkins. In it, CBS broke away from air-drama precedent and dispensed entirely with musical accompaniment (which often clogs up action), substituting the recurring footsteps of Patrolman O'Hare, the play's central figure.

The repetitious footsteps lent an eerie quality and did much to aid in making Night Patrol a well-acted, well-written, well-produced drama of New York's East Side, comparable to the stage and screen's Dead End.

Praise should also be accorded the Workshop for The Ghost Of Benjamin Sweet, said ghost being the nicest ghost in months.

ONE of radio's biggest headaches is its quest for good comedians. It's a truism that it isn't difficult to make people cry but hard as all get-out to make them laugh. Recently two new ones appeared on the air and their presence cast a glow of satisfaction to both right and left.

These two, Lew Lehr and Robert Benchley, brought something new to radio sets. They're both original, clever fellows, and while Benchley is more subtle than Lehr, Lehr has a command of dialect that compensates. If they can keep them on the air we may be able to laugh again.

On the other hand, there are Ken Murray and Oswald, members of the old school of comic versus stogie.

Making allowances for their unhappy proximity to Louella O. Parsons, they still fall short of a passing mark—not because of how they say lines but because of what they say. They can deliver good material.

Consider this example. Oswald asks: "What would you do if a girl refused to kiss you on the lips?" Murray answers: "I can take it on the chin!" You've seen it in those dime joke books.

Or listen to this one. Oswald claims that blue blood runs through his veins. Murray quips right back: "Your Father must have had a transfusion!"

Catch the Messrs. Benchley and Lehr touching stuff like that with a ten-foot pole!

BIOGRAPHY IN BRIEF

BILL STERN, NBC sports announcer, is different from Ted Husing in at least one respect.

Stern doesn't make you aware of a rich and melodious voice. Husing does. Husing is painfully c-l-e-a-r, Stern is no less clear, but you aren't conscious of it. You are more aware of its message, which is fair enough. Stern is also less well-known than Husing—as yet.

THAT terrific publicity build-up of a "Double or Nothing" romance between the Stroud twins and the Brewster twins took a beating when Mrs. Claude Stroud appeared on the scene. (Continued from page 75)

Of Stern, the man, this much is known. He was born in Rochester, N. Y., in 1907, and grew up to be a man, use a razor and graduate from Pennsylvania Military Academy. He made three letters there, football, baseball and polo. This didn't deter him from getting a band together, after finishing school, to tour Europe. The tour failed because the producer stuck six blondes in the act and that took the music off the boys' minds. Hollywood couldn't see him when he tried to get work there so, as a result, he took a roundabout "Z" series of radio jobs in six cities. When he found that he wasn't getting anywhere in radio he gave it up as a bad job.

Turning now to the stage, this versatile fellow began as assistant stage manager for the Roxy Theatre in New York, then manager and ended up as stage director for both the big Music Hall and Center Theatre just about to open in Radio City. This until about 1935 when he finally got a chance to do a sports broadcast with Graham McNamee. This was satisfactory to all and sundry, so when McNamee deserted sports to devote more time to the big commercials, Bill became an official member of NBC, entitled to report the best athletic events.

He is five feet ten, has dark eyes and hair and a quiet, competent manner that makes you like him on sight. He is Stern but he isn't stern. Because he played the saxophone on that European-blonde trip he fancies himself an expert on the subject of swing—which he is. He practices his sports talks lying in a bathtub, but puts them on in the regular way. Likes to drive a car fast and because others do, too, spent six months in a hospital. Six months spent mostly trying to figure out an improved supercharger that would permit more speed. He's married and she's not in show business. They're happy.

If you haven't tasted Stern, try him spread generously between two slices of his Sunday Sport Scraps. Very tasty.

SOMETHING definitely should be done about the song-credit business. The announcer says: "The song, Will You Love Me In September As You Did in Skowhegan? was from the picture, Charlie Kindled Romance In Her Hearth! All of which wastes time and patience.

Naturally we know that it is a means of gaining publicity for a picture or show, but it's hard to take after the forty-one Energine credits. Suppose every number played on the air had to be identified? However, the height of something occurred when an announcer said: "The song you have just heard was from the Music Box Revue of 1922." Just what good is it going to do that show?

NOTE from the Stroud department. One reader, a Mr. Joseph Obert, writes in to say that he likes them.

HOW the little crystal set has grown!

It's a far cry from the days when we right-on-our-toes people had radio sets which we tuned into the middle of a squeal to get KDKA so we could boast about it next day—to now when Chancellor Hitler delays his appearance at a political meeting to stay by his radio listening to another chancellor speak. WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE...

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. 25¢ at all drug stores. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

FRANK PICKS THE WINNER!

It was hard to decide, but Frank chose Betty O'Brien as victor.

Mouse show, has two members of the fair sex working for him; one on the harp, the other on the violin.

But the one woman always among fifty or more men is Verlyle Mills. She is harpist for most of the big New York orchestras. She usually has a volunteer chaperon with her, though. He is Bill Heart. He happens to play sax in most of the bands in which Verlyle works. He also happens to be her husband.

HOW IT STARTED

When you see Shirley Temple's Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm, you hear a very interesting song. It is called Toy Trumpet and it was written by Raymond Scott.

Toy Trumpet is considered one of the best of the Scott compositions. It was written in December, 1936, when Scott and the members of his Quintet were working for CBS in an early morning novelty orchestra. The six men remained in the studio after the program one morning. Ray began to play around on the piano, Dave Wade came in on the trumpet and, first thing they knew, they had a song.

During the composing period, some porters strolled in to clean up. They were the first outsiders to hear the song. They all liked it very much and told Ray they thought he had a hit there.

Adam F.: There are two "best" saxophonists in the music business. Calloway's Chu Berry, with Goodman's Bud Freeman running a close second, is generally considered top tenor sax man. Jimmy Dorsey is hailed as king of the alto sax.

The Tommy Dorsey Three Esquires are Jack Leonard, Allen Storr and Earl Hagen.

Marie Pfaar: Rumor has it that Fred Waring will be back on the air in the fall. However, his radio plans are still a little indefinite.

Michael Allen: No, Victor Arden's Musical Moments is not on a network. But Arden's program is heard on more stations than most of the networks combined. His transcribed series goes to 365 stations.

the entire tour was the feeling of being in another world, isolated almost completely from one's place in the hurly-burly life of the East.

I enjoyed the simplicity of atmosphere and a feeling of being in a place far removed from the life I have known for the past ten years.

From Fresno, north, we might—as far as temperature and architecture were concerned—have been playing Massachusetts, Connecticut, or Rhode Island. Yet from Fresno down, it was unquestionably tropical. I believe we made many friends for ourselves on this tour and it most certainly is something I shall look forward to doing again some time soon.

We were indeed fortunate not to have been caught by the tremendous floods that swept over Southern California. If we had been, I'm afraid our happy ending might have been an entirely different one!

IT never fails—that those with the least participation in a radio program (or any other effort, for that matter) seem to make more mistakes and give the most trouble. In one of our recent broadcasts, a small boy of ten, who had exactly three words to say in a dramatic sketch, persisted in dropping a heavy card, on which those three words were lettered, several times throughout the broadcast. And to add insult to stupidity, he gave vent, for no reason, to a sudden shout during the most tender part of one of the finest perorations on Lincoln I have ever heard.

All of which reminds me of the story told by musicians of the cymbal player who was brought from the East to the Middle West for a symphony engagement, because this particular symphony called for the cymbals at one spot and this particular cymbal player had a way with the cymbals. There were many preparations and goings-on in connection with shipping this man Westward. Money was allotted for his train ticket, board and lodging and the usual union fee for the engagement. The man arrived at the hall, stood rigidly at attention all through the symphony until the moment came when he was to clash the cymbals together and make the evening a musical success—only he didn't. He was either thinking of something else or so anxious that he was too bound-up to respond. At any rate he missed his cue. This story is supposed to be true!

ON Monday, March the twenty-first, I vacated the beautiful abode I leased while working on Goldiggers in Paris. It might interest some of you to know that the previous tenants were Mr. George Arliss and Mr. Edgar Rice Burroughs. So perhaps you can see why my dreams have been troubled. Perhaps my subconscious mind has heard the echoes of such British expressions as, "my word" and "by jove!" Or perhaps the calls of Tarzan echoing throughout the long nights. . . .

NEXT month's tête-à-tête will come from the East. Or perhaps from glorious, sun-kissed Miami, where I intend to repair a constitution somewhat worn-out after eight steady weeks before the cameras and those bright, glaring studio lights.

So long. . . .

Odd that this otherwise ingratiating comedian should have been allowed to persist in his radio vocal ambitions all these years. An old friend of Jessel's, in charge of a program where the comedian was making a guest star appearance, made a remark that might help to explain.

As Jessel started singing in rehearsal, significant glances were exchanged in the control room.

"I know it's terrible," the old friend protested, "but he's such a nice guy and does such nice things, I'd go out and jump in the river before I'd say a word to him about it. Let him sing!"

THE Lombardo League of Kenosha, Wisconsin, begins a denunciatory letter: "So you fail to understand how Carmen Lombardo retains his popularity as a singer? That is just where you differ from millions."

I hope the Lombardo League will not be mad at Guy and Carmen, too, but they don't have a very good opinion of Carmen's voice either. Guy says: "Carmen can't sing a lick," and Carmen agrees. His other tasks with the band keep him busy, and for years he has wanted to quit his job as soloist. Whenever he does, however, so many protests roll in, he gets back to his vocalizing again.

Another paragraph in the Lombardo League letter seems to give a good reason. "One knows," the letter says, "he is everything his voice implies, friendly, charming, generous to a fault and sincere in his every word." His voice does have an honesty of sentiment that gives something of that impression.

Incidentally, this Lombardo League is one of the most remarkable of fan clubs. It has its own publication, a little paper that prints nothing but news of the Lombardos, their records, stage appearances, broadcasts and personal notes.

RADIO'S swing crews have become a gang of copycats, particularly the singers. As soon as one of them makes a success with a song out of the regular popular music routine, all the others hasten to sing the same song. A girl in a New York night club, Maxine Sullivan, made a success with swing versions of Loch Lomond and Annie Laurie. Immediately every one of the swing bands grabbed her idea. They didn't even bother to find other songs. They stuck to those two.

Connie Boswell had an amusing swing idea in her treatment of the aria, M'Appari, from the grand opera, Martha. That might have been expected to start a vogue for swinging a lot of familiar grand opera selections. Not at all. The swingsters just sing that same one and try to copy Connie. So far, the idea has not turned out well in this particular case. M'Appari happens to be an aria that requires a pretty good voice and range to set it off well, even in a swing version. Not many of radio's singers can copy Connie in those two respects.

the comfort of his own home to visit you in yours."

The next step, he said, is making the guest comfortable in your house. But without fussing over him, for folks hate to think that they are putting you to a lot of trouble. It is one thing, you know, to make someone feel like an honored guest by providing the best you have in the line of food, service and entertainment, but you don't want to give the impression that you've exhausted and bankrupted yourself doing it!

"Don't overlook the fact, either," counsels Mr. Carnegie, "that people are interested in themselves morning, noon and night—and after dinner. Particularly after dinner when there is a mellow, friendly feeling that promotes conversation and encourages confidences. So tell your readers that the hostess who is not prepared to be interested in what the guest has to say is bound to be a failure, however good her cooking!"

"As for the food and refreshment part of it," he went on, "by all means let's keep them simple. I've never yet been able to figure out why women think men want foods that are all tricked out with sauces and whipped cream. So, cross off your list immediately all of the sort of concoctions which make a man wonder what it is, or what's in it—with a sneaking suspicion that he isn't going to like it anyway! No fancy desserts if the guest of honor is a man; that's the height of folly. But give him a good custard pie, for instance. Or an old fashioned chocolate cake, rich and yellow looking without doodads, fuss or fangles about it. Start off the meal with corned beef and cabbage or stew, or if that's too plebeian for you, how about my favorite, fried chicken; with cream gravy? Serve waffles with the chicken, or hashed browned potatoes; but serve it by all means, instead of putting before a man some creamed concoction in a patty shell. Remember that it's not what you yourself like but what your guest likes that should concern you most when entertaining. If you don't know his tastes beforehand you'll do all right by following these suggestions. For it's the good old standbys, cooked simply, seasoned sensibly and served hot, home style, that make a hit with the opposite sex, unless I'm quite mistaken."

"Well, Mr. Carnegie, I agree with you," was my immediate reply. So the next step, of course, was to get good recipes for these dishes (given on page 52). As I told you, they were provided by Hilda who, in the eleven years she has been Mr. Carnegie's housekeeper, has learned to prepare the foods he likes exactly as he likes them. Incidentally, I suspect that that is pretty much the same way that they were prepared in his boyhood days on the farm. Custard Pie and Chocolate Cake . . . like Mother used to make. This is the sort of food to serve to men. If you don't believe me and you won't take Mr. Carnegie's word for it, just serve one of these treats the next time

The Custard Pie, by the way, has one or two little cooking tricks about it to insure success. For Hilda, having noted that a soggy undercrust is fatal to the success of such a pie, has worked out a scheme or two to prevent such a calamity. As for the Chocolate Cake, well it's just a good, a very good Chocolate Cake! Ask any man if there is anything more that need be said than that! I thought it more moist, more delicious than most, however, when I tested the recipe.

Nor is there anything revolutionary about the Fried Chicken. It's just good fried chicken, so 'nough said! The same is true of the Hashed Browned Potatoes, only that in Hilda I finally found someone who really could tell me how to make them. I've been looking for those directions for years and now that I've found them I want you to share in my success. Or maybe you're the kind of gal who turns up her nose at such simple fare. Well, tip-tilt it all you will, only don't forget that you're out to "win friends" through your hospitality, and here's how to do it.

As for our last Dale Carnegie favorite recipe, waffles, the great ease of their mixing distinguishes these as well as their old-timey goodness.

Simple foods, these Dale Carnegie favorites, every one of them. "But foods with emotion in them," according to Mr. Carnegie, "foods in keeping with the atmosphere of most middle class homes, without any 'funny business' about them."

Yes, foods as sure to make a hit as will the brand of natural, cordial hospitality that Mr. Carnegie advises you to dispense; and suggestions as helpful as those he has given to all of us, men and women alike, on How to Win Friends and Influence People at home, as well as in business.

WALTZING INTO FASHION

Yes, the waltz is here again! And fashion has welcomed the opportunity to create romantic, feminine evening frocks in keeping with this most graceful of dances.

The 1938 spring versions of these waltz frocks, which you will see featured everywhere, are lovely to behold. Spurred on by Paris approval, American designers are creating all manner of picturesque summer party dresses, many of them in new luxury materials, in the mood of the waltz. For their inspiration, these designers have reached into the past and borrowed from its most romantic eras the billowing skirts, fitted waists, balloon sleeves, demure off-shoulder décolletages, the flattering touches of velvet. The warm-weather fabrics—organdies, dimities, voiles, batistes and other cotton sheers—which have been used to fashion these dainty frocks, stay crisp and fresh and hold their shape. Nevertheless, they are not uncompromisingly stiff, but fall in gentle folds, so that you look newly-tubbed and immaculate, and appealingly feminine at the same time! To say that you're a dream walking, a vision of

FOOT ITCH ATHLETE'S FOOT

Send Coupon
Don't Pay Until Relieved

According to the Government Health Bulletin No. E-28, at least 50% of the adult population of the United States are being attacked by the disease known as Athlete's Foot.

Usually the disease starts between the toes. Little watery blisters form and the skin cracks and peels. After a while the itching becomes intense and you feel as though you would like to scratch off all the skin.

Beware of It Spreading

Often the disease travels all over the bottom of the feet. The soles of your feet become red and swollen. The skin also cracks and peels, and the itching becomes worse and worse.

Get rid of this disease as quickly as possible, because it is very contagious and it may go to your hands or even to the under arm or crotch of the legs.

Most people who have Athlete's Foot have tried all kinds of remedies to cure it without success. Ordinary germicides, antiseptics, salve or ointments, seldom do any good.

Here's How to Treat It

The germ that causes the disease is known as Tinea Trichophyton. It buries itself deep in the tissues of the skin and is very hard to kill. A test made shows it takes 15 minutes of boiling to kill the germ, so you can see why the ordinary remedies are unsuccessful.

H. F. was developed solely for the purpose of treating Athlete's Foot. It is a liquid that penetrates and dries quickly. You just paint the affected parts. It peels off the tissue of the skin where the germ breeds.

Itching Stops Immediately

As soon as you apply H. F. you will find that the itching is immediately relieved. You should paint the infected parts with H. F. night and morning until your feet are well. Usually this takes from three to ten days, although in severe cases it may take longer or in mild cases less time.

H. F. will leave the skin soft and smooth. You will marvel at the quick way it brings you relief; especially if you are one of those who have tried for years to get rid of Athlete's Foot without success.

H. F. Sent on Free Trial

Sign and mail the coupon and a bottle of H.F. will be mailed you immediately. Don't send any money and don't pay the postman any money, don't pay anything any time unless H. F. is helping you. If it does help we know you will be glad to send us $1 for the treatment at the end of ten days. That's how much faith we have in H. F. Read, sign, and mail the coupon today.

SECRET of the milky way to soft skin

Famous beauties have bathed in milk for centuries. Now science knows why. Milk contains certain oils very similar to those which normally keep your skin soft and youthful. But no longer need you bathe in milk to enjoy its fabulous beautifying powers. Duart brings you genuine milk-oils in a new-type beauty creme, marvelously softening to dry skin. Try Duart Creme of Milk and learn the secret of the "milky way" to a satin complexion. At drug, department, and 10c stores and beauty shops.

Corns Come Back Bigger, Uglier —unless removed Root* and All

● Don't take chances by paring corns at home. Corns come back bigger, uglier, more painful than ever, unless removed Root and All. End that corn for good with this new, double-action Blue-Jay method. Pain stops instantly, by removing the pressure. Then the corn lifts out, Root and All in 3 short days. (Exceptionally stubborn cases may require a second application.) Blue-Jay is a tiny, modern, scientific corn plaster, held snugly in place by Wet-Pruf adhesive. Try Blue-Jay now. 25¢ for a package of 6. Same price in Canada.

FREE OFFER: We will be glad to send one Blue-Jay absolutely free to anyone who has a corn, to prove that it ends pain instantly, removes the corn completely. Just send your name and address to Bauer & Black, Division of The Kendall Co., Dept. J-90, 2500 South Dearborn Street, Chicago, Ill. Act quickly before this trial offer expires.

*A plug of dead cells root-like in form and position. If left may serve as focal point for renewed development.

loveliness, is putting it mildly!

Just look at the picturesque, story-book gown in white imported Swiss organdy, worn by Irene Wicker, NBC's story teller, known as The Singing Lady. The bodice of this gown is edged with Irish lace and the shoulder straps are bands of black velvet ribbon. On her arm is a picture-book hat designed by Sally Victor, a big hat in pink piqué trimmed with sky-blue wings and tiny pink and blue flowers.

A belle of the crinoline days would have been charmed by this becoming white gown, and it's just as charming today for garden parties or garden weddings with the picture hat, and without, it is ideal for terrace dinners and dancing evenings.

Every Sunday morning, you hear Helen Claire on the NBC Blue-Network in her program, Dreams of Long Ago. And Helen herself looks like a dream of long ago in her printed all-white Swiss organdy waltz dress. The skirt is twenty yards around the bottom! The balloon sleeves, demure collar and black velvet bows are as romantic as the old-fashioned gold bracelets Miss Claire is wearing. They belonged to her grandmother, a belle of the old South. Helen's full-skirted, full-bloused dress is well suited for waltzing, being adapted from the costume of that devotee of the waltz of the early 1900's, the Gibson Girl, whose favorite song was Waltz Me Around Again, Willie! Her prim, shallow-crowned hat of leghorn straw is trimmed in black velvet, to go with the bows that set off her dress and her blonde hair.

These tiny bows and bits of velvet are back in fashion again, to give that sentimental, old-fashioned effect. Pin them on you anywhere—in your hair, on your shoulder straps, at your waist, scatter them on the full skirt of your waltz gown. Emphasize a slender wrist with snug bracelets of velvet, the bows tied on the back of the wrist. Or call attention to a lovely white neck by tying a long ribbon of black velvet around it, the bow nestling at the nape of your neck, the ends hanging down the back. Pin a cameo or tiny bunch of forget-me-nots or pink roses to the band at your throat. You'll find the result charming, flattering and unusual, especially if your frock has a wide, low décolletage or is worn off the shoulders.

Fashion's new romantic mood has also sought its inspiration in faraway lands, from the costumes of the peasant and gypsy. Full skirts, gay colors and muted tones make Jean Yewell's evening gown a perfect complement to the dreamy strains of the Viennese waltzes, and in contrast to the all-white frocks of the others, this one is dotted with color. Jean, who is the charming soloist with Roy Campbell's Royalists on the NBC networks, finds that her brunette beauty is set off by the festive confetti dots in red, green, blue and yellow that fleck the sheer fabric of her gown, and by the grosgrain ribbon in matching colors that outlines the demure neckline, short puff sleeves and the three deep flounces of the very full skirt. And Jean's lovely figure is at its very best in this gown, bloused at the bosom, fitted from bust to lower hip, which emphasizes a slender waist and hipline.

You can express your new waltzing mood not only in your gown, but also through your coiffure. Very much in

Happy Relief From Painful Backache

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Bob Taylor, well-dressed man in phone booth. Who's he calling?

vogue is the upswept coiffure, the high hair-do of crinoline days, which has come in with the revival of the waltz. Lovely Jean Dickinson, NBC soprano of The American Album of Familiar Music, achieves a distinctive coiffure by sweeping her hair up from the sides to the top of her head into a cluster of curls held in place by a pink velvet rose. While it's perhaps not so practical for every day, this charming new hair style is a must for evening, and is especially charming above a quaint, old fashioned off-shoulder neckline. If your features have the cameo-like perfection of Jean's, then the upswing coiffure was certainly designed for you!

And now, what can these modern adaptations of the styles of long ago do for you as an individual? First of all, they're extremely flattering to your figure. Low-cut, off-shoulder necklines and brushed up hair make the shoulders look alluringly feminine, the neck slender and gracefully long (remember to keep your chin up!). The bloused silhouette adds fullness to a chest that's a bit too flat. The figure that's slightly "hippy," but otherwise well-nigh perfect, is flattered by a tight-fitting bodice, while the imperfect proportion of the hips passes unnoticed beneath a gathered, full skirt. And that goes for legs, too! The folds of a wide billowy skirt will conceal legs that aren't all you think they should be, and to which a swing skirt only calls attention.

Aside from these practical points, these little tricks for beauty of form, there's the general effect. The old-fashioned style of glamour is still as effective as ever, and you'll find that you look your prettiest in these flower-fresh waltz frocks. Not only will you look that way, you'll feel it, too. Gentle and demure, romantic and graceful, sweetly feminine and alluringly romantic, the fragile loveliness of you will be irresistible!

What might be called a "survey of romance" was made recently, and one of the findings of this research (which surprised no one!) was that more young men pop the question in the spring than any other time of the year. If it's a proposal you're after, be sure that pink enters your costume picture, for this is the color that men simply can't resist. If you're looking for romance, you'll certainly find it this spring if you follow fashion's trend toward femininity. So get into step and into tune. Waltz your way into fashion and into romance with a lovely, graceful waltz gown!

MAKING A PLAY FOR BEAUTY

First is a limbering-up exercise good for the waist. Stand erect. Raise the hands over the head, then, bending from the waist and keeping the knees straight, reach for the floor. At first your fingertips will probably only reach a point midway between knees and floor, but don't worry. A few days of practice and it will be easy to touch the floor with the palm of the hand.

Stand in one spot and run hard. Then, hop from one foot to the other. Stand with arms over the head and sway from side to side from the waist. These are exercises that give the body balance and grace. They train the body to do your will. Needless to say, a good many stubborn pounds will fall away after a few weeks of regular exercising.

All wrist exercises are worthwhile, for they promote poise and grace for the hands. The youthful hand is the one that moves from a flexible wrist. Describe circles by moving the hands from the wrists. Wave the hands back and forth from the wrist.

Swimming is the sport Helen Lynd finds most enjoyable. Outdoor swimming, she says, is particularly healthful as it gives her an opportunity to spend hours in the fresh air and vitamin-giving sunlight. Swimming develops the body and swimming reduces! This sounds contradictory, but it has been proven that swimming is truly the great "regulator" exercise. If you are not conveniently near the ocean, pool or "old swimming hole," you can still practice swimming and shape your figure on land! Here are the exercises:

Down on the floor. Lie on your right side with right arm extended straight up by the head. Scissor-kick rapidly several times. Turn over to the other side and scissor-kick. This exercise should be followed by the "flutter kick" executed by lying on the back with hips elevated and rapidly kicking the legs.

You may practice the breast stroke by standing erect and going through the exact motions, as though you were really in the water. Repeat several times.

The overhand stroke may also be practiced at home, in similar fashion.

Badminton, tennis, roller-skating, bicycling are all favorite sports of the stars. These sports, when actively engaged in, do wonders about sculpturing the figure, jogging the liver and stirring up a circulation that promotes a new clarity of complexion. The one-two-three exercises take on a new glamour when you know that while improving the figure they are also conducive to proficiency at a fascinating game or sport.

Even walking (and we take so many steps every day we sometimes forget it is pleasurable!) can and should be trained for! Take exercises that correct posture faults and give balance, smoothness and grace to the walk.

Standing erect with head up, balance the body by placing the left hand against the wall and the right hand on the hip. Then swing the right leg as far forward as possible. Then as far backward as you can. Hold the leg straight while you swing it. The back kick is most important, so don't be lazy about swinging back as hard as possible. This is one of the best hip reducers and it also will help to make your walk graceful.

Walking a straight line is not only good practice for "toes straight ahead" but also overcomes that most unattractive habit of walking with the knees far apart. When the knees are held far apart the walk appears to be waddling and heavy.

The jerky, jiggly walker is most unattractive and the tragedy is that such a walk can be so easily corrected. Short steps are responsible for this awkward walk. Practice an extremely long step in private.

The head should always be held erect. The drooping head (and rounded shoulders that accompany such a head position) is a mark of timidity. Poise and self-confidence are expressed in the head that is held high!

So practice walking. Don't let yourself slump into careless habits even when there is no one around to see you.

Frances Langford and many of the stars find it most delightful to walk in the rain when they are properly dressed for it. Why don't you try it? You should find it not only fun but good for the complexion, too.

Speaking of complexions brings us to the "surprise" sample offer I have for you this month. This offer is for, not one, but six free samples of a lovely face powder. Six different shades with which you can blend the one shade that flatters your complexion most perfectly. You will have enough powder, too, to add a bit of a darker shade from time to time as your complexion begins to take on its first tan.

Most of us, I think, are inclined to take our face powder for granted. Yet, if you would only stop and analyze the things you desire your powder to do for you (and the things the proper powder will do for you), then you would soon realize that the choice of a face powder deserves real consideration. You expect your powder to go on smoothly and evenly and cling indefinitely without caking. It should hide small imperfections and variations in the skin coloring and texture, yet at the same time be such a fine mist that your own skin tones radiate through the powder with a natural glow. Then, of course, you expect your powder to protect your skin—not irritate it or clog the pores! Quite an order!

So, it would be well worth your while to devote some real attention to your choice of face powder—and when would you find a better chance to begin than right now, with a new powder and six lovely shades with which to experiment?

THEY'RE still telling this one on Cecil B. DeMille. It was that day when the heavens opened and the furies let loose in Southern California. A rehearsal for Lux Theatre was on with DeMille concentrating on a scene with Fay Wray, when a sudden thunder clap shook the building. "That's enough of that," shouted DeMille, over the roar, "cut out that noise and let's try again."

JEANETTE MacDONALD is making the most of her short vacation from the cameras. She and Gene are spending every afternoon on horseback, discovering new trails around the Santa Monica canyons. Their mornings are devoted to training Black Knight, Gene's pet horse, for jumping in spring shows. Learning to take the jumps, too, is Michael—that 180-pound Newfoundland which Gene gave his wife for a wedding present. Michael is the same dog that Jeanette thought was just a "cute little cocker" when first presented to her.

ing a good five inches. What in the world could be the meaning of this, wondered the cast in unison? "Just came from the doctor," Jack explained. "He advised me to stay as far away from cigars as possible."

PHIL BAKER and Kenny Baker are both expectant fathers these days. This will be the fourth child for the Phil Bakers but the first native Californian. It's the second blessed event for the Kenny Bakers.

KENNY'S favorite way of spending leisure hours is touring the town with his father, Horton Churchill, who's an ace news photographer for a Los Angeles daily. There was a time when Kenny hankered to follow the same profession. And according to his dad, who should know, he has the makings of as good a cameraman as a crooner.

LANNY ROSS is seriously thinking of turning his photography hobby into a money-making proposition. He's the most ardent amateur snapper in town and has a collection of pictures that many a professional would be proud to claim. The other day Lanny turned the tables on RADIO STARS' cameraman, George Strock, when he went out to the Ross home for a layout of pictures. Lanny had our cameraman posing all over the place, and George admits that Lanny certainly knows his stuff.

INCIDENTALLY, the Ross "estate" is among the most modest of the homes in the film colony. Out Beverly Hills way, it's a small house surrounded with pleasant gardens, but not a single swimming-pool to its name. There's a badminton court, though, because that's the favorite recreation of Mr. and Mrs. Ross—when the horse-racing season is through.

NOW that Jack Benny has rated mention as one of the country's best-dressed men, he's even more critical of his cast's garb. At a recent broadcast, Jack spotted Phil Harris sporting an unusually loud sport coat with a red, gray and green pattern woven in none too subtly. With a "you-poor-dope" look, Jack sidled up to Phil and said: "It's a lucky thing that there's at least one man on this program who knows how to dress." "Yeah, I sure do," was Phil's reply.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR PROSPECTIVE RADIO SCRIPTERS

Lum and Abner have now found that they work best at the typewriter when in a kitchen. Rush Hughes does his fifteen-minute script in sections, then puts the sections together just before his NBC broadcasts. Phil Baker never puts capital letters in the first draft of his script, but has his own speeches in caps in the final draft. Fred Allen writes his scripts out first in a tiny handwriting that practically requires a microscope to read it. Jack Benny dictates his scripts while pacing the floor. His secretary, Harry Baldwin, crouches with pad and pencil ready to jot down any good ideas. Amos 'n' Andy take turns at their one typewriter and take turns taking turns up and down the room.

THERE'S a good story in the father of Baby Snooks, too. When it was necessary to have someone play the rôle of Papa

RADIO STARS

Snooks on the air, Fannie Brice remembered a certain Hanley Stafford, with whom she used to work on the stage years and years ago. But M-G-M didn't want Fannie's man, thinking they had plenty just as good on their own payroll. But Baby Snooks developed sudden determination, sent for Mr. Stafford, and put him in the cast at her own expense. M-G-M saw him on just one program, promptly put him under contract, gave him a nice raise, and Fannie a fond pat on the head for being so astute.

BING CROSBY told us the other day that he hasn't a fan in his household, now. His four-year-old son Gary used to like him a lot, but now he's switched his affections to Uncle Whoa-Bill, a local air-wave story-teller.

DID you ever stop to think, providing of course that you're a Gracie Allen fan, that you owe all your good times on their programs to George Burns? If it weren't for the master of the house, Gracie would never appear on another radio program. She'd be a contented little hausfrau, getting all the amusement she needed out of life by watching Sandra and Ronnie and the new hat styles. It's George who eats, dreams and lives show business. So to keep peace in the home—and also because she likes the guy—Gracie does what George wants her to do. "I'm the ham," says George, "—can't live without showing off. But Gracie, she just comes along for the ride. She will act sappy, if you insist . . . she will, for a new dress."

THE Academy Award dinner brought out all the radio and film stars in town. Interesting to note that, with most of the world's greatest entertainers present, it took a dummy to get the laughs. Charlie McCarthy was the star of the evening, particularly when he received his wooden "Oscar"—a special award patterned after the elaborate gold "Oscars" given to the other winners. "Haven't you something to say?" Bergen asked him, when the statue was presented. "Yeh," said Charlie. "Looks like pretty cheap stuff to me."

RUMORS of that romance between Edgar Bergen and Marion Talley are rumors no more. They're facts. For Edgar makes no secret of the fact that he thinks Marion is the most attractive person in Hollywood—and the most gifted. It's pretty discouraging to the other girls since they've been feeling that way about Mr. Bergen for a long time.

DIDJA KNOW?

That The Boss, in which Edward Arnold starred on the Lux Theatre, was his first big success on Broadway? . . . That Ruthie Robbins, vocalist with Phil Harris, is the sister of Leo (Thanks For the Memory) Robbins? . . . That Nadine Connor is now pulling down $1250 a week? . . . That director Dave Butler has horses named "Alice Faye" and "Tony Martin," and that they're both earning him good money on the track? . . . That Rosemary Lane lost six pounds teaching Rudy Vallee the "shag" on the Golddiggers in Paris set? . . . That Priscilla Lane and Wayne Morris are at La Conga, Hollywood's new late-spot, almost every evening doing the rhumba and holding hands? . . . That one of Eddie Robinson's most ardent fans is an ex-gangster at San Quentin who writes Eddie excellent ideas for his script? . . . That a certain radio comic around town, noted for his "high forehead and low Crosley," could win any unpopularity contest in Hollywood? . . . That Martha Raye's fully recovered from that pneumonia siege and is back at work minus 13 pounds? . . . That Luise Rainer didn't know until nine o'clock of the same evening that she was to be awarded the Academy's best actress award? She had to quit popping corn at home and pop into a formal and a taxi and was the last person to arrive at the banquet . . . That Fannie Brice went as Baby Snooks and Sophie Tucker as Little Lord Fauntleroy to the Film Welfare League's dinner? . . . That Katharine DeMille, Cecil B.'s daughter, won high praise on her exhibit of water-colors in Los Angeles? . . . Marlyn (Mama, that man's here again) Stuart has changed from blonde to brunette? . . . That Tyrone Power has bought himself a $150 toy train to play with? . . . That Jerry Cooper never sang a note till five years ago, when he deserted the baseball diamond for the night club? . . . That Anne Jamison always rehearses while lying flat on her back on the floor—it's her pet method for relaxing?

Templeton Fox, who was born Esther Fox, hails from Pasadena, California, and is heard over NBC on Lights Out and other programs.

AT a Big Town rehearsal the cast got into a discussion about success. Edward G. decided he was finally a success when his air-show clicked so decisively. But Claire Trevor said she felt success had come to stay when she was able to hire a maid as a getter-upper and pitch her alarm clock out of the window.

THE broadcasting studio of The Old Fashioned Revival Hour took on a festive air the other Sunday evening when Bill MacDougal, singer with the quartet, brought his bride of one hour, Phyllis Crawford, and the entire wedding party to the broadcast. The cast put on a special "after-show" and party for the MacDougals when the audience had finally been cleared out.

AT the close of the Phil Baker show one day, the curtain failed to come down as it should have. Troupers that he is, Phil did a little additional entertaining, while Harry "Bottle" McNaughton went backstage to find out what was causing the delay. He found out. The stage hands were engaged in a little game of "21" with Don Wilson, Jack Benny's announcer, who'd dropped in to compare insults with Tom Hanlon, the other heavy-weight announcer of Hollywood.
