NEW YORK 36, NEW YORK

It Happened in Hollywood

Hannibal's violent battles with the Romans, his prodigious crossing of the Alps with elephant-borne troops and his ill-starred love for the niece of his principal Roman enemy are told in splendid detail in the motion picture "Hannibal," starring Victor Mature, soon to be released by Warner Bros.

Filmed in Italy and Yugoslavia in Color and SuperCinescope, "Hannibal" presents Victor Mature in the title role of the mighty Carthaginian general, with Gabriele Ferzetti as the Roman consul, and Rita Gam as Hannibal's love.

Four thousand men, 1500 horsemen and a horde of elephants participate in the recreation of the battle of Cannae, which took place 2200 years ago and was one of the most devastating defeats in early Roman history. Directors Edgar Ulmer and Carlo Bragaglia staged the battle in Yugoslavia.

Other scenes were filmed at Cinecitta Studios and outside Rome at Cerveteri. Fourteen of the elephants used in the battle scenes weighed three tons each.

"Hannibal" offers a tailor-made role for Mature, the muscular actor who was seen effectively in previous historic roles in such films as "Samson and Delilah," "Demetrius and the Gladiators," "The Robe," "The Egyptian" and "Androcles and the Lion."

Pat Close, 11-year-old Hollywood grammar school student, is making his film debut portraying Elliot Roosevelt as a boy in "Sunrise at Campobello," Dore Schary's production of his New York stage hit for Warner Bros. The youngster was spotted when he was playing in a Little Theatre production of "Auntie Mame." Ralph Bellamy, Greer Garson and Hume Cronyn star in "Sunrise at Campobello."

Sharon Huguely, 16-year-old high school beauty, became a Leap Year Cinderella when Warner Bros. signed her to a long term acting contract and awarded her the feminine lead opposite Troy Donahue in the new feature motion picture "Parrish," which Delmer Daves will produce and direct.

Miss Huguely received the screen test that led to her contract after Warner Bros. talent executives saw her performance in a Welder Daniel's Little Theatre group. Her only other acting experience has been gained in student theatricals.

A sparkling brunette, Sharon was born on February 29, 1944. As a result, she's had only four birthdays. To add the topping touch to her Cinderella story, she signed her contract with Warner Bros. on her fourth birthday.

When director Vincent Sherman said "Let 'em eat cake" at the end of the day's filming recently on the "Ice Palace" set at Warner Bros. he wasn't quoting Marie Antoinette. He was just giving the green light to the cast and crew to dig into two birthday cakes set up on the sound stage nearby. The cake-cutting was a joint celebration of the natal day of two of the film's stars—Richard Burton's and Robert Ryan's.

Constance Towers was a singer for five years before making her screen debut but she had to wait until she became a film star before cutting her first record.

The actress teamed with Jeffrey Hunter in Warners' "Sergeant Rutledge," completed waxing "Constance Towers Sings," a collection of love songs, while working in the John Ford directed picture.

George Raft had his fifty cents and Como his stool, but for crazy hats dig the wild straw covers Connie Stevens features in "Hawaiian Eye," the Warner Bros. ABC-TV network drama which co-stars Connie with Anthony Eisley and Robert Conrad.

For her role of the teenager who ekes out a living being a photographer, night club singer and part-time detective while keeping an eye cocked for a husband, Connie wears as many as six different straw chapeaus in each episode.
