INSIDE HOLLYWOOD

Frieda Inescourt has been signed by Warner Bros. for "The Crowded Sky," her first film at the studio since she was a contract star there 23 years ago. . . Wendy Hiller will play a mother role in "Sons and Lovers," which 20th-Fox is to make in England. . . Richard Burton hopes to finish Warners' long-shooting "Ice Palace" in two weeks and hurry home to Switzerland for the birth of his second child due Dec. 1. . . U-I has bought "The Hero of Iwo Jima," biography of Ira Hayes, American Indian and Marine who helped raise Old Glory on Iwo Jima. . .

Bobby Darin sings the title tune in the score of Warners' "Tall Story," starring Anthony Perkins and Jane Fonda, but won't be seen in the film. . . Long titles may be back: Warners has "The Dark at the Top of the Stairs" and Paramount "The Man Who Had No Private Life," Audrey Hepburn picture. . . Troy Donahue, on a personal appearance tour in the north for "A Summer Place," has drawn mobs of teenagers despite frigid weather. . . Martha Hyer, now in "Ice Palace," will next do "Mistress of the World" for producer William Dieterle in Berlin. . .

British actress Glynnis Johns has joined the cast of Warners' "The Sundowners," shooting in Australia.

. . . Stuart Whitman is being loaned by 20th-Fox to Paramount to co-star in Alfred Hitchcock's "Psycho". . . Natalie Wood, 21, plays her first sophisticated role in "Cash McCall," but says she'll be glad to enact a teenager again, as in "Rebel Without a Cause," any time Warners wants. . . "William, the Conqueror" will be the next Cinerama production. . .

A set representing the Alaskan snowfields near Point Barrow has been built on an entire Warner Bros. sound stage for "Ice Palace," film version of Edna Ferber's novel. . . . Cliff Robertson will star with Cornel Wilde in "Caves of the Night" for Columbia. . . The spectacle scenes in Warners' "The Miracle" would have delighted that master of pageantry, Max Reinhardt, who produced the story on the stage. . . Frank Capra, one of Hollywood's leading directors for many years, says that the stories he makes must be about people with faith and hope.

The William Perlberg-George Seaton production office at Paramount announced today the casting of New York stage and TV actors Tim Sullivan, Jacques Gallo, Joe Terry, Ruth Rickaby and Mark Russell in roles in "The Rat Race," co-starring Tony Curtis and Debbie Reynolds.

These players will portray roles in the Crystal Gardens set, one of the most elaborate in this picture about a young jazz musician who goes to New York in search of fame.

Mel Blanc has been signed by Warner Bros. Records to a long term, exclusive recording contract. Well known for his vocal gymnastics in the creation of such characters as Bugs Bunny, Blanc will concentrate on novelty singles for the diskery, but will also be available for album production.

Blanc's first rerelease, being readied for the Christmas singles market, will be "I Keep Hearing Those Bells" coupled with "Twee-tie's Twistmas Twouble."

Jeanne Crain is an economy-minded young lady, thanks to a lesson in thrift given her as a teenager by a judge of the Los Angeles Superior Court.

When her film contract was up for court approval the judge ordered Jeanne to save 25% of her salary, and Jeanne, currently starring with Alan Ladd in "Guns of the Timberland," a Jaguar production for Warner Bros., has never forgotten the advice.

The judge was Goodwin J. Knight, who later served as Governor of California.
