Inside Hollywood

Plans to produce an epic dramatization of wartime action involving Lt. John F. Kennedy, now President of the United States, were announced today by Jack L. Warner, president of Warner Bros.

To be filmed on a sweeping scale commensurate with the importance of Kennedy's legendary wartime adventures the picture will be titled "PT Boat 109." It was this craft, seen in replica in the recent Presidential Inaugural Parade, that Lt. Kennedy commanded during World War II.

Envisioned as a production that will give fullest expression to the U.S. Navy's traditions of heroism, gallantry and high adventure, the picture is scheduled for an early start, with intensive preparations already under way.

Included in the extensive filming schedule will be full scale reenactment of stirring sea battles in the Pacific, highlighted by the spectacular crash that triggered Lt. Kennedy's amazing real-life battle exploits.

"It is our goal," Mr. Warner said, "to make 'PT Boat 109' the climaxing drama of Warner Bros.' impressive list of World War II motion pictures depicting sea warfare which include 'Task Force,' 'Battle Cry,' 'Submarine DI,' 'Air Force,' 'Destination Tokyo.'

"History has provided an exciting story surpassing the most daring fiction. The heroic leadership demonstrated by Lt. Kennedy, the infinite hardships he endured and the supreme courage he displayed in bringing all of the survivors of his crew to safety would be a bright page in history, even if the young officer never again had appeared in the public eye.

"The fact that Kennedy continued in public service and is now President of the United States has turned the spotlight of world attention to his wartime exploits which achieved the plane of classic adventure."

It was on an August night in 1943 that PT Boat 109 was struck amidships by a Japanese destroyer, while on patrol in the mid-Solomons. The motor torpedo boat was cut in two, the survivors scattered in the dark sea.

Lt. Kennedy swam from man to man, towing each to the boat wreckage. Subsequently he led his crew on a seemingly impossible Odyssey, which involved swimming to distant islands through reef periled waters.

The saga was happily ended when natives, attracted by Lt. Kennedy's signals, guided the survivors to a British outpost.

For his heroism, Lt. Kennedy was decorated and received international acclaim.

Since becoming President, Kennedy has been in contact with the commander of the Japanese destroyer which rammed his PT Boat and with the British officer who sent the native rescue party.

Mr. Warner said that it has not been decided whether a top name star will be sought to portray Lt. Kennedy, or whether a nationwide search will be conducted to find an unknown actor for the role.

"Whatever the decision," the Warner Bros. president said, "the player who is awarded the part certainly will win one of the greatest motion picture roles of all time."
