LET THE BUYER BEWARE: In the past every once in a while I have printed a list of people that have apparently gypped traders. When a collector writes me of a problem I write to the person. Usually the problem is solved. If nothing is heard I then mention the name. Rather than mention the names in Hello Again I will mail them to you if you send a SASE. I only mention names if the trader or I never hear from the person involved. When buying shows from a new source either check with me first, if the name is unknown, or just order a minimum purchase to try them out. There are many outstanding and reputable sellers of radio programs.

NEW ADDRESSES: Bernard Meier, 527 13th St #114, Hudson, Wisc 54016...Jerry Chapman, 900 Elmwood, Wilmette, Ill 60091...Jim Laidler, 551 Maripose Ave, Rockcliffe Pk, Ontario Kim 035...Clyde Bengé Jr, 16252 Woodstock Ln, Huntington Beach, Cal 92647...

RADIO IS ALIVE AND WELL: Some good news. Chuck Schaden is NOT going off the air as I mentioned last month. Due to an avalanche of mail, WLTD in Chicago is keeping Chuck and all his shows...GUNSMOKE made its debut on radio in the fall of 1952 and its television debut in Sep 10, 1955. The last radio broadcast was Jun 17, 1961. And finally GUNSMOKE is leaving television this year. It is not coming back in September. For 23 years on radio and television Matt Dillon, first as William Conrad and on TV as James Arness, has kept law and order in Dodge City. It will be missed.....However, 86 stations of the Intermountain network in the midwest and western states have signed a contract with Charles Michelson to broadcast the show-William Conrad will continue to keep law and order...Charles Michelson also recently bought the rights to DRAGNET.

FROM FRANCIS (Mike) NEVINS JR, 4466 W Pine Blvd #21-D, St. Louis, Mo 63108. I have completed a listing of all the known episodes on SUSPENSE which were written by or based on stories by the greatest suspense writer of them all, Cornell Woolrich. I believe there are 27 definite stories with an additional 6 possible ones...My interest in Woolrich goes back many years. Since 1970 I've been an adviser to the Chase Manhattan Bank in its capacity as executor of Woolrich's estate (he died in 1968) and in 1971 Harper and Row published "Nightwebs," a large collection of Woolrich's stories, edited by me with a lengthy introduction, notes and a checklist of Woolrich's voluminous work...For my money the two supreme high spots of radio mystery drama were the suspense episodes of Cornell Woolrich and John Dickson Carr. I am now working on a collection of Carr's radio plays. (If you want a copy of the list of Woolrich's stories on SUSPENSE, send me, Jay Hickerson, a SASE. In this way you can correct or add titles and let Mike Nevins know)

From ROBERT DAVIS, 1144 LOVEJOY ST, BUFFALO, NY 14206; I am in a club called "The Old Time Radio Club of Buffalo." It has 14 collector-members, most of whom have been in active trading a number of years. We started the club as a sort of get together to swap shows and ideas but have drifted to doing some public service work. Our local Public TV station is having an Auction-Telethon and we have donated blocks of shows to help them get some much needed funds. We have also contacted organizations for the aged and for the blind to see if they could use some of our shows. We've also got our local Veterans Hospital interested and when their inter-hospital radio station is fully set up they are going to run some of our shows. We would appreciate if you could help us out with any ideas for raising money so we can continue and expand our work. This is not a plea for donations but a plea for ideas. We would like similar clubs and organizations to contact us. Write me, Bob Davis, or Old Time Radio Club of Buffalo, 19 Church St, Lancaster, NY 14086.

FROM CHARLES STUMPF, 722 N Laurel St, Hazleton, Pa 18201
ETHEL PARK RICHARDSON: The name of Ethel Park Richardson is not very well known among the old time radio buffs, and yet this woman has contributed as much, if not a great deal more, to radio than most of the others who have this acclaim. She not only wrote several of the most popular program series, she appeared on the shows as well...She was born at Dechard, Tenn on December 13, 1883. Her lengthy career in radio began in 1927 when she began singing folk songs and telling stories, in dialect, on a small station in Chattanooga, Tenn. She soon moved on to New York and sang hillbilly songs over station WJZ... On her very first broadcast, this multi-talented lady played a banjo and dulcimore duet, one instrument with each hand. She also attempted a reading about a mountaineer home but forgot her lines and ad-libbed, "Well now folks, ef'n I ain't gone and let the next line slip. I better get a fresh start, so's I kin just scoot over the place I disreckolleck." Later when she tried to offer her apologies to the program director, he congratulated her, thinking it was part of her act. The program had gone out on a national hook-up and within ten days she was signed to co-star with Bill Cook as Mandy on the CABIN DOOR PROGRAM... Mrs. Richardson specialized in doing dialect and was heard on such programs as BLACK CAMEOS and CHARCOAL SKETCHES. She was also heard as Camilla Crow with Moran and Mack, "The Two Black Crows" on THE MAJESTIC RADIO HOUR... She wrote and produced the first song-story series on radio, HILLBILLY HEART-THROBS. This unique program made its debut on May 22, 1933 as a 15-minute, sustaining show heard over NBC. Each program wove a story around an old folk song, The first show was a dramatization of Blue Eyed "Lien. The series used the talents of Curtis Arnall, Anne Elstner, Agnes Moorehead, Bub Collyer, Brian Donlevy, Ray Collins, Billy and Florence Halop, and Frank Luther and Tex Ritter... Beginning on May 6, 1934 the series title was changed to HEART THROBS OF THE HILLS. On November, 6, 1935 the title was changed again to DREAMS OF LONG AGO and the program continued through 1938 and had a strong following. The imaginative Mrs. Richardson also wrote "Hill-billy" adaptations of Shakespeare including: Hamlet, Macbeth, Julius Caesar, Romeo and Juliet. The program was aired for the last time on October 27, 1938... In 1939 a new transcribed hour series of HEART THROBS OF THE HILLS was produced by NBC. The first program in this series was a dramatization of the folk song, "Charming Billy." The announcer was Kelvin Keech and music was supplied by the Hilltop Harmonizers. Regulars included Robert Strauss, Bella Allen, Joannie Rogers and Margaret and Travis Johnson... Mrs. Richardson also had another unusual claim to fame. She became the first contestant to win the largest prize ever given away on a TV quiz show. She won the jackpot of $100,000 on NBC-TV's The Big Surprise on December 10, 1955 for displaying her vast knowledge of American folklore... Other programs which Mrs. Richardson wrote and produced were The Wayside Cottage, Uncle Natchel, and Home Sweet Home... For some reason I have never found any of her shows mentioned in any of the books dealing with old time radio and I have never found recordings of any of her works listed in any catalogs. Her contributions to the radio medium were many and her name deserves an honored spot on the long list of those radio immortals.

All hail the name Ethel Park Richardson.

Anyone with any knowledge of any of her woks or recordings, please get in touch with me, Charles Stumpf.

LATE NOTES AND TIDBITS: Catalogs: Herb Sadowsky, 105-25 65th Ave, Forest Hills, NY 11375; Sup; Herb is recording all reruns of YOU BET YOUR LIFE.
